Nice Things a Baby Can Do

It can beat any alarm clock ever invented waking a family up in the morning.

Give it a fair show and it can smash more dishes than the most industrious servant girl in the country.

It can fall down oftener and with less provocation than the most expert tumbler in the circus ring.

It can make more genuine fuss over a simple brass pin than its mother would over a broken back.

It can choke itself black in the face with greater ease than the most accomplished wretch that ever was executed.

It can keep a family in a constant turmoil from morning till night and night till morning without once varying its tone.

It can be relied upon to sleep peacefully all day when its father is down-town and cry persistently at night when he is particularly sleepy.

It may be the naughtiest, dirtiest, ugliest, most fretful baby in the whole world, but you never can make its mother believe it, and you had better not try it.

It can be a charming and model infant when no one is around, but when visitors are present it can exhibit more bad temper than both of its parents put together.

Have you seen the new concrete-hen nests? They are great. For sale by O. W. Potts, 125 Bogg's Lane, Richmond, Kentucky.

Times Have Changed

The Norwalk (O.) Evening Herald has an idea that things have changed a good deal since the days of that great and meek man Moses. It quotes Dean Walter Williams of the school of Journalism at the University of Missouri as saying:

"Moses was the first great editor. He wrote more graphically than today's newspapers would dare."

"Maybe he was," replies the Herald. "But at that we will just venture the guess that if the late Moses were in the newspaper business today he would have his troubles. Irate relatives of Adam and of Noah and of Abraham would hotfoot it down to where he had his office and demand instant satisfaction. The people of Sodom would order their paper stopped to a man and refuse to pay up their back subscriptions. And lawyers' fees, defending him from libel suits, would eat up his substance. Furthermore, on top of all this we'll bet he would find himself in trouble with the post-office authorities before the end of the first week."

Greatest Thing in World.

Not love, not money, not power, but the newspaper, is "the greatest thing in the world," according to Arthur Brisbane, who spoke before the Chicago Woman's Aid in that city recently.

Human progress began when language developed," said Mr. Brisbane. "Speech between individuals was then the most important in the world. The old Greeks thought that liberty would perish if the people could not gather in the public square and hear the State or the city discussed. As the world grew larger the press took the place of the old meeting, and today the American newspaper is the public square where all the affairs of the nation are discussed with a freedom which would have astonished the Grecian sages.

"The newspapers of today are honest, in that they reflect the conditions as a mirror reflects that which impinges on it. If you gaze into the looking-glass and don't like what you see don't change the mirror, change your face. So when you criticize a paper remember you are criticizing

The Poultry Yard.

Perfect cleanliness from now on will cut short the louse crop of June.

If you stamp a date on your eggs, sell them before the date gets old.

Keep your meat scraps where they will not get stale and sour. Fresh feed is what makes healthy hens.

Feed little and often, and be careful about overfeeding. This is the great secret in feeding brooder chicks.

Banish the fighting stock from your pens. Give them a place all by themselves. That is the best kind of arbitration.

Cook some beans or peas, mix them with wheat bran and feed twice a week and see if you don't get a lot more eggs.

Have everything convenient. Steps saved in the care of poultry will mean that much less labor. Labor costs money.

When the brooder chicks seem very thirsty, wild for water, let them drink and feed very lightly while so feverish.

Many a setting of eggs has been spoiled by making the nest on the floor where the wind can come up through the cracks under the old mother hen.

Wet, cold feet do not do your hens any good. Chills them and keeps them back from doing their level best and that is the only thing that will satisfy you and me.

Don't be in a hurry to remove the hen and her brood from the nest. The tender little chicks need warmth more than they do feed for the first 24 hours.

Does that old hen lay? Try this if she does not: Feed her all the chopped clover she will eat, with an ounce of lean meat every day. If there is any lay in her that will bring it out.—April Farm Journal.

Some Rules Worth Following

1. Don't lie, it wastes time and you get caught in the end always the wrong end. A liar must have a faultless memory.
2. Watch you work, not the clock. A long day's work makes long day short, and a short day's work makes the boss' face long.
3. Give more to the boss expects and you'll get more than you expect. Increase his profits and he will increase your pay.
4. You owe much to yourself you can't afford to owe anybody else. Keep out of debt.
5. Dishonesty is never an accident. Good men, like good women, can't see temptation when they meet it.
6. Mind your own business and in time you'll have business to mind.
7. Don't hurt your self-respect. An employee who will steal for his boss will in time steal from him.
8. Don't dissipate at nights you can do only half as well next day, and hold the job only half as long.
9. Don't get familiar with your employer or allow him to do so with you, but command his respect by diligence and politeness, not flattery.
10. Don't kick when your boss kicks. If you are worth correcting, you are worth keeping.

Rural Telephones

Mr. Farmer: Make your home as modern for your family as a city residence, and place yourself in a position to get the latest market quotations any time. This can be accomplished by means of our telephone service, which you and your neighbor can get for a sum that is small compared with the benefit received. Call or address our nearest office or write direct to headquarters, Nashville, Tennessee, for information regarding our special "Farmers' Line" rate. If at present you are not enjoying telephone service, we can immediately interest you. Our lines cover the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana and the Southern portion of Indiana and Illinois.

Better Plumbing

MANY homes should have better bath rooms than they now have. We have always tried not only to do better plumbing than we ever did before, but better than anybody else can do. The volume of work we are now doing shows how we are succeeding.

We use only genuine "Standard" plumbing fixtures and employ only experienced workmen. Our repairing service is prompt and reliable.

INBUILT

That is one secret of the success of this Typewriter.

Necessary devices which, with other typewriters are attached (at an extra price) or else built as parts of "special" machines with only one use (at a more exorbitant price), are inbuilt in every NEW MODEL

Some Inbuilt Features: Card Writing, Decimal Tabulating, Condensed Billing, Color Work and Stenciling.

L. C. SMITH & BROS. TYPEWRITER

All these kinds of work—and others—done by one simple typewriter, our regular correspondence machine, without any extra cost in attachments.

BALL BEARINGS—throughout—typebar, carriage, segment—all important frictional points made anti-frictional.

The inbuilt devices save you the price of attachments (costly things, these attachments); the ball bearings save work and wear.

And this complete machine costs no more than others which must have expensive attachments to make them complete.

To buy a typewriter without investigating the L. C. SMITH & BROS. would be like buying silver without looking for the "Sterling" mark.
