

PUBLIC DAILY LEDGER

SIXTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1897.

ONE CENT.

Eyesight

Is of such great value that one ought to take more than ordinary precautions to guard against every possible trouble.

If you have even a remote suspicion that there is any trouble with your eyes it will be for your own best interests to have your vision tested and, trouble, if any, removed.

Very simple troubles may develop serious results if not properly treated. Ordinary failing eyesight receives our most careful attention, both as to glasses and frames.

It's just as important to have the right frame as the right glass, and from our large stock we can give you the correct thing in either Gold, Silver or Steel.

We make no charge for examinations, and if yours is a case requiring the services of an oculist we will frankly tell you so.

Americans are the most inventive people on earth. To them have been issued nearly 600,000 patents, or more than one-third of all the patents issued in the world. No discovery of modern years has been of greater benefit to mankind than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or has done more to relieve pain and suffering. J. W. Vaughn, of Oakton, Ky., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in my family for several years, and find it to be the best medicine I ever used for cramps in the stomach and bowels. For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist."

IMPORTANT DECISION.

A Husband Must Support His Family Before Paying His Debts.

In the case of Bela Green vs. Winfield Buckler, taken up from Robertson county, the Court of Appeals, in an opinion by Chief Justice Lewis, reverses the lower Court as follows:

First—The obligation of a husband to support his family is paramount to that of paying his debts; and such support involves the provision of a home to shelter as well as raiment to clothe or food to sustain life.

Second—Where a suit is brought by plaintiff to subject a house and lot worth $650 to payment of husband's debt amounting to $130, the legal title being in the wife, and plaintiff alleging that the conveyance from husband to wife was voluntary and fraudulent; and where it is clearly established that the house and lot were paid for with $324 borrowed from bank, the bank holding the first mortgage, $180 donated by friends of the wife to her, and the balance, $144, saved by strict economy of wife out of the allowance her husband had made for the support of his family, and where the amount in controversy was not greater than what would have been required to pay rent for another home, a conveyance from husband to wife is not fraudulent within the meaning of the statute.

Third—The Court erred in such case in failing to adjudge the wife entitled to the entire proceeds arising from a sale of the house and lot, after satisfying mortgage of the bank.

J. HENRY PECOR.

WAS A MAYSVILLE MAN.

Death at Haddonfield, N. J., of Colonel Peyton, Father of Centennials.

Colonel Jesse E. Peyton, who was known as the "Father of Centennials," died Wednesday at Haddonfield, N. J.

He was born in Maysville in 1815, and went to Philadelphia and entered the wholesale dry goods business.

Peyton first attracted public attention in 1860 by his efforts in behalf of the Union.

At the suggestion of President Lincoln he visited Kentucky to do what he could to induce this state to hold her place in the Union.

In 1861 Colonel Young recruited a Regiment and upon the suggestion of Secretary of War Cameron, Jesse Peyton became Quartermaster.

His was the first Regiment of cavalry that reached Washington after the outbreak of the War.

He fitted out Young's Kentucky Cavalry and the Eleventh Pennsylvania Regiment, and paid all the expenses out of his private purse.

It was principally due to the efforts of Colonel Peyton that the Centennial Exposition was held in Philadelphia in 1876.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. D. HUNT & SON.

MOST HAPPILY JOINED!

Mr. Edward Boyd of Texas and Miss Minnie McDougle of Maysville.

LEFT AT ONCE FOR THEIR HOME

The marriage ceremony uniting the hearts of Mr. Edward Boyd of Denison, Texas, and Miss Minnie O. McDougle of Maysville was solemnly pronounced by the Rev. S. D. Dutcher, Pastor of the bride's Church, and most impressively listened to by a concourse of friends yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, who came early and long remained at the home of the bride that the joys of good wishes and earnest congratulations might the more have weight and time.

The very beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McDougle is just on the edge of our city's limits, setting high upon the bank of the peaceful, placidly flowing LaBelle Riviere. The driveways in front and to the rear approaching the home are winding and serpentine, fringed with wild flowers and hedged about with sweet, blossoming trees which stand upon a velvet carpet of maziest bluegrass tinge. If thus by nature the landscape gave such pleasure to the eyes of all as they approached the port cochure, the interior presented as beautiful a sight, for hanging, climbing, resting in every corner, on every curtain, upon the walls the lavish perfumed Cape Jasmine, pure in her petals of white, peeped from under her Elizabeth collar of waxen green, the waving, clambering honeysuckle, the cone shaped lilacs, the delicately perfumed apple blossom, all vying in beauty, grace and sweetness to sing a wedding psalm which should echo for time and eternity the blessings to this twain given.

Promptly at 3 o'clock the strains of the Wedding March issued from the rear hall, and like the enrapturing music made by sirens of old, the mandolins and guitar blended in harmony divine, like whispering voices from regions enchanted the mellifluous tones floated out, by the strains of which the bridal party came down the steps, through the hall, into the drawing room, where were the guests and where was the altar of flowers before which the reverend divine stood to pronounce the ceremony, simple in language, brief and beautiful and most solemnly and impressively rendered.

Immediately following congratulations the bride and groom changed their wedding habiliments for traveling suits, and entering a carriage were whirled away in a perfect shower of rice and old shoes to embark upon the 4:25 train for their future home in Texas.

Mr. Boyd is a handsome fellow, in the prime of life and in the heyday of success. His positions in the business world and in society are commensurate with the rights of a well born, highly bred and intelligent gentleman.

Miss McDougle wore a very pretty white organdie, carrying a huge bunch of bride roses. Her going away gown was a gray cloth, with hat and gloves to match.

The attendants were the brother and sister of the bride, Miss Anna wearing a beautiful heliotrope organdie and carrying a bunch of exquisite pink roses.

The presents were many, embracing useful and beautiful articles for the home. About seventy five guests witnessed the ceremony, and the toilets of the ladies were handsome indeed, the semi-circle of guests forming a veritable flower garden amid which the ceremony was performed.

If bright skies, a faultless day and other omens for good augur blessings and happiness then Mr. and Mrs. Boyd are favored indeed, all of which THE LEDGER hopes may be theirs through a long series of years.

A trusted female employe of Osborn, Hutchins & Hunt, wholesale milliners, Cincinnati, stole goods from the firm and started a millinery store of her own. The pilferings extended over more than a year, but the amount cannot be told. Rather than prosecute the unfortunate young woman the firm accepted $200 as a compromise.

Mrs. A. Inveen, residing at 720 Henry St., Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request, as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

The Hon. Samuel J. Pugh Requests the Mason Committee to Meet Again.

As was stated in THE LEDGER at the time, the Mason county officials and the Executive Committee met to recommend appointees for the Fourthclass Postoffices in this county, in accordance with the plan of Congressman Pugh.

The joint Committee made recommendations in several instances where there was no contest, but in cases where more than one Republican was an applicant, the Committee declined to act, referring the matter to Mr. Pugh.

Mr. Pugh has now written to Chairman Mathews requesting the Committee to meet again after the Convention is over and to reconsider its action so far as to make recommendations for all the Fourthclass offices.

It is suggested further that if the county officials do not care to take part, that the Executive Committee alone take the desired action.
