

Daily Gazette.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

| TO MAIL SUBSCRIBERS: | |
|----------------------|----------|
| One Year..... | $10.00 |
| Two Months..... | 5.00 |
| Three Months..... | 2.50 |
| Per Week..... | 25 cents |

DELIVERED BY CARRIERS.

| RATES OF ADVERTISING FURNISHED ON APPLICATION. | |
|--|--|
| Billboards by draft, postoffice money order or registered letter, at rate of 50¢. | |
| Correspondence is submitted upon all news subjects of general interest, elicited, and will be properly compensated. | |
| All communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, and for publication, but on an evidence of good faith. | |
| Parties writing to THE GAZETTE, on business personal to themselves, will please inclose stamp for reply. | |
| All letters relating to business of any kind should be addressed to THE GAZETTE, Fort Worth, Tex. | |
| THE GAZETTE COMPANY. | |

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 4.

THE GAZETTE will establish commodious quarters at the reunion grounds for the entertainment and accommodation of members of the press from abroad. Ample facilities will be provided for the dispatch of business. All visiting newspaper men are invited to call there to transact their business without further notice.

AN ILL ADVISED STEP.

With commendable prudence the committee in charge of the reunion resolved that no alcoholic liquors should be sold on or near the grounds. This action met the unanimous approval of all our people. Despite this prohibition, however, a certain firm have resolved to sell whisky just outside the limits of the reunion enclosure, in defiance of the public sentiment. THE GAZETTE would regret to see this effort persisted in; for the people are determined that no whisky shall be sold in or near the grounds. Legal means will be resorted to if these fail; other measures will be adopted to enforce the will of the people. There should be no mistake about this; for no whisky will be sold on the grounds, or near them.

In view of the threatened local-option election this affair is most unfortunate. The effort to defy public sentiment in this matter will do more to promote opposition to whisky-selling than the titrades of a dozen temperance fanatics.

More people will get on and off the cars this week at the Fort than ever. All are welcome.

TWENTY-FOUR years ago we were all talking about Bull Run. To-day we are all a band of brothers.

SAM JONES says he wouldn't let "a dude put his arm around his cook." Sam shouldn't display his jealousy so openly.

GRANT and Buckner fought each other at Donelson. Next Saturday Buckner will act as pall-bearer to his old friend and enemy.

THE dime fund for a Grant monument is flourishing in the East. It is a free-for-all competition and Texas should send in a few quarts of dimes.

MRS. EASTER MILES is an Ohio young woman whose shoes are No. 29s. They are nineteen inches long, and cost $45. Miss Miles would make a fortune by hiring out to farmers to tramp over grass-hoppers.

MR. A. A. CHASE, late editor of the Scranton (Pa.) Times, is in the Lackawanna county jail serving out a sentence for criminal libel. The Democrats of that county propose to run him for prosecuting attorney.

The latest suicide statistics are in. In nationalities Americans and Germans head the list. Farmers and merchants are in the majority. No editors are found in the list. Their lines of life are cast in too pleasant places to be voluntarily yielded up.

ANESTHETIC disclosures of the Fall Mail Gazette and its efforts now being made to raise the age of consent from thirteen to eighteen years, it is announced that the laws of New York are still more lenient, they only requiring that the child shall be ten years of age, and American civilization gets another black eye.

THE Republican papers of Ohio have discovered that Dr. Leonard, the prohibition candidate for governor of that state, is not a Christian, but as there's no probability of either of the other parties putting up a Christian against him, his case may not be so hopeless after all. Ohio politicians' records as Christians are not very marked.

MRS. VAL C. GILES of Austin is doing splendid work in behalf of the Confederate home for disabled soldiers. She will be at the encampment grounds today, and we doubt if there is a man present who will omit the opportunity to give a part of his abundance to so worthy an object. The beneficiaries of that institution, when it is established, will owe much to Mrs. Giles' energy and address.

ONLY one of our dead presidents is buried at Washington. Five are buried in Virginia, and three in Tennessee. Washington rests at Mount Vernon, Va., Jefferson at Monticello, Va., John Adams and John Quincy Adams at Quincy, Mass., Madison at Montpelier, Vt., Monroe and Tyler at Richmond, Va., Jackson at the Hermitage, Tenn., Van Buren at Kinderhook, N.Y., Harrison at North Bend, Ind., Polk at Nashville, Tenn., Taylor at Washington City, Fillmore at Buffalo, N.Y., Pierce at Concord, N.H., Buchanan at Lancaster, Pa., Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., Johnson at Greenville, Tenn., and Garfield at Cleveland, Ohio. It is remarkable that nine of our presidents should have found resting places in the South and none in the North.

IF EVERY Democratic voter in the state of Texas would assess himself one dime, Texas' contribution to the Grant monument would make the Yanks open their eyes.

THEIR was supposed to be an end to the gall of even a circus man. The agent of Forepaugh's circus has proposed to join in the Grand funeral services at Crescent, Iowa. He not only proposes to drap the cages and drag them in the procession, but tucks the tents in which to hold the services. It is a cheeky proposition to convert the funeral of a dead president into a circus advertisement.

GOV. MARTIN of Kansas recently issued his proclamation, in which he ordered his sheriffs to "take charge of and restrain any cattle coming into the state from the South in violation of state quarantine laws." This practically closed the Texan trail, that law having been framed for that purpose. The general government has ordered the trail to be opened and kept open. It is now in order for Gov. Martin to proclaim again and let the public know what he is going to do about it.

AN ILL ADVISED STEP.

With commendable prudence the committee in charge of the reunion resolved that no alcoholic liquors should be sold on or near the grounds. This action met the unanimous approval of all our people. Despite this prohibition, however, a certain firm have resolved to sell whisky just outside the limits of the reunion enclosure, in defiance of the public sentiment. THE GAZETTE would regret to see this effort persisted in; for the people are determined that no whisky shall be sold in or near the grounds. Legal means will be resorted to if these fail; other measures will be adopted to enforce the will of the people. There should be no mistake about this; for no whisky will be sold on the grounds, or near them.

But Mr. Gibbs does make a lamentably weak point when, in defending the refusal of the last legislature to order an election on prohibition, he says: "The framers of the constitution were well pleased with their work and, from the vote received for its adoption, so were the people." Doubtless the framers of the constitution were pleased with their own work, else they would not have made it. It is a very common thing for men to be partial to their own performances, even when their work is patently defective.

The vote received for its adoption was no test of the public regard for the constitution. The instrument which it displaced was so obnoxious that the people were forced to adopt it as the lesser of two evils. Not from choice, but of necessity, the present constitution was adopted.

IN view of the threatened local-option election this affair is most unfortunate. The effort to defy public sentiment in this matter will do more to promote opposition to whisky-selling than the titrades of a dozen temperance fanatics.

Today will be no whisky sold on or near the reunion grounds.

THE boys in blue and the boys in gray will meet and fraternize to-day.

THE Pittsburgh (Pa.) Gazette entered into its 100th year on Wednesday last.

TO-DAY'S meeting will revive recollections of parched corn and rained-in corn.

More people will get on and off the cars this week at the Fort than ever. All are welcome.

TWENTY-FOUR years ago we were all talking about Bull Run. To-day we are all a band of brothers.

SAM JONES says he wouldn't let "a dude put his arm around his cook." Sam shouldn't display his jealousy so openly.

GRANT and Buckner fought each other at Donelson. Next Saturday Buckner will act as pall-bearer to his old friend and enemy.

THE dime fund for a Grant monument is flourishing in the East. It is a free-for-all competition and Texas should send in a few quarts of dimes.

MRS. EASTER MILES is an Ohio young woman whose shoes are No. 29s. They are nineteen inches long, and cost $45. Miss Miles would make a fortune by hiring out to farmers to tramp over grass-hoppers.

MR. A. A. CHASE, late editor of the Scranton (Pa.) Times, is in the Lackawanna county jail serving out a sentence for criminal libel. The Democrats of that county propose to run him for prosecuting attorney.

The latest suicide statistics are in. In nationalities Americans and Germans head the list. Farmers and merchants are in the majority. No editors are found in the list. Their lines of life are cast in too pleasant places to be voluntarily yielded up.

ANESTHETIC disclosures of the Fall Mail Gazette and its efforts now being made to raise the age of consent from thirteen to eighteen years, it is announced that the laws of New York are still more lenient, they only requiring that the child shall be ten years of age, and American civilization gets another black eye.

THE Republican papers of Ohio have discovered that Dr. Leonard, the prohibition candidate for governor of that state, is not a Christian, but as there's no probability of either of the other parties putting up a Christian against him, his case may not be so hopeless after all. Ohio politicians' records as Christians are not very marked.

MRS. VAL C. GILES of Austin is doing splendid work in behalf of the Confederate home for disabled soldiers. She will be at the encampment grounds today, and we doubt if there is a man present who will omit the opportunity to give a part of his abundance to so worthy an object. The beneficiaries of that institution, when it is established, will owe much to Mrs. Giles' energy and address.

ONLY one of our dead presidents is buried at Washington. Five are buried in Virginia, and three in Tennessee. Washington rests at Mount Vernon, Va., Jefferson at Monticello, Va., John Adams and John Quincy Adams at Quincy, Mass., Madison at Montpelier, Vt., Monroe and Tyler at Richmond, Va., Jackson at the Hermitage, Tenn., Van Buren at Kinderhook, N.Y., Harrison at North Bend, Ind., Polk at Nashville, Tenn., Taylor at Washington City, Fillmore at Buffalo, N.Y., Pierce at Concord, N.H., Buchanan at Lancaster, Pa., Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., Johnson at Greenville, Tenn., and Garfield at Cleveland, Ohio. It is remarkable that nine of our presidents should have found resting places in the South and none in the North.

IF EVERY Democratic voter in the state of Texas would assess himself one dime, Texas' contribution to the Grant monument would make the Yanks open their eyes.

THEIR was supposed to be an end to the gall of even a circus man. The agent of Forepaugh's circus has proposed to join in the Grand funeral services at Crescent, Iowa. He not only proposes to drap the cages and drag them in the procession, but tucks the tents in which to hold the services. It is a cheeky proposition to convert the funeral of a dead president into a circus advertisement.

GOV. MARTIN of Kansas recently issued his proclamation, in which he ordered his sheriffs to "take charge of and restrain any cattle coming into the state from the South in violation of state quarantine laws." This practically closed the Texan trail, that law having been framed for that purpose. The general government has ordered the trail to be opened and kept open. It is now in order for Gov. Martin to proclaim again and let the public know what he is going to do about it.

AN ILL ADVISED STEP.

Lient-Gov. B. Gibbs writes and publishes in the Dallas Herald an open letter to Mr. J. B. Sayver of Denton. One begins to think upon reading the opening sentences of the letter, that he is going to learn that Mr. Gibbs is on the prohibition question, but he reaches the end and finds himself coming out at the same hole where he went in. His stock of wisdom is not enlarged to any burdensome extent by the task of perusal. For Mr. Gibbs is discreet—sly—"devilish sly," as Joey Bagstock was, and doesn't sit down in one place long enough to give one a fair shot at him. Evidently our lieutenant-governor is afraid of saying something that will disturb sensitive people, so he evades that possibility by leaving the reader in doubt as to what he meant to say about prohibition, which is the theme of his discourse.

But Mr. Gibbs does make a lamentably weak point when, in defending the refusal of the last legislature to order an election on prohibition, he says: "The framers of the constitution were well pleased with their work and, from the vote received for its adoption, so were the people." Doubtless the framers of the constitution were pleased with their own work, else they would not have made it. It is a very common thing for men to be partial to their own performances, even when their work is patently defective.

The vote received for its adoption was no test of the public regard for the constitution. The instrument which it displaced was so obnoxious that the people were forced to adopt it as the lesser of two evils. Not from choice, but of necessity, the present constitution was adopted.

IN view of the threatened local-option election this affair is most unfortunate. The effort to defy public sentiment in this matter will do more to promote opposition to whisky-selling than the titrades of a dozen temperance fanatics.

Today will be no whisky sold on or near the reunion grounds.

THE boys in blue and the boys in gray will meet and fraternize to-day.

THE Pittsburgh (Pa.) Gazette entered into its 100th year on Wednesday last.

TO-DAY'S meeting will revive recollections of parched corn and rained-in corn.

More people will get on and off the cars this week at the Fort than ever. All are welcome.

TWENTY-FOUR years ago we were all talking about Bull Run. To-day we are all a band of brothers.

SAM JONES says he wouldn't let "a dude put his arm around his cook." Sam shouldn't display his jealousy so openly.

GRANT and Buckner fought each other at Donelson. Next Saturday Buckner will act as pall-bearer to his old friend and enemy.

THE dime fund for a Grant monument is flourishing in the East. It is a free-for-all competition and Texas should send in a few quarts of dimes.

MRS. EASTER MILES is an Ohio young woman whose shoes are No. 29s. They are nineteen inches long, and cost $45. Miss Miles would make a fortune by hiring out to farmers to tramp over grass-hoppers.

MR. A. A. CHASE, late editor of the Scranton (Pa.) Times, is in the Lackawanna county jail serving out a sentence for criminal libel. The Democrats of that county propose to run him for prosecuting attorney.

The latest suicide statistics are in. In nationalities Americans and Germans head the list. Farmers and merchants are in the majority. No editors are found in the list. Their lines of life are cast in too pleasant places to be voluntarily yielded up.

ANESTHETIC disclosures of the Fall Mail Gazette and its efforts now being made to raise the age of consent from thirteen to eighteen years, it is announced that the laws of New York are still more lenient, they only requiring that the child shall be ten years of age, and American civilization gets another black eye.

THE Republican papers of Ohio have discovered that Dr. Leonard, the prohibition candidate for governor of that state, is not a Christian, but as there's no probability of either of the other parties putting up a Christian against him, his case may not be so hopeless after all. Ohio politicians' records as Christians are not very marked.

MRS. VAL C. GILES of Austin is doing splendid work in behalf of the Confederate home for disabled soldiers. She will be at the encampment grounds today, and we doubt if there is a man present who will omit the opportunity to give a part of his abundance to so worthy an object. The beneficiaries of that institution, when it is established, will owe much to Mrs. Giles' energy and address.

ONLY one of our dead presidents is buried at Washington. Five are buried in Virginia, and three in Tennessee. Washington rests at Mount Vernon, Va., Jefferson at Monticello, Va., John Adams and John Quincy Adams at Quincy, Mass., Madison at Montpelier, Vt., Monroe and Tyler at Richmond, Va., Jackson at the Hermitage, Tenn., Van Buren at Kinderhook, N.Y., Harrison at North Bend, Ind., Polk at Nashville, Tenn., Taylor at Washington City, Fillmore at Buffalo, N.Y., Pierce at Concord, N.H., Buchanan at Lancaster, Pa., Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., Johnson at Greenville, Tenn., and Garfield at Cleveland, Ohio. It is remarkable that nine of our presidents should have found resting places in the South and none in the North.

IF EVERY Democratic voter in the state of Texas would assess himself one dime, Texas' contribution to the Grant monument would make the Yanks open their eyes.

THEIR was supposed to be an end to the gall of even a circus man. The agent of Forepaugh's circus has proposed to join in the Grand funeral services at Crescent, Iowa. He not only proposes to drap the cages and drag them in the procession, but tucks the tents in which to hold the services. It is a cheeky proposition to convert the funeral of a dead president into a circus advertisement.

GOV. MARTIN of Kansas recently issued his proclamation, in which he ordered his sheriffs to "take charge of and restrain any cattle coming into the state from the South in violation of state quarantine laws." This practically closed the Texan trail, that law having been framed for that purpose. The general government has ordered the trail to be opened and kept open. It is now in order for Gov. Martin to proclaim again and let the public know what he is going to do about it.

AN ILL ADVISED STEP.

Lient-Gov. B. Gibbs writes and publishes in the Dallas Herald an open letter to Mr. J. B. Sayver of Denton. One begins to think upon reading the opening sentences of the letter, that he is going to learn that Mr. Gibbs is on the prohibition question, but he reaches the end and finds himself coming out at the same hole where he went in. His stock of wisdom is not enlarged to any burdensome extent by the task of perusal. For Mr. Gibbs is discreet—sly—"devilish sly," as Joey Bagstock was, and doesn't sit down in one place long enough to give one a fair shot at him. Evidently our lieutenant-governor is afraid of saying something that will disturb sensitive people, so he evades that possibility by leaving the reader in doubt as to what he meant to say about prohibition, which is the theme of his discourse.

But Mr. Gibbs does make a lamentably weak point when, in defending the refusal of the last legislature to order an election on prohibition, he says: "The framers of the constitution were well pleased with their work and, from the vote received for its adoption, so were the people." Doubtless the framers of the constitution were pleased with their own work, else they would not have made it. It is a very common thing for men to be partial to their own performances, even when their work is patently defective.

The vote received for its adoption was no test of the public regard for the constitution. The instrument which it displaced was so obnoxious that the people were forced to adopt it as the lesser of two evils. Not from choice, but of necessity, the present constitution was adopted.

IN view of the threatened local-option election this affair is most unfortunate. The effort to defy public sentiment in this matter will do more to promote opposition to whisky-selling than the titrades of a dozen temperance fanatics.

<p