

A LITTLE CHILD

Roasted to Death in a Desert by the Sun.

It Wandered Into One of Earth's Most Terrible Regions.

On a Bed of Alkali He Meets a Terrible Fate—Missing For Days, But Life Had Fled Only a Few Hours Before He Was Found.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 21.—At Lancaster, a town thirty miles from here, in an open valley at the edge of Colorado Desert, lives Stephen Hansdorf, with his wife and twenty-months-old boy.

Last Thursday he left home for another part of the place where he was working. Late in the afternoon the mother went in search of a stray cow. The baby, clad only in a calico wrapper, hatless and barefooted, without the mother's knowledge started after her. When she returned from the search she was surprised to find the child missing. She made fruitless search, grew excited and alarmed the neighborhood. A searching party started out and hunted till night without avail. Excitement spread through the whole town, and by daylight next morning a strong party of organized searchers started on a hunt. There was no timber in the region, but the cactus and sage brush were so high as to render it impossible to see the child at a short distance, even from the back of a horse. The region is one of intense heat and infested with rattlesnakes, coyotes and many poisonous insects. The earth in many places is crusted with alkali. For a long time the party discovered no signs whatever. Finally a coyote trail was struck. On it could occasionally be seen the footprints of a child, with now and then splashes of blood on the cactus. Arranging themselves so they should not lose sight of each other, the searchers followed the trail, spreading themselves over a width of half a mile.

The trail led direct to the desert and to a phenomena known as "Dry Lake." This lake is nothing more than a solid bed of white alkali, the crust of which is perfectly hard and level. Standing on rolling sand on the edge of this lake a traveler beholds a wonderful mirage of a sheet of silvery clear water. The party concluded that the child, consumed by thirst, had toddled over to this lake, and though the indurate crust would reveal no footprints, the party pressed on over it. Four miles from the edge was found the dead body of the little wanderer lying on his face, his feet, legs and hands torn, and the blood crusted over them. He had been dead but a few hours, yet his body was blistering under the burning sun. The party seized the child and hurried back to the edge of the lake, which, when they reached, their own tongues had commenced to swell with heat and lack of water. The little fellow had walked all night, and had died of exhaustion just as the sun was commencing to manifest its fearful heat. He had walked fourteen miles into one of the most terrible regions on earth.

A Wild Toboggan Ride. COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Sept. 21.—Ross Ward, a cog road conductor, performed a remarkable and most perilous feat. He wagered $25 that he could descend Pike's Peak from the United States signal house on the summit to Manitou, a distance of nine miles, in fifteen minutes. He constructed a rude toboggan, fitted it to the rails of the cog road and controlled it by means of a rudder, which was placed in contact with the cog rail in the middle of the tracks. He safely made the trip in eleven minutes and fifteen seconds.

New Cases in Berlin. BERLIN, Sept. 21.—Since Monday seven patients suspected to be suffering with cholera have been taken to the Moabit hospital. The total number of suspected cases now in the hospital is forty-six. Two bargemen and a workman who has not been outside of Berlin in years were seized with cholera Tuesday. The barges have been disinfected. The authorities are trying to learn where the workmen became infected.

Ordered Out. CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Sept. 21.—Wednesday morning, at 1 o'clock, circulars were sent out by the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, ordering the men to go out at noon. Men were sent out on every train on the branches to notify day agents, and all night men were notified by wire.

Sued for Breach of Promise. CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Dr. David C. Linn, of Schuyler county, who is wealthy and prominent, has been made a defendant in a $50,000 suit brought by a fascinating widow, Mrs. Mary Naomi Dennis. She says the doctor failed to keep his promise to marry her. The doctor is sixty and has a wife.

Hunting for Rucker's Assassin. SOMERSET, Ky., Sept. 21.—Excitement over the cowardly assassination of Editor Rucker is unabated, and every effort is being made to capture the murderer. Suspicions point to ex-Chief of Police J. C. Anderson as the guilty party, they having had numerous quarrels.

A Physician Found Dead. SARATOGA, Sept. 21.—Dr. John H. Moody, formerly of Cincinnati, was found dead here Monday afternoon. His wife and two sons, visiting at Deep River, Ct., have been notified. Coroner Carr has been investigating the case.

Corbett's Ingratitude. NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Champion Corbett, after his fight with Sullivan, sent his check for $250 to Mike Donovan who acted as his second. The check was returned, and Mike says he is done with prize fights.

The Murderer's Body Found. WAVERLY, O., Sept. 21.—The body of John I. Vanmeter, the man who murdered his wife and child near Idaho Thursday night, was found Tuesday floating in Sunfish creek, about a mile from his residence.

PUBLIC DAILY LEDGER

FIRST YEAR. MAYSVILLE, KY., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1892. ONE CENT.

Personal Points

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect.

Mrs. L. Y. Davis went to Cincinnati this morning.

Dr. J. F. Irvine was down from Tollerboro yesterday.

E. A. Jones of Vanceburg was in the city last night.

Robert Hampton and little daughter Rea are in Cincinnati.

Jerry Miah Hawley of Forman's Spring was registered at the Central yesterday.

T. F. Dillon and wife of Denver, Colo., were registered at the Central yesterday.

Mrs. F. M. Munson and daughter, Miss Genevieve of Cleveland, O., left for home yesterday after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Goodman.

LOUIS SHELTON was fined $25 and costs for beating his wife at Lexington.

The Sixth Ward School opened Monday with one hundred pupils. Professor E. Swift in charge.

"FANCY" flour is selling in this city at $4 25 and "Patent" at $4 75 per barrel—the lowest price for many years.

The Circuit Court at Columbus, O., has decided that marriages consummated in Kentucky between eloping parties from Ohio are valid.

A. G. PORTER, United States Minister to Italy, has arrived in New York. He confirms reports that he has resigned, and says his resignation went into effect last Thursday.

A REPORT comes from Mayfield that a Russian immigrant has been taken with a disease supposed to be Asiatic cholera. There is great excitement, and it is said some people are leaving.

The Templar Degree will be conferred this evening by Maysville Commandery on Companions J. H. Rowley and John Hiner of Vanceburg, who last night received the order of the Red Cross.

EDWIN ANDERSON, the well known Cincinnati architect, is dead, aged 59. He executed the plans for the Bank of Maysville, Oddfellows' Hall and the East End residence of Dr. J. James Wood in this city.

The French wine crop of 1892 is short, but of excellent quality. This will not affect the consumers of French wines in America. The California crop is abundant, and French labels can be had for the printing.

CAPTAIN VAL P. COLLINS of Covington purchased the Mt. Sterling Gas Works at a receiver's sale for $4,350. The original cost of the plant was $20,000. Mr. Collins will put the plant in fine condition and operate it.

REMEMBER, THE LEDGER prints "Help Wanted," "Lost," "Found," and similar notices not of a business character, free of charge. The only thing we require is that the copy be sent in before 9 o'clock on day of publication.

THE LEDGER is informed, from several sources, that the management of the lunch stand at the C. and O. Depot charged Washington excursionists to the Grand Encampment the modest sum of 40 cents a quart for coffee—and not very big quarts at that.

THE Nabobs at the Opera-house last night were greeted with a fair sized audience. A particular feature was the dancing and singing of the young ladies, all of whom are excellent actresses, which is evidenced by the continuous encores they received. They will appear at Washington Opera-house again on October 11th, and by all means should be greeted by a crowded house, as they richly deserve.

SELLS BROTHERS yesterday sent to Dr. G. M. Phillips a check covering all the expenses attendant upon the case and burial of George W. Fultz, the unfortunate man who was mangled by a tiger on the recent visit of their circus to this city. They also desired that the citizens of Maysville accept their thanks for kindness shown to them and sympathies expressed for the unfortunate. When it is known that Sells Brothers were under no obligation to care for Mr. Fultz, beyond what humanity dictates, their action is highly creditable.

The wife of Charles Billings, a poor, illiterate mountaineer, living in Ash county, N. C., twenty-eight miles from the nearest railroad station, has just given birth to six children, all boys. They weigh from four and a half to nine pounds each and all are alive. Mrs. Billings is of medium stature and thirty-one years old. She has four other children, but they were all born singly. Billings depends on game, fish, etc., for a living, but since the arrival of the sextette he has been accepting congratulations and donations extended by rural hospitality.

On the 17th of March, 1875, Charles Walker was supposed to have been drowned in the Ohio river opposite Munn's run. An extensive search failed to find his body, and since a wife and three children have mourned his loss. Richard Walker residing in Kentucky, three miles East of Portsmouth, received a letter from an attorney of Hannersville, N. C., stating that he was still alive, married again, and a resident of that place. The missing man was with General Sherman on his famous march to the sea. From this it is supposed that he fell in love with a Southern beauty while in North Carolina and afterwards deserted his loving little Kentucky wife for her.

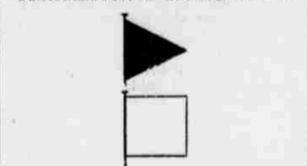

For Sale. Two lots and part of lot with good house on it in Sixth ward, and nine lots and house on Center street in Clifton. Apply to any real estate agent or S. B. OLDHAM.

The above forecasts are made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening.

WHERE AM I AT?

A Democrat stood in a tin plate mill, And saw the wheel's go round; With eyes opened wide and mouth wide still, In surprise he stood dumfounded.

Bright tin rolled out before his eye; He nervously twitched his hat; Then he fell on his knees and loud did cry, "Oh, Lord! where am I at?"

RECEIVING daily, bulk oysters 30 cents a quart. Can oysters from 20 to 50 cents at Martin Bros.

The five-cent-fare reform has been killed again at Covington. The Alderman did it this time.

MISS NETTIE, youngest daughter of H. L. Newell, is quite ill at her home on Limestone street with malarial fever.

THERE will be a good delegation from Maysville to the Ashland convention. They will leave at 9:30 to-morrow morning.

FIFTEEN hundred furniture workers are on a strike at Cincinnati. They demand ten hours' pay for nine hours' work.

ALL of Secretary Elkins' appointments to speak in West Virginia before October 1st have been canceled on account of his illness.

M. E. MCKELLUP has announced himself as a candidate for City Marshal. Mr. McKellup is a good citizen and if elected will serve the people well.

THE Chicago Trades and Labor Assembly refused the invitation of the World's Fair directors to take part in the dedication parade next month, on the ground that workmen could not endorse the Fair as its doors were closed on Sunday.

A BITTER race war is in progress in Calhoun county, Ark. A battle was fought near Rayford in which three negroes were killed and seven wounded. One white man was wounded. Another report says that nine negroes and two white men were killed.

INVITATIONS are out for the marriage of Edwin M. McDonald and Miss Ida Colcord Brooke, Wednesday afternoon September 28th, at 2 o'clock, at Bethany Christian Church, Springdale. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Elder T. P. Degman, and is a most charming young lady. THE LEDGER tenders its best wishes for the happy couple.

CHARLIE C., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, died of croup at 9:30 yesterday morning after a brief illness. The funeral will take place from the residence, West Second street near Short, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Deceased was an exceptionally bright little fellow, the idol of his parents and a great favorite of all who knew him.

HON. O. S. DEMING.

Republicans Urge Him to Become a Candidate for Circuit Clerk.

Republican politics is looking up in this as well as other sections in the Bourbon state. At the recent Democratic primary election in the Eighteenth Judicial District Hon. W. W. Kimbrough of Harrison county, was nominated for Circuit Judge. Since that time Hon. O. S. Deming of Robertson has been most urgently solicited by Democrats as well as Republicans from every county in the District to make the race against Mr. Kimbrough, all assuring him of ultimate success. Judge Deming is known by almost every voter in the District, and is recognized by both parties as an able lawyer and a scholarly, affable, honest and Christian man. That he would make one of the ablest and fairest Circuit Judges in the state no one doubts. He has been outiring in his labor as a Republican. He was a Hayes Elector in 1876, made the race for Lieutenant-Governor under Colonel Walter Evans in 1879; has twice been elected County Judge of Robertson, and received 185 complimentary votes at Louisville in March for delegate from the state at large. He has several times carried his own county in the face of an overwhelming Democratic majority. If he should consent to run there is little doubt but that he would be elected.

Diarrhea in Kentucky.

"There has been a continuous tendency to bowel disease here this season," says G. W. Shivel, druggist, Wickliffe, Ky., "and an unusual demand for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. I have sold four bottles of it this morning. Some remarkable cures have been effected by it and in all cases it has proved successful." For sale by Power & Reynolds.

WE'RE ALL RIGHT AGAIN.

The Ledger's Big Press is On Duty After a Week's Absence.

Just one week ago to-day the steam press upon which THE LEDGER is printed sustained a serious break.

Since that time, through the courtesy of Messrs. Rosser & McCarthy, our paper has been printed on The Bulletin press.

This was a great inconvenience to both concerns, and was the cause of unavoidable delay in issuing our paper—not being able to print it in time to go out in the afternoon mails on the day of issue.

Fortunately, however, the damage has been repaired, and hereafter, no further accident. THE LEDGER will be "on time."

Her Confidence Was Well Founded.

"I would rather trust that medicine than any doctor I know of," says Mrs. Hattie Mason, of Chilton, Carter county, Mo., in speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. This medicine can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases, both for children and adults. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Power & Reynolds.

JOHN O'DONNELL DEAD.

The Market Street Merchant Passes Away Early This Morning.

John O'Donnell died at his home on Market street at about half past 5 o'clock this morning, after an illness of but a few days. He has long been a resident of Maysville. He has been among the most prominent of the Irish citizens and was a prosperous merchant in the grocery line. He was frugal and industrious and leaves quite a competency. He was of a quiet and retiring disposition and thoroughly domestic in his tastes and mode of life. He held the confidence and esteem of all classes.

He was born on May 12th, 1835 in County Donegal, Ireland. He came to this country in early manhood and most of his life as an American citizen was spent in this city. He left six survivors in his immediate family, a wife and five children, Hugh O'Donnell of Chicago and Frank P. and Joseph W. and Misses Mary and Agnes O'Donnell of Maysville. The funeral will take place on Friday morning, the hour not being determined upon as yet.

After the gold ore has reached the smelter, being weighed, sampled and separated into piles for the various bins, each pile is pulverized in a machine that works upon the principle of a coffee mill. From this sample three or more paper sacks are filled, of which two are sent to the assay office, one to be sampled and the other filed away. The third sack is sent to the shipper of the ore. Each sack is marked with the shipper's name, name of the mine if given by the shipper, lot number, car number, if any, and date when sampled. If the ore is very lumpy it is crushed before sampling. This unloading into a bin is continued until the bin is full, and, according to the Leadville Herald, it may hold anywhere from five hundred to three thousand tons. When filled, the superintendent obtains a list of all ores and weights of lots that have gone there, which constitute what is called a mixture. This list he takes to the assay office, and gets an average assay on the silver, gold, lead, zinc, iron, lime, etc., in order that he may know what to add to make a good smelting charge. Separate piles of lead and iron ore are made, to supply the furnaces when needed. The superintendent makes out a list of the different mixtures and the weight from each that are to constitute a furnace charge. About eight hundred pounds of ore, one hundred and fifty pounds of lime, two hundred pounds of slag and one hundred and fifty pounds of coke go to make up a charge.

This is, of course, varied in accordance with the character of the ore. Each furnace will treat from one hundred and fifty to two hundred tons of these charges in twenty-four hours. The lead in the mixture when treated in the furnace runs down into the bottom, carrying with it the precious metals. The slag, being lighter, floats on top of the lead and is taken off through a tap hole. The lead, or rather the bullion, is dipped out of a well in the side of the furnace and poured into molds. After cooling the bars are taken out and sampled, a hollow punch being used that brings out a small core. It is usual for convenience to sample the bars in lots of 800 each. The punchings of each lot are assayed to determine their contents. The bullion is now ready for market or for further treatment.

FIRST APPELLATE DISTRICT.

Republican Convention Called to Meet at Ashland on September 22d.

To the Republicans of the First Appellate Court District: The new election law having rendered it necessary, the Republican Executive Committee of the First Appellate Court District of Kentucky hereby declares that a convention of the Republicans of said District, composed of the counties of Bath, Boyd, Bracken, Bourbon, Bell, Breathitt, Carter, Clark, Clay, Estill, Elliott, Floyd, Fleming, Greenup, Harlan, Johnson, Jackson, Knox, Knott, Laurel, Letcher, Leslie, Lee, Lewis, Lawrence, Madison, Mason, Montgomery, Morgan, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Nicholas, Owsley, Perry, Pike, Powell, Robertson, Rockcastle, Rowan and Wolfe will be held in the city of Ashland, Ky., on Thursday, September 22d, 1892, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Chairman of the Court of Appeals, the Chairman of the Republican Committee of each county in the District is hereby earnestly requested to call and hold a County Convention in due time to select delegates to said convention at the time and place aforesaid.

The basis of representation from each county shall be one delegate for each one hundred and one delegate for each fraction over fifty votes cast for Benjamin Harrison in 1888. Representation from each county in the District is urgently desired either by delegate or proxy. ED. DAVIS, Chair. First Appellate Court District.

Sally's Share.

A special from New York says: In spite of the fact that the Madison Square Garden people, who are so much opposed to prize fighting and that sort of thing, grabbed 50 per cent. of the gross receipts at the John L. Sullivan benefit, the big fellow will realize a neat sum from that entertainment. According to the count of tickets, which, by the by, did not include the shields of a good portion of the New York policemen who were off duty and used their badges to gain admission into the garden, $13,000 75 was taken in. This would leave for the beneficiary $6,030 37.

Pollitt-Clinger.

George W. Pollitt and Miss Eva Clinger were married at the Christian Church at 6:30 o'clock last evening by the pastor, Elder C. S. Lucas.

Quite a number of their friends witnessed the ceremony. The ushers were C. F. Fish, Garrett Thompson, Reed Chubb and J. T. Payne. The young couple are well known in Maysville. The groom is in the employ of M. C. Russell & Son, and is steady and industrious. The bride is a daughter of George W. Clinger, the well known brick contractor.

Half Fare—Harvest Excursion.

The Ohio and Mississippi Railway will run one of its popular harvest excursions to points West, Northwest and Southwest, leaving Cincinnati September 27th, and to points South and Southwest leaving Cincinnati October 25th; tickets good for return twenty days from date of sale. The O. and M. is the direct fast line to all points in territory named via St. Louis. Pullman chair cars and sleepers on all trains. For rates, tickets and further information call on or address agents of connecting lines, or C. W. Paris, Central Passenger Agent, 48 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, O.

In Time of Peace Prepare for War.

Have you ever thought what you would do in case you, or some one of your family, was taken with a severe attack of cholera, cholera morbus, dysentery or diarrhoea. In such cases it is not unusual for fatal results to follow before medicine can be procured or a physician summoned. There is nothing that will give permanent relief so quickly as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. It never fails even in the most severe cases either for children or adults. Why not keep it at hand? 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

List of Advertisers' Letters.

Below is a list of letters remaining uncollected for at the Maysville Postoffice for the week ending September 27th, 1892: Automatic Wagon Co., Marshall, Bud Bauer, Mrs. Gattlieb Meirner, Starkey Burns, J. W. Mick, Johnny Brannon, Mark Moore, Lucy Burch, Ida M. Moore, F. F. Cletzer, Lucinda (2) Myers, Mrs. C. Bell Condyne, P. J. Right, Mrs. Sallie Cornell, Edward Rhine, Lucas Spencer, C. S. Spencer, Richard Ellis, Ella F. Spencer, Richard Evans, Clarissa Stewart, Mrs. W. F. Voss, Nannie Williamson, Lillie Hunter, Marie Winter, Mrs. Elizabeth King, Mrs. N. W. Winifred, Rosa

One cent due on each of above. Persons calling for these letters will please say that they are advertised.

THOMAS A. DAVIS, Postmaster.

Clothes, Morals and Salvation.

New York Sun.—It is a pity, from an artistic point of view, that our climate is such that we cannot go considerably naked than we do, and get used to it. None of us would necessarily become less moral if we had arms and legs and a generous display of torso were matters of common and indifferent observation. In a letter to The Sun from the Islands of the Pacific, Mr. R. L. Stevenson remarked on the unfortunate propensity of missionaries in that part of the world to hurry their converts into clothes, which, besides being expensive, are in those latitudes inconvenient, unnecessary, and even unwholesome. The trouble was that it took a missionary of exceptional originality to comprehend how a Pacific Islander might become a pious man and still not wear a shirt. Just so it takes an exceptionally unsophisticated Chicago Temperance Union woman to understand that Diana without a chemise may still be chaste. So curiously are modesty and clothing confused in the partially civilized mind.

THE SOUTHERN BASEBALL LEAGUE.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 21.—The second season of the southern league closed Tuesday, Birmingham winning the second pennant. The race between Birmingham and New Orleans was very close. By playing two games with Montgomery, Monday, and winning both New Orleans tied Birmingham for first place, but Mobile defeated New Orleans Tuesday, while Birmingham defeated Macon. This settled the contest in favor of the latter.

Odd Fellows Elect Officers.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 21.—The principle business transacted at the session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows Tuesday was the election of officers for the ensuing year, as follows: Grand sire, G. F. Campbell, of London, Ont.; deputy grand sire, J. W. Stebbens, Rochester, N. Y.; grand secretary, Theodore A. Ross, Columbus, O.; grand treasurer, Isaac A. Sheppard, Philadelphia.

Dead Aged 115 Years.

RICHMOND, Ky., Sept. 21.—Emanuel Oldham, one of the oldest citizens of Madison county, and the state, died at his home, in this city, at the advanced age of 115. There has been some doubt as to whether he was a hundred, but the deceased claimed to recollect the killing of Nathaniel Hart, in this county, by the Indians, in 1782, and must have been fully 115 years old.

A Peanut Killed Him.

STOUT CITY, Ia., Sept. 21.—Charles Baker was found dead at his home in this city, Tuesday night. It was thought he had been strangled to death, and there was suspicion of foul play. The coroner's post-mortem showed that he had been eating peanuts, and one slipped down his windpipe and choked him to death.

The passengers by the Wyoming now at Fire island; will probably be kept there until Saturday, when the twenty days' quarantine expires.

IN A TURMOIL

Over the Perry Monument Site at Cleveland, O.

Its Threatened Removal is Causing Much Local Feeling.

The Heroes of a Later Day Would Like to See in Its Place a Monument Erected to the Soldiers of the Later War of the Rebellion.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 21.—The hand some Perry monument, commemorating the victory on lake Erie, which stands in the principle square of this city, has become a subject of contention, and its threatened removal is causing much local feeling. Some of the heroes of a later day would see in its place a monument to the soldiers of the late war, and an act was some time ago secured authorizing a commission to erect one. Then came the question as to site, and the proposition to remove the Perry monument—already once moved to a less desirable location since first erected in the square. The oppositor became strong and demonstrative to the extent of tearing down a fence which was placed around the spot that the commission had selected for the new monument. The matter was taken into the courts, and up to the supreme court, where a decision was rendered, holding that under the act authorizing the erection of the monument the commissioners were empowered to select such a site as they considered suitable, and this has been construed to mean that they may put it where the Perry monument now stands.

But those who believed a removal of the reminder of Perry and his great victory would be no less than a desecration had not yet exhausted their resources. A non-resident stockholder in the Forest City house, which faces the square, went into the United States court, with a petition for an injunction against the erection of the proposed soldiers' monument on the site proposed, the allegation being that the square was dedicated for purpose, and it would be detrimental to the plaintiff's rights to permit it to be occupied by the proposed monument. The question cuts so large a place in the current thought of Cleveland that Judge Ricks decided to call Judge Taft, of Cincinnati, into the case, to sit with him at the hearing. Judge Taft was unable to go to Cleveland, and hence it has been arranged that Judge Ricks and a full retinue of Cleveland attorneys and interested parties shall go to Cincinnati for the trial of the case Tuesday. The hearing will be on a motion for a temporary restraining order, but under the circumstances will be equivalent to a hearing of the case on its merits.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—For Ohio—Fair; east to southeast winds; warmer, except in the extreme southern portion.

For Tennessee and Kentucky—Fair, preceded by clearing; winds becoming southeast; slightly warmer in central Tennessee.

For West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania—Fair; warmer; southeast winds.

For Indiana and Illinois—Fair; warmer in northern portion; southeast winds; becoming brisk in northwestern Illinois.
