BLAINE seems to be the man. The stars in their courses do battle for Democracy.

The Flora McIlmsey's of New York have enabled a modiste to pay $170,000 for a house on Fifth avenue.

The Chicago Herald says it is not an "improbability" that the Democrats of Illinois may elect a governor this fall.

Those who deny political acumen to Grover Cleveland will have their faith shaken by the appointment of M. W. Fuller of Illinois to be Chief Justice.

WHILE England and Germany are gobbling up the Pacific islands why does Uncle Sam stand idle? There is considerable good picking, and why not take a hand in the game of grab?

The people will show next November, that although Washington relics may command a good price, war relics are not in demand. They are too modern to have the charm of antiquity, and too dead to meet living interests.

The New York Herald states that Mrs. King, sister of Mr. Chamberlain, who went recently from Texas to Paris to be treated for hydrophobia, is going to found a Pasteur Institute in America as a grateful testimonial to Pasteur's skill.

BOULANGER, the idol of the French people, is said to know how to pick up a fan or handkerchief most gracefully. Mr. Cleveland is not built that way, but he picks up votes most adroitly, and woman suffrage in the United States is in abeyance.

A DAY to be marked with a white stone is a common expression, but Mr. Blaine will mark last Wednesday with a big 4 Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Florida and Texas on that day instructed for him; they couldn't take "no" for an answer, Mr. Blaine.

THE Republican papers are commenting on the preference evinced in the Indiana convention for Gray as nominee for the vice-presidency. True Blues are averse to grays, but Democrats are color blind. They only know one country and national colors.

THE Legislature seems to be making fair headway in efforts to reduce the state's surplus. Appropriations to the amount of $1,800,000 have been proposed, leaving only enough in the Treasury to run the state until the next year's taxes become available.

DISAPPOINTED politicians are borrowing clerical phrases. Not long since a Republican speaker referred to the defeat of 1884 as an "inscrutable Providence." Too clear an understanding of ways, is what rolled up the Cleveland majority. Inscrutableness was not a factor.

The appointment of Prince Herbert to be Minister of Foreign Affairs in Germany looks as if Prince Bismarck intended to perpetuate his power. Young blood runs hot, and it is doubtful if the Crown Prince and his son repeat the old story of the Kaiser and his Chancellor.

THERE was a heavy frost on the night of the 25th in East Virginia. It is estimated to have cost the truck farmers from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. The gardens in Texas blossom as the rose, and green peas, new potatoes, etc., cheer the inner man. Virginia may be prolific of F. F. Vs., but the Lone Star state has the essentials.

THERE is a bill pending before Congress to establish a court for Indians. The citizens of Greer county, who have known for neighbors, approve a court presided over by Judge Lynch, but know to their sorrow that catching precedes hanging. The average frontiersman would have all Indians good Indians, according to Mark Twain's definition.

A COLUMN devoted to the wonders worked by the relics of Saint Peter Clavers, canonized in 1887, is queer reading for Americans, and it is especially odd that this is published in an American paper, and that the miracles are alleged to have been wrought in the United States. With an eye to business, the same journal freely advertises patent medicines.

IF ANYTHING is necessary to confirm the belief that combinations are invincible and magnanimous the following ought to be sufficient: Mrs. Hetty Green has at last surrendered. Not entirely, because the reorganization committee remitted the penalty imposed for delay in coming into the Houston and Texas Central plan of reorganization. She therefore puts in $1,000,000 of the general and $90,000 of the Main Line and Western Division bonds. Had they insisted on the penalty the fine would have been $25,000.

THE attention of the New York Times is called to the statement made by the New York Sun, that the proportion of women murdered in New York within the last few months has been abnormal. In accounting for the frequency of woman murder the Sun remarks: "Unfortunately, the murderer of a woman comes to receive a large amount of strong sympathy from other women, to get from them testimony calculated to relieve him from punishment, and to enjoy a distinction of which he would be deprived if his victim had been a man."

DID the new capital contractor try to bribe newspapers? The Austin Dispatch declares he did, and he denies the charge and accuses the Dispatch of attempts to blackmail. The Legislature might make a note of this. If the contractor did try to bribe newspapers, his purpose was not to benefit the state; the state has jurisdiction over his work; should not the state, through its Legislature, investigate the contractor and demonstrate whether or not he tried to bribe newspapers to the concealment of truth concerning work on the state's capitol building?

A NORTHERN Republican journal says: "What the Republican party needs more than anything else is young blood. Its past record is glorious enough, but it cannot feed on this forever. It must set its face toward the future. It needs fresh blood, and if it fails to recognize this at the state convention to-day, in the resolutions and speeches, it will make a grave mistake." Yes, the Republican party needs fresh blood. It thrived and fattened upon blood shed in internecine strife, and in peace it is a dead party, a useless party. Strife and blood are its nourishment, and without these it has sickened and is dying.

IN SOME cases our English cousins—naturally rather more dull—see things quicker than we do. The opinion is growing across the water that the "higher education of women" is now looming up dark and gruesome on the social horizon. Girls of the lower orders escape the school teacher at the age of about thirteen, but those from parents of wealth do not get off so easily; and now England, as well as America, begins to complain of her myriads of slight women of emotional temperament and feeble digestive capacity, especially on the fashionable promenades. Such women never become the mothers of heroes.

PASTEUR'S TEXAS PATIENT.

The case of Mr. Chamberlain of Southern Texas who went to Paris a few weeks ago, to be treated by Pasteur, in anticipation of hydrophobia, is familiar to the readers of THE GAZETTE. A friend, Dr. Spohn, accompanied him, and full accounts have been published of their trip across the Atlantic and arrival in Paris, where they spent about two weeks. It is gratifying to learn that the treatment was efficacious, and that Mr. Chamberlain has been declared by the great French savant to be absolutely safe from the terrible fate apprehended. The extreme limit of incubation (as Pasteur calls it) in which the miasma develops has passed, and on last Saturday Mr. Chamberlain sailed for New York. By the middle of next week he should be at his home in Texas. His return, and under such gratifying circumstances, will no doubt attract much more attention in this country to the Pasteur system, which has gained such great repute in Paris and indeed throughout continental Europe, for there are several Pasteur Institutes in Europe and also in South America and Cuba. It is said that Dr. Spohn will come back to Texas equipped with facilities for introducing the treatment here, and it is to be hoped the report is true. It is rather strange that in the larger cities of the United States, in New York, if not elsewhere, the Pasteur system has not been introduced ere now. It has proven so eminently successful in France and Europe that it would seem American medical men ought not to hesitate about adopting it. Pasteur does not exact tribute in the use of his great invention. On the contrary he invites and begs the world to enjoy its benefits. It is for the good of humanity and he would be glad to see it within the reach of everybody as common and universal, as easily utilized as is Jenner's great discovery for the prevention of small pox. In the meantime Mr. Chamberlain's return to Texas will be awaited with interest, as we shall then hear more fully and authoritatively of his experience in Paris.

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS.

Not long since the New York Sun published a most interesting, not to say touching, article concerning a new order of Christian service called "The King's Daughters," founded in that city year before last. Since its publication, as might have been expected, so numerous have been the inquiries and interests that the Sun has been compelled to publish another article concerning the methods, purpose and spirit of the noble order. It appears from the Sun that the significance of wearing the badge of the King's Daughters and adopting the motto of the sisterhood, "In His Name," is that the member is willing to recognize and serve for good any other woman or girl, stranger or friend, or comply with any reasonable request made by her when made "In His Name." Although the society combines the shop girl as well as the women of wealth and fashion, members in all circumstances of life recognizing and aiding each other, there is very little authority in the order. They are all children of one household, acknowledging allegiance only to one common father. The president, Mrs. Bottoms, is, however, the spiritual inspirer of the deliberations of the central council; the writer of many letters of help and advice to general branches of the order; the eloquent and magnetic teacher of her sisters in the King's household, and from her earnest and busy life of good deeds emanates a spirit of active benevolence which permeates the whole society. The aim at present is organizing, rather than increasing, the membership, though a hearty welcome is extended to all sincere Christian workers who desire to enter the service of the King. Though very conservative in principle, there is nothing secret about the organization, and the caution of its leaders against the publicity of the press grows out of a fear that the popularity and picturesque quality of the order will attract people of sentiment rather than spirituality to enlist under its banner. The badge of membership is a small Maltese cross of polished silver, inscribed with the letters "I. H. N."—In His Name—and in New York the wealthy shopper often comes across fellow member across the counter in the person of a tired and worn shop girl. To define the work of this organization would require too much space. Summed up, it is to practice helpfulness, loyalty, devotion, human sisterhood. Already 14,000 women and girls are enrolled, and we predict it will soon permeate every part of the country. An order so exalted and noble deserves the most hearty encouragement.

STARTING A CHINESE PAPER.

Editor Hong in the East With the Nucleus of a Subscription List. New York, April 25.—Hong Gan Choung, a Chinese journalist from San Francisco, is here looking over the ground with a view to starting a weekly Chinese newspaper, to be the organ of the Chinese on this side of the Rocky mountains. He went to several places down-town to-day with an interpreter to price some of the modern printing presses. He saw some of the $50,000 presses, but concluded that it would hardly pay to begin so extravagantly, especially when the subscription list started with only three first-class fan shops and one barber. The paper is to be entirely independent of politics, Christian or heathen. It will be a sort of laundryman's journal, and is to be sold at 10 cents per copy. Mr. Editor Hong was finally told that he could turn out his paper by a much cheaper method than the Hoe presses—by the lithographic process. He was referred to some of the latter establishments. When he has made satisfactory arrangements with regard to the process of the paper's production he will then turn his attention to its subscriptions. Hong is at present stopping at 11 Mott street.

QUEEN OF THE PACIFIC SUNK.

The Almost Miraculous Escape of the Passengers and Crew. SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—An Associated Press dispatch from Port Hartford gives the following account of the sinking of the steamer, Queen of the Pacific, at that place: The Pacific Coast Steamship Company steamer, Queen of the Pacific, which left for San Francisco yesterday afternoon for the southern coast ports, arrived at Port Hartford at 6:30 this morning with her hold full of water. The hold sprung a leak about 2:30, the cause of which is not known. Powerful pumps were put to work as soon as the leak was discovered, but the water gained rapidly and the vessel sank in twenty feet of water, 20 yards from the wharf. She is at present resting easy on the bottom. When the leak was discovered the steamer was about fifteen miles from this port,

Hood's Sarsaparilla advertisement featuring an illustration of a man and a woman, with text: "100 doses for $1.00. One Cent per dose. True only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Everyone who buys a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla receives a fair equivalent for the money paid."

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS. Sold by druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar.

100 Doses One Dollar. This is not a catch line only, but original with, and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is the very best spring medicine and blood purifier. Now, reader, prove it. Take a bottle home and measure its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfuls. Now read the directions, and you will find that the average dose for persons of different ages is less than teaspoonful. Thus the evidence of the peculiar strength and economy of Hood's Sarsaparilla is conclusive and unanswerable.

Spring Medicine. "Feeling languid and dizzy, having no appetite and inability to work, I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, with the best results. As a health invigorator and for general debility I think it superior to anything else." A. A. BAKER, Utica, N. Y. "My wife and myself were both generally run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla brought us out of that tired feeling, and made us feel like young people again. It has done more for us than all other medicines together." RICHARD HAWKINS, Amityville, L. I., N. Y.

BODIES TURNED INTO STONE. Singular Petrifying Qualities Discovered in a Pennsylvania Graveyard. HARRISBURG, Pa., April 27.—Elizabeth, Allegheny county, has a cemetery, the ground of which has peculiar qualities for the petrification of bodies interred there. During the past few years several disinterments have been made in the cemetery, and in every instance the bodies were found in different stages of petrification. Some were entirely turned to solid stone. In others the process was yet incomplete. A few days ago the remains of two children of A. B. O'Neil were exhumed for removal to another cemetery. The younger child, who was three years old when he died, and had been buried seven years, was entirely petrified, and the features, limbs and body were as well-preserved as if they had been chiseled from marble. The other child, who had been three years buried, was partially turned to stone, and those portions not yet petrified showed no sign of decay. The body of the younger child was accidentally tapped with a hammer, and it gave forth a clear metallic ring. The ground is a stiff yellow clay, thoroughly saturated with water.

RUN OUT OF TOWN.

Negro Women of Bad Repute Flogged and Ordered to Leave Town. Special to the Gazette. CAMERON, Tex., May 1.—Last night a band of masked men visited a negro house of bad repute in this town and took out three colored women and flogged them with ropes. The women were then warned to leave town by sunrise or the process would be repeated. They left town this morning with their bundles on their heads. The men were masked and not identified.

THE "PALE FACE."

This is the generic designation of the white race bestowed by our copper colored brother, the "noble savage." The Caucasian, though many shades lighter, is not necessarily paler. But when his countenance has the parchment-colored tint, and his cheeks the hollowness indicative of a want of bodily stamina, he well deserves the appellation of "pale face." These facial indications should suggest a course of Hysteria's Sarsaparilla, an acknowledged reliable for curing such ailments. It is a powerful purgative, and is promptly, thoroughly and expeditiously acted upon by the system. Scarcely, Appetite, as well as the ability to resist without subsequent ailments, is renewed, and, in addition, the system against malaria and rheumatism, and remedial nervousness and kidney complaints.
