SPRINGDALE.

Mrs. Louis Jenkins is seriously ill. Mr. Robert Hook is on the sick list. Mr. Elias Scudder was here Saturday taking orders for fruit trees. Mr. Robert Hook made a business trip to Manchester, O., recently. Miss Ora Pence and Mr. Daniel Boone were married at the home of the bride near here Monday evening. Mr. W. W. Doyle and daughter, Miss Edna of Fleming county, were guests of relatives at Cottageville last week. Mr. Lum Cooper has sold his handsome property to Mrs. Jane Burris of Fleming county, who will take possession March 1st. George W. Cobb, Springdale's most successful Nimrod, claims the honor of taking the first fox-scorp of the season, he having shot a large red fox Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Fletcher, assisted by their charming daughters, Misses Pearl and Ada, entertained to an elegant dinner January 27th in honor of the forty-ninth anniversary of Mr. Fletcher's birth. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Degman and Mrs. Dollie P. Redman of Springdale, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goodwin of Reeterville, Mr. C. Redman of Tollesboro and others. A very delightful day was spent and will long be pleasantly remembered by those present. Whoever has suffered from piles knows how painful and troublesome they are. Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment is guaranteed to cure piles. Price 50 cents in bottles. Tubes, 75 cents. J. J. Wood & Son.

RIVER NEWS.

The Henry M. Stanley will be down tonight from Pomeroy.

The Keystone State will be down tonight from Pittsburgh.

The Avalon will pass down tomorrow morning for Cincinnati.

The Lizzie Bay is in the Sunshine's place in the Pomeroy trade, she passing up last night.

The rule passed in 1888 by the Board of Supervisors, obliging applicants for renewals of Masters' and Pilots' licenses to undergo an examination in writing, has been repealed by that Board, which is at present in session at Washington. Those who at the time of their application have not called for three consecutive years will be compelled to undergo a re-examination in writing. It is estimated that the number of empties at Pittsburgh now is greater than for many months, enough being on hand to keep the mines running steadily for three or four months. Just as rapidly as could be done the empties have been refilled, and, according to an official of the company, between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 bushels of coal are ready for shipment South. If a coal shipping stage does not develop for two or three weeks, there will be over 20,000,000 bushels of coal loaded when the next shipment is started down the Ohio. Mention was made in this column last week of the Coal City passing down with the largest and most valuable tow that ever left Pittsburgh. At the time of its passing no figure could be had upon its value. The tow was made up of 30 barges of coal, 8 of steel rails and 1 of fuel for the boat. The tow represented in weight 22,000 tons, and its market value was about $179,320. The boat was in charge of Captain A. J. McKean, and the Pilots who so successfully managed the large tow to Louisville were George Gibson and John H. Dippold. The river between Cincinnati and Louisville is better adapted for large tows than upon the Upper Ohio river. Tows leaving Pittsburgh are small ones, and are made into large ones at Bellaire. The reason they cannot handle them out from Pittsburgh is on account of the small channel spans of bridges between Pittsburgh and Bellaire.

New York life insurance men estimate that as high as from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 will be the probable aggregate amount paid out by English companies to policy holders who had taken out insurance on Queen Victoria's life, but who had no relation whatever to the Queen.

One of the chief troubles in machine shops is the frequency with which workmen are wounded more or less painfully, and even dangerously, by flying splinters striking the eye. A hand magnet is always kept convenient for the purpose of drawing these splinters out of the eye, and one of the latest productions is an electro-magnet designed expressly for this work.

From statistics gleaned by Cecil Raleigh of London it is learned that about 25,000 persons are employed by theatrical managers in Great Britain, the average weekly salary being $10. On a certain day designated by Mr. Raleigh there were being played 130 melodramas, eighty-three musical and farcical pieces, thirty-three plays, and three Shakespearian plays.

The heaviest man that ever lived, Daniel Lambert, of Leicester, England, was on public exhibition at the age of thirty-two throughout Great Britain. He weighed 739 pounds. Some idea of his enormous dimensions may be obtained when it is stated his waistcoat could easily inclose seven persons of ordinary size. Lambert ate moderately, drank only water and slept more than most persons. He had an excellent tenor voice.

BURIAL OF QUEEN VICTORIA

It Will Occur on Saturday From Windsor Castle.

WILL REST BESIDE HER BELOVED.

By the late Queen's expressed desire she will be given a military funeral. It will take place February 2d at Windsor. The body will be removed from Osborne House on the night of February 1st and will reach London the next morning, being borne to Windsor Castle on a gun-carriage.

All the royalty of Europe will gather at the funeral of Queen Victoria. The assemblage will be unprecedented, because Her Majesty was closely related to the European Courts, big and little. The Queen will be buried at Frogmore Mausoleum, which she erected over the Prince Consort in Windsor Park. In former days a month would be allowed to elapse between the death and the burial of the Sovereign. For one day the body of the Queen will lie in state in Waterloo Chamber, Windsor Castle. The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock Saturday night with the utmost pomp and ceremony in St. George's Chapel.

In addition to the Emperor of Germany, it is expected that the Kings of Denmark, Greece, Belgium, Servia, Saxony and Portugal will attend, together with many lesser rulers. All England will participate in the funeral. From the time the sad ceremonies begin at Osborne House until the body is buried at Frogmore, there will be funeral and memorial services throughout the English-speaking world. There has been no burial of a Sovereign in England for nearly sixty-four years. Since the obsequies of William IV. the world has moved forward so far that even the funeral of a British monarch will be utterly unlike that of any that has gone before.

A simple ceremony will be held at Osborne House, and the body of the Queen will then be placed in the royal yacht and conveyed to Portsmouth. A funeral train will take the royal dead and the mourning family to London. At the Stations along the route the crepe-covered train will be met by the mourning people with bared heads. It will arrive at Victoria Station. The millions of the metropolis will lay aside the ordinary duties and pleasures for the day, all places of amusement and of gain will be closed and all the populace will gather to mourn the Queen and do her honor. The funeral procession will form at the railway station and proceed to Paddington Station, and the last stage of the journey to Frogmore will be begun. In the grounds of Frogmore, not far from Windsor Castle on the left hand side of the long walk, is the magnificent Mausoleum, containing all that is mortal of the Prince Consort. This building, cruciform in shape and Romanesque in style, cost $1,000,000, the amount having been provided by her Majesty herself. It was consecrated in 1892, a year after the Prince's death. He was at first laid to rest in St. George's Chapel, Windsor. In the ornate, octagonal chamber of the Mausoleum, thirty feet in diameter and thirty-five feet high, is a double sarcophagus of dark grey granite, resting on polished black marble. It bears a recumbent statue of Prince Albert, executed in white marble by Marchetti, and at each corner is the bronze figure of a kneeling angel. The Queen will be buried here beside the dust of her "Great and good husband," whose loss she never ceased to mourn, and on whose tomb she had inscribed—"Here at last I shall rest with thee; with thee in Christ shall rise again."

Many a bright and happy household has been thrown into sadness and sorrow because of the death of a loved one from a neglected cold. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the great cure for coughs, colds and all pulmonary ailments. Price, 25c and 50 cents. J. J. Wood & Son.

Something for Mothers to Think About

EVERY CHILD born into the world with an inherited or early developed tendency to distressing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp, and blood, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude, not only because of its suffering but because of the dreadful fear that the disfiguration is to be lifelong and mar its future happiness and prosperity. Hence it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest, and most effective treatment available.

That warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP to cleanse the skin and scalp of crusts and scales and gentle applications of CUTICURA OINTMENT to instantly allay itching, irritation and inflammation and soothe and heal, to be followed in the severest cases by mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT are all that can be desired for the alleviation of the suffering of skin-tortured infants and children and the comfort of worn-out worried mothers has been demonstrated in countless homes in every land. Their absolute safety, purity and sweetness, instantaneous and grateful relief, speedy cure and great economy leave nothing more to be desired by anxious parents.

Millions of People Use CUTICURA SOAP, assisted by CUTICURA OINTMENT, for beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp and stopping of falling hair, for softening and whitening red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings, and chafings, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Millions of women use CUTICURA SOAP in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations and excoriations, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sensitive antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., 25c., the BEST skin and complexion soap, and the BEST toilet and baby soap in the world. Sold throughout the world.
