SECOND DAY'S WORK.

Yesterday's Proceedings of the State Convention.

ASSIGNMENTS FOR TOMORROW.

The second day's session of the Y. M. C. A. Convention was opened yesterday morning with devotional exercises led by Mr. T. Bronson Ray, the State College Secretary. The meeting was largely attended, and great enthusiasm was manifested in the work by all the delegates.

Following this was a rehearsal of the annual reports from the various Associations throughout the state by some member delegated for that especial purpose. They were limited to two minutes in length and showed the progress in the several Associations to be uniform, both in the development of man's spiritual and temporal needs.

Reports from the following city Associations were received and adopted: Covington, Louisville, Lexington, Frankfort, Owensboro, Henderson, Winchester, Newport and Paducah. College Associations: Berea, Central University, Richmond; Center College, Danville; Hospital Medical College, Louisville; Kentucky University, Lexington; Kentucky Wesleyan College, Winchester; Georgetown Baptist College; State College, Lexington; Vanderbilt Training School, Elkton. Railroad Associations: Ashland, Lexington, Covington, Louisville, Russell. One Colored Association reported through its delegate, W. J. Skillen. This report showed that the Colored Association at Louisville which Skillen represented had a membership of 175, and was the only one of its kind in the state. It is one of the departments of the Louisville City Association and is doing admirable work among the colored population of that city. The reports from the Railroad Department revealed that those Associations were by far the most progressive, all of them being out of debt. One of them, situated at Russell, reported that for the past year it had been operating a lunch-room on a paying basis, clearing $3,000 after providing 15,000 hungry railroad men with food three times a day. This is indeed an innovation and one that can be followed profitably by Associations in other and larger cities.

After these reports had been heard the delegates were favored with an address from Mr. W. H. Morris General Secretary of the Baltimore (Md.) Y. M. C. A. His topic was "Leading Men to Christ." The paper was followed by a discussion, during which Mr. Morris was called upon to answer many questions upon religious work propounded by the various delegates.

Mr. George F. Tibbitts, General Secretary of the Cincinnati Association, then read an instructive paper on "Training Men for Service," succeeding which he also had many perplexing problems given him to solve. This discussion closed the morning session.

The afternoon session was confined principally to business pertaining to the planning of the work for the ensuing year at the various Associations throughout the state. It was begun at 2:30 by a Bible hour conducted by the Rev. Henry F. Williams of St. Louis, Mo. At the close of this the convention was divided into Department Conferences, three of which were held simultaneously in different parts of the building, viz: City and Town Delegates, College Delegates and Railroad Delegates. These were all very enjoyable and highly instructive to all who attended.

The City Delegates' Conference was composed of the delivery of three addresses and the discussions upon them as follows: "The Significance of Active Membership" by E. C. Baldwin of Lexington; "The Director: His Duties, Opportunities and Rewards" by J. A. Johnson of Covington; "Social Life in the Association" by B. B. Wilcox of Frankfort.

International College Secretary W. K. Matthews and State College Secretary T. B. Ray conducted the College Conference during which the subjoined topics were handled in a masterly manner by them, "A Study of the Field; its Present Conditions and Needs, with the Formation of the Policies for the Year."

H. O. Williams presided at the Railroad Conference where a discussion was entered into on the "View of the Field, Including a Study of the Conditions and Problems Affecting the Railroad Work in Kentucky."

Probably the most beneficial of all the conferences held, and no doubt the most profitable held thus far, was that of the Women's Auxiliary Committees of the thirty Y. M. C. A.'s throughout Kentucky, without whose diligence the existence of the Associations would be threatened.

Mrs. J. H. Letcher of Henderson had charge of this session, which continued until 5:30 o'clock.

The following was the order of business: Address on "Women's Responsibility in the Conversion of Young Men" by Miss Sue Scott of Lexington; "The Legitimate Work of the Women's Committee" by Miss Ora V. Leigh of Paducah, and a discussion on the "Measure of Responsibility Which Rests Upon the Women of Our Cities and Towns to Maintain the Associations," led by Miss Mary Page of Frankfort. The afternoon session was then closed by the answering of the questions which had been placed in the question drawer.

The evening session was begun at 7 o'clock by a song service led by Mr. J. P. Hillis of Greencastle, Ind. At 7:30 Mr. W. H. Morris delivered an address on the "Recent Developments in the Y. M. C. A." This was followed by a discourse from Rev. E. L. Powell of Louisville on "Young Men and the New Era," which closed the evening's session.

Following are the new officers elected for the ensuing year:

President—James A. Curry, Lexington Vice-Presidents—J. A. Johnson, Covington, and George H. Cox, Owensboro Secretary—D. D. Taylor, Louisville. Assistant Secretaries—W. G. Kitchen, Kentucky University, Lexington, and D. W. Lawson, Hospital College, Louisville.

In addition to those mentioned yesterday, the following Delegates are in attendance:

Millersburg—Thomas Brown. Frankfort—Samuel M. Whitehead, McKenzie Todd. Louisville—John L. Wheat. Owensboro—George H. Cox. Covington—C. H. Brune. W. T. Burkes, Mrs. E. P. Loose. Mt. Sterling—Thomas F. Rogers.

Waterloo and Napoleon! What awfulness in the former! What majesty in the latter! A grand, gloomy and peculiar period in history. A unique position certainly does Napoleon occupy in history, a personage upon whom the many phases of character tell with that sublime beauty changed into sickening irony—the bitter mingling with the sweet in such short seasons of time as to make it a two act drama upon a stage with the world as audience. If you want to hear this subject most splendidly treated, a word picture which shall most vividly portray the whole drama, await the opportunity which will be given Tuesday, March 1st, at 8 o'clock.
