

PROGRESSIVE NORTH CAROLINIANS.

Greensboro, N. C., May 27.—This week will long be remembered in the history of Greensboro. It was the commencement week of the Agricultural and Mechanical College located in Greensboro for the education of the young men. It is perhaps the only real agricultural and mechanical college in the country and the young men who graduate from the institution are doing a great work. It may be said to the credit of many of the states that there are A. & M. colleges for the education of the youth of the race, but they are not confined to that particular branch of work. At the head of the A. & M. College here is Prof. J. B. Dudley, one of the most noted educators of the race, and a man of ability. He has been at the head of the school for a number of years, and is devoted to the work. Each year there are improvements, and larger classes turned out. The commencement exercises started last Sunday morning with the baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. Mr. J. E. King, of Raleigh, rector of the Episcopal church there. This sermon contained some good advice to the young men. He was eloquent and at the same time practical. The college chapel was crowded to its limit to accommodate the large crowd. Several of the city churches suspended services.

Sunday night the address to the Y. M. C. A. was delivered by Chas. Stewart, A. M., of Chicago, the newspaper correspondent. A large crowd was present. Monday night the exercises of the Agricultural Literary Society took place. There were several orations delivered on the subject and the principal address was delivered by W. S. Hagans, of Goldsboro, who is one of the most successful and prosperous farmers in the state. His address was practical and contained good advice to the young men who were to graduate.

Tuesday night, Prof. G. A. Edwards, of Shaw University, Raleigh, N. C., delivered the address to the Mechanical Literary Society. Prof. Edwards felt that it was a high compliment to be invited to address the literary society in the school from which he graduated but a few years ago. His theme was composed of one word, "Success," which he expressed volumes in the handling of it. He told the young men going out in life how to achieve success and greatness in the world. "Reliability," was held up as the watchword and they were told to take that up with industry and push.

Wednesday night it seemed that everybody in Greensboro, and for miles around tried to crowd into the chapel. One of the features of the commencement for several years has been a drama which has been written and staged by Mrs. J. B. Dudley, wife of the president of the institution. These dramas have been of particular interest because they portrayed some phase of the race question, and told in words of the success and progress the Negro was making for himself. This has had much to do with drawing a large crowd as well as the ability of the author. "The Negro's Quota in the Development of the Country" was the drama Wednesday night and one which will be an important factor in racial development in North Carolina. The A. & M. College song which was used throughout the commencement was also composed by Mrs. Dudley. Every train coming into Greensboro Thursday morning brought large crowds. This was commencement day, and this is the time when the people come to town. The orations of the students were of a high order. Eighteen young men graduated and the address was delivered by Mr. Joseph Daniels, editor of the News and Observer, Raleigh, N. C. He made a good address. He spoke to the students of the institute, not as white men or black men, but as men who must fill their places in the world. Mr. Daniels in addition to being one of the leading editors in the South, is also a great orator. His address Thursday morning was eloquent and scholarly. The diplomas were presented by President Dudley.

Prof. Dudley is putting forth a strong effort to have the young men of his race remain in school and become useful men. He could see that the future of the race had much to do with that. He appealed to the people to create a fund or to pay for a scholarship out of which the young men could receive some assistance. Many were the responses to the appeal. One of the largest business concerns controlled by members of the race, the North Carolina Mutual and Provident Association, sent a check for $25 to apply on a scholarship. "This is what the young men are doing to encourage the race," said Prof. J. B. Dudley. "This is one of the strongest companies in the country. While they are not backed by millionaires, yet they have at the head strong young men, and some of them who own good real estate themselves, and who are prepared to help the race. John J. Merrick, the president, started life as a barber; Dr. Moore, the secretary and treasurer, and all around worker, while the manager and vice president, C. C. Spaulding, started life as a cook and butler, and now they are doing business. They own as a company good real estate, and are now erecting a building in Columbia, S. C. They have put up the required amount, $10,000, with the Treasurer of South Carolina to do business in the state, and recently had to put up an additional $5,000 on account of the growing business. "Young men, when you enter life, go there to do something. You have it in your power. Do not sit down and wait for something to turn up, but you turn up something." A reception by the Alumni Association followed in the afternoon and evening and the school closed until next fall.

EDUCATIONAL RALLY.

The educational rally at Spruce Street Baptist Church last Sunday for Roger Williams did not prove to be as successful as hoped for. Much credit, however, is due to those who did work and the Educational Secretary, Rev. William Haynes, and the Board of Trustees of Roger Williams University wish hereby to thank those who donated and those who worked so faithfully to raise the amount collected.

Other persons also contributed, the report of which will be made as soon as the names are handed in to the Educational Secretary.

PRAYER AT THE CONGRESS.

Let the People of Nashville, the Congress Delegates and Visitors Participate in Daily Prayer Service.

From time to time the attention of the people has been called to the Sunday-School Congress and Young People's Chautauqua which is to meet in Nashville next week, opening Wednesday, June 9th. This meeting will be composed of Christian workers who are seeking a better knowledge of God's word and a fuller experience of the indwelling of the Holy Spirit in their hearts. They are coming together as Paul expresses it in Rom. 1:11, 12—"For I long to see you, that I may impart unto you some spiritual gift, to the end ye may be established; that is, that I may be comforted together with you by the mutual faith both of you and me." We know God answers prayer, therefore, we request that all participate in daily prayer. We hope those who attend these meetings will bring their Bibles with them, for the word of God is the sword, the Holy Spirit says: "And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God." (Eph. 6:17). Prayer will be held each day and a general study of the Bible is urged. Sunday-School Congress and B. Y. P. U. Chautauqua, Henry A. Boyd, Secretary.

ANNUAL SERMON TO THE RAILROAD MEN.

The members and friends of the Railway Men's Protective Association listened to an eloquent and timely sermon at the St. John A. M. E. Church at the corner of Eighth avenue, North, and Cedar street, last Sunday afternoon. The association met at its hall and donned the official badge of the organization and under the leadership of Mr. Humphrey Bowling, the President, they marched to the church. A great crowd of friends and admirers of this benevolent organization, that has been so helpful to the employees of the various railroads, greeted them there. Interest was at a high pitch and again it was demonstrated that the city at large holds in high esteem the working men, as the railroad men, as a rule, are more generous and hospitable than any other class of working men. Their religious inclination was also demonstrated by the way in which they turned out, as hardly one of the members was absent, except those excused on account of sickness or being out of the city. There were visitors from other cities in the audience.

DR. CLANTON IN TOWN.

Tuesday of this week Rev. S. T. Clanton, A. M., D. D., Assistant Dean of the Theological Department, Professor of Greek, Hebrew and Homiletics at the Alabama Baptist University, and his son, Dwight L. Clanton, were in the city. He stopped over to visit his daughter, Miss Edna M. Clanton, at the National Baptist Publishing Board. Dr. Clanton was en route to his home in Decatur, Ill., where his family resides. He spent the greater part of the day visiting friends and renewing old acquaintances. It is not known definitely, but it is surmised that he will return during the Congress, as he is a religious worker of national reputation and his presence at this meeting would doubtless mean a great deal for all concerned.

DR. MOORES HONORED.

Recently at the Palms the Algonquins gave a stag in honor of Dr. Haven Moores, who is expected to leave for Mississippi in the near future. Many words of encouragement were spoken by those present, after which refreshments, consisting of cigars, lemonade and sandwiches were served. Those present were Messrs. T. G. West, T. C. Moore, Sykes, A. G. Price, F. J. Ewing, Chas. A. Greer, Thomas Ratcliffe, J. J. Lay, J. F. Battle, Geo. Boyd, Lorenzo Johnson, Ernest G. Cole, Doctors A. Napier, Trapp, Walter Davis, Wright and Haven Moores.
