"Saved Her Life."

MRS. JOHN WALLEY, of Jefferson, Wis., whose name is so widely known, writes: "In 1890 I had a severe attack of LeGrippe and at the end of two months, in spite of all physicians, friends and good nursing could do, my lungs and nervous system were so completely wrecked, my life was despaired of, my friends giving me up. I could only sleep by the use of opiates. My lungs and heart pained me terribly and my cough was most aggravating. I could not lie on my left side at all. My husband brought me Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure and I began taking them. When I had taken a half bottle of each I was much better and continuing persistently I took about a dozen bottles and was completely restored to health to the surprise of all."

LEGISLATURE NOTES.

The Bronston Penitentiary bill, which turns control of the prison over to the Legislature, passed the Senate by a vote of 23 to 9.

Bronston introduced a bill providing for a State Board of Charities to take control of asylums and similar institutions. The Legislature is to elect the first board and the Governor is to appoint the members in the future.

Gobel introduced a bill providing for a State Election Commission which is to have control of all elections and which will appoint County Commissioners who will appoint election officers.

Dr. E. M. Wiley was Wednesday confirmed as Superintendent of the Asylum at Lexington by the Senate by a vote of 18 to 13.

In the House the Orr bill regulating tobacco sales was passed. It is for the protection of the tobacco raisers.

The anti-cigarette bill, which is a hot one, was reported favorably and passed. It provides a heavy fine for any one found guilty of making, selling or smoking cigarettes.

A bill was introduced to prevent reproduction of prize fights in Kentucky.

The China pure food bill will be reported favorably to the House in a few days. It will be materially altered though, and many of the most objectionable features will be removed. As amended the bill will provide for the labeling of all adulterated foods, liquids and provisions of all descriptions, but it will not require that the formula, prescription or ingredients be given. It will not prohibit the sale or manufacture of pure and adulterated articles by the same person or company, and will not designate a standard mixture, such as patent medicines, as an adulteration.

Mr. Bronston introduced a bill Tuesday creating county Boards of Education. One member of the board to be elected from each Magisterial district in November, 1898, and the board shall perform all the duties now conferred on County Superintendents, and shall advertise for bids for supplying school books, and each bid shall be certified that the price is not over 15 per cent above the cost of producing the books.

Representative John Marquette, of Pendleton county, has an important bill to be introduced, predicated on the passage of the China bill. His bill will establish a State printing office in the penitentiary to be operated by convict labor, for the publication of school text books for use in common schools, the books to be sold at actual cost price. The bill further provides for printing such State printing as may be done by the convicts within the walls. Mr. Marquette thinks this will go a great way toward the cheapening of school books, and at the same time will give advantageous employment to convicts. His bill will be supported by many able members, who know the contents of the bill.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

[From the Chicago News.]

The coat may not make the man, but lawsuits make attorneys.

Rome wasn't founded by Romeo; it was Juliet who was found dead by him.

The Pension Bureau has more drawers than any other piece of furniture.

There'll probably be no one in heaven that is better than the average man thinks he is.

The 5 o'clock tea would probably be more popular with women if it was marked down to 4.57.

A steel band may be stronger than a brass band, but the latter is more successful in holding a crowd together.

The more talk a man can say for $2 the less he'll be a woman can buy for $30, and yet people talk about the eternal fitness of things.

A writer in the scientific American says he has cleared his premises of vermin by making whitewash yellow with copperas and covering the stones and rafters with it. In every crevice in which a rat might go he put the copperas, and scattered it in the corners of the floor. The result was complete disappearance of rats and mice. Since that time, not a rat or mouse has been seen near the house.

Prevent Pneumonia

Prevention is always better than cure, even when cure is possible. But so many times pneumonia is not cured that prevention becomes the natural act of that instinct of self-preservation which is "the first law of nature." Pneumonia can be prevented and is often cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Some years ago I had a severe cold and was threatened with pneumonia. I could neither eat nor sleep, and was in a wretched condition. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and took it according to the directions, and at the end of fifteen days as well and sound as before the attack. I have recommended it in many cases of pneumonia since, and have never known it to fail in effecting a cure."

JOHN HENRY, St. Joseph, La.

"I was attacked with a cold that settled on my lungs, and doctored the skill of my physician so that they considered me incurable. At last I began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was entirely cured after having taken two bottles."

FRANCISCO A. SEVERIANO, Taunton, Mass.

GAGE AGAIN

Secretary Gage has again opened his capacious mouth—this time in answer to the criticisms made by the Hon. William J. Bryan, says the Louisville Dispatch. His speech is a defense of the trusts, the Dingley tariff bill, and the gold standard. He points out every increase in wages caused by the Dingley bill, ignores the millions who have suffered lots of employment or reduction of wages as a consequence of the passage of the measure and the continuation of the gold standard. He takes the benefits of a few persons and exploits them as though it were a benefit to the whole people. He argues that the prosperity of the trusts is evidence of the prosperity of those who are robbed by the trusts.

To show what a complete old ass he is, or what he considers his reasons, he says the Republican party proceeds to elect the friend of bimetalism, and approves it in its platform. Only a few days ago, as Secretary of the Treasury, he announced to be the policy of the administration to more firmly fix the gold standard on the people of the United States. Such is the declared purpose of the measure which he is pressing upon the attention of Congress. It is disgusting to see this old ostrich dodging about and sticking his head in the sand. He is a disgrace to the administration—unless he is its correct representative—and in that case, the administration is a disgrace to the United States.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has Lame Back and Weak Kidneys, Malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to the Liver and Kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Faint Spells, Sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 25c a bottle at Perry & Thomas' Drug Store. Successors to W. G. White.

CARE OF LAMBS.

[A. F. Shouse in the Woodford Sun]

I heartily endorse all that Mr. Garrett has said in your last issue in regard to caring for sheep and would like to add to his article, or continue it to the care of lambs. After all the care of housing and bedding the sheep in our barns and temporary sheds we frequently find on the following morning a half frozen or chilled lamb that cannot stand up. When I first commenced raising sheep I usually killed these by pouring warm milk down them and straining them before they had life enough in them to swallow. The proper way is to place them before the fire, just as near as you would get if you were that cold, and thoroughly thaw them out. Then when they are warm and dry feed them a little warm milk, fresher the better, but don't feed cream that is too rich.

Let me give you the plan of my feeder: It is a common quart cup with a spot running up from the bottom like a coffee pot and a little knob in the end of it to tie a nipple on. You will find this very convenient to feed lambs that do not get enough nourishment from the ewes, or lambs that you have raised by hand.

It sometimes happens that we do not have the rye patch or the timothy meadow for our sheep and lambs.

With the barren pastures, not only the sheep need feeding but the lambs, too, and if we feed all together the sheep get more than their share or crowd the lambs out entirely, so it is necessary to feed them separately. I have tried a creper, that is a compartment with the division made so that a lamb can creep under but not an old sheep, but I have found that very few will creep under, so I have adopted the plan of separating them and this can be done very easily by having one hand to stand at the barn door to keep the lambs back and another to drive the sheep out. The lambs soon learn that it is good for them to be there and they stay there and wait to be fed. Give them anything they will eat—crushed rye, shelled oats, bran in corn meal, crushed corn (too coarse). It is good to change the feed every now and then, thus keeping up a good appetite. Turn on clover 1st of May and in June you will find that your lamb breeding plan. From sixty ewes, I sold over eighty lambs last year on the first pick, not one being thrown out on account of being too poor.

The Greatest Discovery Yet.

W. M. Bepine, editor Takilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We would keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colic. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottle free at Perry & Thomas' Drug Store, Successors to W. G. White.

EGGS MAY BE KEPT FOR THREE MONTHS.

"It is impossible in some sections of the country to get perfectly fresh eggs during the winter season," says Mrs. S. T. Rorer in the November Ladies' Home Journal. "To guard against this in summer time, when they are cheap, pack them in lime water and they will keep in good condition for three months. Pour one gallon of boiling water over a pound of lime, when settled and cold pour it carefully over the eggs which you have packed, small ends down, in a stone jar, and stand in a cool, dark place. Eggs may also be packed in salt; anything that will close the pores of the shell and prevent evaporation will preserve eggs."

COMMON HORSES GETTING SCARCER.

[The Horse Review.]

That the stock of common horses in the city of Chicago is getting very low is demonstrated by the "cheap" column of the Daily News, in which all sorts and conditions of things are advertised. A year ago that portion occupied by announcements of horses for sale amounted to a column at least, every day, and frequently to a column and a half. Now it is a rare thing if the space taken for the same purpose goes to a half column. As an example, on Friday, January 14, there were but twenty-four offers to sell horses, and these included the auction sale of the receiver of a bankrupt firm of contractors and the regular advertisement of dealers. In the same column two or more slaughtering firms advertise for horses and a change has come over their offers in the way of prices. A year ago their advertisements read something like this: "Wanted, horses for killing; $1 to $5." Now the ranges of prices offered is "$3 to $15." It should not be forgotten that in the main the advertisements in the column referred to are plug horses; those that have been practically worn out on the streets of the city. The decreasing numbers of offers indicate, to a certainty, that the supply has been reduced to next to nothing. And this reduction will have long, the effect on the general market that the Review foretold more than a year ago. The common horses in use in a city like Chicago are owned, in the main, by poor men of limited means, and during the hard times they cling to them and patch them up, as a matter of economy, waiting for better ones to take their places. Now there must soon come an end of all of them, for they have been practically worked to death. We have no means of telling how many thousands will be required to replace them, but it will run well up and the price will be far higher than they have been for the same stock in many years. What is true of Chicago is true of every large city, so that in the aggregate the demand during 1898 is certain to be great.

GR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPIN CURES CONSTIPATION.

AN ADVERTISING LAW.

The Legislature will be asked to pass some kind of an advertising law. Several members of the body are newspaper men and it is expected that they will introduce the movement. The Kentucky Press Association, time and again, at their annual session, have recognized the necessity for something of the kind, and appointed committees to look after the measure, but nothing ever materialized. A general advertising law would be a good thing, but the average member of the Legislature seems unable to rid himself of the notion that it is a scheme intended merely to put money into the hands of the publishers of newspapers.—Georgetown Times.

It has been apparent for a number of years that Kentucky needs a good advertising law. It would prove a blessing the country over to people who have property to sell. With this object in view and acting for the Kentucky Press Association, L. W. Gaines called a conference of the friends of such a measure at the Capitol Hotel at Frankfort last Saturday and some plans were agreed upon and a committee appointed. It was the unanimous opinion of the assembly that they should be such a law passed by the present General Assembly, and it presented properly it would be. President Gaines appointed a committee of the five editorial members of the legislature, to-wit: Emmett Orr chairman; R. C. Walker, Bennett Henderson and John McMelon. These gentlemen were assisted in drafting a bill by the local press of Frankfort.

It is now the duty of the state press to urge to join hands in this work, and by personal influence and newspaper mention in advocacy to get the matter before the people and their representative.—Elkton Progress.

It was very ungrateful in the Wheeling Iron and Steel Company to roost an immediate reduction in wages, ranging from 10 to 30 per cent., and a demand for more work at the cut rates on the very day before President McKinley's appearance at the manufacturers' banquet in this city, says the New York World. The workmen immediately threw down their tools, and presumably made some unpleasant remarks about the Dingley tariff and the "advance agent of prosperity." The protestant excuses for wage-reductions in the New England cotton mills are the fall in the price of cotton and the competition of the Southern mills. But this excuse does not apply to an iron and steel mill in the South.

WAGEWORKERS AND SLAVERY.

When the New York World says that the condition of the New Bedford cotton spinners is worse than was the condition negro slaves, it brings a fearful indictment against those responsible for this state of affairs.

But the World is not satisfied with the mere statement. It proves it. It demonstrates the truth of its assertion by interviews with a former slave and with a man who once owned slaves, and in an editorial comment says: "Both say that the negro slave was better fed, better housed, more lightly worked and better cared for than these mill hands are, besides the certainty he had that in old age or illness he would be fed, clothed, housed, doctored and nursed, where the mill hand has only charity to depend upon for these benefits."

So both the ex-slave and ex-slave owner conclude that the conditions at New Bedford are "worse than slavery."

And yet New England was the loudest and fiercest protestant against the system which made the ownership of human chattels possible. There is a problem presented to the philanthropic and intelligent people of New England which demands their attention. Indeed, the problem is not one alone for the east to consider. It is as broad as the whole country.

However, the discussion of this question is forced on New England by the events of to-day. When 125,000 of her citizens are struggling for the maintenance of a miserable wage of $6 a week, and her rich manufacturers are fighting to cut that wage down by 10 per cent reduction, the matter will not down, nor can its consideration be thrust aside.

Freedom is a noble thing. It is the thing for which the founders of this republic fought and died, but are not the owners of money making the word freedom meaningless? The philanthropists of New England and the starving wage workers should get together and discuss the question.

FARM AND STOCK

Export cattle were tagged by Government inspectors at the Chicago yards to the number of 253,100 in 1897. This is 10,000 more than 1896 and nearly 100,000 more than in 1895. Prices were from twenty-five to fifty cents better than in 1896, ranging from $1 to $5.50. These cattle grade as "good to choice" and weigh from 1,300 to 1,500 pounds. The margin was rather small on which to operate and the year has not been altogether profitable to exporters. This report ought to indicate that somebody had best stick to horse breeding and not "over-do" the cattle business.

The Chicago News claims that no one has yet been found who, without consulting a dictionary, can pronounce all these words correctly at first reading. Frequently ten or fifteen mistakes are made. "A sacrilegious son of Belial who suffered from bronchitis, having exhausted his finance, in order to make good the deficit, resolves to ally himself to a comely, lenient and docile young lady of the Malay or Caucasian race. He accordingly purchased a calliope and a coral necklace of a chameleonee hound, and securing a suit of rooms at a principal hotel, he engaged the head waiter as a confidant. He then dispatched a letter of the most exceptional caliber extant, inviting the lady to a matinee. She revolted at the idea, refusing to consider herself sacrilegious to his desires and sent a polite note of refusal; on receiving which he procured a carbine and a bowie-knife, said that he would not now forego fetters hymenical with the queen, went to an isolated spot, severed his jugular vein and discharged the contents of the carbine into his abdomen. The debris was removed by the coroner, who remarked: "The most fearful squalor could not so enervate a man. He was a malefactor."

The Way To Weigh More

Good weight means good health. Good health means good blood. Good blood is at the bottom of it all. If it is not there, you are in a losing fish, chances are ten to one that the blood is impure and lifeless. Pure blood builds up good firm flesh. It makes muscles that you can use. There is no fictitious fat about it. It gives you a balance in the bank of health that you can draw on without fear.

Sarsaparilla is Nature's remedy for impure or impoverished blood. It is just the sort of remedy that grandmother used to dig up in the garden. It is simple, pure, efficient. It puts the digestion into perfect order, stimulates the appetite, assists nutrition, cleanses and purifies the whole body.

The surest and purest and safest and best of all sarsaparillas is
