The hotels promise a grand blow-out to their guests. Now don't you Fort Worth people wish you could be here? The El Paso, you say, is to be known henceforth as the Hotel Pickwick, and promises a wonderful change in its cuisine. Well, there is room for such change. As I expect to visit your city in a day or so, will see and judge the new house for myself.

thies, hoping the closing years of his chequered life may be calm and peaceful. It is worth living to be known here in such a romance, though his early brightness was dimmed by another man taking the heroine.

Every day our streets are promenade by the Stutz band. They make a pretty show in their gaudy uniforms, and certainly discharge sweet music. The troupe give nightly performances, and continue to draw large houses. One of their principal attractions last night was the charming lady actress, Miss Ivy Stutz. She is not more than five years of age, has a sweet voice, and is wonderfully gifted.

It is said that Washier & August are the leaders of fashion. That they are attentive and polite to their customers. That they give value received in every instance. And that every sweetheart, mother or sister in Fort Worth will find a suitable present in their stock to give to their beaux, their sons or their brother. Selah!

The ladies of the Methodist congregation gave an entertainment and supper to-night at the new skating rink building to raise money to put the last touches on their new brick church. Their object is a commendable one, and should meet with a liberal patronage.

Have You a Boy? If so, make his heart glad by buying him one of our nobby suits. WASHIER & AUGUST, Cor. Houston and Fourth Sts.

Mal. Ferguson informs me that he has received a telegram from the president of the Seven Wells Water company that they accept the amendments to their franchise, and will begin work immediately.

Romulus N. Graham is out with spring samples of clothing from Ed-ward Bates & Co., New York.

Mr. Wm. H. Lessing, a leading attorney of San Angelo, was in this city to-day. He says this is his first visit to Colorado, and is much surprised to find so large a city—pro- nounces it to be a well grown prodigy of only two years of age.

The Beggar Student. Would probably have been in good circumstances had he known our clearing sale was in progress before he purchased his last outfit. This is (of course) confidential.

The Iowa excursionists returned from their trip west of here Sunday evening. A party of them left yesterday by private conveyance. They say Colorado is the best town of Western Texas. Several
