

A TORNADO

Causes Death and Destruction at Chicago.

At Least Two People Killed Outright and Many Fatally Injured.

A Number of Houses Totally Demolished—The Canvas Canopy Over the Democratic Wigwam Tumbled to the Earth and Tore Into Shreds.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Monday afternoon heavy clouds began to gather, and half an hour later the darkness was so intense that electric and gas lights had to be called into use in the offices and stores down town. A few minutes later a tornado swept down upon the city from the northwest, accompanied by terrific thunder and lightning and torrents of rain and hail. In the west division of the city trees were broken down, awnings torn off and windows shattered. Several buildings in course of erection were wholly or partially wrecked. A brick cottage at No. 1836 Whipple street was demolished, two-year-old Emma Klimka killed instantly and the mother and another child badly injured.

In the district between Twenty-second and Thirty-second, east of the river, a great deal of minor damage is done. Telegraph, telephone and electric systems were completely demoralized for a time. Large chimneys on two or three manufacturing establishments were wrecked and some houses struck by lightning and badly damaged. Portions of the roofs of several buildings in State street, between Twenty-third and Thirtieth streets, were blown off and many chimneys demolished.

The Rents & Santley circus tent and poles, at the corner of Twenty-eighth street and Wentworth avenue, were razed to the ground and the performers compelled to seek shelter in neighboring houses. Several of the horses made their escape during the storm and have not yet been found. A number of small children were in the tent and became panic-stricken, but the attaches of the show succeeded in getting them out in safety.

Down in the center of the business district the storm seemed most severe near the board of trade. The Home Insurance building on LaSalle street was struck by the furious gale. Three plate-glass windows, ten by twenty feet in size, in the southwest corner, occupied by the Union national bank, were blown in and shattered into fragments upon the desk and fixtures. J. J. P. Odell, president of the bank, was struck on the thigh by a large piece of glass and severely cut. He was removed to his residence as soon as possible. The other occupants of the block escaped with slight bruises.

The driving rain deluged the bank and did considerable damage. One large window in Armour & Co.'s office was blown in, but no one was hurt. On the upper floors a number of windows were broken. Three or four young women employed in the office fainted and there was a precipitate rush for stair-cases and elevators. To make matters worse lightning burned out a switch board near the dynamo and all the electric lights in the building went out at the height of the confusion.

Seventy-five men were at work in the big democratic wigwam. A quarter post holding the northeast corner of the umbrella-shaped canvas roof gave way and tore through the canvas. The wind got under it; guy wires snapped like twine, and in an instant later the great ninety-foot center mast snapped and fell with a crash, smashing through the floor and ruining a hundred chairs. The canvas cover went in tatters, and rain flooded the wigwam. The workmen marvelously escaped injury. Contractor Allen said this evening that the damage to the wigwam will amount to fully $8,000. He has had enough of canvas, and a timber roof will be ready for the convention.

At Armour's "D" elevator Chas. J. Roberts was killed. A number of persons throughout the city received fatal injuries.

AN AWFUL RUMOR.

A Boat Load of Young Graduates Thought to Have Gone Down in the Gale.

Chicago, June 14.—The graduating class of the Northwestern university, numbering ninety-seven young ladies and gentlemen, took the steamer at Evanston, twelve miles north of Chicago, at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, for Highland Park, eleven miles distant, where they intended to spend the afternoon and evening in a picnic and general class jubilee. The storm which did so much damage to property in the city broke forth shortly after the excursion party had left, and the capsizing of the boat was counted among the possibilities by the friends and relatives of those on board Monday night at Evanston.

Up to 1 o'clock Tuesday morning no word from the boat had been received. Anxious fathers and mothers spent the night in telephoning and telegraphing to various points endeavoring to get word from the picnickers. The last train into Evanston, from Highland Park, brought no tidings.

No Race War at Guthrie.
 GUTHRIE, O. T., June 14.—The race war, which seemed imminent Sunday night, has been averted, and comparative quiet reigns. The disarmament of the boisterous Negroes and whites had much to do with calming the excited people, and no more trouble is anticipated. He Holley, the Negro who assaulted a woman Saturday night, has been removed to the Wichita jail. The story of the other assault, that upon Mrs. Guken, by Anthony Lawson, and the latter's killing by a mob, is untrue.

The Virtue of Homeopathy.
 WASHINGTON, June 14.—The forty-fifth session of the American institute of Homeopathy was opened here Monday afternoon, Dr. Theodore Y. Kinno, of Patterson, N. J., presiding. The general report of the bureau of organization, registration and statistics stated that there are in the United States forty general and thirty-nine special homeopathy hospitals, at which 31,204 patients were treated last year. Of this number 21,134 were cured. The death rate was 3.31 per cent.

Blaine for Senator.
 MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 14.—Congressman Boutelle, of Maine, is still in the city. He was asked to give his opinion of the talk about sending Blaine to the senate to succeed Senator Hale. He said he did not know whether Mr. Blaine would care to go to the senate, but he had no hesitation in saying that any honor in the gift of the republicans of Maine that Mr. Blaine may desire, would be enthusiastically bestowed upon the great leader.

Tampered With the Ice-Cream.
 YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 14.—Twenty-two of the guests attending the wedding of William Cowden and Miss Inez Bailey at Coitesville, after partaking of the wedding supper, were stricken down with all the symptoms of poisoning, and three—Miss Blanche Kerns, George Robinson and William Moore—are in a critical condition. It is believed some one tampered with the ice-cream, as only those who ate of it were taken ill.

The House.
 WASHINGTON, June 14.—The house, in its Pook Bah capacity on every second Monday in each month, quietly jogged along with scarcely a quorum, debating matters equivalent to the location of gas-lights, for the establishment of curbs and other town topics of interest to Washington city. The situation is a fair index of what may be expected in congress during the next fortnight.

Rev. Sam Jones on Tammany.
 NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 14.—Rev. Sam Jones said here last night: "If old Tammany were to go to hell in a body and knock at the door the devil would only let them in one at a time. If he were to let them in all at once they would knock him in the head, elect their own devil and run things to suit themselves."

AN ISLAND.

New Orleans, Literally Speaking, Surrounded By Water.

The Mississippi at that Point the Highest Known in Forty-Five Years.

Crevasse Above the City, Crevasse Below, Ponchartrain Rising in the Rear, the Rushing Mississippi in Front—All Railroad Traffic Suspended.

NEW ORLEANS, June 14.—The river Monday morning reached the highest point known here for the past forty-five years, and in consequence New Orleans is, literally speaking, an island. Crevasse above, crevasse below, the raging river in front, and the rapidly rising Lake Pontchartrain in the rear has hemmed the city in, and traffic on three roads has been suspended. Sunday night the gauge read eighteen feet above high water mark. People who knew well what this rise meant hoped that by morning there would be a decline, but when day-break came and the gauge was scanned, old-timers were staggered when they read 18.2. At 6 o'clock the first break was reported. It happened at Belmont Place, about twenty miles above the city, on the Mississippi Valley road. Seventy-five feet of the levee gave way at one clip, and the water within an hour's time had dug a channel twelve feet deep. The valley tracks were quickly under two feet of water and all traffic was stopped.

Following closely on the reports from Belmont came the news of three breaks eleven miles below the city, all within one mile of each other. The first break occurred at Stoney's, near where a re-vasse occurred a month ago, but now closed. It started at a fifty-foot rate, but widened so rapidly that by noon it was one hundred feet wide and ten feet deep, and still breaking. The second break was at Villere plantation, a half-mile away. Fifty feet was its width. Two hours afterward the levee gave way. The third break is at the Merrick place, a mile below Villere. It is only twenty feet wide, and hopes are entertained of closing it.

The three crevasse have tied up the Southern railway, which runs from this city to the gulf. Hardly had the engineers recovered from this disastrous news than a telephone message was received from Waggaman, thirteen miles up on the other side of the river, stating that the entire levee at that point, several hundred yards in length, had toppled in the rushing waters. The Texas and Pacific tracks are just behind the levee, and the swish of the water washed the tracks up for a considerable distance. The last break to occur was at the Prospect plantation, a few miles below Belmont. It is twenty-five feet deep and five feet wide, and will assist in widening the Belmont break, and also worry the valley officials. All of these crevasse, following so closely on each other has occasioned considerable alarm throughout the city. The levees that protect New Orleans are good and strong so far, but the greatest anxiety is being felt on account of the June rise that is on the way down.

It was stated Monday night that all attempts to close the Belmont crevasse had been abandoned. The opening is now two hundred feet wide and thirteen feet deep. The water from the break will overflow many valuable plantations, and will eventually damage the Illinois Central railroad. Water from the Avondale crevasse has already caused suspension of the traffic over a portion of the Southern Pacific railroad, and great damage will result from the crevasse.

Holman for Second Place.
 WASHINGTON, June 14.—Holman, of Indiana, the great objector, the "watch dog of the treasury," as his friends call him, is to have a vice presidential name. The chances for the success of this boom will depend in a large measure, if not entirely, upon the man nominated for president by the Chicago convention. If Cleveland, or Gorman, or Hill, or any other eastern man is chosen to head the ticket, Judge Holman's chances for the second place are considered to be very good.

Trouble at the Carnegie Steel Works.
 PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 14.—A bitter struggle between capital and labor is expected to begin at the Homestead steel works of Carnegie, Phipps & Co., owing to a proposed reduction of from 10 to 40 per cent. in wages. The Carnegie firm is preparing to put non-union men in the workmen's places and are making preparations for a long siege.

 STUART, Ia., June 14.—The last order issued by Lieut. Gen. E. Kirby Smith, of the confederate army, has just been sent to Aldrich's collection of curios at the state house. It was dated at Galveston, Tex., and ordered one of Gen. Smith's aides to proceed to New Orleans and turn over $3,000 to Gen. E. R. Canby, the federal commander there, afterward killed in the Modoc war.

MATTIE'S LOVE.

Mrs. Mary Alice Stone Sighed for It—She Couldn't Live Without It and Succeeded.

Newburg, N. Y., June 14.—The scandal surrounding the suicidal death of Mrs. Mary Alice Stone has now assumed new shape. It is said that notwithstanding the letter left by Mrs. Stone, in which she states that her father-in-law advises her to commit suicide, there was another and more potent reason.

Mrs. Stone possessed an exceptionally strong will. Her only intimate friend was Miss Mattie Holmes, whom she met a few years ago when they experienced religion. The wonderful influence which Mrs. Stone exerted over Miss Holmes, who is the organist of the Presbyterian church, was noticed by many, and it was said she possessed rare hypnotic powers.

It was often remarked that they were more like lovers than friends. Even in the streets they would caress each other lovingly. When the scandal in which Mrs. Stone figured was made public Miss Holmes' parents warned her to shun her strong-minded companion, and she followed their advice.

This action of Miss Holmes deeply grieved Mrs. Stone. She said a few days before her death that she could not live without Mattie's love. It is now conjectured that the secret which Mrs. Stone's letter contains will substantiate these statements, and that the other scandal will have little bearing on this new development.

AN OLEOMARGARINE VICTORY.
 Judge Bond Lays Down the Constitutional Law in the Case.

BALTIMORE, June 14.—Judge Bond, of the United States circuit court, has rendered an important opinion in the case of Charles E. McMaster, the alleged agent of Brau & Fitts, oleomargarine manufacturers of Chicago, who sought his release from the custody of the state authorities. Judge Bond holds that the arrest was illegal and discharges the prisoner. Mr. McAllister was arrested under the Maryland law relating to the sale of oleomargarine. The judge, in reviewing the case, said: "That a person may import an article from a foreign country or one of the states of the union and sell it in the condition in which it was imported is not to be disputed now after a long line of decisions by the supreme court. A state may regulate the sale and storage of articles dangerous to the health of the city, but it can not prohibit the importation. The laws of the United States recognize oleomargarine as a mercantile article. Being such, while a state may perhaps regulate its sale, it can not prohibit its importation. The statute in question does this and is unconstitutional in this respect and void. The petitioner is discharged."

UNDERTAKERS MULCTED.
 Knight of Topeka Gets Damages for Five Thousand Dollars.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 14.—The jury in the district court has brought in a verdict for $5,000 against the Kansas undertakers' association in favor of J. M. Knight of this city. Their articles of agreement bind them not to purchase from any wholesale establishment which sells to undertakers not in the association. Knight attempted to start an undertaker's establishment here. No company would sell him a hearse, and he brought suit against the association for $100,000. In establishing his case, Knight proved that an undertaker in this town charged $1,500 for burying a corpse, where the actual expenses were only $80. The U. S. attorney will institute proceedings to dissolve the association under the Sherman trust law.

Paris Labor Exchange a Success.
 PARIS, June 14.—The labor exchange, opened in this city a few days ago, has already demonstrated its usefulness and is coming into great favor with the working classes. There is no institution similar to it in the world. It is a large public office for the trades unions, or syndicates as the French call them. It is built by the city of Paris and handed over to the workingman in the hope that it may be made self-supporting by those who use it. It contains a public hall and many rooms for private meetings and for the transaction of the office work of the trades. Both masters and workmen benefit by this institution, for both have the right of admission to it for friendly conference and the labors of conciliation. As many as 230 syndicates representing nearly a quarter of a million workmen, have now their local habitation for business purposes assured to them.

Fell Fifteen Hundred Feet.
 BALTIMORE, June 14.—Charles Waite, an aeronaut, who gave a balloon exhibition at Tolchester Beach, an excursion resort on the Chesapeake bay, received injuries which are liable to prove fatal. When 1,500 feet above the ground he cut loose with a parachute, the ropes of which became tangled, preventing its opening properly. Waite came down like a flash, making frantic efforts to disentangle the ropes. He fell in a corn field, and at last reports was still unconscious. The doctors say no bones are broken.

Senators Absent.
 WASHINGTON, June 14.—Not one of the senators who have been in attendance on the Minneapolis convention was in the senate chamber Monday morning when the session opened. There were but twelve senators present on the republican side, and a few more than that number on the democratic side. The first indication of the democratic movement on Chicago was the granting of leave of absence to Mr. Voorhees until the 30th inst.
