WEATHER prophets are busy with predictions concerning the coming winter. The general verdict is that it will be about a fair average, not extremely cold and not very open. This is a safe conclusion since it allows margin enough to cover all mistakes.

Senator McDonald on the Situation.

The New York World gives the views of Senator McDonald, of Indiana, on the political situation as follows.

The result of the late election all over the North, places the Democratic party in ascendancy for the next two years. If this ascendancy is to become executive in 1884, it must be on the record the party makes in the interval. Wise counsels must prevail, reforms must be real. The tariff must be reduced to the revenue standard. Taxes must be levied only for the support of the government. All expenditures authorized by Congress must be for national purposes and for no other purposes, and economy must be enforced in all departments of the Government. The interference of the Federal Administration in State elections and State affairs, so overwhelmingly rebuked in New York, must cease. As soon as possible all laws authorizing federal action beyond the limits of the Constitution must be repealed.

Political and official honesty must be made the test of eligibility to office. In short we must merit as Democrats the confidence which has been reposed in us by the people.

THE York (Pa.) Evening Despatch speaks in the following high terms of the Jolly Pathfinders who are to give an entertainment at the Opera House next Thursday evening:

"Truly the Pathfinders are jolly, and in a jolly good humor kept they the audience at the hall on Saturday night. 'Scraps,' a mosaic of brilliant bits of humor, absurdity, funny situations and fine acting, kept the audience in an uproarious state of mirth till faces ached with laughter."

The will of the late Mary M. Perkins of Boston reads: "I leave to my husband &c." meaning Ezra G. Perkins, though she did not describe him by name. John Hardy, from whom she supposed herself divorced before marrying Perkins, now claims the property, on the ground that he was her lawful husband, the divorce proceedings having been fraudulent. The Probate Court decided that the estate should be divided between the two men and the case is before the Supreme Court on appeal.

A celebrated beauty, whose complexion at sixty was fresher than that of our women at thirty, told me her secret this summer, and it was divided into two parts: First—She never used washrag or towel on her face, but washed it with her hands, rinsing it off with a soft sponge. She used clear water in the morning, but white castile soap or very warm water at night, and after drying it on a soft towel she would take a flesh-brush and rub her cheeks, chin and forehead. Second—If she was going to be up late at night she always slept as many hours in the day as she expected to be awake beyond her usual time. finished her little sermon on beauty preservation by saying: "Soft water and sound sleep keep off wrinkles and spots, and girls should give more attention to this than they do, for

"With the coming of the crows' feet Is the going of the beaux feet."

Young Fruit Trees.

Many seem to think that when they have planted an orchard, they have done all that the trees require. A neglected old orchard is a sorry sight, but a neglected new one is much worse. A stray animal or two, especially when snow is on the ground will disfigure many trees in a short time by browsing their tops or gnawing the bark. Fences and gates need looking to. Young trees, especially those set last spring or this fall, should have a mound of earth at the base, not a mere heap thrown up carelessly but made smooth and firm, in the form of a sharp cone, 12 or 15 inches high. This will not only aid in keeping the tree upright, but will prevent the attacks of mice. Should snow be deep enough to cover the mound, mice may work under it while it is light and newly fallen, and it will be necessary to go through the orchard and press the snow around each tree with the foot. Rabbits will work on the snow, not only barking the trunks, but we have known them, when the snow was sufficiently deep, to cut off the end of every twig within their reach. These animals have a great aversion to blood, and will not touch trees that have been smeared with it. In large orchards, blood is procured at a slaughter house, and applied to the tree by means of a swab, made by tying a few cornshucks to a stick. Rabbits are in good condition this month, and the use of traps will both prevent mischief and afford material for an excellent pie or fricasee. Sometimes snow is very damp, and as it falls, lodges in the tops of the trees and accumulates there. If this is allowed to freeze, the branches will be badly injured should there come a strong wind. When snow thus gathers, it should by all means be shaken out of the trees before it has time to freeze.—Ex.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District, ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bone be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great. Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man. Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL Druggists have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburg Falls, Vermont. 127d.
