A New York Dude Cowhiding by a Georgia Lady.

Special Dispatch to the Globe-Democrat, Savannah, Ga., September 19.—A cowhiding scrape in which a bewitching blonde of the upper thousand play of the leading role, created a veritable sensation in the city to-night. She had been annoyed by several notes from a man supposed to be a commercial traveler for a New York house and upon the advice of a gentleman friend granted the unknown correspondent the privilege of calling at her home. Not anticipating a trap, the stranger appeared to-night, and had hardly gained the parlor when he asked the lady's company for a stroll. Accepting the invitation, she left the house, but had not proceeded half a block when the gentleman who had concocted the plot passed her and handed her a heavy cowhide, without a word of warning, she suddenly commenced slashing her insulter across the face with the whip, and before he could realize the situation he was streaming with blood, and had both eyes nearly closed. His attempted apology only drew forth more blows, and he finally took to his heels. The lady appeared not the least overcome by the excitement and regaled her home before the family were aware of what was going on. Had the chastised dude fallen into the hands of the lady's brother, he would in all probability have met with a dose of cold lead. Effects are masking to ferret out the man, and if successful, further sensational developments may be looked for.

The Trotting Record.On the subject of trotting time, General Withers, in Harper's Magazine for October, says: "It is but a short time, I know, since people have begun to be convinced that the trotter was not merely a happy accident and could be beat at all; but look at the uniform improvement in the record single-scenic-trotting season."Lady Suffolk, one mile..... 2:28
Flora Temple, one mile..... 2:27
Dexter, one mile..... 2:27
Goldsmith Maid, one mile..... 2:24
St. Julian, one mile..... 2:20
Mauds, one mile..... 2:19

Failures are frequent, of course, but nothing is more certain now than that trotters are begotten by trotters. As my thoroughbred can beat any common horse at the run so that it is even necessary to have a trial to be sure of it, we expect to arrive at the same accuracy with the trotting horse." "And what is the limit of time at which you will finally arrive?" "Two minutes now is not more incredible than 2:20 a quarter of a century ago," replied the general.

KEEPING PACE WITH THE TIME!

Is what we are doing, as our large and steadily increasing trade testifies. The summer season is nearly over, but we still have a few lines of nice all-wool, medium weight suits, just suited to our fall season, which we have placed on the counter in connection with our late that he may fill his barns and store houses, and to his children's lawyer's divide his spoil among themselves and say, "Ha! ha!" He groans and is sore distressed because it rainseth, and he batheth upon his breast and sayeth, "My crop is lost!" because it raineth not. The late rains blighteth his wheat and the frost blitteth his peaches. If be it so that the sun shineth, even among the nineties he sayeth, "Wee is me, for I perish;" and if the northwest wind sightheth down forty-two below, he crieth, "Would I were dead!" If he wear sackcloth an blue jeans the men say "He is a tramp," and if he goeth forth shaved and shorn and clad in purple and fine linen all the people cry, "Shoot the dude."

A BAD GUESS.

Curved by Subsequent Explanation of the Weather Bureau.

Chicago, September 22.—The following explanation in regard to a somewhat sensational signal service bulletin posted on the board yesterday morning predicting frost in states north of Tennessee that night, and which caused a decided flurry in corn, reaches this city from Washington. There were more or less undefined indications of frost in the lower territory mentioned, and the signal officer not desiring to create a panic or disturb values, appended a foot note to the usual bulletin, addressed as a private message to the observers at Chicago and other important cities, warning them not to give too wide publicity to this facts as they appeared in the reports by mistakes. The bulletin itself was not given out here, but the private note to the observer, which did all the mischief, and it was pasted on change. The failure or fulfillment of the prediction was the general topic of conversation among members on the board today, who were not aware of the explanation.

I have suffered 37 years with liver complaint, rheumatism, sick headache and disordered stomach. I was at one time very distract, rubbing my hands and half crazy with pain. My wife sent for a doctor and he attended me nine months. He said he could do me no good. I felt I was in the jaws of death. Another physician took me in charge and doctor me eighteen months. I paid him $25 and owe him $10 more, but one bottle of ROSADALIS did me more good than all the medicine the doctors ever gave me.
