

IT'S SO IF IT'S IN THE LEDGER.

JEFF HOLLIDAY of the Sixth Ward sends 100 stamps for Miss Dollie Rose.

The trolley wire broke yesterday noon and knocked the street cars out for about an hour.

LANE & WORICK are rushing the work on the addition to W. H. Wallingford's residence in the Fifth Ward.

ELDER WILLIAM LIVERY of Alabama will preach at Laytham's Chapel near Mayslick the second Saturday and Sunday in May.

DR. W. R. HEFLIN goes to Cincinnati today to undergo the operation of skin grafting, of which THE LEDGER spoke some days ago.

WAYNE DAMERON'S liquor house at Cateletsburg caught fire Monday but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

The prayer-meeting will be held in the main auditorium of the Christian Church instead of the chapel. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the close of the service.

THE Janitor in charge of the boiler at the Cox Building left the "feed" on, and there was an overplus of water throughout the heating pipes. There was no danger of explosion, as there wasn't enough steam to burst an eggshell.

M. C. HUTCHINS, as agent for Quincy Martin, yesterday sold the property belonging to the latter on the South side of Forest avenue, near Carmel street, to John L. Caldwell for $2,350. Mr. Caldwell will move into the property about May 20th.

GRACE HARDING, aged about 10 years, daughter of Louis J. Harding, residing in the Sixth Ward, severely cut her wrist with a knife yesterday. Dr. W. S. Yazell was called and took several stitches in the wound. She is getting along comfortably this morning.

M. R. GILMORE has just finished two very neat monuments to be placed at the graves of some of our oldest people. One is for John Rudy, born in 1777, died 1847, and Margaret his wife, born in 1779, died 1863. The other is for John Wisenall, born 1803, died 1850, and Eleanor his wife, born 1813, died 1893. They will be set up in the Maysville Cemetery.

COLONEL W. W. BALDWIN sold yesterday to Eli Kendig of Philadelphia a team of fast standard-bred roadsters. The price was $1,000 in actual good cash. Good judges of the qualities of roadsters agree that this team was the finest ever mated in this county, either horse being able to go a mile easily in 2:27. They were both bred and trained at "Auvergne" Stock Farm, and will be handled in the East to go against the team record. No driver knows better how to "jolly" a fast span than Colonel Baldwin himself. Mr. Kendig also purchased from John W. Alexander two four-year-old bay horses for $400.

YESTERDAY'S CYCLONE.

The Wicked Wind Curoofs and Wrecks Zeigart's Warehouse.

It blowed great guns. And clouds of dust filled men's eyes so they could not see struggling femininity battling with the gale.

It was about half past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Angry looking clouds came rapidly from the Southwest, meeting others that were approaching from the South, and when the mass focused over the city there was a general "ruetion."

An eye-witness says a great hunk of cyclone came bowling over Sugar Loaf on a line with Judge Wadsworth's residence, but high enough above it to do no damage.

As it neared the river it came closer to the ground, and when it reached Second and Short streets, it found the two-story warehouse of Christian F. Zeigart in its way.

It didn't take many seconds to remove the long roof and scatter the walls of the second story on all sides.

The East wall fell on part of a small tenement, and Mrs. Gilbert, one of the occupants, was mighty badly scared but not much hurt.

The front of the lower story was occupied by Joe Bode, the painter, who suffers some loss of signs, etc. The remainder of the building was unoccupied. Mr. Zeigart's loss will reach several hundred dollars. He has a force at work clearing away the wreck, but has not determined on future plans.

Aside from this we hear of no other damage in the city.

CINCINNATI creditors closed the Aldine Bar at Ashland.

It is reported that gold has been discovered on a farm near Chilo.

REVIVAL services in the First Presbyterian Church tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

JOHN McELROY was elected Chief of Police of Lexington, vice Letcher Lusby resigned.

JOHN AMMER, boot and shoe dealer, suicided at Augusta with chloroform on account of financial troubles.

THE preachers of the Ashland District, Kentucky Conference, will hold an Institute at Sedden's Chapel, M. E. Church, beginning April 24th and continuing until the 28th. All are welcome.

THE marriage of Miss Iva Dee Allen of Millersburg and Lewis Rogers of Paris took place yesterday afternoon in the Burnett House parlors, Cincinnati. James Thompson of Paris and Miss Mae Marshall of "Cottage Cliff," this county, were the attendants.

THE close friends of Judge G. S. Wall are making a still hunt for him through out the District for our "Man from Mason" to become a candidate for Appellate Judge. He would not be a dark horse in the race for the nomination, and we who are not "followers after Cleveland" would rather see some other Democrat get it. Judge Wall has had wide experience on the bench and would make a just, honest Judge.

T. F. ELLIS of the Swampoodle, Washington City, called on THE LEDGER yesterday. Mr. Ellis is an Aberdeen boy, was a former attache of this office, but for several years has held a place in Uncle Sam's big printery at Washington. He is now on his vacation, and is putting in his time with relatives across the river and friends on this side. Owing to the dull times Uncle Sam's typos are on short time—the day hands working four days a week and piece hands three days. He will return to Washington next Tuesday.

PHILADELPHIA IS AMERICAN.

"Old Glory" Alone Allowed to Fly Over Her City Hall.

Mayor Stuart of Philadelphia sent a letter to the Secretary of the Universal Peace Union declining to allow that organization to float its flag over Independence Hall in place of the National ensign when it held its celebration in the historic pile to commemorate the signing of the arbitration treaty at Washington on April 18th, 1890.

In reply to the Union's request Mayor Stuart said: "I have always refused to allow any flag other than the American flag to be raised over Independence Hall and must decline to grant your request."

Philadelphia, it should be remembered, is the only distinctively American city in the country—the only one which is not controlled by the foreign classes.

SUDDENLY CALLED.

Mrs. Abbie T. Cole, Wife of Judge Alfred E. Cole.

"In the midst of life we are in death." How forcibly this great truth is illustrated in the sudden demise of Mrs. Abbie T. Cole, wife of Judge A. E. Cole.

She had been ill about a week, troubled with an affection of the heart, and at 8 o'clock last night informed her physician, Dr. A. G. Browning, that she was feeling much better, and all the symptoms were most assuring to the doctor, who freely gave his opinion that the patient was in no danger.

Shortly before midnight she complained of feeling chilly, and her husband attended her wants. Fifteen minutes later she began breathing heavily and expired almost without warning.

Mrs. Cole's maiden name was Throop. Besides a devoted husband she leaves three sons—Allan D., William T. and Wadsworth. She was about 48 years of age, and for many years had been a consistent member of the M. E. Church, South.

The bereaved family have the condolence of a wide circle.

Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed when THE LEDGER went to press.

COL. W. O. BRADLEY.

HE IS A PROMINENT CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

General Dissatisfaction Expressed by Democrats With the Blundering and Ruinous Tactics of Their Party in Congress.

A special from Danville to The Commercial Gazette says the canvass now being made for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky by ex-Attorney General P. Watt Hardin of Frankfort and Hon. Cassius M. Clay, Jr., of Paris has given rise to considerable gossip regarding the probable Republican candidate for this high office.

The many evidences of dissatisfaction and unrest within the Democratic ranks in Kentucky lead politicians to predict that the next state election will be the most uncertain ever held. There are Republicans not inexperienced in such matters who are free in their declarations that the Republican candidate will have a splendid showing to be elected. The Democratic blundering with the Tariff and the finances, and the "hard times" that have prevailed for more than a year, have had their effect, and conservative Democrats are using some very heretical language these days. Fifty-cent wheat is not pleasing to the Democratic farmer, and he longs for the prosperity experienced under twenty-eight years of Republican rule. There were more Republicans in both branches of the last General Assembly than ever before sat in that body, the Senatorial gerrymander notwithstanding, and the light vote that was polled where the Democrats were successful was anything but reassuring. There are signs of a change in the air.

The two names most frequently heard in connection with the Republican nomination for Governor are those of Bradley and Denny. Mr. Bradley's race against Governor Buckner, who preceded the incumbent, was a memorable one. Never before had the Democrats experienced such a close shave, and had the Republicans known that the result was to be so close there is no doubt whatever but that Bradley would have been elected. All that would have been required was a little more work. Bradley's success in that race caused his name to be presented to the National Convention at Chicago for the Vice-Presidency, and he received a handsome vote for the nomination. Colonel Bradley has been all along regarded as a prospective candidate for the gubernatorial nomination next time, and his friends and admirers have been rallying to his standard, even though he had made no formal announcement of his candidacy. He has within the past few days announced that he will accept the nomination if he is the choice of the State Convention, and from this time he may be considered a full-fledged candidate, though it is doubtful if he enters a scramble for it.

General Hardin, who is almost sure to be the Democratic champion, is a stump speaker of the old school, and Bradley is about the only Republican possibility who is able to cope with him. Bradley is full to the brim with campaign material, and knows how to use it to the best advantage. He has made a careful study of the recklessness that has at times characterized Democratic officials, and long before "Honest Dick" Tate defaulted Bradley predicted the collapse, though he was ridiculed at the time. He is a fighter from the word, and few Democrats care to encounter him on the stump.

Numerous tickets have been suggested by the Republican papers throughout the state, and none have suggested anyone else but Mr. Bradley at its head. A popular combination reads this way:

For Governor, W. O. BRADLEY, Of Lancaster. For Lieutenant Governor, Major D. J. BURCHETT, Of Louisville. For Attorney General, Hon. J. P. McCARTNEY, Of Flemingsburg.

Major Burchett is another patriotic Republican, and he would make an ideal running mate for Bradley. He was a gallant Union soldier, and is well known throughout Eastern Kentucky, where the Republican vote is very large. Major Burchett was the U. S. Marshal for Kentucky under President Harrison, and made one of the best officials that ever occupied the position. It is fitting, too, that the Eastern part of the state should be recognized in the next contest. This section of the state is especially favored in natural resources, and the people there are beginning to wake up to the importance of supporting that party which offers Protection to iron and coal. Foreign capital has invested largely in this section, and the many workmen that have been transplanted from the Protection states will be an important factor in the next election.

Hon. George Denny of Lexington, who is frequently spoken of as a candidate for the nomination, is a "vigorous young Republican, and would force the fighting all along the line were he made the standard bearer. Attorney Stoll, made famous by his connection with the Breckinridge case, also lives at Lexington, and he is said to have gubernatorial aspirations, too. He is an ex Collector, and would be warmly supported were he to announce himself. Colonel Bradley, however, stands higher with the rank and file of the party than any other man, and will have no difficulty whatever in securing the nomination. He has never refused to take a hand in the fight, even at great personal sacrifice, and gratitude is a strong Republican characteristic.

The Republicans have good reasons to be cheerful over the prospects of giving the Democrats a hard fight next time, and it need not be surprising if the old state places herself in the Republican column. One who mingles with the masses and hears the many expressions of disgust and dissatisfaction uttered by heretofore staunch Democrats can easily form this opinion.
