

A TORNADO.

Ruin in the Little Village of Red Bud, Ill.

The Place Almost Wiped From the Face of the Earth.

A Boy Killed and His Mother Fatally Injured—One Hundred Houses Converted Into Kindling Wood, and Many Families Left Homeless.

RED BUD, Ill., Nov. 18.—Where Wednesday night existed a beautiful little town, full of happy homes, is Thursday a scene of wreck and desolation. Houses, barns, fences and orchards are leveled to the ground and spread over the surrounding country.

Entering from the south at 3:30 P. M. on Thursday morning, a tornado first demolished the Catholic church and school and the residence of Herman Droge. The German Lutheran church was next leveled to the ground. After destroying several barns and tearing away all kinds of fences, it struck the large two-story residence of Peter Kendall, which was of solid stone, and crumbled it to fragments. Mrs. Kendall was severely injured. A large double brick house, occupied by D. D. Perry as a dwelling, office and composing room, was entirely destroyed. The family were buried in the ruins, but managed to extricate themselves without serious injury. Peterson's agricultural warehouse was blown down, and fourteen other residences were destroyed. The eleven-year-old son of Mrs. Jacob Koch was killed instantly, and his mother was fatally injured.

The injured include the following: Mrs. Jacob Koch, fatally; Mrs. Peter Kendall, Mrs. Peter Karden, Mrs. Louis Beger, Julius Honn, Mr. Beitman, Alden Starr, Miss Emma Crow, Mrs. John Manderfeldt, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Perry. Many of the people are without clothing and shelterless, and the cold rain makes their situation the more deplorable. The property loss is estimated at $100,000.

The following is a list of the houses destroyed: Catholic church and school, German Methodist church, the houses of W. Perkins, H. D. Reece, F. R. Droge, John Lang, John Landhalt, John Hahn, Peter Cardell, S. D. Perry, L. Kaffenberger, Ernest Badde, Mrs. Badde, Christ Jaeger, city jail and engine house, Mrs. Hausermann, C. Groelov, P. Janemann, Mrs. Jacob Kober, Mr. Rosemary, Jno. Kueker, Henry Wahlman, Wm. Buettner, Henry Biehn, Dr. Alley, John Barnes, M. Trieveller, H. W. Schmidt, William Voges, John Manderfeldt, Wm. Michaels, B. Miller, Charles Gulbert, P. Enzenauer, public school, Wm. Stinde, J. J. Just, Jacob Miller, Wm. Williamson, Frank Lang, George Reiss, Alden Starr, Mrs. Sophie Rathbert, Henry Rathbert, D. Rathbert, John Wetzel, Mrs. Wetzel, Wm. Kellerhals, Frank Lish, Fred. D. Guker, Continental hotel, Mrs. Dora Kaufman, C. Boedecker's office, Lutheran church and school.

The horrors of an inky darkness, lighted up momentarily by flashes of lightning, added to the fear which oppressed all minds during this visitation. The streets, when lit up by the first streaks of dawn, presented a pitiable scene. On every hand rose the moans of the injured and the grief of their friends and relatives. The streets were blocked with debris, and for some time it was impossible to get an accurate list of the sufferers. As soon as the more fortunate of the people recovered from the first shock of the calamity, efforts were at once directed to caring for the injured. They were taken to the homes of those who had escaped the storm's wrath, and doctors dressed their wounds.

The roof of a school building filled with pupils was blown away, but fortunately no one was injured, although several miraculous escapes are reported. Aaron Miller's barn was blown down and a self-binder carried a distance of 100 yards and landed in an open field unroofed.

This will enable the duchess to live near the villagers for whom she has done so much. She retains also the town house. It is said that she will reside a part of the year in America, coming to London for the season.

CHOLERA PRECAUTIONS.

There Must Be No Relaxation of Preventive Measures.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Acting Secretary Spaulding has issued a circular to all collectors of customs urging constant vigilance in the medical supervision over immigrants.

He says the danger of cholera infection still exists and measures of precaution can not be relaxed without imperiling the public safety. The principal danger of infection arises from the unclean immigrants who are crowded into the steerage of vessels, and medical officers are instructed to quarantine all these for twenty days where the least suspicion exists.

The Bremen Steamship Weimar is a source of considerable trouble to officials of the treasury department just at present. This vessel is under detention at the national quarantine at Cape Charles, with 1,800 immigrants on board. They are refused the privilege of landing because the federal authorities at Washington are satisfied that they were brought to this country in clear violation of the president's order of September 1, in the hope that they would be able to evade its restrictions.

Their detention is now complicated by the fact that measles have broken out on the vessel and are likely to spread unless the children can be speedily removed to a place of safety. Surg.-Gen. Wyman is investigating the matter, and it is probable that the healthy passengers on the vessel will be transferred to the United States steamship Jamestown.

CONVICTS' VICTORY.

The Ohio Supreme Court Knocks Out the Habitual Criminal Act.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18.—The supreme court Thursday morning rendered a decision of importance to those residing in the Ohio penitentiary. It related to the habitual criminal law. William Hiser, a third termer from Licking county, sent for seven years for robbery, was due to get out on October 26 last, but the warden, under orders from the managers of the penitentiary held him, intending to keep him in for the balance of his life.

Proceedings looking to his release were instituted in the supreme court and this morning the court held that as Hiser was not indicted and sentenced as an habitual criminal he must be at once released. Attorney General Richards appeared for the warden and frankly informed the court that the warden had the managers wrong in their position. They had not asked him for an opinion as to the legality of their order, and he refused to make any defense.

A motion was presented by Prosecutor Schwartz, of Licking county, that the inden-Gaumer senatorial contest be advanced on the calendar to the end that it be disposed of before the convening of the legislature.

THE HOMESTEAD STRIKE.

Only a Few Men Willing to Hold Out and It Will Be Declared Off.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Nov. 18.—The great Homestead strike, that has continued almost five months, has reached a crisis. Official action will be taken at once to decide whether it is policy to continue the struggle. Early Thursday morning the National officers of the Amalgamated association returned to Homestead, and are now in secret conference with the mechanics and laborers who joined in the strike through sympathy for their fellows. It seems certain that the strike, as a strike, will be declared off.

There yet remains a strong feeling among the members of the Amalgamated association against giving in, and if they continue to strongly oppose the idea of a surrender, it is possible that they will hold together and fight it out. The mechanics and laborers will, however, as a result of the conference, be released from their obligations of remaining out on the strike.

NEWSPAPER EXHIBIT.

How to Make One Will Be Shown at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Publishers of the big newspapers in Chicago have been discussing for some time plans of an exhibit they will make at the fair. It is as good as settled now that both a morning and an evening paper will be issued in Machinery hall every day. The papers will be printed on presses sent to the fair as exhibits and on paper made on the exposition grounds. This exhibit would enable persons who have not witnessed the interesting process of producing a greatly daily newspaper to see every feature of the work, from the manufacture of paper to the delivery of the story of the events of the day to subscribers. The arrangement for presses have not been completed. A meeting is called for November 25, when this important matter will be settled.

He secured his pension last week, and it is probable the robbers expected to get this money.

AN ENGLISH TRAGEDY.

Mrs. Maude, Whose Beautiful Daughter is On Trial for Swindling, Throws Herself Out of a Window.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Gwineth Maude, the handsome eighteen-year-old girl who was arrested on the charge of swindling Spink & Son, the jewelers, of No. 3 Grace Church street, out of silver salvers and candleabra, was brought up on remand in the Marlborough street police court Thursday. A few minutes before the case was called the court was informed that the girl's mother had committed suicide Thursday morning. The hearing in the case was postponed for a week. Mrs. Maude, who was separated from her husband, lived with her daughter in a handsome house at Hyde Park Gate. Mrs. Maude was a daughter-in-law of Maj.-Gen. Maude, who was formerly squerry to the queen. She killed herself by jumping from a top-story window of the Great Western hotel, Paddington, where she had been staying for the last few days. It appears that while Gwineth was in the dock Thursday she was ignorant of her mother's fate. She was attired in the height of fashion. She wore a handsome fawn-colored cape, elaborately trimmed with jet. Around her neck was an expensive feather boa. Through the brief session she sat pale and downcast. While Spink's assistant was testifying the girl's father, a tall, military-looking man, entered the court room, and asked that Gwineth be removed while he made an application to the court.

"Certainly not," replied the judge, but he added that the application might be made by means of a note. The note was written and passed up to the judge, who a few minutes later adjourned the case. The note told the story of Mrs. Maude's suicide.

A HOTEL COLLAPSES.

No One Hurt, But Several Narrow Escapes—Sleeping Babies Buried in the Ruins But Rescued Unharmed.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—Thursday evening one-half of the Washington Park hotel, on Twelfth street, crumbled away into the cellar and was ruined. The Lilly Clay Co. had just left the supper table for the night's performance. Landlord Goetzl's two sleeping babies were buried in the ruins, but were subsequently rescued from their place of peril unharmed. The rest of the inmates made miraculous escapes from death. The building was built some fifty years ago, and the walls were sadly in need of repair. Strangely enough the collapse came at the moment when the landlord and his wife were urging upon Chas. Schaefer, an agent of the Windisch-Muhlauer Brewing Co., to whom the property belongs, the need of making immediate repairs. The three made their exit just in time to escape death.

Attempt to Murder Her Husband.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 18.—Thursday afternoon Mrs. Ida Marsh, who is defendant in a habeas corpus proceeding in Judge Bartholomew's court, seeking to secure possession of her daughter, attempted to kill her husband, George B. Marsh, at the west entrance to the courthouse. The ball missed Marsh and struck Barney McCoy in the leg. Mrs. Marsh cocked the revolver to shoot a second time, but Charley Sorters, a constable, who happened to be at hand, and Patrolman Wurtz caught her and disarmed her. She was taken to the police station, charged with attempted murder.

Martha Washington Monument Not Sold.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 18.—In the supreme court of appeals Thursday Judge Faulstich delivered the opinion in the celebrated case of Colbert and Kirtley against Shepherd, the verdict of the lower court, which was in favor of the defendant, being sustained. This is more commonly known as the Martha Washington monument case, and is a suit for $20,000 damages on an alleged breach of contract. The plaintiffs alleged that defendant agreed to sell the monument, while the defendant claims he only agreed to sell the ground on which the monument was located.

Cleveland Harqueted.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Henry Villard, of Wall street, tendered a banquet to President-elect Cleveland Thursday evening which political gossip think had a good deal of significance. They whispered to each other that Mr. Villard was emphasizing his claims to a place among the statesmen of the country.

Young Lady Killed by a Rocket.
