

THE CLIMAX.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1917.

See Garrard county farm for rent.

Dr. Stewart continues ill at College Hill.

A new cottage is in course of construction on the Armer addition.

Lizzie Wilkes has been sold by Capt. J. T. Shackelford to Indiana parties.

On last Thursday, Mr. Thomas Phelps shipped 100 fat cattle to New York.

Lawn tennis has succeeded baseball in Richmond.

The Irvine station now leaves Richmond in the morning and returns at night.

Miss Ella March has accepted a position as saleslady at Mr. H. B. Dillingham's.

Mr. J. W. Crawford has opened a coal yard next to Hunsley's stable on Irvine street.

One of Miss Pauline Breck's pupils escaped from Anchorage on Friday, but was caught at Louisville.

Mr. A. J. Alexander, of Woodford, proposes to give Central University $10,000, if others will give $90,000.

Mr. W. B. White, of Richmond, the editor, has been appointed Grand Marshal of the Odd-Fellows Grand Lodge of Kentucky.

The brick work on Corvinton, Arnold & Bro.'s, two-story iron front business house on the ruins of the old one will be finished this week.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will have a Thanksgiving sale of edibles the day before Thanksgiving. Place to be hereafter announced.

Dr. Phil Roberts, with Mr. Ed Wines as prescriptionist, will open a drug-store at Ramsey's old drug stand on lower Main street, next week.

The regular monthly meeting of the City Council was held last night. Within the past month two saloon licenses have been renewed at $1,000 each.

The trio of Cheneaus, who went to Texas some days ago to see the country, have returned satisfied that Kentucky is good enough for any man on earth.

Among the Madison county people out West, who have of late been fortunate, is Dr. R. L. Breck, who bought six acres of land for $100, and sold out for $5,000.

The two youngest children of the late B. H. Brown, who were sent to an orphan's home in Louisville, have been adopted, one by a family at Glasgow, and the other elsewhere.

Mrs. Nancy B. Jones will sell publicly on lot premises near Foxtown, on Wednesday, November 23rd, all her stock, crop and farming implements, including a number of well-bred mares.

Crooke & Son, an old and well-known business name in this city, has an advertisement elsewhere in this issue. They handle first-class goods and deal squarely with everybody.

The entertainment by the Epiphany club on last Tuesday night was well enjoyed and entirely satisfactory, as those occasions usually are. The young men acquitted themselves handsomely.

The brick work of Capt. J. T. Shackelford's two-story, iron front brick house was completed on Saturday, and he gave the workmen a supper at Joe Mackey's that night. W. T. Harris is contractor.

Samuel Wherritt, son of W. H. Wherritt, of Lancaster, was found dead in bed one morning last week. He was subject to spasms, and is supposed to have died during an attack. His age was 16 years.

An executor of H. N. Wells, Mr. Cyrus T. Wells will sell publicly three houses and lots in Richmond, and one share of stock in the Fair grounds. Two of the houses are on Main street, near the mills, and the other is on East Avenue.

Woman's Exchange. This institution will be open every Saturday and Tuesday corner Main and Third streets, opposite Judge Bonner's. In the tide house. Hours from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. The proceeds will be devoted to charitable purposes. Patronize it.

Fine Portraits. In the windows of Messrs. Stockton & Willis, druggists, on Main street, to be seen three fine life-size portraits in pastel of Mr. Wm. Hooker, wife and son, of Stanford. The work was done by Mr. L. Seigle, of this place.

Rain. Mr. H. L. White returned from Clay county on last Saturday in which county he had sojourned for about two weeks. He says it rained nearly all the time he was there, and was disastrously muddy. Narry a rain in Madison for a month.

Late But Tree. The Courier-Journal is a year or two slow in receiving the information, but got it straight when it did reach it. That paper says: "The late but tree, Hon. James R. Burnam, of Richmond, who so ably represented Madison county in the Legislature, a few years ago, is flourishing at the practice of the law. He has recently formed a partnership with Judge W. B. Smith, who has long been recognized as one of the ablest members of the Richmond bar. The firm is a strong one, and it is no cause for wonder that it is doing a good business."

The Mountain Deal. Last week a party of Ohio men bought in Breathitt county sixty odd thousand acres of land for $50,000. Messrs. W. B. Smith, J. Stone Walker and C. E. Smith, of Richmond, held notes for which the land was surety, and in the deal a large balance came to the Richmond parties—$37,000, so we hear. Last spring Michigan men bought 15,000 acres in the same way in Lee county. These purchases say that a railroad must be built to the mountains. How is it that in the West miles and miles, even hundreds of miles of railroad are built through countries affording nothing to build, while every mile through the mountains of Kentucky is let with natural wealth?

Hallowe'en.

Hallowe'en was observed by the Misses Logan, Miller and others, and the young ladies and gentlemen tried their fate with chestnuts, glasses of water and fishing out apples from a washing-tub of water with a young man's name pinned on the apple, showing her future prize in the matrimonial market, causing many good laughs at the young ladies' expense. Quite a number of young ladies felt very badly left Hallowe'en night after sitting up until 12 o'clock and screwing up their courage to the highest pitch to go to the spring alone and look for the face of a lover that appeared not.

Sudden Death.

Eugene Ashton, the student, well known to the people of Richmond, fell dead in Philadelphia on last Saturday morning. Mr. M. Barlow, of this place, his relative, left on Monday for Flemingsburg, at which place the burial occurred, that being his former home. Mr. Ashton was in Richmond two or three years ago, and closed the teaching of a class in elocution with the play of Margaret, which was presented at Park Theatre. He was about 25 years old at the time of his death, and had a future of great promise. He had recited for the President and Miss Cleveland, and purposed going to Europe where he in all probability would have recited for Queen Victoria.

Editorial Changes.

Mr. Clarence E. Woods, late of the Lebanon Enterprise, and grand-son-in-law of Col. R. X. White, of this place, has become one of the editors of the Register. He is a fine young man, and will make things whirl at the Register office.

Mr. Harvie McDowell, who has made such a valuable assistant editor of the Register, since last June, has taken a position with THE CLIMAX, and will not allow any thing to escape him in the matter of news.

Turner Sewell lives at the mouth of Downing Creek on the Kentucky River. He has always lived around that locality. He is now 87 years old and has fourteen living children, to say nothing of the three that are dead. He is a real-maker, like unto Lincoln, and two years ago walked two miles from home one day, made one hundred and twenty-five rails and returned two hours before sun-down. He has averaged four thousand rails a year for forty years. But his days are fast drawing to a close. He is suffering with a deadly cancer that indicates an early departure for "that ungodsend country from whose shores no traveler ever returns." Mr. Sewell has not taken a drink for half a century, but for nearly thirty years of his early life he "let 'er party heavy." Otherwise than the cancer, his health is "fair to middlin'."

A Champion Eater.

Mr. G. Flora, of Campbellsville, formerly of this place, is endeavoring to eat a hundred fifty days for $200. A Philadelphia man has heard of the effort and says: "G. Flora, of Campbellsville, Ky., claims to be the champion quail-eater of America. How can this be when he has eaten only eighty quails in forty days, while I have eaten ninety in forty-one days and seven more at the finish? If he will accept my challenge for $1,000, I will make a match to eat four quails a day for sixty days, the four to be eaten at one sitting, or a 20-as-you-please for sixty days, and I will agree to eat thirteen at a finish. Referee and judges to be selected by a New York newspaper."

A Ten Strike.

We clip the subjoined paragraph from the Register of last Friday: "In 1840 Eliza Owens, an elderly unmarried man at the time, emigrated to California from Bath county, Kentucky. His relatives live in Bath and Montgomery counties, and among them were Joshua Owens, the grandfather of Mrs. E. H. Field and Mrs. E. J. Shackelford, daughters of Wm. W. Endry, who married Georgia Ann Owens, the only child of Joshua Owens. Eliza Owens died in California recently, leaving the enormous estate of $20,000,000. The heirs of Mr. Sterling were advised of the fact and have employed an attorney to go to California to investigate the case. It is believed that Mrs. Field and Mrs. Shackelford will each get from two-and-a-half to three millions, as there are only seven heirs. Both Mrs. Field and Mrs. Shackelford are of our best families and hold equally high positions in the county, and we heartily congratulate them on the gratifying prospect of soon becoming millionaires."

On next Saturday, November 5th, Rev. Wm. Crow will sell publicly forty-three town lots. His property lies on the north side of Irvine street, in Richmond, and between the railroad and the Four Mile or Union road. The grounds have been laid off into lots with streets and alleys, so that every lot faces a street, and nearly every one has an alley in the rear. One street runs across the property in front of the house, extending from the railroad on the east to the Four Mile road on the west. Another street extends from the front of the house to Irvine street, forming right angles with the above named right street, in front of the residence. Four lots 150x120 feet, on the east side of the front avenue face that avenue, looking West, and five lots 40x120 feet, on the opposite side face it looking East. Ten lots 40x100 feet, face Irvine street, looking South, and back of them is an alley. On the other side of the alley, eight lots 140x100 feet, face the new cross street, looking North; and on the other side of that street are nine lots 40x140 feet, facing it looking South. Back of these nine lots is an alley, and beyond that are two lots 53x240 feet lying parallel with the alley and facing the Four Mile road, and running back to the main lot of one and a half acres on which the house is situated. The house lot is L shaped, and contains 120 feet on the new cross street, the large part of the L lying back. East of the house are three lots facing the new cross street looking South.
