

From the Columbus (Ohio) Crisis.
Governor Reynolds, of Illinois, to Governor Houston, of Texas.

Hon. John Reynolds, once the honored Governor of Illinois, sends us the following open letter to Gov. Sam. Houston, of Texas, hoping, that if published, it may, by some chance, fall into his hands. What a happy thing it would be for the American people if these old patriots, North and South, could be more in council to aid in healing the terrible wounds which are driving our Government to perdition and our people to distraction.

Gov. Reynolds, in a private note to us, says:

"I would be pleased if you would publish the letter. It may be a drop in the bucket to restore the country to its ancient vigor and happiness—such as it was when I saw you at Washington City.

"I am for peace under any plan or adjustment the people will make. I think a reunion is the plan of adjustment; but, in the name of God, no more bloodshed to gratify a religious fanaticism."

"Things have taken a fearful turn of late. If any one had the faintest hope in President Lincoln, as the last trust of those in authority at Washington, that hope is extinguished by his recent Annual Message, and hence there is no time to lose by those who believe that his policy must, if successful, destroy every vestige of liberty in the land once doing 'with milk and honey.' Democrats, of all other people, should at once and without any further delay, if they intend to oppose successfully the schemes of negro emancipation, which is thrown out as a bone of contention to last until '1900,' as fixed by the President himself, should not sleep inert at their posts. The President, with a simple and fanatical Congress, ready to do, or sanction, any act tending to destroy this great people, with an army raised under the pretense of saving the Union, with the whole resources of the people at his command, can do a vast deal to carry out his unbridled will, before the people of the North, however much opposed to his schemes, can arrest his course. Let there be, then, a general movement and work among the people to secure and carry forward what we have gained at the elections:

BELLEVILLE, ILL., Dec. 8, 1862.

DEAR FRIENDS—I address you on an open letter and hope it will have sufficient merit to the press to circulate it, so you may see it. I see by the papers that you were forced to abandon your home and take refuge in the interior of your State. On your travel the people called on you to address them, and when you arose in the assembly to speak, tears of sorrow for your country fell profusely from your eyes.

No good man—no patriot—can look around at the misery and calamity the nation is at this time suffering, without his heart being moved to tears at the downfall of this mighty empire and the consequent misery of the people.

The above short notice of your address forced vividly on my mind the youthful days we spent together in the summer of 1810, in the college in Knox county, Tennessee, where we were students together at the same institution of learning—wherein the Rev. Isaac Anderson was the President. I have not seen you since we were together in the same college in 1810; but your public life is well known to me and the nation, and it is highly appreciated by me.

We were poor, obscure lads at college, and we could not dream of the singular destiny that attended us in our eventful lives. We both entered into the war of 1812 as privates, and you were soon promoted, but I got no higher than Captain of the company of United States Rangers; hence, I am called, "The Old Ranger."

We were both elected Governors of our respective States, and were elected to Congress for many sessions, but not at the same time.

You were the hero of the independence of Texas, and the country owes you the honor and glory of being the father and founder of a nation. The battle of San Jacinto crowned your efforts, and you were the first and foremost in that glorious struggle for national existence. You exerted all your influence for annexation, and it was accomplished. We held, I believe, the first public meeting in America for the annexation of Texas in Belleville, Illinois, and our labors were approved by the nation.

When we were laboring with thousands of others for the interest and growth of the country, and the nation had reached the enormous amount of thirty-two millions of inhabitants, and the influence of the Union was felt in every nation on the globe, then it was that this fraternal war commenced—and the country is desolated, and, I fear, ruined forever. The history of mankind presents no such war as the present in the United States. I presume one-fourth of a million of people has already been destroyed in this war of less than one year's duration.

A religious fanaticism to emancipate the slaves in the South is the cause of the war, and the radicals in the North will never cease the war until every slave in America be emancipated, if they have the power. The country is ruined if four millions of slaves are emancipated in the South. A war of the two races would inevitably arise; that would, if possible, be worse than the present.

The power is with the people to correct the abuses of the present administration and to restore peace and happiness to the country.

The late elections show what the people will do when they speak at the next election for the Presidency. The Constitution and the Government were formed by the Democratic party, and that party alone is the only power on earth that can restore the country to its original peace and happiness.

This hateful and abominable war must cease and a friendly adjustment of the difficulties must be effected by the same feelings of love and friendship that formed the Constitution in 1787.

I would prefer a re-construction of the Union and become again a friendly and united people, including the North and the South; but any amicable adjustment of the present war is better than the desolation and ruin of the country. I think the people have decided that the war must cease and peace be restored.

Your friend,
JOHN REYNOLDS.

Gov. SAM. HOUSTON.

WHAT A SHAME!—John W. Kees, late editor of the Circleville Watchman, who was kidnapped and confined in a government bastille, last summer, is a raving maniac in the Asylum, at Columbus. His malignant and malicious persecutors should be hanged higher than was Haman, of old.—Hillsboro Gazette.

The Condition of Fredericksburg.
The special correspondent of the New York Tribune writes from Fredericksburg to that paper as follows:

I have spent the days in this city. I have several times described what Fredericksburg was; what Fredericksburg is you have also learned by telegraph in advance of the mail. The city has not only been in part burned, but ruined beyond almost hope of recovery. All who passed through the village of Sharpsburg two days after the battle of Antietam, thought it would be almost impossible to make a town look more desolate and forsaken; but the appearance of Sharpsburg as compared with that of Fredericksburg, is comely and pleasant—After the severe cannonading of yesterday, it seems to have been generally understood that the city would have been given up to pillage upon the occupation of our troops. The leading citizens have long been known as the most bitter and malignant rebels in the State, and to have had much to do in carrying Virginia out of the Union, in spite of an honest and overwhelming vote to the contrary. The ladies of Fredericksburg, especially, were spiteful and venomous to such a degree that one almost forgot to recognize them as women.

After uttering the most bitter invectives against the people of Fredericksburg, this charitable correspondent goes on to say:

To day these fine mansions are not standing. A heap of smoldering embers is all that remains of them. Others, less ostentatious in their style of architecture, are riddled and torn with shot and shell; the furniture broken and defaced; the bedding ripped and stripped, taken into the streets and trodden under foot; elegant china ware and cutlery, choice libraries of books, rare works of art, are all heaped together in the streets, and are scrambled for as trophies.—The old mansion of Douglas Gordon—perhaps wealthiest citizen in the Valley is now used as the headquarters of General Howard, but before he occupied it every room had been torn with shot, and then all the elegant furniture and works of art broken and smashed by the soldiers, who burst into the house, after having driven the rebel sharpshooters from behind it. When I entered it, early this morning, before its occupation by General Howard, I found the soldiers of his fine division diverting themselves with the rich dresses found in the wardrobes; some had on bonnets of the fashion of last year, and were surveying themselves before mirrors which, an hour or two afterwards, were pitched out of the window and smashed to pieces upon the pavement; others had elegant scarfs bound around their heads in the form of turbans, and shawls around their waists after the fashion of the Turks. What I saw in this mansion was repeated in nearly every one which the flames had not destroyed.

It is but the truth to say that the wealthy citizens of Fredericksburg possessed some thing more than wealth, and of much greater value—culture: I doubt there is a village in New England that possesses more choice private libraries than did Fredericksburg the day before the bombardment.—You can see that the old orthodox religious element enters into nearly every one of them. Said a soldier to me to-day, raking among a magnificent private library, half covered with mud in the streets. "How intensely religious these d—d rebels are." Not only solid works upon religion and philosophy are found among the libraries, but books in nearly all the modern languages which looked as if they had been well read and appreciated.

We destroyed by fire yesterday nearly two whole squares of buildings, chiefly used for business purposes, together with the fine residences of C. McDowell, Dr. Smith, J. H. Kelly, A. S. Cott, Wm. Slaughter, and many other smaller dwellings. Every store, I think, without an exception, was pillaged of every valuable article. A fine drug store, which would not have looked badly on Broadway, was literally one mass of broken glass and jars.

The British Consul was arrested last night upon suspicion of being a rebel spy, but was in a short time released. This morning, at the request of General Howard, he was again arrested, it being now positively known that he has secured and entertained armed rebels in his house, and then aided them in their escape.

THE WORLD OF LONDON.—There are three thousand eight hundred street in London, which, if they were placed in a straight line, would extend three thousand miles, or twice the distance from Calais to Constantinople. If a person should undertake to walk through all these streets, and should walk ten miles a day each working day, it would require a whole year, and meanwhile a new city, with from 60,000 to 70,000 inhabitants, would be built. There are more Scottish descendants in London than in Edinburgh, more Irish than in Dublin, 100,000 more Romanists than in Rome, more Jews than in Palestine; 60,000 Germans, or more than the population of Leipzig, and twice as many as of Potsdam; 30,000 French—as many as in Boulogne or Havre; 6,000 Italians, and a large number of Asiatics, and many who still worship idols. A great missionary field is thus brought to the heart of the world's metropolis.

THINK OF IT.—Out of debt, every six-pence you get ahead is your own; you may look on it with unalloyed sensation of right to spend it, to turn it in any fashion it is equal to. But in debt, your money is not your own. It belongs to him to whom it is due, to him who patiently toiled for it—earned it.

Lincoln is absolutely insolent in his Message. He says in substance "if the niggers do crowd you white people of the North, why you can leave and go take their place in the South." That is an Abolition change of base!—Seneca Advertiser.

Is it So?—The greatest rake, it is said, makes the best husband—on the principle, we suppose, that the greatest drunkard makes the best temperance-lecturer.

"Robert, can you describe a bat?" "Yes, sir, he's a flying insect about the size of an ink-stopper, has India rubber wings, and a shoe-string tail; he sees with his eyes shut, and bites like the devil."

Lincoln's definition of a nigger—An American of African descent.
Why is a woman's talk like light? Because it lasts from morn 'til night.

DR. MOTT'S Chalybeate Pills.

An aperient and stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen, of high medical authority and extraordinary efficacy in each of the following complaints, viz.:
DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATION, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHEA, CONSTIPATION, SCROFULA, SALT RHEUM, SCURVY, JAUNDICE, LIVER COMPLAINTS, RHEUMATISM, MERCURIAL CONSEQUENCES, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, NEURALGIA, CHRONIC HEADACHES, FEMALE WEAKNESS, MIS-MENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, etc., PIMPLES ON THE FACE, ROUGHNESS OF THE SKIN, etc.

The IRON being absorbed by the blood, and thus circulating through the whole system, no part of the body can escape their truly wonderful influence. The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can for a moment be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions, should be removed in almost every conceivable case. In all cases of female debility (fluor albus, chlorosis, etc.), its effects are delightfully renovating. No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use. As a grand stomachic and general restorative it has no equal and no substitute.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 75 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50; one dozen boxes, $5.00. For sale by Druggists generally. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to:

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, designed to be the most efficient Alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from numerous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ECZEMATOUS DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE ON ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many ranking disorders are nipped in the bud. Maladies can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you feel its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even when no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, by cleansing the blood, than when the blood is healthy, and all is well; but with this purgative of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overturned.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, better and purer Sarsaparilla has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall retain the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
