Laying For the Doctor

Speaking of hen stories, yesterday during a professional call of Dr. A. O. Taylor at a home in Moransburg, while the 'disciple of Esculapius' was in the house attending his patient an industrious hen took possession of his buggy seat during his absence and dropped him a fresh egg as an Easter offering.

The River

Flood warnings were issued Thursday for the Ohio river from Castletown to Portsmouth.
It was also stated that crest of flood stage would reach this point today. The gauge this morning registered 49 feet and rising slowly.
With present conditions unchanged the water here will not reach much over the 50 foot mark, if that. There is no occasion for alarm at this point at the present writing.

Old Machinery Sold

Master Commissioner, R. J. Colbert of Lexington, of the Fayette Circuit Court, was here yesterday and sold at public auction the old Foundry machinery advertised in THE LEDGER. There were several thousand pounds of the old metal and Mr. Samuel Middleman, the junk dealer, purchased the entire lot for the small sum of $37.50, which was a bargain.
Mr. Colbert returned home yesterday afternoon.

tom.

George Jones in Diesterich's Lane. The house belongs to R. M. Wallingford. Damage slight.

MIDNIGHT FIRE

Joseph Lingenfeiler and Family Barely Escape With Their Lives Through a Window

Last night about 1 o'clock Officer John Girwin in his round in Second street, Sixth Ward, discovered fire issuing from the roof of Joseph Lingenfeiler's cottage, opposite Second M. E. Church, South. He immediately sent in an alarm from Box 63 and then proceeded to the rescue of the endangered inmates whom he assisted in escaping through a window in their night clothes.

The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lingenfeiler and three children, all whom had miraculous escapes from being incinerated in the burning building.

Just how the fire originated is not definitely known, but is supposed to have caught from a stove in the dining room.

A phone alarm was also sent in from the residence of Mr. Henry Shea.

The homeless family was kindly taken in by Mr. Henry J. Shea, where they are now staying.

The Kinney Mac was promptly on hand in a few minutes after the alarm had been sent in, notwithstanding she had to pass through two feet of water under C. & O. bridge in Bridge street. When the Fire Department reached the scene three buildings were afire, Lingen-feiler's cottage, Mr. Jeff Rice's home and G.
H. Bishop's residence. With the aid of willing bystanders Chief Hite and his efficient fire fighters soon had two lines of hose laid and playing on the flames. The fire burned through the cornice and reached the attic of the Bishop house and a hole had to be cut in the roof to reach the seat of danger. Mr. Jeff Rice aided in saving his home by attaching a hose to his kitchen hydrant and playing a stream of water on his burning roof from the inside.

The Lingenfeiler home, together with furniture and clothing, is practically an entire loss, reaching perhaps $2,000, with an insurance of $1,700. G. H. Bishop's loss is about $500 and that of Jeff Rice about $100, all of which is fully insured.

The necessity of another Kinney Mac for protection of residents East of Limestone Creek was made manifest last night. Had the water under Bridge street been a few inches higher the cottages would have been unable to reach the scene, and at least a half dozen buildings, if not a row of handsome houses, would have gone up in smoke.

It is hoped the city will hasten the purchase of another machine for that end of town.

Again the citizens are under obligations to Chief Hite and his men for valuable services rendered.

MARRIAGES

Browning—Mains

Mr. Willis Browning, aged 20, and Miss Lela Mains, aged 18, both hailing from the headwaters of the North Fork, were married in this city yesterday, Judge W. H. Rice performing the ceremony. The bride-to-be was accompanied by her father, and owing to the youth being under legal age, the consent of his father had to be secured over the telephone before Clerk Owens would issue the license.

Without Risk

That's the way we sell Carpets—without the risk of excess stock, of unsalable patterns, of loss by damage and that is why we sell high-grade Carpets for what some ask for inferior qualities.
In selling from samples we are not forced to protect ourselves from the risk, we would incur by carrying heavy stocks, therefore we sell at a minimum profit. Inspect our line. Make comparisons. If you know anything about carpet quality we welcome your verdict.
We have everything a prospective carpet buyer can wish to see from Ingrain at 25c to Body Brussels at $1.50.

Women's Separate Skirts

Of serge, whipcord and Scotch suiting—the favored fabrics. We have a distinguished collection of styles copied from imported models. It is difficult to tell which is the prettiest—the severely plain, the tunic design, the paneled style or the slashed effect. When you see these stylish skirts you will think the prices—$3.98 to $8.75 very moderate.
