What makes his eyes to sparkle so?
What makes his step so light?
Because the young man's going to take
The circus in to-night,
If you would just as happy be,
Be sure you straightway go
And get, just as that young man did,
A ticket to the show.

WARNING.

Look out for fraudulent tickets. They have been printed in this city and an effort is to be made to impose them upon unwary Democratic voters.

The editor of the New Republican having made the most brilliant effort of his life he should now take a dose of paragonic or some other astringent.

The following marriage licenses have been issued at Brown county, Ohio, since our last report:

Lewis L. Wallace and Ida Evans,
Charles Holts and Catherine Price,
John Tilton and Julia Connor.

Th' k-a-tink-tink, what do you think,
A sweet little sprig of "society" Pink,
Whose aesthetic nature bewitches,
In an effort to crush, with a huge load of mush,
Got rid in a trice of a torrent of slush
And had a cyclone in his breeches.

MR. LOUIS F. METZGER, agent for D. S. Johnson & Co., is selling many pianos and organs in this neighborhood. He sold a fine one recently to Mr. Ross P. Gault near Washington, the fifth he has sold here He disposed of a number of cabinet organs also.

MR. ALFRED WHITMAN, general agent of The Travelers Life and Accident Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., is spending several days in this city working up the interests of the company. The Travelers is a safe and reliable company, and is popular wherever known.

ATTENTION is directed to the advertisement of Windhorst & Blum, fashionable merchant tailors from Cincinnati, who have lately opened an establishment in this city. They have on hand a complete line of fine goods and trimmings suitable for business and dress suits. They do their work promptly and guarantee satisfaction, while their prices are moderate. Go and see them.

Open Air Concert.

Deering Camp Meeting.

Second Day's Proceedings—Services by Dr. J. B. West, of Tennessee, and Dr. D. B. Cooper, of Millersburg, Ky.

Interesting Gossip of the Camp.

From our Special Correspondent.

The slumbers of the tenters was broken in upon by the rising bell at 6 o'clock a. m. These Methodist folks keep up their reputation for system and order—perhaps their success in some measure has been due to this fact. Morning services were conducted by Dr. West. He read as the lesson Psalm CIII. These services are eminently calculated to prepare those who participate in them for the right employment of the day. Breakfast follows. From appearances at the table refreshing sleep and pure air are admirable tonics. Trains arrive and hearty greetings follow. All seem joyous and happy, yet it is of a nature that an appreciation of the inestimable privileges of life bestows. By to-morrow the meeting will be under full headway. The seeming great disaster which caused the delay is beyond our ken. God reigns and doeth all things well.

The morning sermon was preached by Dr. J. B. West, pastor of McKendree church, Nashville, Tenn. Text, St. John 13: 1—

The human nature and the love of Jesus Christ were the leading thoughts. No one who heard this discourse could doubt the nearness of Jesus to suffering humanity since as He was verily and truly man as well as God. As a man He suffered and was well tempted. Hence we have a merciful high priest who sympathizes with us in all the ills of life. No one could doubt the love of Christ after such a presentation of the unmistakable evidences that were given. In the time of sorest need human help and sympathy may fail and often do fail, but there is one "a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." We shall attempt no synopsis of this sermon. It was one eminently calculated to give an impetus to the meeting in the right direction. We would advise all who can to hear this divine for themselves.

At 3 p. m. Rev. D. B. Cooper, of Millersburg, Ky., preached from 2 Cor. 5: 14-15 He spoke of the accomplished work of Jesus Christ in dying for the world, the necessity of this death and the efficacy of Christ's shed blood in cleansing from sin. Then as all blessings and mercies come to us through him, he set forth the motive that should prompt us to a life of service and elevation to God. Christ's love ought to be the great motive power of life.

CAMP NOTES.

Although this is the second day there has been an unusually small number of campers on the ground.

The company has charge of the dining hall this year, and as is usually the case will keep the table bountifully supplied.

John W. Thompson and James J. Adanson have been added to the force. The courteous treatment received is highly appreciated by all.

If you want just the nicest and most delicious ice cream give W. H. Fogg a call.

No one needed to be told to-day that Mr. Ed. Fogg had arrived. The clear tones of the cornet told the story. His wife an accomplished vocalist accompanies him.

Fifteen new cottages have been erected since the last meeting.

The terrible rains of late seem to have little or no effect on the hill.

A considerable part of the Maysville delegation came on the 8 o'clock train yesterday. Among them are Mrs. Moores and daughter; Mrs. Burroughs and two daughters accompanied by Miss Pierce and Mrs. Glascock and son.

The new arrivals among the ministers are Drs. E. K. Hendrix, B. T. Kavanaugh, J. A. Henderson and Revs. M. D. Reynolds, H. C. Morrison and G. V. Turner.

Berries are in demand. At gate No. 1 there is just the nicest—it not a red Berry—yet a strawberry blonde.

At gate No. 2 there is a very polite man—he's Bow-en all the time.

At gate No. 3 may be heard an excellent tune at any time.

By an error in types we were made to say Miss instead of Mrs. Gardiner.

Mr. A. Kenner, formerly of Maysville, now of Sherburne, is here—a pleasant acquisition.

In addition to the singers already mentioned are Mrs. H. W. Abbott, Miss Laura West, Miss Amanda Wall and others whose names we did not learn.

The Candidate for Jailer.

Dennis Fitzgerald is a clean handed and thoroughly honest man. He has lived in Maysville for more than thirty years, and in that time no man who cares to speak the truth, can say that he has been anything else than a good and useful citizen. He sought the nomination as a candidate for jailer as other good men did, and won it over his competitors in a convention as fairly organized and conducted as any ever held in this county. He resorted to no trick or artifices to secure his nomination and obtained it by a decided expression of the sentiment of the convention. He has all the qualifications necessary to fill the office acceptably, and is prepared to comply with every requirement of the law. There is therefore no reason that will stand why any man professing to be a Democrat should vote for John Kirk or refuse to sustain Dennis Fitzgerald. A skulker is as bad as an open traitor. Either is not fit to be trusted even as a dog-pelter. They do not properly belong in the Democratic party and ought to get out of it as quick as possible. The place for all such recreants is in the ranks of the Republicans, whose representatives they directly or indirectly aid. The Eagle is welcome to call this wielding the lash or whatever else it pleases; it is what the BULLETIN thinks.

Crumbs from the Upper Crust.

A young lady writes to the BULLETIN that she would like to pull the ears of our "society" editor. She would have her hands full—that's all.

What is "society" after all, but a mixture of mister-ies and miss-eries.

One who is half man and half dog bows to the rich and bows-wows to the poor.

He bowed up his back and jerked her a bow,
On his heels made an elegant turn;
She crooked up her arm, and quick as a flash,
His'n was hooked into her'n,
Away they sailed a la-de-dah pair
Showing that Cupid had caught 'em,
And sensible people said, who would have thought
That Darwin's monkey had hatched 'em.

The following is taken from the "society" column of ther Noristown Herald:

A London surgeon says that only one fashionably-dressed woman in 500 can draw a full breath with her clothes on; but he must admit that it wouldn't look well for a fashionable woman to disrobe in the street, in order to draw a full breath. At the opera or a French ball however, it is different, and she should have no difficulty in drawing a full breath,

Always carry a corn cob in your pocket and around the aforesaid corn cob wrap a one dollar bill, and when you want a nickel you will have to pull the corn cob out to get at it and an admiring public will whisper: "That chap's got money. See his roll! He's well fixed." But if you can't raise the dollar you will have to be content with your position in the "middle class."

At the National Civil Service Reform Association meeting at Newport, R. I., George Wm. Curtis, Carl Schurz, Sherman S. Rogers, Silas W. Burt, Charles Theodore Russell, Bancroft C. Davis, Josiah Quincy, jr., are among the prominent attendants. In an address Mr. Curtis severely arraigned President Arthur for the removal of competent officers. Fifty per cent. of the office holders whose terms expired during Arthur's Administration had been dismissed. The President's course had been such as to demand some radical reform. The tyranny of political assessments, bulldozing of government employes, with families depending upon them for support, were severely condemned.

Church Notes.

There will be the usual services at St. Patrick's church to-morrow.

On account of the absence of Rev. S. B. Alderson, there will be no service to-morrow at the Presbyterian Chapel in East Maysville.

Rev. A. R. Kennedy's pulpit at the Presbyterian church will be filled to-morrow by Rev. John Barbour, of Louisville.

Sunday School exercises will not be held at the M. E. Church, South, to-morrow.

The usual services will be held at the Baptist church to-morrow morning and evening.

There will be no service morning or evening at the M. E. Church, South, to-morrow.

There will be religious services at the Third street M. E. Church, to-morrow morning and evening. At 11 a. m., there will be the regular communion services, and at 8 p. m. preaching by the pastor. Everybody is invited.

Vote and work for Dennis Fitzgerald, for jailer.

The BULLETIN office was yesterday graced by the presence of Mrs. Gus. Simmons, Miss Anna W. Mowell, Miss Fannie Newton, Miss Lida Babcock and Mrs. D. I. Babcock.

COUNTY POINTS.

SARDIS.

The work of prizing tobacco goes on steadily. Were it more highly prized by the dealers our farmers would be better pleased.

Perry Jefferson, of the Globe House, Cincinnati, was here on the 31 ult. on business.

Our popular druggist A. O. White will take in Flemingsburg this week. One can but wonder why he leads the solitary life a bachelor.

T. P. Ray is back after a few days sojourn in Vanceburg.

Wagons heavily loaded with wheat and tobacco may be constantly seen in our streets.

Business exceptionally good for time of year. Camp-meeting and election, or themes of conversation as the BULLETIN will contain daily proceedings of former "everybody takes it." We expect details and current items.

Powell Owens, of Fern Lea, paid our town a visit a few days since. He is farming extensively and is making a success of it as he did of his business enterprises when a citizen of this place.

W. T. Grover of the red corner has temporarily the assistance of the genial J. W. John Ball, esq. As a smoker and as a foe, he is hard to beat. He is all O. K. also as an officer and has a heart "as big as all our doors."
