DEEPEST SNOW

Pedestrians Forced to Make Paths Independent. With Brooms And Shevels Or Wade Almost Knee Deep.

The deepest snow in many years is covering the ground in Central Kentucky. The weather is extremely cold, and forecasters give no hope of immediate relief. Early Thurs day morning, snow began falling and did not cease until late Friday morning. It was necessary to make paths with brooms and shovels before the people could make the

from their residences to the street and to their places of business. In many places, the snow was drifted to a depth of many feet, and early pedestrians were forced to wade almost knee-deep. Mayor J. A. Hughes had a sledge put to dragging the streets during the morning, and by noon, practically all inconvenience was overcome. Country people were almost cut off from the city.

The citizens should make it a point to follow the example of the merchants and have the snow cleaned away from in front of their residences as soon as possible, in order to prevent its packing and becoming hardened, which would necessarily make the clearing away a more difficult task.

Dispatches state that while in Chicago the temperature rose to 8 degreeabove zero and remained at 6 above at 9 p. m. elsewhere in the Middlewest and Northwest the mercury's level stood from zero to 38 below The coldest points were in the Canadian northwest. Bismark, N. D. wrested the low mark from Modicine Hat, with 32 below, two degrees colder than its rival. At Dulethrit was 26 below: at Omaha. 14: -at St. Louis, zero; at Marquette, Mich., 16 below; at Detroit, 6 above; at Kansas City & below: Denver. 4 above and at Salt Lake City, Utah, the temperature was just at freezing.

ESCAPE FROM REFORM SCHOOL

Twelve White Boys Wander About Aimlessly in The Snow And Cannot Be Apprehended.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 11.-Somewhere in Favette and adjoining counties, twelve white boys from the Greendale Reform School are wandering around, perhaps, aimlessly, in the blinding snow storm, trying to dodge officers, following their escape a body from the Reform School Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. Two of those who escaped were found and returned to Greendale, but at an early hour Friday morning the other thirteen were still at large, and there was every indication that they had so scattered that they may not

COMPLICATIONS

Because of Woman's Presence On Jury, And Case May Go to The Supreme Court.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 12.-Because the law holds that a jury must be held together in a murder case Mrs. Retta Doddridge, a lone woman on the Bianchi murder jury, must sleep with the eleven men who are her colleagues. The trial judge held that her bed could be held separate from the others by a screen and that she could have the attendance of a wonan bailiff.

The defense raised a point, insistng that even the compromise screen will not be literally in compliance with the law, insisting that separate retirement of a woman bailiff at any time, for any purpose, violates the provisions. If Bianchi is convicted the case will go to the Supreme Court on the question raised by the woman's presence on the jury.

ENDORSEMENT

Judge Ben Lindsey, Who Will Lecture Here Saturday Night.

The lecture of Judge Ben B. Lindsey, to be delivered at the Opera House Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Kentucky Wesleyan College, promises to be the greatest treat that our people have had for some time.

Judge Lindsey is a most pleasing peaker, and his address on that occasion should be heard by every man. woman and child in this city.

The attorneys of this city held a meeting at the Court House last Wednesday with Judge J. M. Benton as chairman, and the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Judge Ben B. Lindsey is today perhaps the foremost reformer in the United States. He has a national reputation gained by his ability. perseverance and courage in the great fight for civil righteonsness, which was begun by him in Denver. Col., but whose influence has spread over the entire country. His coming to our city is an event of no mean importance, and the Kentucky Weslevan authorities are entitled to our thanks, as well as congratulations for giving our people the opportunity of knowing and hearing this truly great man."

This endorsement of the local bar means much and everyone should make an effort to hear this lecture Saturday night.
