CAR 414; CONDUCTOR 146.

On an inward bound West Nashville car last Sunday evening a well dressed colored man politely requested the conductor to find him a seat. The servant of the street car company treated the request with silent contempt, but remarked to a white man, "I guess that nigger is mad because I won't make 'em move so he can sit down." The colored passenger, who heard the whole conversation, acted very gentlemanly. He merely took a note book from his pocket and after looking at the conductor's cap and the car number apparently made an entry. A Globe reporter also looked at the figures 146 on the conductor's cap, and saw that the number of the car was 414. When the transfer station was reached the brawny conductor sang out to the colored gentleman, "Say, don't forget to have me pulled for the way I served yer."

Prof. J. C. Crawley is home from the Custom House. The department at Washington having abolished the position of janitor. This step was taken because Maj. Wills and one of his political advisers wanted this done in order that a certain white man would be given that job in the building. But the Major and his political adviser doubtless have reached the conclusion that they have no further need for the Negro than to use him as a cat's-paw in pulling out the political chestnuts from the fire; but he is not to eat any of the chestnuts; no, not so much as to be allowed to hold even a temporary office in the county conventions. All they want him to do is to go around and persuade other Negroes to help them to down all other Republicans who may happen to differ with them politically, and that difference always comes when it is not helping the would-be bosses to stay in office. They seem not to care for the success of the party, but only for the government that they are holding on to. But we will see what we will see.

LOCAL UNION

Allen Christian Endeavor Leagues Meet at Payne Chapel A. M. E. Church.

Last Sunday afternoon a rousing meeting of the Allen Christian Endeavor Leagues was held at Payne Chapel A. M. E. Church in East Nashville. This was the regular monthly meeting, and it having been announced that the Rt. Rev. Evans Tyree, D. D., would deliver an address, and also Dr. W. D. Chappelle, Secretary of the A. M. E. Church Sunday School Union, caused a large and enthusiastic audience to be out. The pastor, Dr. Flagg, was detained by circumstances over which he had no control and Bishop Tyree opened the meeting. The choir and congregation sang a beautiful anthem and Dr. Boone, pastor of St. Paul A. M. E. Church, offered prayer. The meeting had not progressed far before Dr. Flagg, the president, arrived and took charge of the meeting. He urged the members of the various leagues to bestir themselves and put forth their best efforts to foster the cause of Christianity.

Dr. Chappelle was the first speaker. He made an interesting address, admonishing his hearers to put away all strife and make a united effort to gather into the Endeavors the young people who are, apparently, showing no desire to become interested in Christian work. He said he was deeply concerned about the national meeting to be held in July and was anxious that Nashville do herself proud in the way of entertaining the thousands who will be her guests on that occasion.

Bishop Tyree followed Dr. Chappelle, and in his inimitable style entertained the meeting for over thirty minutes. He made a strong plea for the saving of the young people. He said nothing was grander than a civil meeting where the young minds could be fed on wholesome thoughts. The Bishop dwelt at length upon punctuality. He said there was not a pie, nor a chicken, nor a cake, nor a turkey in the world good enough to make him break an engagement, and admonished the people to be prompt in every thing, and to let six o'clock mean six, and not to wait until the time to go to start to getting ready. He said that he had reached the age to be able to make self a second consideration, and would the remainder of his days labor for the salvation of others. Speaking of the time when age would make his steps faint, he said: "When I get away out in the deep water up to my throat, up to my ears—so deep that I have only one echo left, call me and I will answer your call. You have honored me, and I feel it my duty to serve you continually."

At the conclusion of the Bishop's remarks, Dr. Flagg called for the Chautauqua salute, and in a minute the house was converted into a mass of white handkerchiefs waving to and fro amid the echoes of "We are Marching."

A communication was read from Dr. E. J. Gregg, of Jacksonville, Fla., the Corresponding Secretary of the Christian Endeavor Department, stating that he would be present at the mass meeting to be held at St. Paul A. M. E. Church on February 20. All pastors and presidents of leagues pledged themselves to put forth every effort to give Dr. Gregg a royal reception at the meeting.

The local union arranged to have a lecture by Bishop Tyree, which will take place at the Payne Chapel A. M. E. Church, Tuesday night, February 19. Mr. D. A. Hart, President of the League at St. John A. M. E. Church, was elected reporter for the Sunday School Monitor and the Nashville Globe, and instructed to report a full account of the meeting.

A liberal contribution was taken and one of the most interesting meetings of the Local Union was brought to a close.
