AMERICA FOR AMERICANS

McKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.
In 1890 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was dined and wineed in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

Mr. CLEVELAND is in trouble, deep trouble, says The Commercial Gazette. He has so many defeated Democratic Congressmen on his hands, who will be out of a job in a few days, that he cannot provide for them at the public crib, and he does not know whom to turn up and whom to turn down. The people sometimes say to a Congressman, "Come home, and stay home," but the Congressman can never make up his mind to that, and when he leaves the big building on the hill he hunts for some soft place in which to fall, where little work is required but the pay is good. It would be economy for the Nation to provide at public expense a home for worn-out and discarded Congressmen.

CHURCH COLUMN.

Don't Stop Tobacco—How to Cure Yourself While Using It.
The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco, to an inveterate user, becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. Baco-Curo is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin Physician who has used it in his private practice since 1852, without a failure, purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want, while taking Baco-Curo. It will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to permanently cure any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent. interest. Baco-Curo is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke. Sold by all druggists, with our ironical guarantee, at $1.00 per box, three boxes, thirty days treatment, $2.50, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Send six two-cent stamps for sample box, booklet and proofs free. Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing Company, Manufacturing Chemists, La Crosse, Wisconsin.

WALLS FELL.

A Number of Workmen Buried Beneath the Ruins.
A Six Story Building was Being Demolished in New York.

Ten Bodies Taken Out, Two of Whom Were Dead, and a Third Died on the Way to the Hospital—The Contractors Under Arrest.

New York, March 2.—The wall of an old six-story building at Forty-third street and Tenth avenue fell Friday morning, killing and injuring many men who were engaged in tearing it down. So far three dead bodies have been taken out of the ruins and several injured have been extricated. There are probably a score of men still in the ruins, many of them believed to be dead. The building which was being demolished is the old malt house of A. E. & E. Schyler, brewers. For two years it has not been occupied. The portion of the building that fell is the old kiln house, and is six stories high.

For three weeks a gang of men, under Contractor George O'Keefe, has been tearing down the building. This morning most of the gang were at work on the old kiln-house on the Forty-third street side. During the first part of the morning a portion of the roof had been taken off and the naked wall in the west Forty-third street side was left standing. Suddenly there was a terrific crash. There was a roar of falling brick and timber that was heard blocks away, and a great cloud of dust went up. In the midst of the men were heard the cries of the men, many of whom had fallen to death. The three upper stories on the Forty-third street side had toppled into the interior of the building. Tons of brick and mortar had fallen on the workmen.

A dozen men ran distractedly in all directions to send in fire alarms and calls for ambulances. In a few minutes fire engines and ambulances were on the scene. Ambulances were there from every hospital in the city. Groans and half-stifled cries could be heard from beneath the mass of bricks.

The laborers who had escaped, the firemen and the crowd attracted by the noise of the falling walls ran to the ruins like mad men, and began tearing the debris away with their hands and crowbars. A leg here, an arm there and a head in another place, showed the best points of attack. The men who were at work on the ruins were thoughtful of danger at first, and then cooler heads saw that other parts of the wall might fall, and not only kill the rescuers but bury the unfortunate workmen still deeper.

In a short time ten were taken out. Of these two were already dead. Another, a man of 20 years, who was later identified as Hugh Cullen, was unconscious and breathing feebly. He was hurried into an ambulance, but died on the way to the hospital.

It was absolutely impossible at the start to get any description of the wounds of the injured. Some had broken limbs, others great jagged cuts in the head and face. All were covered thickly with dust.

The building as it stands shows on the Forty-third street side a wall broken off at the third story. The walls just opposite are broken off at about the same point. The walls on the other sides are still standing, five stories high, and here lies the greatest danger for the firemen and the rescuers.

Contractor O'Keefe and his partner, Patrick Keegan, were arrested and locked up in the West Forty-seventh Street station. No bail would be taken when the owner of the fallen building, James McKelvey, called to offer security.

Chief Cielquel said at noon that he thought there were three more bodies in the building. This would swell the list of dead to six. The body of the unknown Italian was identified as that of Angelo Ticeor. Contractor O'Keefe denied the statement that a lot of material had been left on the floors of the building. Of the injured men, Malloy and Robson will die.

Girls Ground to Pieces.
BUENOS AIRES, March 2.—As a party, the worse for liquor, was returning from a dance at Slope, one of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Co.'s mines at Pratt City, going up the company's tracks, a company train came along. All the revelers left the track except Lizzie Binford and Rena Jones, who remained in bravado to frighten their beaux. The train ground them to pieces.

Hotel Destroyed by Fire.
NORFOLK, Neb., March 2.—Fire early Friday morning completely wrecked the Reno hotel, the finest in the city, and also destroyed the cigar factory of Manpin & Wagner. The wind was blowing a hurricane from the north and for a time it seemed as though the flames would leap across Main street and destroy everything in their path. Loss $75,000; insurance half.

Labrador Indians Starving.
QUEBEC, March 2.—Distressing intelligence has been received here from missionaries and others along the Labrador coast of the misery and privation among the Nasapee Indians, numbers of whom will, it is feared, starve before the spring, unless some means are found for giving them relief.

An Inaugural Victory.
ST. LOUIS, March 2.—Special telegrams received here from Havana say the report has reached there that the insurgents have defeated a force of 1,000 Spanish troops, but no details are given.

A Prince Found Dead.
VIENNA, March 2.—Prince Mettersich, son of the famous Austrian diplomat of that name, was found dead in bed Friday morning. The cause of his death was apoplexy. He was 66.

McGEE HANGED.

The Convict Murderer Pays the Penalty at Frankfort, Ky.
FRANKFORT, Ky., March 2.—George McGee met death on the scaffold in the jailyard here at 6:30 a. m. Friday.

McGee was firm to the last. As he approached the scaffold through a window in the jail, accompanied by Father O'neal, Assistant Gobber, Sheriff Armstrong and Deputies Sullivan and Holten, he appeared the most composed of all. He looked around over the crowd standing with hoisted umbrellas in the drizzling rain, and on near neighboring housetops and the telegraph poles and the fences while the ropes and harness were being adjusted about his neck and arms and legs.

Father O'neal shook hands with him on the scaffold, and the prisoner said a parting word in a whisper. He did not address the crowd nor make any statement.

The cap was adjusted by Deputy Sheriff Sullivan, and as the minute for the execution approached the crowd began to shrink back.

McGee stood perfectly erect when the trap was sprung and the body shot down through the opening and hung dangling in the air. Two men fainted at the scene and were carried into the courthouse. For the first few minutes the body showed slight twitching, followed by convulsions.

The neck was not broken and death was produced by strangulation. Surgeon Reynolds pronouncing the body a corpse in thirteen minutes from the time the trap was sprung.

McGee was dressed in a neat black suit of clothes, white lay-down collar and black cravat.

He retired at an early hour and slept well Thursday night. He had to be awakened by Jailor Williams Friday morning at five o'clock. He dressed leisurely, ate a hearty breakfast of fried oysters, crackers, eggs, pickles, and coffee. At 5:30 Fathers O'neal and Gobber arrived and administered to the condemned man until the time of execution. McGee expressed himself as perfectly ready to go. At 6 a. m. Dahony and Graham, undertakers, arrived at the jail with the coffin. Death Watch McQuillen spent the latter part of the night with McGee. During the time McGee was in communion with the priests he was singing and praying aloud, and could be heard for squares away. His body was taken to Louisville on the 10 o'clock train for interment.

NEW-STYLE GUN

Is Experimented With at Berlin With Good Results.

BERLIN, March 2.—The war department has completed experiments with a new gun, which is guaranteed for a thousand rounds.

After 3,000 rounds had been fired with the heaviest charges of smokeless powder the rifling was found in fair condition.

The muzzle velocity of the projectile was 3,000 feet per second. The gun is made of hard-tempered steel.

It has a choke bore of such construction that, as the projectile moves forward into the barrel, the bands of the rifling become larger and closer, so the copper forming the driving band is constantly set out.

The discharge of gas between the projectile and the walls of the gun, and the consequent corrosion of the gun are thus prevented. The gun has a bore of about six inches, and is between twenty-two and twenty-three feet long.

A Secretary Missing.

ST. LOUIS, March 2.—John J. Gruchy, secretary of the Buckeye Building and Loan association is missing, and his accounts are said to be short nearly $1,500. Gruchy was supposed to be of high moral character, was a prominent churchman and at one time president of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor.
