The Public Schools have closed at Germantown. In the past few days three cases of smallpox have been discovered in that neighborhood, young men, two white and one colored, being the victims.

Mr. Thomas O. Regan, aged 65, a farmer residing near Aberdeen, and Miss Lizzie Knox, aged 41, of this city, married Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn. It was the groom's second venture upon the matrimonial sea.

John Green, the draydriver for Mr. G. A. Collins, has made quite a record. One day he hauled 40 hogheads of tobacco from Third and Sutton streets to the wharfboat, and the next day he hauled 56 hogheads from the Fifth Ward to the wharfboat in seven hours.

In 1790 the center of population was twenty-three miles East of Baltimore; eighteen miles West of Baltimore in 1800; forty miles North of Washington in 1810; sixteen miles North of Woodstock, Va., in 1820; nineteen miles South-west of Moorfield, W. Va., in 1830; sixteen miles South of Clarkeburg, W. Va., in 1840; twenty-three miles Southeast of Parkersburg, W. Va., in 1850; twenty miles South of Chillicothe, O., in 1860; forty-eight miles East of Cincinnati in 1870; eight miles West of Cincinnati in 1880; twenty miles West of Columbus, Ind., in 1890. This represents a Western movement of 505 miles.

In the Circuit Court at Richmond Judge Scott decided an important question to Banks and their customers. It has been a much-mooted question as to whether a check was revoked by the death of the drawer before presentation at the Bank. The decisions of the various states are in direct conflict and the textbook writers are likewise at variance with each other. The question has not been decided in Kentucky before. Judge Scott holds that the payee of the check had such an interest in the same that the death of the drawer did not revoke same, and he gave judgment for the payee against the Bank for the amount of the check.

CUTTING AT WASHINGTON.

Joseph Larkin Seriously Cut Last Evening By George Weber.

About 6 o'clock last evening Joseph Larkin and George Weber met in the blacksmith shop of the latter in Washington.

Mr. Larkin is a farmer, and he and Weber got into a dispute over an account, which culminated in Larkin being cut seriously out.

His wounds, fortunately, are not considered dangerous.

A proposition to hold biennial sessions instead of annual was also voted down.

THE "BOSS" FAIR.

So Far the Equinox the Spots Out of the Attendance.

BIG CROWD LOOKED FOR TODAY

Evidently the managers of the Maysville Fair did not consult the almanac, else they wouldn't have bit on the equinoctial period for their dates.

Yesterday and last night it was cold enough to chill the legs of an iron pot, and as a consequence there was a slim attendance—that in the evening, however, being in excess of the afternoon.

The following premiums were awarded in the ring:

Best Saddle Stallion under four years, $15; Alexander & Bro., Maysville.

Best Harness Mare under four years, $15; C. B. Stroude, Minerva.

Best Saddle Gelding four years and over, $15; C. E. Biggers, Washington.

Best pair Mules, $10; E. K. Davis, Mason county.

The contest for Fancy Turnout was postponed till Saturday and that for Best Roadster, Horse, Mare or Gelding till today.

There were four entries for the road race, trots, two best in three, which was won by Colonel Salter with Vicroy's horse. Time, 2:33, 2:35.

In the evening there was one ring, that for best Saddle Mare or Gelding, $15, which was captured by Evan Poe of Bracken county.

Prof. Locke also gave an exhibition with a trained horse that has more good sense than a Goebel Democrat.

Colonel William H. Fremont, with his usual enterprise, is furnishing vaudeville attractions to please all tastes, while Colonel Frank Montgomery has a lively show.

Not the least of the attractions was the concert by the Maysville Band.

There are exhibits of agricultural products, fowls, implements and manufactured articles, and if old man Weather will put on a warm smile a big crowd will be on the grounds this afternoon and evening.

Below is the program for the concert by the Maysville Band, beginning at 7:30 p. m., at the Floral Hall:

March—Flying Squadron.....Sconton

Fantasia (from Opera Dei Hugonotten).....Meyerbeer

Waltz—Cuba Libre.....Shaw

Die Lauberhutte Potpourri.....A. Wagner

The C. and O. will run a special train Sunday, September 24th, train leaving Maysville at 7:30 a. m. Returning leaves Cincinnati at 9:10 p. m. Fare for the round trip $1. Don't miss the last double header game of baseball—Cincinnati Reds vs. Chicago Colts. For further information apply to C. and O. Ticket Agent.

"HOSS" ON HAUSS.

President of the Richmond Electric Company is Having Some Trouble.

Mr. D. J. Hauss was the Cincinnati electrician who installed the plant here for the street railway, and it will be remembered that in winding up affairs he had a difficulty with the Railway Company about the work, ending in a lawsuit.

Some time since Mr. Hauss built a like plant at Richmond and became President of the Company.

But he's now in trouble there, for this week the Madison County Grand Jury indicted Mr. Hauss, President, and F. H. Adair of Carlisle, Secretary and General Manager, for obtaining money by false pretense.

The indictments are based on the allegations of W. S. Hume, S. B. Hume and E. B. Hume, principal stockholders of the Company, who three weeks ago in a petition, asking for the appointment of a receiver for said company, charged Hauss and Adair with obtaining $4,700 of the Company's stock and funds.

After a rigid investigation of the case the Grand Jury returned indictments.

Hauss and Adair were immediately placed under arrest, but later gave bond for $500 each.

The trial of the case is set for the second day of the December term of the Madison Circuit Court.

Messrs. Hauss and Adair have employed able counsel and say they will fight the case to the bitter end.

HONEST DEMOCRACY.

The State Chairman Demands a Fair and Honest Deal.

ISSUES A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

LEXINGTON, Ky., September 14th, 1899.

To the Public: Governor Brown and other prominent Democrats knew at the time of the Lexington Convention that the state of my health rendered it improbable that I would be able to take part in the pending campaign; but the fact was not generally known, and I now give this communication to the public to avoid any misunderstanding of my views or of my failure to appear among the forces working to prevent the stamp of approval being put on the methods that culminated in the Louisville ticket.

I am heartily in accord with the Democrats of the state who are trying to save the party from the baleful influences now seeking to control it, and regret that my condition is such that I am compelled to remain quiet while others are bearing the brunt of the fight. The issues are unfortunately notorious and well understood by the country. They involve truth, honesty, loyalty to the principles of our party and to a republican form of government.

If the Democratic party is to be worthy of the confidence and support of the people it must be careful of the rights of its individual members, true to its professed principles, and when in power enact laws fair to all citizens of the state. When any number of its members depart from these rules self-preservation demands that, if they cannot be reclaimed, they must be repudiated.

We carried the state election without the Goebel Law by over 15,000 votes, and while the ballot needed additional safeguards that could easily have been provided, there was absolutely nothing to justify the passage of an act capable of being used to rob every citizen of his franchise who failed to vote to suit the men appointed to administer it. We had better perish as a party than to live under the possibilities of this degrading law so repugnant to the many fairness of Kentucky character. What would the old champion, James B. Beck, who battled during all the dark days of reconstruction against the passage of such laws, say to this departure from the lessons he had learned from the fathers and handed down to us?

It is bad enough for spoilsmen, blinded by an insane determination to get office, to uphold this gratuitous assault upon the principles of free government, but why should Democrats from other states undertake the odious and impossible task of persuading Kentuckians that the use of fraud and force in politics is commendable and should be approved? That it is democratic to disenfranchise hundreds of delegates, representing tens of thousands of Democratic voters, when they stand in the way of the full purpose of an office-seeker.

Are they to be tempted by lust for office to ally themselves with shameful methods, and endeavor to fasten them on the people of Kentucky under the mistaken idea that the state is to be kept in line for the year 1900 in that way? Do they expect by upholding, in the name of Democracy, crimes against your party, your conscience, your religion and your country, to induce you to indorse the "fake" delegates in the Louisville Convention and the ticket that was its production? Can they be before the country as the sponsors of a "force bill that gives the voters of Kentucky not a ray of hope, that makes no claim or show of fairness, placing exclusively in the hands of three irresponsible persons, named by the authors of the measure itself, the entire election machinery of the state?" Such an alliance and the advocacy of such methods would show them unworthy to be trusted with power in a republican government, and fix a brand that no honorable statesman would want to bear.

The voter who values the dignity of a free citizen, is proud of the record of his party and loves the good name of his state, will not look with kindly eye on men—however distinguished—who would have them trail all these in the mire for the poor privilege of becoming the abject slaves of a corrupt political machine.

Every man who supports the Goebel ticket must approve the methods by which it was put before the people of Kentucky, and to approve such methods is to abandon Democratic principles and surrender the party to its enemies.

It would be puerile to divide about gold and silver while you are being stripped of the dignity that belongs of right to every citizen of a free country. The time is on when you must stand unflinchingly for your liberties and your manhood. Tolerate no craven in your midst who boasts openly, or by insinuation, his willingness to steal an election, and let it be understood that any man who commits such a crime does it at his peril.

I appeal to all good Democrats to unite in a supreme effort to overthrow this attempt to debauch the ballot by men who have deliberately prepared to deny every political right to those who refuse to join them servilely in their nefarious schemes. If this is done we may hope to achieve victory this fall and again in 1900, but Democracy can never succeed by the approval of the methods by which the Goebel ticket was placed before the people of Kentucky. Respectfully, with Local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

P. F. JOHNSTON.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

No Guess Work.

When a person comes here for Eye Glasses we don't take up the first pair of ready-made ones we find and say, "Here are the very ones that will suit your eyes." That would be guess work. Instead we give the eyes a careful examination, finding out just what lenses are needed, and then making them. No charge for examination.

A Wonderful Memory.

Few theater goers can remember from one season to another the names of plays they see, but Harrisburg, Pa., boasts of a woman of 60 years who witnessed a play in 1894 and was so interested that to this day, without any memoranda, she can name the play, the characters and names of all the actors.

The play was "Casey's Troubles."

Ian MacLaren on The Church.

It has been known for some time that Ian MacLaren has been critically studying modern Church methods, and the results are now to be made public in the Ladies' Home Journal. His first article is called "The Candy-Pull System in the Church," and in this he frankly states what many have felt but have sorely ventured to publicly assert with regard to social tendencies of the Church. The great English author will then handle "The Mutineer in the Church," and after that should answer the somewhat startling question, "Should the Old Minister be Shot?"
