SAMUEL RICE
Contractor and Brick Manufacturer.
Prominent among the contractors of this section, and a gentleman whose skill in building and construction can be seen in numerous instances hereabouts is Sam'l Rice. He is thoroughly practical in all that pertains to the business, his experience and ability creating a constant demand for his services. Among the many instances of his handiwork may be mentioned the State Bank & Trust building, the Glyndon Hotel, the handsome residences of W. W. Watts and James Bennett, and numerous other buildings. His work is done in a marked degree of thoroughness, and he receives a living wage. He is in constant receipt of tropical fruits in season and a complete assortment awaits the patron. A full line of candies and confections, in a variety of qualities and flavors, including the celebrated Lowrey and Lease chocolates responds to every demand, while from a handsome fountain soda water with the purest fruit syrups is served the year through. Oysters are received throughout the season, and ice cream is supplied for parties. In addition to the above, he has in quantity lots, and is expert in planing in his establishment. The restaurant department is well equipped where meals can be secured well cooked and promptly served amidst appetizing surroundings. A special feature is the elegant line of fancy groceries presented, especially selected because of their purity, and this branch is growing rapidly in popular favor with the housekeepers of this section. Mr. Rice began business in Richmond sixteen years ago. Little by little he has grown until today it is recognized as one of the leading institutions of the town, made so by energetic and enterprising methods so characteristic of its owner.

MADISON MONUMENTAL WORKS.
Love and duty prompt and untiringly prompt in the preservation of an enduring memory of the departed. With the progress of civilization and the refining influences of the times as a result of education, the duties of the worker in cemetery art become more exacting and expert ability is required to satisfy popular taste. In this respect, Madison Monumental Works responds faithfully to every demand. A complete line of designs from the severe plain to the elaborate and reflecting all the new and advanced ideas in monumental work are kept on hand and are being added to daily. In the forty year history of this concern a reputation for excellence of work and honest values has been established and contracts executed for the best people throughout this section. Numerous instances of the work done and the class of work turned out may be seen in all the cemeteries of Madison, Clark, Montgomery, Estill, Garrard and Jessamine counties and each piece speaks for its self. Good work needs little argument the productions of this establishment are constantly attracting purchasers to Madison Monumental Works one of the leading establishments of its kind in Central Kentucky. Mr. Jas. T. Hamilton, the proprietor needs no introduction to the people of this section. His long residence in the community, and his reputation for square and honorable dealing have won for him general confidence and esteem.

MISS LILLIAN MARTIN, Graduate of Training School for Nurses, Brantford, Can., now of Milwaukee, Wis., Testifies that the Hospital Doctors Rely Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Cure Severe Cases of Woman's Ills. She says:
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—While we are taught in the training schools throughout the country to look down upon patent medicines, and while the doctors in the hospitals speak slightly of them to patients, I have found that they really know different. I have frequently known physicians to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to women suffering with the most serious complications of ovarian troubles, failure of the womb, leucorrhoea, and other disorders. They would as a rule put the Compound in regular medicine bottles and label it 'Tonic,' or other names, but I knew it was your Compound, and have seen them fill it in prescription bottles. I have never seen anything but happy results from its use; inflammation and ulceration has been relieved and cured in a few weeks, especially where your Sanative Wash has been applied also. I feel it but due to you to give proper credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; I have great faith in it and often recommend it to others."—MISS LILLIAN MARTIN, 384 27th Ave., Milwaukee Wis.

Joe Giunchigliani,
Fruits and Confections, Restaurant and Grocery.
The excellent facilities enjoyed by Joe Giunchigliani enable the citizens of Richmond and the surrounding section to obtain the finest and most delicious fruits and delicacies which enhance in a marked degree our living advantages. He is in constant receipt of tropical fruits in season and a complete assortment awaits the patron. A full line of candies and confections, in a variety of qualities and flavors, including the celebrated Lowrey and Lease chocolates responds to every demand, while from a handsome fountain soda water with the purest fruit syrups is served the year through. THURMAN GROCERY CO.
The old system of "charging it," in which the good invariably paid for the bad has been completely supplanted by the Therman Grocery Company, by the cash methods which are strictly enforced in their establishment. The cash system, however, is not to be confused with cash and carry, for by cash and carry, not credit standing, and good intentions, can goods be procured. Thus the storekeeper, with money in one hand and an order for goods in the other, goes to the door of producer or manufacturer and secures, at the very best, the best of the line, prices which make a saving to the patron, and which each one can secure. Mr. Thurman's stock comprises the best productions in the food lines, and by rapid sales goods are kept fresh, pure and wholesome. Furs, hides, tallow, and wool are also advanced from the farmers of the surrounding country, the highest market prices being always offered in cash. Mr. Thurman has been engaged in the grocery business in Lexington and other points for fifteen years, is an expert buyer, and an enterprising business man. The "spot cash" method, which pursues it, after all, the popular one. It is following strict business principles to their legitimate results, small profits and rapid sales with each transaction complete in itself.

DOUGLAS & CULTON
Meat Market
The system of wholesale slaughtering and shipping of meats, as conducted by the large establishments of the country, may have its adherents, but that system that insures supervision by those who live among us and whose methods may be easily discovered, and, should be, the most favored. Hence the preference should unhesitatingly be given to enterprises which serve the public with meats from native cattle, and to men who supervise from pasture to counter scale every detail of the business. Such is the system enforced by Douglas & Culton and the result is that their wholesome and choice meats find favor with an extensive patronage.

C. H. PIGG
Groceries, Queensware, Etc.
Many have been the changes experienced in Richmond since the establishment of this house nineteen years ago. Enterprises have been started, only to enjoy a brief career, but in all these years the grocery of C. H. Pigg has kept right on serving the public well and faithfully and making for itself the reputation for that sterling integrity which has endeared it so deeply in the confidence of the public. To-day, as in years past, there is presented a stock of staple and fancy groceries, sufficient in quantity to meet all demands, and of such variety and assortment as to satisfy any desire, together with a full line of queensware and glassware, toys and novelties. "Obelisk" floor is one of the leading features, his being the only house in town handling this celebrated Louisville product, housekeepers for miles around seek this establishment, for they know that the floor is the best, and that it is the best brand-maker on the market, and this guarantee is as good as a bond. "Honest dealing and courteous treatment of customers" has ever been the motto of Mr. Pigg, and the success he has ever met with in his business can be attributed to the strict enforcement of these principles.

TAYLOR BROS
Hardware, Stoves, Farm Implements
The well stocked and enterprising hardware establishment occupies a position of importance in every community. From its well-chosen stock the property-owner, housekeeper and farmer can secure promptly and satisfactorily their constant needs. The business conducted by Taylor Bros justly deserves the attention and approval of Richmond's trade facilities because of the alert methods of its management to supply successfully popular needs in all that pertains to the hardware and implement line. The line of stoves on exhibition contains all that is new and practical in stove building and embraces such well known makes, as the Southern Queen and Model Steel Range. Taylor Bros' establishment is head quarters for the Volcan Chilled Plov, New Western Cultivator, Old Hickory Farm wagon and McCormick reaper. It binds their stock in this department showing careful selection and attention to the markets' best offerings. Special attention is given to tin and galvanized iron work and a well equipped work shop in charge of capable and expert mechanics responds to all demands at reasonable prices. C. C. and C. A. Taylor compose the firm. These gentlemen are natives of Madison county, and have been established in Richmond for eight years during which time they have succeeded in building up a reputation for excellence. They are energetic and experienced in mercantile affairs their large patronage testifying to their ability as trade builders, and they are to be commended for giving to the buying public a reliable, progressive and representative hardware and implement establishment.

Modern photography represents the advancement of the present age. In the past few years greater improvement has been made than ever before. The subject of this sketch Louis Schlegel, the ever best of our photographers, is one of the best of the town which is made to compare favorably with that done in the larger cities. Richmond has won for him the usual result of energy, hard work and a disposition to embrace every new idea made up of Madison county's most cultured people. All work turned out is distinguished for correct, pure, artistic shading and elegant finish, and not a picture is permitted to leave the gallery that does not give complete satisfaction. Mr. Schlegel's reputation for square business methods is such as to inspire the full confidence of the public and the recognition which his studio receives is well merited.

The vastitude of the stock and the facilities employed give to this establishment a leading position in the hardware and implement business of Madison county. The stock comprises a full line of shell and building hardware, cutlery, mechanics tools, and tinware, and a big assortment of stoves and ranges. The implement department contains the Deering harvesters, Tiger Corn Planters and Cultivators, Brown Cultivators, Oliver Chilled Plovs, Capital wagons and Hagan gasoline engines. All these goods in operation, workmanship and price bear the imprint of the Deering and Oliver Companies, which is thoroughly established by their exclusive popularity and use. This business house established in an humble way thirty-five years ago by Mr. J. T. Shackelford has grown year by year until now the magnitude of the stock and the facilities acquired give it rank with the metropolitan institutions of the larger cities. By applying the principles laid down and strictly adhered to by his father, D. B.
