SPRINGDALE SPLINTERS.

A Writer Who Hears to the Line, Regardless Where the Chips Fall.

Misses Flora and Lulu Tully were visiting friends in Maysville recently.

Mr. Stone of Manchester is "the inspector" for Chaney & Co. at this place.

Messrs. Julius Dekman and Tom Otto are enjoying handsome new bicycles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. King came up from Cincinnati Friday night last with the remains of their three-month-old babe, interment at Pleasant Hill Saturday.

Mrs. U. P. Dezman, whose death occurred at Schuyler, Neb., Tuesday last, was formerly Miss Cora Anderson McDonald, daughter of our late citizen, John McDonald. Her widowed mother resides here. She leaves several brothers and sisters, two of whom, Mr. Tom McDonald and Mrs. Nannie Holiday, being citizens of Maysville. She was married December 8th, 1891, and went with her husband to his farm near Schuyler where she resided until late fall when Mr. Dezman sold his farm and moved his family into the city for the winter, intending to go to his ranch in Wheeler county in the spring, or just as soon as grazing for his cattle was sufficient. Mrs. Dezman's death was caused by measles and she was ill but a few days. She leaves four children, the youngest but seven months old. The funeral, which took place Friday, 21st, was conducted by Rev. N. A. Martin at the M. E. Church and the remains were interred in the beautiful Schuyler Cemetery. The sympathy of Mr. Dezman's many friends here is extended to him in this, his hour of sore bereavement.

Mr. A. S. Hall of Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, says that so many reports have appeared in the morning and evening papers referring to a race between the City of Pittsburgh and the City of Louisville, that, as a passenger on the the first-named boat, I desire to give emphatic denial to the truthfulness of such reports. No race was run between these steamers. Captain Phillips is a man whose word is reliable, and he pledged it that if he was Captain of the Pittsburgh no race would be made, and he kept it, as every passenger is ready to testify.

The pistol taken from General Santa Anna at the battle of San Jacinto was recently placed in the Texas Department of History.

An enterprising thief visited a "heavenly" in Boston the other day at an hour when business was slack, and finding the cashier nodding at his post, walked off with the cash register. The drawer contained but $2, but the outfit was worth $100.

As an illustration of the almost brutal robbery of Americans traveling in Europe, a newspaper correspondent writing to his paper from Paris instances the fact that a young American lady at a hotel ordered a glass of water to be sent to her room. The hot water came and so did an extra charge of $2 in her bill.
