IMPORTANT NOTICE. An Examination to Be Held For Non-Graduate Physicians.

OFFICE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH, BOWLING GREEN, KY., May 10th, 1894. To the Public: The State Board of Health will hold a meeting for the examination of non-graduate applicants for certificates to practice medicine under the recently enacted amendment to the medical practice law, at the Medical Department of the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky., beginning at 9 a. m., Thursday, June 14th, 1894, this being the day the amendment goes into operation.

Only persons presenting satisfactory evidence that they were reputedly and honorably engaged in the practice of medicine in this state as an occupation prior to February 23d, 1884, and that they are persons of good moral and professional character will be eligible for examination.

The moral and professional character of the applicant, and the credibility of the witnesses as to the length of time he has been engaged in the practice in this state, must be certified to by the Medical Referee of the county in which such persons reside, or must be submitted to this Board ten days prior to the date of the examination. When practicable, the witnesses should be medical men.

All examinations will be conducted in writing, and while practical in character, will be sufficient to fully test the ability of the applicant to practice medicine with safety to the people; and, to be successful, each applicant must make a grade of not less than seventy in each branch.

As this provision was made by the General Assembly for the especial benefit of worthy persons who have been reputedly engaged in the practice of medicine for ten years, but are unable to comply with the present law, and yet cannot bear the expense and loss of time involved in a regular course in a medical college, no fee will be charged for the examination.

Colonel George W. Dye of Sardis was in the city yesterday.

Joseph Morford of Middlesborough is spending a few days here with relatives.

HIS MEMORY FAILED. Why the Hotel Clerk Failed to Recognize an Actor.

"I heard a great deal when I went on the road," said an actor recently to a Cincinnati reporter, "about the extraordinary ability of some hotel clerks to remember names and faces, and I can readily understand that such an accomplishment would be very desirable in a hotel clerk. Nearly everybody, unless he is traveling under an alias, is vain enough to enjoy a hearty recognition by a hotel clerk, particularly if the hotel is an especially good one. But I had my doubts about the truth of the tales I had heard of these wonderful exhibitions of memory, and when I came to Cincinnati I determined to make a test. I did so, but I am still undecided about the matter.

"In 1862, when I was about two years old, my mother brought me from the Northern part of the state of Kentucky, where my father, an officer in the Union Army, was stationed. I had been told that we stopped over night at a certain hotel in Cincinnati. When a company that I was in came here I went to that hotel. An elderly clerk was behind the desk. I tackled him.

"'Howdy?' I said, trying to look as if I knew him well.

"'How do you do, sir?' he said politely, but without a sign of recognition in his eye.

"'You don't remember me, do you?' 'No—no,' he said, a little bit reluctantly, as if he didn't like to admit it.

"'Why,' I said, 'I stopped here in 1862.'

"'Spring or fall?' said he, apparently recovering himself.

"'Spring, I think,' said I.

"'Oh,' he answered, as he looked me right in the eye, 'that accounts for my not recalling you, sir. I didn't come here until the fall of 1862.'"

He is Pretty Well Fixed Despite the Hard Times.

The total valuation of the real and personal property in the United States at the close of the census period of 1890 amounted to $65,037,091,197. Of this amount $35,544,544,333 represents the value of real estate and improvements, and $55,492,546,864 that of personal property, including railroads, mines and quarries.

At the same time the total assessed value of real estate and personal property taxed was $25,473,173,418. Of this amount $18,956,556,675 represented real estate and improvements, and $6,516,616,743 personal property.

This valuation is classified as follows: Real estate, with improvements thereon, $39,544,544,333; live stock on farms and ranges, farm implements and machinery, $2,708,015,040; mines and quarries, including product on hand, $1,291,291,579; gold and silver coin and bullion, $1,158,774,948; machinery of mills and product on hand, raw and manufactured, $3,068,593,441; railroads and equipments, including $283,895,519 street railroads, $8,685,407,333; telegraphs, telephones, shipping and canals, $701,755,712; miscellaneous, $7,893,708,821.

The bulletin on agriculture shows that the total number of farms enumerated in 1890 was 4,564,641, as compared with 4,008,907 in 1880, an increase of 555,734.

The total area of land in these farms was 623,218,619 acres, of which 357,616,753 acres were improved. In 1880 there were 536,081,835 acres in farms, 284,771,043 acres which were improved. Therefore, there was an increase of 87,136,784 acres of the total land in farms, and 72,845,710 acres improved.

The percentage of the total land surface in farms in 1890 was 32.79, as compared with 28.20 in 1880.

The value of these farm lands, including fences and buildings, was, in 1890, $13,279,252,649 and in 1880, $10,197,096,776.

The value of farm implements and machinery in 1890 was $494,247,467, and in 1880, $406,920,055.

The value of live stock on hand June 1st, 1890, was $2,208,767,573. In June, 1880, it was $1,500,384,707, showing an increase of 47.21 per cent. since 1880.

The value of farm products in 1889 was $2,460,107,454. The total number of horses on farms and ranges in 1890 was 15,268,783; swine, 57,425,287; neat cattle, 57,648,792, and sheep, 35,935,364. The total area devoted to cotton production in 1889 was 90,175,370 acres.

The area devoted to the cultivation of cereals in 1890 was 140,217,545 acres, and the total production 3,518,816,904 bushels.
