

THE CLIMAX.

FRENCH TIPTON, Wm. G. WHITE. WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1887.

President Cleveland went fishing in Lake Mendota, near Madison, Wisconsin, on last Thursday, and caught eight black bass. The President and wife stopped with Postmaster General Vilas.

Yellow fever appeared in virtual form at Tampa, Florida, last week, and several deaths have occurred. On Friday there were twenty-six cases. Quarantine was at once established. Jack Frost will soon visit Tampa and stampede Yellow Jack.

Sam Branch was found guilty in a Chattanooga court last Thursday of stealing a watch, and his punishment fixed at five years in the penitentiary. When the verdict was read, Branch sprang to his feet, drew a knife and cut his throat. He died in half an hour, protesting his innocence. Great excitement prevailed, and court adjourned.

Senator Voorhees said in a recent interview: "So far as Mr. Cleveland is concerned, I think he will be renominated and re-elected. Against Blaine, Mr. Cleveland can carry Indiana by 15,000 majority; against any other Republican, he will have half that majority. Mr. Blaine will unquestionably be renominated, unless he declines in advance."

Bob Ingersoll sizes up the labor and capital problem as follows: "Here is a shoe shop. One man in the shop is always busy through the day—always industrious. In the evening he goes courting some nice girl. There are five other men in the shop who don't do any such thing. These spend half their working evenings in dissipation. The first young man by and by cuts out those others, and I gets a boot and shoe store of his own. Then he marries the girl. Soon he is able to take his wife out for a drive in the evening. The five laborers, his former companions, who see him indulging in this luxury, retire to the neighborhood saloon and pass a resolution that there is an eternal struggle between labor and capital."

INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL CONFERENCE. Nearly every county in Kentucky was represented in the Industrial and Commercial Conference held in Louisville, last week. It convened on Tuesday, and was called to order by ex-Governor Knott who explained at length the object of the meeting. Governor Buckner was made temporary chairman, and spoke encouragingly of the good to be accomplished by the Conference. The address of welcome was delivered by Hon. Henry Watterson, and Col. Sam Burdett was elected Secretary. Ex-Secretary of State McKenize was elected permanent chairman, and spoke for half an hour on the greatness of Kentucky in point of natural wealth and advantages. Ex-Secretary of State, J. Stoddard Johnston, read a carefully prepared paper of great merit on "Kentucky River in its relation to the development of the coal fields." State Geologist, John H. Proctor, read a paper on "The Geological Survey of Kentucky." C. J. Newbold, "Coal Mining in Kentucky." N. Allen, "Some Coking Coals in Western Kentucky." K. B. Gralin, "The Little and Big Sandy Valleys." Hon. Wm. D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, was present and addressed the Conference. A paper entitled "A Report on the Foreign Colonies in Kentucky," prepared by Mr. E. A. Fellmer, was read. Gen. John S. Williams favored the Conference with a speech. Judge Wm. M. Beckner, Prof. J. K. Patterson, Senator Haggard, and other prominent gentlemen from Central Kentucky were present. One of the most valuable papers read was by Gen. Basil W. Duke on the railroads of Kentucky. E. D. Warfield read a studied paper on the Shortline interests. Col. Bennett Young imparted considerable railroad talk.

Hon. John D. Harris presented the report from Madison county, and did it orally. His speech was both instructive and humorous, and elicited applause at intervals. The Courier-Journal says that Maj. Harris was heartily congratulated at the close of his remarks. Among other things he said he "wanted to remark that it would perhaps be a sufficient recommendation for Madison county to state that she adjoined the county of Clark." [Laughter.] Daniel Boone, when he first came to Kentucky, spent a year looking over the territory to secure the best location for planting his colony. Boone did not look altogether to immediate advantages, but had his prophetic eye on the benefits which might accrue to those who came after him. He saw the grand timber, the immense emerald, the rich grasses and the other numerous superiorities of Madison county, and declining to take up his abode in Fayette or Clark, he established the first settlement at Boonesborough, on the banks of the Kentucky river, in the good county of Madison. [Applause.] The wisdom of Daniel Boone's choice has been most happily demonstrated, for Madison has grown to be the most thrifty, prosperous and well-ordered community in this great Commonwealth. In point of agricultural wealth she stands fifth or sixth, according to the report of the Auditor, and in point of fact she is second only to Bourbon." [Applause.]

A permanent Executive Committee was organized with J. Proctor Knott, President; T. G. Stuart, Vice President; Young E. Allison, Corresponding Secretary; Clint McClary, Secretary and Treasurer. John A. Logan, of Shelby county, is member from the Eighth District.

The attention of the public, far and wide, has been directed to the resources of Kentucky by this Conference. The Courier-Journal published the proceedings in full, and a great awakening has dawned upon Kentucky. The proceedings are to be published in a pamphlet form and sent to the uttermost parts of the world.

BEREA. On Sunday last a Convention of the Sunday schools in the Glade Precinct was held at the Glade Church. The attendance was very large, their being about twice as many on the grounds as the church could accommodate. Mr. George Ames, Vice President for the precinct, to whose untiring efforts, in connection with the county Vice President, the Convention was due, was elected permanent chairman and Mr. Chaney, recording secretary.

The Convention was opened by a prayer service led by Prof. Wright, of Berea. Rev. Mr. X was a participant minister from Lancaster, made the opening prayer. John Kerby and Judge J. D. Goodloe made addresses of welcome which were responded to by Mr. Ames.

The reports from the various Sunday-schools in the precinct, ten in number, were very encouraging, some of them enthusiastically so. The President had drawn a map of the precinct and as the reports were called for, the location of each school was pointed out.

After the reports, Judge C. H. Brock gave a practical talk on the Christian's duty and responsibility in the home. The Bible given as the best system of Philosophy, of Morals and of Law as well as being the only guide and rule for the Christian life.

He was followed by the Rev. Noel who spoke to the point, The Pastors Duty, and referred to the indifference and even opposition still among Christian ministers in some parts of our State, to the Sunday school work.

The responsibility of the day-school teachers in Sunday-school work was very clearly and forcibly presented by Miss Clara Conroy.

How to Interest Young People and Especially Children was the theme of some very pertinent remarks from Prof. McClintock of Richmond.

Mr. Wm. G. White gave the Convention the methods of keeping very correct and accurate records of the attendance of teachers, pupils and visitors for every week of the session.

The Sunday-school of the Future was presented in clear and terse form by Miss Belle Bennett, of Foxton. She sought to impress the laborers of to-day that they have a responsibility for the present.

Dr. C. J. Ayres, from College Hill, gave an instructive address on Blackboard Illustration, bringing his portable blackboard with him and giving the audience an object lesson in his methods.

The night session was addressed on the Benefits of the Praise Service by Prof. Wright, who is an enthusiast on that subject and entuses others.

The Work of Officers and Teachers of the Sunday-school was presented by county Vice President, Prof. F. V. Dodge, whose duties in this line have been such as to make him speak understandingly on that point.

Then followed farewell remarks from Mr. Eichel, Judge Goodloe and others, and thus closed this interesting and profitable day in the annals of the Sunday-school work in this precinct.

During the intermission, a table seventy feet long, fairly groined beneath the "sneak dinner" which the generous-hearted people provided to supply the bodily needs of the assembly.

IRVINE. The corn crop promises to be much better than was first expected. J. B. Stacey has bought the old W. P. Noland farm, from F. S. Miller's executor, at the price of $2,650 cash.

Capt. Led Baldwin, of Nicholasville, accompanied by J. M. Riddell, paid the town a flying visit last week. Large numbers of hogs have been driven from the lower counties to this fatten on the muck, of which there is a great deal.

Therefore Wilson, of Station Camp, offered his farm at public sale yesterday, but did not sell. Young cattle sold very low; fat steers sold for 8 cents; aged mules from $70 to $125, and horses went cheap. Everything sold very low.

Last week at the old furnace, in this county, Sam Brandenburg stabbed and seriously wounded Wm. Branton. Branton, after being cut several times was knocked down, there is nothing to be counted on just now from diminished supplies coming forward. The range is now pouring in its quota, and for some weeks at least will no doubt continue to keep the markets too full for profit or comfort. After that we believe there is ground for hoping for better things. Whether they will come before the holidays or not is very uncertain, but all signs will fall if decidedly better prices than now rule are not obtained before another hot season.—National Stockman and Farmer.

Capt. T. D. English reported the sale of J. C. Baunoff, Dec'd, fairly well attended. Cows, $2.50 per pair; live stock and other property at 1 cent. The farm, containing 250 acres, withdrawn at $45 per acre.

Mr. Pat Calk, of Mt. Sterling, has been in this country buying cattle for the past week. One pair bought of Jas. T. Atchison, near Wyoaming, weighed over 4,000 pounds, the price paid being 41—Owingsville Outlook.

It is probably the best bred son of seven years of registered cattle and mares, and is a very handsome return and has paid for her and wheat and corn.—Elizabethan News.

A large crowd attended the sale of Messrs. W. E. & S. A. Russell, on the St. Mary's place, last Thursday. Considering the times the sale was regarded as fairly successful. Two registered Holstein cows were bought for $25 and $15; two registered Holstein cows bought $127.50 and $102; 24 grade Holsteins brought from $15 to $101 per head, averaging $22.45; 3 registered Jersey, at $100; 3 Jersey bull calves at nominal prices; 2 registered Jersey heifers, $30 and $30.75; 12 head of horses, from $50 to $125 per head. Twenty-seven head of registered cattle and mares, and a number of calves, making about 50 in all, were not offered.—Lexington Standard.

Those hoping for greater advances in cattle than have yet taken place, find themselves fed by a run of supplies which continues considerably in excess of the same part of last year. The aggregate receipts in Western markets show that, whatever else may occur, the climate does not seem to be anything to be counted on just now from diminished supplies coming forward. The range is now pouring in its quota, and for some weeks at least will no doubt continue to keep the markets too full for profit or comfort. After that we believe there is ground for hoping for better things. Whether they will come before the holidays or not is very uncertain, but all signs will fall if decidedly better prices than now rule are not obtained before another hot season.—National Stockman and Farmer.
