THEN AND NOW.

A Glance Backward at the Expenses of Mason County in 1860.

Comparisons are odious, it is said, but we hope the following exhibit of expenditures necessary for the running of Mason county twenty years ago will, when compared with the one for the past year, be regarded as an exhibition of the progress and growth of our county, and not in any other light.

RUNAWAY.

A four horse team getting the better of the driver, Saturday afternoon, made a dash for liberty. They started at True & Son's warehouse on Front street, made quick time to Third, made a short turn, then up Third with lightning speed, performed a few antics and finally landed at the saw mill in the upper part of the town. One horse was badly used up and was placed in one of our livery stables whilst the others wended their way homeward. J M Shaw said he could cure the horse and thereupon called Dr Heaton in consultation. We have not learned of Jim's success, but think he must have succeeded, as Jim knows all about a horse.

We are crowding the season over here. We see some peach trees already in bloom.

Mrs Wilson of Manchester, is visiting her daughter, Miss Mary Wilson, one of our school teachers.

Quite a number of our people attend church in Maysville every Sabbath. Yesterday, some thirty persons, we among the number, passed over the dark stream to the good city of churches. Our crowd separated into several groups, each going to the church of his choice. Butter 35 cents a pound and a fill rising. Eggs and lard high.
