

LADIES' BAZAAR OF FASHION

Mrs. C. D. Brown's stock of summer dress goods, millinery and general furnishing goods for ladies is now full. ON THE STREET.

Very quiet on the street to day.

Patience is now the principal topic of conversation among the society ladies.

The managers of opera-houses of the state are expected to meet here to-day.

The sale of seats for "Patience" opens Tuesday morning promptly at 10 o'clock.

It has been suggested that the boxes for the opera next week be sold at auction.

All places of resort in and near the city were visited by crowds of people yesterday.

The foliage for the stage decoration for the opera next week is expected from New York to-day.

This is the first day of the May term in the district court. Civil non-jury cases will be taken up.

Of the carpenters in the city sixty-eight are working eight hours per day, and twenty-one ten hours.

Mr. Otis Easton will shortly have elegantly appointed offices in the Smith building on Main street.

The usual large street-car travel was indulged in yesterday, the day being a perfect one for outdoor pleasure.

The rickety bridge from Front to Eighteenth street has been fenced up to keep people from losing their lives.

That young man who is such an inveterate chewer of gum, and attends the religious meetings, has been put upon the list.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Fourth Street Methodist church the ladies and others of the congregation will meet to complete arrangements relative to the new parsonage.

Mr. Benton received a telegram from Mr. Daxton last night stating that the grass and flower-beds for "Patience" were shipped.

Up to last night no answer was received from the Caddo parish sheriff in response to inquiries as to whether or not the man Henry Galley was wanted on a charge of murder.

Mr. Benton has telegraphed to New York for 200 copies of Tullence's Libretto, and the parties who made inquiries for them will be able to get them about next Wednesday or Thursday.

During church hours yesterday, great numbers of handsome and elegantly dressed ladies thronged the streets on their way to church services. They were escorted by many of the sterner sex.

A bridge across the Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific roads at the point on the South side where the best street railroad ends, would be a great convenience to the citizens of that rapidly filling up neighborhood.

John Kelly was arrested Saturday, charged with having burglarized the store of Joe Ooble, on Lower Main street. He is said to have gotten away with 700 to 800 cigars, and was held for appearance before the grand jury.

A move is on foot to grade, gravel and curb Jones street from the bluff to the reservation. A part of the street is now graded and partly gravelled, but there is quite a fill to be made near Sixth before the street can become a thoroughfare throughout its entire length.

Several young men met yesterday and discussed the advisability of forming a baseball club. L. R. Eder, an old-time player from St. Louis, was selected as a committee of one to see what could be done. If a nine is formed, the Belton club, which has become quite famous, will be challenged at once.

Three weeks ago Mr. R. M. Page purchased a vacant block of ground on Main street and Houston. To-day the ground is covered by a large number of substantial houses and sheds and offices. The latter are for use in his lumber business, and several of the houses are for stores, etc. The improvement is quite noticeable.

Mayor Broiles informed a GAZETTE man yesterday that the comment in Saturday's Mail concerning his speech at the teachers' institute last Saturday did him great injustice. Dr. Broiles says most positively that he said nothing whatever that could in anywise reflect upon any one who differed from him on the Blair bill question.

Fort Worth's Gas Well.

A communication elsewhere in this issue calls attention to the breakage of a street gas-lamp on the corner of Belknap and Pecan streets. Last night some boys lit the flow of gas, and a flame three feet high was the result.

More Base Ball.

In a closely contested game on Montgomery's hill yesterday between the Browns and Red Stockings, ten innings were made, with a score of 17 to 15 respectively. The game was umpired by the veteran base-baller, Jeff Davis.

Brought Back.

Officer Rowan Tucker came in last night, having in charge L. Cohn, who was arrested on Friday at Paris. Cohn was the butcher who made himself conspicuous in the late strike troubles here, and having been indicted gave bond and skipped out.

County Delegates.

Hon. George W. Fieger, chairman of Tarrant county Democratic executive committee, will this week announce the number of delegates each precinct will be entitled to according to the basis of representation adopted at the meeting of the committee on Saturday last.

A New City.

There are maps of recent construction which contain a city in Texas not yet actually located, but destined to ultimately become an important point. The place is called "Panhandle City," and is to be at the junction of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and Atlantic & Pacific roads. These roads are about identical in ownership. They are to cross in the Panhandle of Texas, and wherever that may be will spring up "Panhandle City."

Court House Echoes.

Brownson & Sibley of Victoria have brought suit in the district court against C. M. Tilford, J. D. Ramsey and T. P. Lenoir on a promissory note for $1740.

Amelia Edwards was granted a divorce from Jerry Edwards on the ground of abandonment.

In the district court case of R. H. Bradley vs. Missouri Pacific Railroad Company for damages, judgment was given for defendant.

Judgment for defendant was rendered in the district court in case of H. F. Fashall vs. Pat Fahey, administrator of estate of H. Brewer, deceased, on claim of a half interest in a piece of Fort Worth property.

Something Like a Prediction.

There is a pretty well understood decision, borne on the wings of rumor, that members of the orders thought to have been desirous of getting a ticket in the field will get in their work at the primaries on July 10. An offer was made by a young attorney to lay a wager that the Knights of Labor and Farmers' alliance, in their individual capacity, would in the forthcoming primaries succeed in having elected the delegates to the county convention, who would in the latter manage to get the famous dark-lantern ticket nominated in full by the county convention on July 17. There are two or three miles of spare room in which to entertain a doubt on the young attorney's proposition.

"Patience."

The lively inquiry regarding seats for the coming opera assures the house to be packed from pit to dome. No seats will be held or sold until Tuesday morning. Regular admission prices will prevail during the engagement; the management, although, think they would be justified in raising them should labor and expense be taken into consideration.

"Patience" promises to be the most brilliant musical event of the season, and all the ladies and gentlemen of the organization promise to distinguish themselves. Much credit is due to Mrs. Hoffman for her untiring energy, and Mr. Somerville for his aid in the direction; and all will be proud of their achievements.

The stage will be transformed into a garden of brilliancy and beauty, illuminated by colored lights and fountains. The effect cannot but be entrancing.

Hon. George W. Fieger.

The newly elected chairman of the Tarrant county Democratic executive committee, successor to the lamented Col. Royal T. Twombly, is George W. Fieger, mayor of the thrifty little town of Arlington.

Mr. Fieger is about thirty years of age. He has served two terms as reading clerk in the state legislature, and has long been known as a staunch Democrat, possessing a clear conception of the principles of his party and its traditions. As a lawyer, Mr. Fieger ranks high in his profession. The general opinion seems to be very favorable towards him, and satisfaction is expressed at his elevation to the head of the county committee. He is possessed of an active spirit, is a hard worker, and can be valuable for great good to the party to which he belongs.

The Tabernacle.

The inauguration of protracted meetings at the Gospel tent on Houston street, occurred yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There were present Reverends Mitchell, Tinnon, Christ, Allison, Nall and Gillespie. So far as seats had been provided, they were completely occupied, and the congregation numbered several hundred.

Rev. Christ conducted the exercises, and Dr. Mitchell delivered an interesting and long sermon, in which he introduced many telling points well presented. He emphasized the work of Christ to be rational in its character, and that men are not condemned for their sins, but because of unbelief. Faith in Christ and acceptance of him was pointed out as the essential thing to a complete development of the mental, moral and spiritual sides of men and women.

Services at the tent will be continued every night this week, commencing at 8 o'clock.

The North Carolina Seal.

Mr. C. F. Mason, general southern agent, and Mr. S. K. Williamson, advertising agent for North Texas, both representing the well-known firm of Marburg Bros. of Baltimore, paid a visit to THE GAZETTE yesterday. These gentlemen are introducing a new variety of the well-known "Seal of North Carolina" smoking tobacco, and known as "Cut Plug." The sample tried by THE GAZETTE force is of such quality as to entitle the new brand to great commendation for its sweetness and purity.

Marburg Bros.' tobaccos are prepared in Baltimore, but made only of North Carolina leaf. It seems by recent internal revenue statistics that the smoking tobacco industry is changing its base. In 1883, North Carolina produced 6,474,000 pounds; in 1885, the Fourth or Durham district, containing seven factories, footed up but 3,596,751 pounds. This, in comparison to Baltimore's four factories, which turned out in 1885 6,400,000 pounds, gives that city the first rank as a producer of smoking tobacco.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A DELIGHTFUL AND INSTRUCTIVE GATHERING ON SATURDAY LAST—RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by the president, Rev. Mr. McKnight offered prayer. The address of welcome, by the Rev. J. M. Wells, was delivered, and was highly entertaining and instructive.

The first subject discussed was "the place of the private school in a system of education." The discussion was opened by T. P. Murrey, who was followed by Messrs. Groves of Dallas and Davenport, Thompson, Hamilton, Williams, Mayor Broiles and others. The sentiment prevailed that there is an urgent need for a longer fall school term, and the eradication of the seeming antagonism between public and primary education, a harmonious union of the two or the absorption of one by the other.

Mr. Williams followed on the subject of "Comparative Philology," giving numerous examples to show the relations between the Greek, Latin, French, German and English languages by reason of their having had a common origin from the Sanskrit.

Mr. Davenport took the floor in favor of a strict English education for the American youth, willing to leave the work of philology to the philologist and teach results or facts as brought out by them.

At this came that which is interesting to the learned and unlearned alike, the refreshments, which were but another example of the thorough way in which Fort Worth performs her undertakings. Good things were provided in great abundance, and all present ate heartily and were satisfied.

The first thing on the programme of the afternoon was a paper read by Mr. Robbins on the subject, "The True Education." It was an interesting paper and highly appreciated. Judge Furman gave an instructive talk on the importance of teaching strict obedience in youth, as being an indispensable element of citizenship. Messrs. Reynolds, Thompson and Hanby also spoke.

Mr. E. F. Bell discussed "The Word or Phonetic system." This elicited a lively and interesting discussion, participated in by many present.

Mrs. Manuel read a strong, earnest and creditable paper on "Morals in Schools." The discussion which followed showed a strong sentiment in favor of the subject under discussion.

Mrs. Stingley favored the institute with an admirable paper on "Institute Work." Mr. Hanby closed the programme by reading a paper on "Geographical Sublimities," filled with rich and sparkling gems of thought.

The following resolutions were then offered, and adopted by a rising vote: Whereas, the law delegates unto county judges the oversight and superintendency of the county public schools; and Whereas, we believe our present judges have all as a large measure satisfactorily filled this arduous and responsible position; therefore

Resolved, by this institute, that we heartily endorse the administration of school affairs, and thank him for his repeated and earnest efforts to bring us to better institute work for our mental improvement, as well as our social enjoyment.

Resolved, that we express our thanks to the good people of Fort Worth for the great kindness and general hospitality shown us on this occasion.

The institute then adjourned to meet the 21 day of October, 1885.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Distillery Burned.

PEORIA, ILL., May 16.—At an early hour this morning the Enterprise distillery at Pekin, Ill., with all machinery and contents, was entirely destroyed by fire! The building contained 20,000 bushels of grain and 50,000 gallons of alcohol. Four cars of corn on the track were also destroyed, together with all the government books. Total value of the property is estimated at $200,000. Insurance about $60,000. The fire originated in the leach room and was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. The distillery was owned by Speltman & Dabney, the firm recently expelled from the whisky pool. The proprietors offer a reward of $5000 for arrest and conviction of the person who fired the building. They will rebuild.

A $70,000 Loss.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., May 16.—The Parness sash, door and blind factory and lumber-yard, the German Protestant church, Michael McKenney's and Dr. J. C. Beard's residences were destroyed by fire, and a number of other buildings damaged to-night. Loss $70,000, insurance $50,000.

He Cut to Kill.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 16.—A fight in which five men were cut, two of them severely, occurred at the Cliff mine on Mantour railroad Saturday night. A number of men residing near the mine, gathered at the house of Abraham Shaffer to spend the evening. About 11 o'clock, Frederick Hawcroft got into an altercation with Weston Butler, a colored man. Words led to blows and the fight started. Hawcroft succeeded in raving Butler, when the latter drew a knife and Hawcroft's cry, "Nigger is cutting me," apprised the others of what was going on, and a rush was made to stop the fight. Butler freed himself from Hawcroft and started for the door, slashing right and left with his knife, at anyone who came within reach. He succeeded in escaping, and has not yet been apprehended. After Butler had gone it was found that he had used the knife most effectively. Hawcroft has a gash of eleven inches in length across the hip, another almost encircling his left thigh, and a third on his right arm. His condition is serious. Joseph Yates was the worst sufferer. Butler's knife struck him in the abdomen, making two slashes, from which the entrails protruded. His recovery is considered impossible. The other men injured are Robert Yates, a brother of Jos. Yates, stabbed in two places at the hips; Samuel Anson, cut several times about the face and neck; and William Scott, cut across the hips. With the exception of Hawcroft and Jos. Yates, none of the men were seriously injured.
