

SCIENCE OF CARVING.

How to Direct a Fowl Be It Ever So Tough.

Harper's Bazar.

An expert carver can divide poultry without removing the fork from the breast-bone or turning the bird on the dish, but a beginner will do well to have a small fork at hand for the purpose of laying out portions aside as the carving progresses.

After the wings are removed cut off the merry-thought or wish-bone, and then the wing side bones, which hold the breast to the backbone; then carve the breast in medium thin slices, and serve the bird, giving gravy and stuffing on each plate.

The action of Carter's Little Liver Pills is pleasant, mild and natural. They regulate the bowels, but do not purge.

It is a familiar axiom, "that the proof of the pudding is in the eating. The proof of Morris' Cascarine as a cure for liver and bowel complaint, is in its use."

Mr. Burdette insists that he overheard a woman lecturing her husband as follows on board a train: "Now I'll tell you why I wouldn't go into the restaurant and have a cup of coffee with you while we were waiting for the train. I didn't like the way you asked me. Keep quiet. I have the floor. Not half an hour before you said to Mr. Puffer: 'Come, let's get a cigar,' and away you went, holding his arm and not giving him a chance to decline.

Over how our way to luncheon, you said: 'Just in time, John; come take lunch with us.' And then, to-night, when we found the train an hour late, you looked at your watch, turned to me, and said in a questioning way: 'Would you like a cup of coffee?' And I did want it. I was tired and a little hungry, but I would have failed before I would have accepted such an invitation. And you went away as a little bit vexed with me and had your coffee and bread and butter by yourself and didn't enjoy it very much. In effect you said to me: 'If you want a cup of coffee, if you really want it, I will buy it for you.' You, the best husband in the world, but to us nearly all the best husbands do. Why do you men seem to do things out to your wives when you fairly throw them to the men you know?

Why don't you invite me heartily as you invite me? Why didn't you say, 'Come, let's get a little coffee and something,' and take me right along with you? You wouldn't say to a man, 'Would you like me to go and buy you a cigar?' Then why do you always issue your little invitations to treats in that way to me? Indeed, indeed, my dear husband, if I would only act toward their wives as hospitably, cordially, frankly as they do toward the men whom they meet, they would find cheerier companions at home than they could at the club.

The late revelations of the supplanting of English workmen in all trades by German, Polish, Dutch and Swiss have created widespread indignation and suffering among the laboring classes of London. Baking in London is almost entirely in the hands of the Germans. Many thousands of poor Dutch have swarmed the shoemaking trade in London. Sons of wealthy German families come in shoals to take positions in English business at nominal rates, and expect the poorly paid English clerks. The English sawdust-floored chophouse gives place to the Italian restaurant, New Zealand mutton supplants the Southdown, and the American sugar cured the Yorkshire ham. It is no wonder the cry of "England for the English" is growing when every day the native becomes smaller and the foreigner is ever gaining. "When are we to adopt the American example?" asks the Globe. "We do not only receive every foreigner who opposes England for his country, but the drugs of American emigration." The Greek Gyppies, whose benevolent intention to go to New York, via Liverpool was frustrated by the action of the American government, are still maintained by English charity and poor rates, and these, for aught, are the "American dress" complained of.

The editor of a paper at Storm Lake, Iowa, is now hiding in a swamp near that place in consequence of the way in which he mixed up the reports of a cattle show in a concert. His paper said: "The concert given last night by sixteen of Storm Lake's most beautiful and interesting young ladies was highly appreciated. They were elegantly dressed and sung in the most charming manner, winning the plaudits of the entire audience, who pronounced them the finest breed of short-horns in the country. A few of them are of rich brown color, but the majority are spotted brown and white. Several of the heifers are fine bodied, tight limbed animals, and promise to prove good property."

Botany is a passion with the fair sex. Yet they seldom obtain the aromatic flowers and the medicinal products contain certain efficient preservatives for headache, sleeplessness, nervousness, cold feet, and swollen ankles, Morris' Cascarine contains the remedy for all such complaints.

Wheat Opened Strong, Fluctuated Narrowly and Closed at an Advance—Live Stock Transactions Brisk.

Daily Review.

Trade was a fair average to-day in all lines.

Meats have advanced 10 and are firm at the advanced figures.

Coffee has weakened and declined 10 per pound.

New wheat now coming in is very fine. Fort Worth is the best wheat market in the state, paying from 6 to 10 cents more per bushel than other places.

New oats are in the market in considerable quantity and sell at 25¢/27¢ per bushel.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Special telegrams to Bradstreet's do not point to any improvements in conditions affecting general trade. The excellent crop prospects in the vicinity of Quincy, Ill., Omaha, Dallas, Tex., and Galveston, have stimulated demand from the interior at those points, but at few other cities is an increase in the volume of business noted. Trade at Pittsburg is fairly good, but unsettled. Late strikes, and those promised, have caused a better demand for bar iron there, but prices are no better with 1.90¢/1.95¢ the ruling rate.

At Kansas City the volume of trade is smaller than last week, but, of course, in excess of one year ago. Boston, New York and Philadelphia all report the customary commercial quiet at this season. Chicago's volume of trade has equaled the totals for late weeks, and is materially above the record a year ago.

Total bank clearings at thirty-eight cities for the week, as wired to Bradstreet's, aggregate $975,000,000, against $1,032,318,506 a week ago, a loss of 5.7 per cent. As compared with the corresponding week in 1886, when the total was $829,661,783, the gain is 17.4 per cent.

Leading domestic money markets have been active and somewhat firmer. At Boston it was stringent, with higher rates. At Chicago rates ranged higher, with loans carefully scrutinized. The strength of one of the banks there to withstand losses through claims on the Fidelity Bank of Cincinnati did much to steady the money markets at the west. Most of the wheat held by Chicago banks as collateral has been sold since last Saturday, and large quantities are being shipped daily and bank loans canceled. The Fidelity bank failure produced an unsettled feeling in both the money and stock markets. Lending rates rose and stock values declined through the week, till on Friday the excitement in Chicago culminated in panicky feeling and liquidation, in which prices declined all around and loan rates rose to 4 per cent. per day, the closing rate being 4 per cent. per day. There was a recovery in stocks and steeper feeling at the close.

The exhibit of the gross railway earnings per mile included in Bradstreet's May report shows that while earnings per mile for May, 1887, increased 8.6 per cent. over May, 1886, and 8.7 per cent. over May, 1885, they fell 1.20 per cent. below those of May, 1884. For the first five months of the year earnings per mile increased 7.7 per cent. over 1886, 6.6 per cent. over 1885, but only 2.8 per cent. over 1884.—Bradstreet's.
