

THIRD YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1894.

ONE CENT.

OUR TRAMP ABOUT THE CITY.

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect For the Next Twenty-four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White streamer—FAIR;
 Blue—RAIN or SNOW;
 With Black ABOVE—will WARMER grow.
 If Black's BENEATH—COLDER will be;
 Unless Black's shown—no change will see

The above forecasts are made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening.

SIMPLY FRIGHTFUL.

I held her hand but a moment there. Yielding and warm and white. And then let go, for don't you know, Somebody turned up the light.

E. H. Dempsey has been appointed Postmaster at Olive Hill.

There's a letter in the Postoffice for Putnam, Hooker & Co. of Cincinnati.

During the four days of the Fair street cars will not run below the Postoffice after 12:30 p. m.

Special low prices on Refrigerators, this week only. Bierbower & Co., No. 212 Market street.

Danville is to have a telephone company and exchange and will rent the instruments at $2 per month.

Frank Owens Hardware Co. have just received a large stock of Pocket and Table Knives, Scissors and Razors. Call and see prices.

Mrs. George Barcroft has rented the Hill House and is prepared to furnish meals by the day, week or month. Also furnished rooms.

Versailles pays $1,600 a year for sixteen arc electric lights, moon schedule. Stores pay $50 a year for arc lights, burning from 6 p. m. to midnight.

S. P. Browning will accept the offer to teach higher mathematics and German in a Georgia academy near Macon, and will leave about the 27th inst. for his new field.

Price Newman, one of the most widely known of Louisville's business men, was stricken by apoplexy Monday while descending the stairway of the Willard Hotel and died in a few minutes.

Readers who will have guests during the Fair are courteously requested to send their names and place of residence to THE LEDGER, thus: "Miss Maymye Jones of Andalusia, Pa., is a guest of Miss Myrnyne Myddletyn of East Eleventh street."

W. T. Rosenbarger, one of the oldest freight conductors in these parts, who has been connected with the C. and O. since its completion, died at Covington, aged 50. His death was the result of an accident which occurred near this city a year ago.

The tin racehorses were among the first arrivals for the Fair, and we would so much like some one to tell us why it isn't just as legal to put your money on "Strong Boy" in that ring as it is to buy a pool on "Short Stop" in the other. What fine hair-splitting these moralists do have, to be sure!

IT'S SO IF IT'S IN THE LEDGER.

The Blue Ribbon Fair is ripe today.

The Richmond Fair just closed cleared $1,000.

There were 10,000 buckets of blackberries marketed at Winchester this season.

Hiram Taylor, now with Browning & Co., will take a place with F. B. Ranson & Co.

John Clark, father of Mrs. John Fansler of this city, died at Higginsport, aged 57.

The Lewis County Demmies will hold a useless county convention on the 20th of this month.

The Governor offers $100 for the arrest of Charles Riggs, charged with assault in Marion county.

Rev. William Grubbs, once stationed at the M. E. Church, South, here, died at Russellville, aged 79.

A negro was arrested at the Richmond Fair Saturday with only eleven razors in his pockets—a very sharp negro.

Gasoline stoves, best in the world, at specially low prices to close out. Bierbower & Co., No. 212 Market street.

Wyatt Roberson and Miss Sarah Lewis, both colored, were married last evening at the residence of the groom by Rev. Alexander McDade.

Ladies attending the Fair will find that C. D. Shepard has erected a handsome soda fountain on the Grand Stand Promenade for their benefit.

The internal revenue receipts in this city for July were $50,199 95—the largest of any previous month. This was owing to the great amount of whisky forced out of bond.

J. P. Singleton, formerly of Flemingsburg, will wed Miss Nellie Fitch of Louisville in a few days at Geneva, Switzerland. They have been traveling in Europe since last spring.

The Loring and Leslie combination at the Opera-house every night this week. Among the leading attractions are Miss Alice Hasson and Miss Proctor, the latter only 11 years old and a clever dancer. Popular prices.

The Delmonico is in full blast, and Colonel J. Phisterero Wallaciendo and James Wallaciendo will fill the inner man without depleting his Treasury below the reserve necessary to maintain the parity between grub and gelt.

Major Drury J. Burchett of Lawrence, Colonel Worthington of Greenup, R. C. Burns of Catlettsburg, John P. McCartney of Fleming and William H. Cox of this city are mentioned as Republicans from whom to select a candidate for Mr. Paynter's unexpired term.

Departed for Ruggles Camp-meeting this morning: Rev. G. R. Frenger, Presiding Elder, Covington, Ky.; Rev. Amos Boreing and son Vincent of Dayton, Ky.; Mrs. Richard Griffith and little son Richard of Indianapolis, Ind.; Miss Carrie Belle Morford of Covington; Alonzo Seaman of Oklahoma; Professor Bloom and family, Mrs. Jane Morris, Mrs. W. L. Davidson, Miss May Lane and Miss Mary Rudy of this city.

Run! Run! Run! We are making a home run on Ice Cream Freezers this week only. Bierbower & Co., No. 212 Market street.

HOW IS THIS? An Echo From a Recent Outrage By Covington Rowdies.

Covington Commonwealth. John Wesseln, the delegate to the Augusta Convention who was thrown from the train by some of Mr. Goebel's delegates, is improving. His shoulder is badly sprained and his arm and hand cut and bruised by coming in contact with a wire fence. Wesseln says he was thrown from the train by Fire Chief Meyers and Murphy, a member of the Fire Department. If this is true, these officials ought to be investigated. What they did was done after the Convention and its attendant excitement was over. City officers engaging in such conduct, no matter whatever the provocation, should be dealt with as the law directs. They had no business at the Convention in the first place.

If it will aid The Commonwealth any, THE LEDGER might give it a "tip."

Suppose you apply the pump and see if Senator Goebel didn't telegraph Chief Myers somewhat after this fashion: "We need protection. Come up in the morning and bring enough men to protect us."

This on Wednesday evening, July 25th.

The entire stock of goods belonging to John Dingess at East Fork was stolen, and the only way he had to tell there ever was a store was by the house being left.

BROKE GROUND ON THE NEW LITTLE AND BIG SANDY.

In answer to inquiry, the Editor of THE LEDGER found the first shovel full of dirt when the building of the Maysville and Big Sandy was begun.

Ground was broken on the Western terminus of the cut just west of George T. Wood's barn in the Fifth ward.

The first shovel full of dirt was thrown at 9:55 a. m. Wednesday, July 23d, 1894, and the second, a month later, was thrown by D. Rice Bullard, now of Portland, Oregon.

The venerable Tim McAuliffe, who had the contract, was amused at the Editor's struggle with the earth and truthfully remarked that in the Editor's hands the pen was mightier than the pick when it came to building railroads.

DOWN THEY WENT

The Visitors Simply Walked All Over the Regulars.

Well, Georgetown made it hoss and hoss.

The locals' inability to hit Daniels at critical times lost them the game yesterday.

The bases were loaded on two occasions, with two out, but the required hit was not forthcoming.

And then several of the locals concluded to take a day off.

To say Bruner's support was ragged would be drawing it mild indeed—it was rotten.

Davis' work at second was very yellow, and he ran bases like a somnambulist.

While Bruner's support was off, his work in the third inning didn't give his field any encouragement.

He floated one up and Ramp hit it down hard to McDaniel, who fumbled it long enough to allow the runner to reach first.

Bruner then made a wild pitch and Ramp took second. The next batter up hit a little one to Bruner. It was dead easy, but he fumbled it, and the runner took a base.

This seemed to take the starch completely out of the locals, and they let go all holts.

Nie caught another good game for Maysville.

The locals got a tally in the first. Cox flew out to third; McDaniel worked his base on balls and stole second; he started to pilfer third; Yost threw wild to head him off, and he went on home.

The visitors tied the score in their half. Ramp hit to third; McDaniel threw wild to first, and the runner kept on to second; Daniels then hit a beauty over short for a base, and Ramp crossed the plate.

The got their second and last run in the third. Rudy hit past second for a bag; Cox flew out to center; McDaniel struck out; Hill hit to third and reached first on Reeder's error; Rogers hit into right for a single, and Rudy trotted home.

The visitors accumulated four runs in their half on two doubles and three errors. Reeder's hit into center for a base, Tenley's jolt into right for a single and Davis' wild throw gave Georgetown a run in the fifth. Two bases on balls, singles by Moore and Tenley and Ramp's scorching past third for a base gave the visitors two more scores in the eighth.

The following is the score:

ISN'T IT FUNNY? This Man Comes Near Being His Own Grandfather.

Christian Merz, who runs a grocery and daily meat market at No. 541 West Fifth street, Cincinnati, is married to his own sister's daughter.

The facts were all known and there was perfect agreement on all sides before the marriage took place.

But the funny part of it is the queer relationship that grows out of the union. Merz is his wife's uncle, and his mother-in-law's brother; his wife is his niece and her mother's sister-in-law; he is his own nephew, and also his own uncle, while his wife is her own aunt and her niece; children of the couple would be nephews of their father, while their grandmother would be their aunt.
