Colonel J. Sam. White of the Sixteenth Kentucky Infantry

John S. White, a native of Sardis, this county, who was Lieutenant-Colonel of the Sixteenth Kentucky during the War, died yesterday at his home in Odessa, Mo.

Colonel White was present in this city at a reunion of the Tenth Cavalry and Sixteenth Infantry four years ago, on which occasion the writer had the pleasure of returning to him a handsome sword presented by the boys of his command, and which was lost in action, during one of the many battles in which Colonel White led his Regiment.

He was an exceptionally modest man; but for gallantry and fearlessness the Army contained no better or truer soldier.

He was a brother of the late Thomas J. White of Ripley.

Soon after the War he moved to Missouri, which was ever after his home.

The Drummer Evangelist Drew a Large Crowd Last Night

Mr. Williams took an optimistic stand last night in the sermon, "Putting On Christ." He said despite the howling of the croakers he believed the world is getting better; that the power of Christianity is destined to conquer the world for Christ; that Christianity is helping to run the affairs of the world more than ever before. The commerce, laws and international matters are being settled according to the rules of the Sermon on the Mount. The name of Christ is becoming more familiar to the men than ever. Names of great men linger in our minds, but the name of Christ is above all names. Napoleon and Charlemagne and Alexander tried to subdue and conquer the world by force, but failed and went down in the dark, but Christ went to calvary without a sword and conquered the world with the weapon of Love. Christ is not a mere influence or sentiment; He is a real person that enters into the life of the individual and is a present helper. Justice characterizes the Christian. "Be just before you are generous." The hardest debt to pay is the debt of justice; the greatest debt you owe is the debt of justice to your friends, neighbors and to Maysville. If we have the spirit of Christ we will not laugh at a poor drunkard or debauchee, but will pity him; will go sit upon these surrounding hills and "weep over the sin of Maysville" as Christ wept over Jerusalem.

The service was by far the best of the series. A male quartette and a duet were features in the opening of the service and Mr. Muse rendered a touching solo at the close. In an after-meeting one young man was soundly converted and united with the Church.

Subject today at 2 p. m., "The Devil," a Bible Reading; at 7 p. m., "The Books Opened." Mr. Muse will sing at the evening services.
