

ASSAULTED.

Grand Master Sweeney Kicked and Beaten.

A Switchman Holds Him Responsible for Losing his Job.

The Inglorious Ending of the Strike at Buffalo—The Question Worrying the Men is Whether or Not the Railroads Will Take Them Back.

BUFFALO, Aug. 26.—At 11 a. m. Thursday Grand Master Sweeney, of the Switchmen's union, was set upon by Arthur Quinn, a striking Nickel Plate switchman, and brutally assaulted. Sweeney and 75 switchmen had been attending the investigation ordered by the state board of arbitration, and had left the hall, and were standing at the corner of Swann and Main streets. Quinn approached and told Sweeney he was responsible for the loss of his job. Before Sweeney had time to answer Quinn dealt him a fearful blow on the head, and followed it up with several sledge-hammer punches in the face. Sweeney fell to the sidewalk and Quinn kicked him several times. Several bystanders interfered and pulled Quinn off Sweeney. Quinn ran away, followed by an angry mob of strikers. Quinn threatened to kill them if they followed him, and they ceased the chase. Sweeney walked to a drug store and bathed his face. He was unable to tell whether his nose had been broken by the force of the blow, but the chances are it has. He told a United Press reporter he did not know why Quinn had hit him, but supposed it was because he had lost his employment by the failure of the strike.

Now that the switchmen's strike is off, the question is worrying the men who went out whether or not the railroads will take them back. It was given out last night that on several roads an understanding had been arrived at to the effect that those who remained away from the yards during the strike would be taken back.

THE LOST REGAINED.

The Famous Stewart Gold Placers in Colorado Rediscovered.

JIMTOWN, Col., Aug. 26.—The long-lost Stewart placers have been found. A party of prospectors came into Spar City, the headquarters of the Lime Creek district, Wednesday, and reported that nineteen miles to the southwest of the Lime Creek district and at the head of Wilson creek they have found extensive gold placer beds. They are declared to be as rich as those found by Stewart and his partner, Kit Carson, shortly after the war, when they came through that country on their way to California, but which they abandoned for a time, on account of the Indians. The new find corresponds with the meager description given by old man Stewart. He has been back in the territory several times since, but was unable to identify any of the surroundings. The report created the wildest excitement, and by afternoon 25 men had equipped themselves and went to the scene of the new discovery.

Smokeless Heat.

WINNEPEG, Man., Aug. 26.—A party of prospectors in the Brattleford district made a curious discovery. It was a burning coal mine emitting no smoke, but the heat of the earth being so great in the vicinity that the explorers were unable to walk on its surface. An immense cavern on the side of a hill shows where a large seam of coal has taken fire and gradually penetrated the earth.

COMPROMISING WORDS.

"You Gave Me Away, Emma!" said Lizzie Borden to Her Sister.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—A special to the World from Fall River, Mass., says that Miss Lizzie Borden was visited by her sister Emma Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Regan, the police matron, was present during the interview. When Lizzie saw her sister she waved her away, saying: "You gave me away, Emma, did you not?" and turned her back upon her sister.

"No, Lizzie, I only told Mr. Jennings what he ought to know for your defense," answered the girl.

Lizzie turned and replied in a voice embittered with suppressed passion: "That is false. You have given me away, and I know it; but remember, I will not give in one inch; never, never! That is all I care to say to you."

With tears in her eyes and a voice choked with sobs, Miss Emma left the room and the accused, overcome with emotion, fell prostrate on the bed.

Mrs. Regan was speechless and horrified at the compromising words. It is understood that Miss Emma Borden told Mr. Jennings, her sister's attorney, all that she knew or surmised as to the Borden murder.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 26.—The second district court room never before held such a crowd as greeted Judge Blaisdell Thursday morning. It was the second day of the hearing of Lizzie A. Borden on the charge of killing her father with an ax.

Clergymen, physicians, citizens and over 150 ladies were seated and standing in all parts of the room, while inside the rail was an extraordinary crowd of reporters and newspaper workers. Ladies occupied more than two-thirds of the seats usually occupied by the curious gang who flock into the lower courts.

THE BUMPERS STRIKE

At Carnegie's Pittsburgh Mill—Refuse to Work With Non-Unionists.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—On account of the attempt made by the Carnegie Steel Co., to put their Twenty-ninth street mill in operation with non-union workmen Wednesday, the employees in the bumper department, numbering 150 men, came out Thursday morning. These men are members of the Amalgamated Association, and have continued at work since the others came out in sympathy with the Homestead men.

It was fully understood, however, that the bumper men would not work with any other than those formerly employed in the mill, and who were members of the Amalgamated Association. Immediately after the bumper men came out Thursday, the officials posted a notice that owing to lack of orders the mill had been closed temporarily. Every department of the Thirty-third street mill is running single turn. The work in only two departments, however, is said to be a success.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26.—The telegraph operators employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in Baltimore, and who are members of division 17, of the order of Railroad Telegraphers of the United States, have submitted a schedule to the company for an advance in wages. The schedule asks for an increase from $50 a month to $65 for the operators employed in the general offices, and an increase from $45 a month to $50 for men in the block stations. It is stated that the company is willing to compromise on half the advance asked, but the operators are not satisfied with this concession. The new schedule is to go into effect on September 1. It is claimed by the operators of Division 17 that if they strike a general strike of railroad operators will follow.

GREENVILLE, Pa., Aug. 26.—Early Thursday morning Bridge Foreman Fisher, of the Pittsburgh, Shenango & Lake Erie railroad, together with several other employees of the road started on an engine to inspect the bridges along the line that had been damaged by Wednesday evening's storm. While crossing the bridge at Dixonburg the structure gave way, and the engine and men were hurled to the bottom of a deep ravine, and into the torrents of water that are yet sweeping down the creek bed. Foreman Fisher was instantly killed and Conductor Deifenlifer had both legs crushed off and can not live. Others are reported dead or dying. Who Killed Capt. Bunch? NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—A story is published here to the effect that the notorious Capt. Eugene Bunch met his death at the hands of one of his own band of outlaws, Hopgood being charged with having fired the fatal shot from behind. Bunch, it is said, had suspicions that Hopgood was "giving away" his (Bunch's) plans to the officers, and was about to put him out of the way. Hopgood was promised immunity from prosecution if he killed Bunch, which he did. The hasty burial of Bunch's remains and other details are considered suspicious circumstances.
