

Winter is Not Over Yet

AND WE HAVE ON HAND

One Moors Air Tight Heater,
One Radiant Home Air Tight

And about Six (6) Plain Stoves that we will sell at

Actual cost

To get the space for other goods. We want the room for the ONLY PLOW ON EARTH, and no other plow will go under the earth like the Oliver Chilled.

We have just gotten a fresh line of Collars, Hames, Backbands and Bow Bridles, and everything else to make another crop, and will sell the BEST GOODS at the LOWEST PRICE as we have always done.

D. B. SHACKELFORD & CO.,

Main Street. RICHMOND KY

WE pride ourselves on our splendid assortment of which is more extensive now than ever. Every line is crisscrossed with Holiday selections. To properly celebrate the season you will probably desire some new pieces. We have new Chairs, Tables, Buffet, China Cabinets, Side-Boards—everything suitable for the Dining Room.

FURNITURE.

Iron Beds—full stock has just reached us. Library and Center Tables—in variety and beautiful workmanship. Ladies Desks—best bargains ever offered.

Hockers—any style you may wish. Consoles—very latest designs. See the line of Leather Goods, Picture Framing, Carpets, Matting and Rugs.

JO. S. JPOLIN,

220-222 W. Main Street.

Undertaking a Specialty.

G. W. Evans, Jr.,
Embalmer and Director

HOMES! HOMES!

AN OPPORTUNITY

TO GET A GOOD HOME CHEAP

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

$3.00 TO $10.00 PER ACRE.

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

The Round Stone Land Company has determined to offer for the next thirty days desirable homes of ten acres and up at the low price of from

AN EASTER ANNIVERSARY OFFERING.

In memory of Mrs. Louisa Oldham Retell, of Madison county, who died March 25, 1902.

"Such beautiful, beautiful hands! They were neither white nor small. And you, I know, were so securely tucked. That they were fair at all. I've looked on hands whose form and hue A sculptor's dream might be. Yet were those aged, wrinkled hands Most beautiful to me.

"Such beautiful, beautiful hands! Though heart were weary and sad, These patient hands kept telling on. That the children might be glad. The tears well forth, as looking back To childhood's distant day, I think how those hands rested not, While mine were at their play.

"But, oh! beyond the shadow land, Where all is bright and fair, I know full well these dear old hands Will palm of victory bear. Where crystal streams through endless years, Flow over golden sands, And where the old grow young again, I'll clasp my mother's hands."

An Interesting Insurance Question.

An interesting insurance question has arisen in connection with the Peaslee-Gaulbert fire. It so happened that noon yesterday was the time at which the quarter's insurance expired, and the fire started at 11:59. Of course all existing policies had been either renewed or new lines substituted in view of this expiration, but the question arises as to which list of policies is to make good the loss—that in existence before or after yesterday noon. It seems pretty well settled that the old policies must make good the loss on the Louisville Lead and Color plant, as the fire originated in this plant, and hence started before noon, though only one minute in advance of that hour. The next question that arises however, is whether the fire in the factory can be properly construed as the beginning of the fire in the warehouses, to which it subsequently spread. If so, of course, the old policies would have to make good, if not then the new. The majority of insurance men questioned on the subject gave as their opinion that the new policies were liable on the warehouses, but all admitted that there was some argument on both sides.

As a matter of fact, most of the new policies were merely renewals of the old, so the question is mainly interesting because of the technical construction of the law it calls for.

In this connection a story is being told to-day of one insurance agent who telephoned another asking him to take a line on the lead and color plant yesterday a few minutes after 12 o'clock noon. The latter was about to answer "yes" when he heard the clang of the fire engines, asked where the fire was, and when he learned sent an emphatic "no" over the telephone. In justice to the first agent it should be stated that he knew nothing of the fire at the time he telephoned.—Louisville Times.

Wields a Sharp Ax.

Millions marvel at the multitude of maladies cut off by Dr. King's New Life Pills—the most distressing too. Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles—Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Biliousness, Fever, Malaria, all fall before these wonder workers. 25c at Perry & Thomas' drug store. 1m

Possession of your home is nine points of the mother-in-law.

HOUSEWORK

Too much housework wrecks woman's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Derailed nerves, leucorrhoea and falling hair, would result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

WINE OF CARDUI

is doing this for thousands of American women to-day. It cured Mrs. Jones and that is why she writes this frank letter:

Glenosau, Ky., Feb. 10, 1902.

I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and I am so glad. I am getting better than I ever was before, and sleep good and healthy. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I don't think of laying down through the day.

WINE OF CARDUI

For sale at drug stores.

Life Guards.

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, too, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, disease, find allies in the very elements, as cold, influenza, catarrh, the grip and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong. 1m

IN HIS WOODEN LEG.

Was Found $15,000 After the Junk Dealer Died.

For 25 years Gideon Mason, a junk dealer of Trenton, carried his savings around in his wooden leg, and when he died he was worth $12,000 in cash. Mason lost his leg in a railroad accident years ago. He never would tell whence he came. He had known better days, he said, and rum had caused his downfall. When he was able to get out on crutches he took the pledge. Friends bought him a wooden leg and a push cart, gave him a few dollars and he began buying and selling junk. Mason prospered. When the first wooden leg was worn out, Mason appeared with one of his own manufacture. It was very clumsy, bulging at the top. During the past six years Mason was accompanied on his rounds by a dog that was equipped with a wooden leg made by Mason to take the place of one it had lost. The dog and the man were inseparable. Mason was found stretched on his bed, dead, the other day. The county physician found a cavity in Mason's wooden leg in which were concealed a will, $15,000 in bills, and the pledge he had taken and kept for 25 years. The will was holographic; it set aside a certain amount to pay the expenses of the burial, and provided for the care of the dog as long as he should live, gave $5,000 to a friend, and the residue to be spent in buying artificial limbs for worthy cripples in Mercer county. Two days after the death of Mason the dog was found dead on the grave of its master. In accordance with Mason's wish, expressed in his will; the dog was buried at his feet.—Newark News.

One Box Cures Eczema.

"I had a very severe case of eczema and tried several remedies given me by different druggists, but they did not give me satisfaction. Mr. Eytman recommended your Kenick's Eczema Cure and it gave me instant relief and one box cured me of the disease." Oscar Schilling, Warsaw, Illinois. For sale by B. L. Middleton, Mine-ly

A Burdensome Prisoner.

A young man named James Kinnaird was taken to Bowling Green last Saturday to answer several different charges of forgery committed there several months ago. After committing the forgeries Kinnaird went to Nashville, where he played the same game and was given a year in the county jail by Judge Ferriss.

Kinnaird is a morphine fiend and unless he has the drug injected into his arm every half-hour yells like a madman and falls in a faint, and a physician had to be summoned. The Nashville authorities, therefore, decided to give him all the morphine he wanted, but after trying it a week found that it took just $3 worth of the drug a day to supply him. This was reported to Judge Ferriss, and he decided that it would be too expensive a thing to the county to keep Kinnaird in jail until he had served his years sentence, and so he ordered the sentence suspended and Kinnaird taken to Louisville, where he was also wanted for forgery.

The Louisville authorities got tired of him and finding that he was wanted in Bowling Green sent him there. It will be only about two weeks until the court can send Kinnaird to the pen, and the county may supply him with morphine until that time.—Franklin Favorite.

Life Guards.

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, too, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, disease, find allies in the very elements, as cold, influenza, catarrh, the grip and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong. 1m

It's the early bird that gets frost-bitten.

Bird-Shot For Tiger.

No use to hunt tigers with bird-shot. It doesn't hurt the tiger any and it's awfully risky for you.

Consumption is a tiger among diseases. It is stealthy—but once started it rapidly eats up the flesh and destroys the life. No use to go hunting it with ordinary food and medicine. That's only bird-shot. It still advances. Good heavy charges of Scott's Emulsion will stop the advance. The disease feels that.

Scott's Emulsion makes the body strong to resist. It soothes and toughens the lungs and sustains the strength until the disease wears itself out.

Send for free sample.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 605 Pearl St., N. Y. per and from all druggists.

DOESN'T PAY.

Judge Barker Tells Colored Audience That Crime is a Poor Business.

"Crimes and Criminals" was the subject of a lecture delivered yesterday afternoon by Judge Henry S. Barker at Quinn's Methodist chapel, colored. The chapel was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Judge Barker, in the course of his lecture, took occasion to speak of the marvelous advance made by the colored race in this country since the war. He said that it was hardly to be believed that a body of slaves, turned free as the colored race was, should go out in the world and make such rapid strides toward a higher life. He closed his lecture by saying that crime is the poorest paying business in the world. He said:

"In the first place, it is absolutely certain that the criminal will be caught and punished. Most crime springs from idleness. There seems to be something antagonistic between labor and crime. Crime is the most unprofitable thing in the world. There isn't a day that some boy or girl does not come before my court for stealing. From a business standpoint, leaving out the moral side, crime does not pay."—Louisville Post.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va. This Remedy is for sale by Stockton & Hagan.

New York Fashions.

Summer furniture may be covered with cretonne patterned in apple blossoms.

Lorgnette chains of gum metal are set at intervals with Egyptian red beetles.

Blue and green straws make serviceable hats.

At swell affairs ices are served in square tissue paper baskets with handles. Tissue paper flowers hang from the center of the handle over the ice.

Very smart indeed are dainty shoes of white kid and black patent leather.

Gun metal charms in animal form are plentiful. Cows and donkeys vie with pigs, and there are plenty of bow-wows. The pig is considered a lucky amulet.

A beautiful hat shown by Lord & Taylor is made almost entirely of white and purple hyacinths. It has two full stalks of bloom—one purple the other white—placed in upright position directly in front.

For the small boy of the family a Russian blouse suit in white pique trimmed with white French knots is very smart. Two rows of these edge the lapels and pointed skirt collar fronts.

Crinkled cotton crepes in delicate colors are used for the body of gentlemen's shirts. The front band and the cuffs are of a striped fabric to match, the stripes being ribbed in colors like the shirt. The striped cuffs have broad white bands.

EVELYN CABLE.

Rev. Ezekiel Forman.

Thursday's Morning Herald contained a lengthy editorial on the late Rev. Ezekiel Forman, which, for the benefit of the many warm friends of that noble christian gentleman in this county, we take the liberty to quote in part:

We have always taken a profound interest in older persons. Among our most delightful memories are those of hours spent with aged people, from whom we are glad to draw reminiscences of their early lives and the scenes we were delighted to form pleasant friendships.

Dr. Forman was one of the most delightful men to those in whom he took an interest, with whom he liked to be, who were good listeners. He possessed an extremely retentive memory, a keen appreciation of intellect and humor and had a clear and pleasant style in private conversation which was very agreeable to one who delighted in such reminiscences.

He was one of the most earnest men, and was by no means only a pleasant companion. He was always a man among men. His convictions were very decided. He was firm, resolute and in some respects rather an aggressive man. What he believed he believed with his whole heart; and while he was never offensive or discourteous, he was always earnest, sometimes abrupt in the intensity of his expressions or in the earnestness of his views. He came of a staid, virile race, physically, mentally and morally. His physical constitution was of the finest. His moral fiber was most admirable, and his native intellect was far above the ordinary. Such a man is of inestimable value in any community; and when it is remembered that his active ministerial life covered a period nearly, if not fully, fifty-nine years, during the whole of which he was a most active, vigorous, earnest, able minister of the Gospel, preaching regularly several times a week, speaking numerous times in addition to his regular services, during some of the years actively engaged in teaching, always absorbed in his work—the extent, variety, value and results of such labors are beyond estimation.

Dr. Forman belonged to the class of Presbyterian ministers in Kentucky that formed a peculiar and most remarkable group of men. He graduated under the presidency of Dr. John C. Young, and we suppose about the time Lewis W. Green and William L. Breckinridge were professors in Centre. He was on most intimate terms with John Breckinridge the younger, Robert J. Breckinridge, Stuart Robinson, Thomas Clelan, James Burch, Nathan Hall, James Barnes, Joseph J. Bullock, William M. Scott and their contemporaries. These men were not only preachers, but they had a very high sense of civic duty. They participated actively in every movement looking to the development of the State of Kentucky; and the ministers of other denominations, their contemporaries—men like unto these, such as Ryland Dillard, John A. Gano and Bishop Kavanaugh. Many of them were farmers living upon their farms. They were leaders in the development of thoroughbred cattle. They became Superintendents of Public Instruction, interested in the political purity and development of the State, and among these men he was equal. He shared their confidence, was their companion in their consultations, often moderator in the Presbyterian Synods or which he was a member, and always held to be a wise, sincere and courteous adviser.

We are accustomed to earnest men; we are so familiar with the career of preachers of the Gospel; we see them go in and out in their daily life, that we lose somewhat the capacity to measure and value their services to the community, or to appreciate what their loss would be. We say this, however, and among these men he was equal. We are a little inclined to be critical as to their earnestness and not altogether tolerant to their follies, and we do not fairly estimate, we do not fully appreciate the incalculable services which such men perform.

If by some Divine power all the good which was done by this servant of Jesus Christ, during his nearly sixty years of active ministry, could be revealed to us, what a vision of radiance and power would fill our eyes and our hearts. The power of his example, the influence of his teaching, the force of his life during a series of years in the different communities in which he was called to labor when added together make a totality of influence and of power which cannot be measured by any human meter.

If by some Divine power to be born, lives, die and soon be forgotten. Only a few names become immortal, and scarcely any men are so great that their separate words and their individual deeds remain immortal; but the work does not die. This is wrought into the unchangeable, imperishable fabric of human progress and human happiness which is being constructed by the untold labors of all men through all ages. Without such lives it would be, indeed, a sorry history, and a most ignominious process.

When we see an old man, worn out by the labors of a long and arduous life, passing along almost unheeded through the streets of a city, or quietly waiting for the death which has passed him by so often, involuntarily we feel like taking of our hat and reverently bowing our head; he represents so much of all that so much of sorrow and yet so much of human good that we feel that he who honors him honors himself. This is why we write this editorial that we may put on record our admiration for a life devoted to good deeds for a long, laborious, honorable career spent in the service of the Everet.

A resident of Everett, Kan., went on the bond of a "joint-keeper" for $1,000 the other day, where upon the local paper printed the following paragraph: "If this man is able to go on the bond of criminals, he certainly ought to be able to pay for his wedding invitations which he got of us; a few years ago. And we will take fifty cents on the dollar.

Some stories are too true to be good.

Do You Know

That Buggies and Carriages are from $5 to $10 cheaper now than they were a few weeks ago? We still have good selection on our floor. You save money by buying now and

Do You Know

That Buggies and Carriages are from $5 to $10 cheaper now than they were a few weeks ago? We still have good selection on our floor. You save money by buying now and

Do You Know

That Buggies and Carriages are from $5 to $10 cheaper now than they were a few weeks ago? We still have good selection on our floor. You save money by buying now and

Do You Know

That Buggies and Carriages are from $5 to $10 cheaper now than they were a few weeks ago? We still have good selection on our floor. You save money by buying now and

The Inclemency of the Weather

Caused a great many of our Lady friends to not get out during our

OPENING

And in order to not disappoint them we have kept a great many of the Suits, Walking Skirts and Silk Skirts over and they can be seen at our Store any time during the

Next 20 Days

We guarantee perfect fits in all garments sold. A great many beautiful suits and skirts are being shown in this line. Ask to see our new silks, new wash fabrics, embroideries, wash piques, white goods, linens, novelties in dress goods and trimmings.

Just received a new lot of

American - Lady - Corsets

In all the new leading shapes and girdles. Get our prices on carpets and matting. Very respectfully,

W. D. OLDHAM & CO.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.

Office at the Barren Building, next door to the Court House, on Main Street.