THAT Mastadon at Paris found,
Embedded in the clay,
From all accounts seems to be
The wonder of the day.
But make it forty feet in length,
Or any way you treat it,
Just jot it down as gospel truth,
That Craddock's sure to beat it.

GERMANTOWN fair next week.

THE advertising season has begun.

VENNOR says we are to have an intensely cold winter.

JARS are now common in every family—fruit jars of course.

It is said that watermelons may be kept until Christmas by covering them with a coat of varnish. Try it.

SPRIGS of wintergreen or ground ivy will drive away red ants and branches of wormwood will serve the same purpose for black ants.

THERE will be a street parade on Monday by the Original New Orleans Minstrels. Their band is considered the best traveling this season.

It is believed that the killing of fish immediately after taking them from the water, makes them superior in taste to those that are left to die.

THE court day sales at Paris this week were well attended and business good. Plug horses sold from $30 to $80; mules $117 to $150 and cattle 5 and 5½ cents.

THE "Golden Scepter" is the name of a new brand of very fine Virginia smoking tobacco sold by Mr. Frank Devine. It is an excellent article as all smokers will find who try it.

MR. WM. CHAMBERS, of New Orleans, who was stricken with paralysis at the residence of Dr. John Shackelford, in this city last Thursday, is still helpless and unconscious, and is not expected to live through the day.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer of Tuesday says:

Nellie Gates, the unfortunate girl from Bath county, Ky., mentioned in yesterday's paper, was yesterday sent to the Home for the Friendless by Superintendent Rellly. Her step-father J. C. Gates, whom she accuses of being her seducer, will be held until Bath county authorities can be heard from.

THE latest device for swindling is under cover of an advertisement, "To those just married or contemplating marriage," promising to send for one dollar, to any address "carefully sealed, secure from observation, a work which no newly married couple should be without, etc." Hundreds of letters come, each containing the dollar. To each address is sent a cheap Testament, costing, with postage, about ten cents. And it would be hard to say wherein it does not "fill the bill."

THE DARK CLOUD

Which Hangs Over the Ruined Home of Engineer Melville.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—To the domestic history of Engineer Melville there is a pathetic background, in the shadow of which has been fought a manly, heroic struggle, to which Arctic exposure and peril are but boy's play. And his is a soul so loyal that he will not even say half what he might say, in the light of recent events, to set himself right before that part of the public which delights in thinking evil of a man when it can find the smallest excuse for doing so. While he made ample provision for the support of his wife during his absence, yet out of his $150 a month pay there only remained for him on his return a balance of $5 a month undrawn. In addition to this Mrs. Melville had drawn $5,000 from Mr. Bennett, of the Herald.

The last day Melville was in New York before he left for San Francisco, I met him at the Astor House, and said to him that I wished I were going with him. "If things were the same in my family as in yours," he said, "if I had the same happy home that you have, old fellow, there isn't money enough in the Herald or in Washington to induce me to make such a trip." The tears ran down his cheeks as he talked of his children, and when he wrung my hand with a good-by grip that seemed not unlikely to be the last, he said, with a pathos I can never forget, "But what else can I do?"

THE remains of a mastadon were discovered this week near Paris by workmen on the extension of the Kentucky Central railroad. A despatch to the Courier-Journal announcing the discovery says: The first discovered was the ankle, which, on being measured, showed a diameter of seven inches. Following up this bone, they discovered the knee, which, through the socket, was twelve inches in diameter. From the ankle to the top of the shoulder-blade—it being three feet two inches wide—was fourteen feet seven inches. The head was of large proportions, measuring five feet in length and several in width. The jaw was twelve inches thick, and the teeth are preserved in good condition. The backbone was then followed up, and forty feet from the head was the bones of the tail. The hindquarters were exceedingly large, measuring in height twenty-three feet eight inches. The hipbone was ten and a quarter inches thick. The teeth on being weighed proved each to be two to three pounds. Altogether it is the most astounding curiosity ever known in this community, and enough of the remains are still in good condition to prove the truth of the assertion. It is to be regretted the remains could not be taken out entire.

The Original New Orleans Minstrels.

The famous New Orleans Minstrels—the original company—will appear in this city, at the Opera House, next Monday evening, the 9th inst., in an entirely new and most entertaining programme. It is an excellent troupe and our citizens who may attend the entertainment will be amply repaid. The Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph says:

Durley Hall on last evening contained one of the largest and finest audiences ever assembled within its walls. The occasion was a minstrel performance by the Original New Orleans party the special feature of which was the appearance for the first time in three years of Welby and Pearl (Bucher and Fell), the Bloomington artists. The entertainment was bright, clean and attractive throughout, and the acts were uniformly encored. The sketch of Styles and Maxwell and the clarinet solo of Mr. Franckum are deserving of special mention, while the clog quartette by Welby, Pearl, Stiles and Maxwell was probably the best ever seen in Bloomington. Welby and Pearl's songs and dances were rendered in their usual graceful, dashing style, and won storms of applause. Jake has developed much talent as a comedian and on the end, and in a sketch looked like a coon all over, and was extremely funny. The boys may justly feel proud of their reception at home.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. Herman Ebersole is in Maysville, to-day.

Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald has gone to Lexington with the view of remaining there.

Mrs. Edward Glenn, after a visit of several weeks to friends in Maysville, has returned to Ironton.

E. H. Poynter.

The Frankfort Yeoman says: Many persons at Frankfort will be sorry to learn that Mr. Ed H. Poynter of Maysville, was among those who lost their lives on the ill-fated Lee. Mr. Poynter was for many years an-attache of the house of Wm. Glenn & Sons, of Cincinnati, and afterwards the representative of a tea house in the same city. He was a citizen of Kentucky, having been born near Mt Sterling, and having a large family connection throughout the state. He was about forty-two years of age, was unmarried, and at the time of his death was largely engaged in the manufacture of plows at Maysville. He was a partner of Andrew T. Cox—the two having succeeded the firm of W. W. Baldwin & Co. He was known to every merchant in this city as an honorable business man, and as a gentleman.

To Young and Middle Aged Men.

We take pleasure in again calling your attention to the commercial college of Kentucky university, situated at Lexington, Ky. At the end of the first month of its opening it had nearly two hundred students from sixteen states and one foreign country. Hon. Wm. E. Bailey, for several years Sergeant at Arms of Kentucky Legislature, is among its students. We advise all young men to write to Professor W. R. Smith, its president, and get a catalogue of the college containing full particulars.

Sales of Land.

The following changes in the ownership of land have been recorded at the office of the Clerk of the County Court, since our last report:

- A. J. Wear to Joel Laytham and others, two lots of ground in Mayslick; consideration, $1,000.
- Michael Mulrooney to E. W. Dillon, 19 acres of land on Absalom Creek; consideration, $1, etc.
- E. W. Dillon to Nancy Ellen Mulrooney, same tract of land; consideration, $1, etc.
- Elizabeth D. Weaver and husband to John S. Wilson, 31 acres, 8 rods and 35 poles of land near Minerva.
- Joseph S. Kennard to Stephen Frogg, 49 acres of land on North Fork; consideration, $600.
- Elizabeth M. Pollock and husband to B. F. Tyler, house and lot in Germantown; consideration, $800.
- Mary E. Gault to Nancy Catron, 39 acres, 2 rods and 25 poles of land in Mason county; consideration, $475.

THE contractors expect to begin putting up the new bridge over Limestone creek the latter part of this week.

THE attendance at the Cincinnati Exposition last year was 234,216. This year it has been up to date 248,132.

TO-NIGHT a regular meeting of the Emmet Rifles will be held and all the members are expected to be present.

THE case of Branham vs. Berry, from Lewis county, has been affirmed by the Superior Court. In this case it was held that in an action for malicious prosecution an acquittal and discharge by an examining court upon a full examination of the accused, is prima facie evidence of a want of probable cause of prosecution. An appeal will be taken to the Court of Appeals.

The biggest royal eater since the death of the Emperor Maximus is Cetywayo, king of the Zulus. He ate thirteen pounds of steak for a dinner.

To lie about the house and sleep all day ruins a dog. Right here the usefulness of the flea comes in. It prevents the dog from taking too much rest.

The old fashioned preacher used to claim that he had a call to preach. The modern preacher must hear the sound of the salary before he can regard the call.

MESSRS. NESBITT & McKRELL announce elsewhere a grand cloak opening when they will exhibit the entire line of samples of one of the leading manufacturers of the country. The opening takes place in the second story of their business house, on Sutton street, on the 17th and 18th of October. Measurements will be taken for future delivery and it is needless to say the prices will be very low.
