

AFTER CORBETT.

A Warrant Issued For the Prize Fighter's Arrest.

His Offense That of Punching a Bag on the Sabbath.

Arrangements to Capture Him at Charlotte, N. C., But the Wily Sports, by a Slick Ruse, Circumvented the North Carolinians' Scheme.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Sept. 6.—The Corbett train met with a surprise Sunday night while the fighter was quietly sleeping at the depot hotel. His manager, Brady, discovered that there was a plan on foot at Charlotte to arrest him for desecrating the Sabbath, viz.: Punching the bag, etc. It was said that the prosecuting attorney had the warrant ready and was only waiting to arrest him Monday morning.

Brady quietly informed the agent of the Piedmont Air Line railroad that the Corbett car must leave during the night, and arrangements were accordingly made to leave at 2 a. m., and pull down to the South Carolina line, thus avoiding the scheming North Carolinians.

At 2 o'clock a number of policemen had assembled about the car, evidently having discovered the ruse. The car was dark and there were no signs of life about it. The police, knowing that Corbett was at the hotel, awaited developments.

At 1:45, however, when the accommodation train rolled into the station, Corbett was smuggled aboard. He was put to bed in one of the sleeping cars and slept soundly throughout the night. At 7 a. m. Monday morning, immediately upon being dressed he indulged in a long run, punched the bag, wrestled, etc. At 11:45 Corbett left on the limited for the south.

CLOUDBURST IN TEXAS.

People Fleeing to High Ground—Great Damage Done.

ALPHINE, Tex., Sept. 6.—This town was nearly swept away by a cloudburst which formed over Devil Mountain, six miles south of town, Sunday. The waters rushed down the mountains in huge volumes, tearing up trees by their roots and dashing everything in front of it to death. It ran all over the city, being from three to four feet deep. Large trees were torn up by the roots. Burros, heavy timbers, cattle and horses that floated through the town gave plain evidence of the havoc in the mountains. The rangers' camp, four miles south of town in a cavern, must have been washed away, as part of it was seen floating through the town. Mexicans fled from their homes to the mountains near town. A great panic prevailed. Considerable damage was done the railroad track. Dean's ranch, above high-water mark, twenty-five miles south of town, was washed away, the houses being torn down.

A Slick Prisoner.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—James Bell, burglar, awaiting trial, escaped from the county jail here, Monday morning, in a clever manner. He was employed to pass coffee let down from the kitchen in a dumb waiter, among the cell occupants. While Jailer Shockley's attention was temporarily drawn to another part of the building, Bell stepped into the dumb waiter and was drawn up. He gave the usual raps, and the kitchen matron, supposing more coffee was wanted, opened the door, when Bell dashed out to liberty. He was pursued several squares, but eluded his pursuers in the Labor day crowds.

New Orleans Crowded With Sports. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—From all points of the compass—east, west, north and south—the sporting boys of all ages, sizes, sorts and conditions are winging their way to the festival in Fistianna's Mecca. The Crescent City is crowded, and every train that sped across the bayous Monday morning was freighted with recruits to join the grand army of mortals who find enjoyment in a bit of fancy glove work.

Rich Ore.

LAKE CITY, Col., Sept. 6.—A ton of ore from the Golden Fleece mine was billed to Denver by express. This ore is from the new strike made in the mine a day or two ago. The new body of mineral is fully six feet wide and will run from $5,000 to $10,000 per ton. The ore is too valuable to ship by freight, and it is being sent to the smelter by express. A carload a day can be shipped.

Summer Hotel Burned.

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 6.—The Oak Grove house, of Merchantville, was entirely destroyed by fire Monday morning. Loss $25,000, partially insured. The property was owned by Ex-Senator A. G. Cattell, and operated by Mrs. Wood as a summer boarding house. Fire caught in the third-story; origin unknown. The fifty guests all escaped, but lost most of their personal effects.

A Stockman Killed.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 6.—James Ramage, a well-known stockman and manager of E. M. Hughes' ranch, in the northern part of this county, was found near his cabin with a bullet in his brain. The assassination is supposed to be the work of a number of cattle thieves, who have been infesting that section for the past year, and whom Ramage has been fighting during that time.

Big Turn-Out at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—The trades and labor parade was one of the largest of the kind ever witnessed in St. Louis. It embraced all the labor organizations in the city. After the parade the day was finished at the Concordia park, where music, speeches, athletic exhibitions and fire-works helped to fill the programme.

Stevenson Knows Nothing of It.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 6.—Anent the report that Ex-President Cleveland would make a trip west in October, Mr. Stevenson says he has no definite knowledge of such an intention on the part of Mr. Cleveland.

ARKANSAS ELECTION.

The Democracy Elect Their State Ticket—A Hot Political Battle.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 6.—The state and county election held here Monday was the hottest political battle fought here for years. The organized democracy was confronted in this county with a fusion ticket made up of republicans and people's party men, who made a desperate effort at the polls to put their favorites in power; but the business men quit their business and went out on the streets with their sleeves rolled up, and worked for the success of the straight democratic ticket, and it was conceded Monday evening by the most competent judges that democracy is victorious by at least 500 to 800 majority. Even the leaders of the opposition are free to admit that the have been again snowed under by an avalanche of democratic ballots. In this county Col. Wm. Fishback, democratic candidate for governor, will defeat Whipple, republican by at least 500 votes. The rest of the democratic state ticket is also elected by a safe majority. Amendment No. 2, which provides the poll tax qualification to vote, is also carried. The official result will not be known before Wednesday.

SAVED THREE LIVES.

And Then Cracked the Skull of the Man Who Was Waiting to Kill Him.

LEADVILLE, Col., Sept. 6.—Charles Edwards, a well-known prize-fighter, went to the Colonel Sellers mine with the intention of killing "Red" Briggs, who was working in the shaft-house, at the mouth of the mine, lowering three men to the bottom. Edwards came upon him while he was holding the rope, and, placing a pistol at Briggs' head, told him to get ready to die. Briggs protested that if he let go of the rope it would kill the three men below by dashing them to the bottom. He told Edwards how the matter stood, and asked for time. Edwards allowed this, all the while keeping the revolver at Briggs' head. When the men in the shaft safely reached the bottom, Briggs suddenly grabbed an iron bar, and striking Edwards over the head, fractured his skull. He will probably die. Briggs has not been arrested. There was an old grudge between the men that led to the day's tragedy.

BIG WINNING.

Dago John Takes in Ten Thousand Dollars in a Crap Game—It is Alleged "Pettes" Were Used.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—John Fugazzi, better known as "Dago John," and his partner, a man named Davis, came here Monday to see the three big fights. Instead of being in to witness the first pugilistic struggle, they were languishing behind the bars in the parish prison. Sunday night Dago John and his friend Davis dropped in at No. 11 Laurel street, where a crap game is in full blast. Before they had been there long they seemed blessed with phenomenal luck, and made sad inroads on the bank-roll. In a short time they had nearly $10,000 worth of checks in front of them, and then came a "holer." The game-keepers accused the men of putting in "pettes," or crooked dice. All their dishonest earnings were confiscated and both men arrested. They are still in jail.

Blood-Thirsty Boys.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 6.—The preliminary trial of Thos. Hill as principal and Lucian Smith, Bud Grizzard, Jeff and Will Watts as accessories in the stabbing to death of Dan Anderson, Sunday morning, was held Monday. All five of them are boys, none of them being over 17 years of age. Anderson, the victim, was only about 16 years of age. Hill, Smith and Grizzard were bound over to court and lodged in jail.

Sporadic Cholera on the Lake.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 6.—When the steamer India, from Duluth to Buffalo, touched at Detroit, Cholera Inspector Farnum took off the dead body of the eight months' child of W. J. Sables, en route from Two Rivers, Wis., to Syracuse, N. Y. The child died after a sickness of twenty-four hours, with all the symptoms of sporadic cholera. The body was cremated.

Kentucky Legislature.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 6.—In the house Monday morning there was no quorum. In the senate only thirteen members were present. A message from the governor vetoed the Attis bill. The point was made that this session could not constitutionally consider the veto message. Senator Alexander therefore introduced the old bill as a new measure.

Murderous Sports.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 6.—Two well-dressed men supposed to be sports en route to New Orleans, tried to beat their way on an N. N. & M. V. train. At Dyersburg Deputy City Marshal Loyd attempted to arrest the men when they drew pistols and fired, one ball inflicting a fatal wound. The men escaped.

An Election Murder.

SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Sept. 6.—Monday afternoon Louis Roberts shot and killed Joseph Patterson on the farm of R. L. Ethington two miles north of Cropper's station. The men had been quarreling over the election, when Roberts pulled a pistol and shot Patterson in the breast, killing him instantly.
