In Memorian The sad death of Mester Joseph Thomson by drowning Monday afternoon, May 10, has already been made known to the public through these columns.

Joseph Thomson, son of Rev. S. A. Thomson of Dallas and nephew of Frof. P. M. White of Texas Wesleyan college, was bern in Ohio, December 11, 1871. Decembed was at the time of his death a student of Texas Wesleyan college, where he held a high rank. After hard work in the school-room during the not day he, upon dismissal of school, with boy-like vivzcity and eagerness hastened, in com-pany with some school-mates, to a large pond a distance from the college in order to refresh himself by bathing. Being warm when he entered the water, it is supposed that he took the cramp and thus met his untimely death. His body was found after a few minutes' search, and all that could be done to resuscitate tiln was done, but in vain. Summons were sent to his mother at Dallas to come to Fort Worth at orze, and she with a mother's instinct and troubled mind took the first train, and fi st gt the depot in Fort Worth learned the heart-rending cause of her hasty summons. Arrived at the college she bore up with Christian structed to notify Capera Bros. to put a fortitude under the terribie burden of fier drain-pipe in to carry off surface water grief. The other members of the family strived the next day except the fatter, Rev. Thomson, who was absent in Dakota. A dispatch was sent him at once informing him of the sad event.
