HAPPY WEDDING.

Nuptials of Mr. McAllister and Miss Martin.

A Brilliant Gathering at the Church and a Pleasant Reception at the Residence of the Bride's Parents—The Presents.

At 5 p. m. yesterday Mr. John U. McAllister and Miss Mamie C. Martin were married at St. Andrews church, Rev. Dr. DeForrest officiating. The church had been beautifully and tastefully decorated by the young lady friends of the bride, and at the hour appointed for the ceremony was filled to its utmost capacity with the fashion and culture of Fort Worth, friends of the contracting parties.

It was just 5 when a full choir began to sing the "Bride's March" from Lohengrin, and the wedding party marched in to the church. First came two little flower girls, Misses Alberta Martin and Laura Smith, sister and cousin of the bride, dressed in white and carrying baskets from which they strewed flowers along the aisle. They were followed by the bride, leaning upon the arm of her father, Captain Thomas P. Martin, and Messrs. J. E. Mitchell and W. M. McVeigh, the ushers. Proceeding up the aisle, the bride was attended at the altar by the groom, who came from the vestry room with his "best man," Mr. W. Q. Bateman. When the choir had ceased singing the grand organ filled the church with the subdued notes of the wedding hymn, and the minister pronounced the solemn ceremony that made the loving twain one, the father giving the bride away.

At the end of the ceremony the organ pealed forth Mendelssohn's grand wedding march, and the bridal party marched down the aisle and left the church.

Immediately after the marriage an informal reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents on Florence street, where a large number of friends called to extend their congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. McAllister. Tables had been beautifully set in the dining room, and the guests partook of an elegant collation of substantial viands.

The reception was of very short duration, however, for the time soon came for the young couple to leave, and they were whisked away to catch the 7:30 train amid a shower of rice and a volley of good wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. McAllister go to Aberdeen, Miss., the old home of the groom, where they will make a visit of two or three weeks' duration, after which they will return to Fort Worth, which will be their home.

The bride, who is one of Fort Worth's fairest and most popular daughters, wore a costume of white faille, French-made, cut en train, long sleeves, high neck, fitted in with silk tulle. The bridal veil swept in graceful folds to the floor, and a wreath of natural flowers crowned her. Her ornaments were diamonds, and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

The little flower girls were dressed in white, trimmed with moiré-silk. The groom and his attendants were in evening costume.

The presents were numerous, and many of them handsome and costly. Among them were the following:

Two handsome engravings, Mr. R. H. Sellers; silver waiter service, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith; portfolio of engravings, the Misses Peck; wedding day-book, Professor Hogg; silver fruit service, Mr. and Mrs. Williams of Mississippi; silver table service, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Martin; china lamp, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lake; clock and mantle ornaments, Messrs. Combs, Shaw, Smith, Jeffries, Harper, Keruegan and Read; silver napkin rings, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell; Russia leather album, Captain J. B. Littlejohn; silver dessert knives, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Rogers; silver and gold set, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barry; silver jelly spoon, Mr. E. E. Wright; silver pickers, Mr. J. R. King; moiré case, Mr. John Burke; silver olive dish, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown; silver-mounted parasol, Mrs. H. Tully; plush mahair case, Mrs. Goodenough of Louisiana; star of beautiful brooches, Captain W. E. Kennedy; silver case and shoe case, Mr. and Mrs. Burrows; silver card receiver, Mr. Thomas and S. A. Soyester; mirror, Mr. Scrimmell; set pearl handled fruit knives, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Poston; silver pie knife, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Adams; silver water set, Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Bateman; pearl handled carving set, Mrs. John R. Rose; chased brass card stand, J. E. Mitchell and W. M. McVeigh; vase, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Scoggin; chased brass piano lamp, "three hachlers," bisque figures, Mrs. Whitlo and Mrs. W. A. Garner; brass and onyx stand, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Swaine; brass umbrella stand, Howard Tully; China silk scarf, Miss Laura Smith; Moorish picture in bronze, W. C. Bishop; flowers, John Knowlton; plush and cherry rocker, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peck; silver butter knife, Mrs. A. S. Nicholson; after dinner coffees, Colonel and Mrs. E. W. Taylor; silver cream jar and sugar bowl, Miss Jessie Strong; Japanese scarf, Miss Mittle Gray; plush sofa cushion, Mrs. Bartels; silver sugar spoon and butter knife, Mrs. Walter and Miss Fannie Malone; silver mustard and salt spoons, J. PRICE BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK, CHICAGO, ST. LOUIS.

D. C. Aldrich: table scarf, Miss Corrie Martin; engraving, "Christ Before Pilate," Thomas Royal; handsome handkerchiefs, Miss Lottie Bartels, Miss Gilmore, Mrs. W. E. Kennedy, Mrs. Goodenough, Mrs. Reilly; crocheted slippers, Miss Corrie Smith; vase, Miss Annie Johnson, of Aberdeen, Miss.

A very pretty feature of the wedding was the attendance at the church, as organizations, of the "Knocking Knit" and the Young Ladies' Guild, of both of which societies the bride is a member.

Thus were happily married two of the most popular members of Fort Worth society, and if true worth, strengthened and upheld by the hearty good wishes of a host of friends, can serve to win happiness and prosperity, then the future holds much of both for Mr. and Mrs. John U. McAllister.

"Is Marriage a Failure?"

No; you will not find it so, if you decide on buying your husband or your wife or your "intended" one of my pretty presents. Ladies and gentlemen, Christmas will be here in a day or two; have you bought your presents? Everybody has some one person or persons that they value over everybody else. They usually show this by making some suitable Xmas present. Your husband, it is not the value of the gift, but the kind feeling that prompts it. I have a very pretty line of plush goods, toys, etc., mounted birds (that could be prettier or in better taste for a present) and shall be very pleased to have you call whether you purchase or not. I am right opposite my old stand, where my late life consumed all my stock, consequently everything is perfectly new and fresh. Respectfully,

A. STERRY.

To Advertisers.

Next Sunday's issue of THE GAZETTE will be an extra large one. This necessitates in order to accommodate our advertising patrons. Those who have not contracted for space should do so at once.

Being issued on the eve of Christmas makes a most excellent medium through which to get rid of your holiday stock.

Please send in your favors as early in the week as possible, in order to insure proper attention.

Edby.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

EDDY, TEX., Dec. 19.—The warehouse of A. W. Wilkison & Bro. of this place fell last night, killing two horses and one mule. They had about two thousand bushels of corn and some oats and cotton seed in the house. It was built on the side track, and was about six feet off the ground, the space under the house being used for a stable. The loss is estimated at from $800 to $1500.

Cotton is coming in lively. The gum at this place has put up over nine hundred bales, and is still running on full time.

Special Edition.

On January 1, 1889, THE GAZETTE will print a special edition, devoted to a historical review of the city of Fort Worth, its various manufacturing and commercial enterprises, its rapid growth and development from a mere prairie trading point to a great commercial center, with railroads radiating in every direction and business houses winning trade from every quarter of the state.

The facts and figures given will be collected and prepared with great care, the object being to furnish a reliable statistical history, which will not only be of interest to the casual reader, but will also be of permanent value to file as a work of reference.

Persons having friends and correspondents who are inquiring about Fort Worth as a place of residence or business will find this issue of THE GAZETTE of great value and can save time and money by having in such a supply as will meet their requirements for months to come.

The man with property to sell in or about Fort Worth will find that a copy of THE GAZETTE will give the man who wishes to buy more information concerning the advantages offered by the city than could be told by scores of pages of private correspondence. He will, therefore, be wise to invest in as many thousand copies as he thinks he can place to advantage.

The volume of statistical and historical matter to be handled leaves only a limited space to be devoted to advertisements, and those who desire to avail themselves of the advantages of an unrivaled advertising medium should place their orders early. Enough copies of the paper have already been sold to insure an edition of 50,000, and the probability is that it will take 100,000 to supply the demand.

This edition will offer advantages for advertising individual business and for advertising the city which will not be enjoyed soon again, and a liberal patronage will rebound to private gain and public good.
