LABOR DAY GREENWOOD.

Teeming Thousands Spent the Occasion There

NO DISTURBING INCIDENTS TO MAR PEOPLE'S PLEASURE.

ALL KINDS OF SPORTS TO AMUSE THE PEOPLE—THEY WERE HAPPY AND ENJOYED THEMSELVES—THEY FULLY APPRECIATED THE DAY DEDICATED TO THEM.

Greenwood Park was filled with thousands of laborers, members of colored labor organizations, their families and friends on Labor Day, Monday, September 2. Most fittingly was the day spent by the colored toilers of the city at this beautiful pleasure resort. They went there to enjoy themselves as they felt free to do, and in enjoying themselves they honored the great national holiday. By proclamations of municipal, state and the federal government a specific day is dedicated each year to the Nation's toilers for assembling together and enjoying themselves after the manner of their own choice. Since the institution of this day sacred to toil, there is no other national holiday so wholly and universally appreciated and commemorated. It appeals to the sentiment and appreciation of the Nation's greatest productive force—its laborers—upon which it depends for its prosperity and general welfare.

Aside from the sentimental feeling which the occasion engenders, it also shows the universal appreciation of the dignity of labor which is increasing and rising to a higher plane year after year.

No class of American citizenship was more susceptible to the lessons of patriotism, frugality and optimism which the occasion suggested than were the colored laborers who spent Monday at Greenwood. All day long the people poured into the Park, which had many features of amusements for their enjoyment. There was a big game of baseball between the National Baptists and the Giants, which was enjoyed by an immense number of people; there was the skating rink with its big throng of skaters and spectators; the shooting gallery with its varieties, and the merry-go-round with all ways crushing crowds and riders. No one could have a dull time with all these things in motion.

The management of the Labor Day entertainment at Greenwood should be congratulated on the manner in which everything was conducted. There was not a single fuss, fight or other disturbing incident to mar the peace and pleasures of the occasion. At some of the other parks (white) there were murder, fights and other disturbances galore to mark the passage of the day. So the colored people of the community who assembled at Greenwood should feel proud of the fact that they passed the day in perfect peace and harmony, without a disquieting incident.

MR. J. BROWN ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. F. Hannah, of 918 Twenty-first avenue, North, entertained last Friday evening, August 30, in honor of her brother, Mr. Joseph Brown, of Indianapolis, who is here visiting for a few weeks. Games were the main feature of the occasion, and an enjoyable evening was spent. Fruit, ices and cake were served. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. P. O'Neal, and Mrs. J. W. Mayberry, Mr. and Mrs. W. Manlove, Mr. and Mrs. R. North, Mrs. F. Bramlette, Mrs. Wm. Perkins, Mrs. M. J. Smith, of Louisville, Mrs. J. Childress, Mrs. E. Laws, Misses Addie Allison, Sallie Bramlette, Mayme Allison, Lou Ella Mayberry, Messrs. Ivo Street, Walter Hollins, Clarence LaPrade, Samuel Hannah, Tom Bramlette, Oliver Dismuke and Peeples.

HOLLANDS-ANDERSON.

One of the most simple yet beautiful weddings was that of Miss Addie Anderson and Mr. Thomas Hollands, which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lizzie Anderson, on Highland street, last Thursday afternoon. The shades were drawn and with the beautiful decorations of potted plants, ferns, cut flowers and brilliant lights a scene of rare beauty was presented. At five o'clock Miss Hazel Thompson began the strains of Mendelssohn's beautiful wedding march. Mr. Chas. Vaughn, a cousin of the bride's, was best man, who entered with Mr. Holland. Miss Peterson, the bridesmaid, came in alone. She wore a beautiful dress of white organdy and carried a bunch of pink carnations. The maid of honor, Miss Vaulx, who was also a cousin of the bride, came in with Miss Anderson on her arm, and Elder Preston Taylor performed the impressive ceremony. Miss Vaulx had on a gown of baby blue organdy and carried a bunch of maiden-hair ferns. The bride presented a lovely picture in a princess costume of white organdy trimmed with Val lace and pin tucks, and carrying a bouquet of Marechal Niel roses and ferns. Her veil was caught up with a bunch of orange blossoms. Ices and cake were served the guests. Many valuable and useful presents were received by the happy couple. Mr. and Mrs. Holland left Thursday night for Chicago, where they will reside in the future.

BACK TO ALABAMA.

Prof. R. B. Hudson left the city Sunday morning for his home in Selma, Ala., after having spent about a week here. Prof. Hudson takes the place of the late Prof. W. L. Cansler as Secretary of the National Baptist Convention. Thus he was here looking after the affairs of that office. When seen by a Globe representative, who had a conversation with him at the National Baptist Publishing House, and who asked him whom the Convention would elect in Prof. Cansler's place, Prof. Hudson said, "You have asked me this question about fifteen days too soon. I can only say that for the present I assume the duties of the office as secretary, and I shall continue in this until a successor is elected, which election will not be held until Monday, September 16, the last day of the National Convention, in its twenty-second annual session at Washington, D. C. I feel that very few men in the denomination would put the interest, the patience, as well as the work in the office that Prof. Cansler did. We may be ambitious, but we have not had the experience. I would consider it an honor if I was selected for the place." Prof. Hudson was pressed for more, but would not talk for publication. It is learned, however, that he is the logical candidate for the position, and many of the leading men in the denomination will favor him. He is a favored son in the state of Alabama, where he holds many important positions among the Baptists. He was entertained while here by Nashville business men and by Mr. A. N. Johnson, the undertaker, who has just opened up in the Boyd Building. Mr. Johnson is an old acquaintance of Prof. Hudson, having known each other years ago in Alabama.

REV. PARTEE CRUELLY BEATEN BY WHITE HOODLUMS.

Rev. Mr. Partee, a Methodist minister, conducting a series of revival meetings in Gibson County recently, was subjected to severe treatment at the hands of a mob last week because of his utterances on the subject "Social Equalities of the Races."

The following evening after the sermon referred to and as Rev. Partee was on his way to church, he was intercepted by a gang of rascals and cruelly beaten. He was threatened with death, it is said, if he continued his meetings. With the prospect of such cutthroats skulking about his meetings for the sole purpose of murdering him for the least utterance not to their liking, or which, devil-bent, they would be sure to misconstrue as a pretext for carrying into execution their hellish deed—murder—Rev. Partee could not choose but leave. On reaching his home at Milan, Tenn., he found out from threats being circulated that he was to be subjected to further persecution by being driven from his home in that town by hoodlums there in sympathy with the other gang who had throttled free speech.

The creatures that prowl around colored people's revivals in the country, go there bent on making trouble or with lecherous designs. One of these two purposes accounts for their presence at such religious meeting places of colored people. These same skulks would readily murder colored men were they to have the temerity to be hanging around the meetings of white people.

It is not believable that Rev. Mr. Partee made use of any remarks so intemperate as to even remotely justify the brutal attack made upon him. He may have delivered himself with emphasis in imparting instruction to his colored audience to keep rigidly within racial bounds in their social relations. This doubtless riled the immoral creatures hovering around colored meetings to bully colored men and insult colored women. Rev. Mr. Partee in all probability interfered with their plans and program along this line and shattered their lecherous dreams by anticipating their game and publicly exposing it.

There is no earthly reason, other than that named above, for white men, who have no respect for religion or God, attending colored people's religious meetings.

It should be said to their everlasting credit, that no class of men in this country has done more to conduce, preserve and maintain peace by advising their people to moderation and orderly behavior in all their actions than have colored ministers.

THE DEAN AND THE EDITOR OF THE GLOBE GO EAST.

Mr. Charles H. Burrill, Secretary and Dean of the Globe Publishing company, will leave Sunday morning to pay a visit to his home, New York. Mr. Burrill will be away about fifteen or twenty days, and while in the East, will visit his former home and birthplace, Providence, R. I. He will also spend a few days in Washington and Philadelphia.

Mr. Burrill, who is one of the most efficient proofreaders this country has produced, is one of the most indefatigable workers upon The Globe force. Though his name has been brought before the public less, perhaps than any one else's who has contributed to the success of the paper, he has done more to place the paper upon a high plane than any one associated with it. He has a wide experience covering a period of forty years upon some of the leading papers of the country and is endowed with a special sense for news, which has made him almost invaluable to The Globe.

Mr. Burrill will be accompanied on his trip East by Mr. J. O. Battle, editor of The Globe, who, besides spending a few days in New York and the other cities to be visited by Mr. Burrill, will visit his brothers in Camden, N. J., and spend a few days at Atlantic City.

EARNEST WORKERS.

The Earnest Workers of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held two very successful meetings, one week before last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bosworth, on Patterson street, and one last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Flowers on Wharf avenue. The interest at these meetings is good and much good is being done by the members and their friends.

OPENING THE BLIND SCHOOL.

The fall term of the Colored Department of the Tennessee School for the Blind opened Monday morning, September 2, with the largest enrollment of out-of-town pupils ever recorded in the history of the school. This would have been larger still but for the fact that Monday was Labor Day and many parents would not send the children on account of the heavy travel on that day. The faculty changed just a little since last term. The Principalship is still in the hands of Mrs. S. M. Lowe. Prof. Neal has the Shop and Industrial work, Miss Myrtle Mae Hunter, the Literary Department, while Miss Quenett Compton has the place made vacant by the resignation of Miss Wells. The prospects are bright for a good year, says Mrs. Lowe.

FAULKNER-HADLEY.

Last Wednesday afternoon at half-past four o'clock Miss Willa Maud Hadley, of this city, and Dr. E. Langston Faulkner, of Denver, Colo., were quietly married at the home of the bride, 1506 Phillips street. The wedding was very simple, but most beautiful in its simplicity. Only the family and very intimate friends were present.

Before the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. C. O. Hadley sang a solo, "As the Dawn." Then to the joyous strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March the bridal party entered. The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. T. O. Hadley, the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopal Church being used.

Rev. Spencer Jackson performed the ceremony that made them one.

After congratulations and a program of music from Misses Sadie

Harding, Jennie and Alberta Hadley and the bride, refreshments were served in buffet style. The presents were rare and costly. Many handsome pieces of silver and cut glass were received. The bride's mother gave a solid silver tea service, and the other members of the family gave presents of silver and cut glass.

The bride, who is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Jennie L. Hadley, has the honor of being the first graduate from the Musical Department of Fisk University. She has been instructor in music at Tuskegee, in the State School at Tallahassee, Fla., and at the time of her marriage had charge of the music in Haines' Institute, Augusta, Ga.

The groom is well and favorably known in this city, having graduated both in Pharmacy and Medicine from Meharry Medical College. He has built up a large and lucrative drug business in Denver, and is said to own one of the finest drug stores not only in that city, but in the West. They left at 7:40 for Denver, their future home, carrying with them the best wishes of their many Nashville friends.

WILL SPEND THE WINTER IN DENVER.

It is learned that Mrs. Noel and daughter, Miss Jennie, have fully decided to spend the winter in the West. This action was taken after the departure of Henry Noel, Jr., for Denver last Saturday. Mrs. Noel thinks it will be much benefit to her son's health, as well as recreation for herself and daughter, to sojourn in the Western country where the winters are long and the climate ideal. They will possibly go via Chicago and spend a couple of weeks with friends there, and from thence to Denver.

MISS CLARK ENTERTAINS.

What proved to be one of the most elaborate affairs of the season was the dinner given by Miss Mary L. Clark in honor of Mr. A. T. Landers Thursday evening, August 29, at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Clark, 610 Jo Johnston avenue. The house was effectively decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. After a delightful musical program the guests were invited into the dining-room where a profusion of flowers and other attractive decorations greeted the eye. Here was seen the work of the celebrated caterer, Mrs. Philip Douglas, who is unsurpassed in her special line. The color-scheme was yellow and white. The table with a superb service of silver and china, had for its centerpiece a beautiful Battenberg square over yellow, holding a cut-glass vase filled with dahlias and ferns. Scattered over the table were silver receptacles on yellow and white dillies filled with mints and burnt almonds. The place cards were of white embossed with yellow flowers. During the wine course Mr. J. O. Battle, who had been chosen toastmaster of the occasion, offered the toasts, which were heartily responded to by each one present. All, with a mingling of joy and sadness, drank to the health of Mr. Landers, bade him Godspeed and good-bye. Those invited to partake of Miss Clark's hospitality were Misses Nellie E. King, Lavinia McLemore, Belma Mahan, Ruth Pearl McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Boyd, Messrs. Fred. J. Ewing, J. O. Battle, Louis D. Bumbrey, Lovell Landers, B. J. Hadley and L. S. Gray. A menu of five courses consisting of the following was served:

Fruit in Canteloupes.	French Peas.
Chicken.	Pickles.
Asparagus.	Hot Rolls.
Iced Tea.	Wine.
Tomatoes.	Hollandaise Sauce.
Ices.	Cheese Straws.
Mints.	Almonds.
	Cake

CLUB RECEPTION.

The Lily of the Valley Club, No. 2, gave a grand reception at the residence of Mrs. Doney Diser, 1116 Gay street, Monday night. Those present were Madams May Kittrell, Rebecca Milam, Lena Roland, B. F. Milam, Misses Alice Huddleston, Nellie Ramsey, of Dickerson, and Miss Anna J. Cannon.

H. T. G. M.

Miss Hazel Thompson, of 209 Eighteenth avenue, North, entertained the members of the H. T. G. M. Tuesday evening, September 3, at whist and after refreshments were served the young ladies enjoyed themselves listening to entertaining stories told by the wizard of the club.

MRS. CALDWELL OF OKLAHOMA PASSES AWAY.

The many friends of Mr. John H. Caldwell, who was a student in the high school department of this city, will regret to learn the sad news of the death of his mother, which occurred in Milan, Tenn., on August 17. Mr. Caldwell had spent the summer at Monteagle, Tenn., and was making all preparations to be in Nashville for the opening of the school Monday. He was summoned to the bedside of his grandmother, who resides in Milan, Tenn., and was reported dangerously ill. His mother, Mrs. Caldwell, who was then in Chandler, Okla., was at the same time summoned to the sick patient. In fact, all members of the family had been called home. But before the arrival of Mr. Caldwell, his mother had reached the bedside of her mother and was suddenly stricken with a fatal illness. She died before Mr. Caldwell could reach her, but his grandmother improved rapidly. The remains of Mrs. Caldwell were taken to the new home at Chandler, Okla., for burial. It is also learned that this sad misfortune will keep the young man from entering upon his school work until the latter part of October. The deceased, as well as the bereaved members of the family, are well and favorably known in Nashville.
