

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How the Giraffe Got His Collar

I WILL tell you kiddies another story in blank verse tonight," said daddy, at which Jack and Evelyn were much delighted. So daddy began:

"My story is pleasing, if not true. It's about a giraffe that lived in a zoo.

"This giraffe was striped and lank and tall, overstepping the animals all. That animal stood and swallowed hay in his pen at the zoo all the live long day.

"And the people passed, kids, women and men, and watched the giraffe in his roomy pen.

"And they said: 'What a wonderful, long necked creature! No wonder he's such a popular feature.'

"And the people thought it was a popular treat to stand and watch the giraffe eat.

"For he ate all night and he ate all day; down his long neck went loads of hay.

"And they said: 'I never since I was born saw a neck like that! Why, he looks forlorn!'

"Now the poor giraffe is a patient brute, but that kind of comment didn't suit.

"His appetite sort of fell away, and he didn't eat his stint of hay.

"And he said to himself: 'I'd give a dollar if I could somehow get a collar "To hide my neck from the jeering crowd and stop their sneering comments loud.'

"No sooner said than a cry of 'Fire!' brought the firemen brave who never tire.

"The blaze was in the monkey house, and it was soon put out with a soft den douse.

"Then some one looked toward the tall giraffe and burst out into a roaring laugh.

"A great big length of hose had dropped by the giraffe's pen, and he had topped.

"His head down there as quick as a wink, and next—well, children, what do you think?

"Well, just as sure as a silver dollar, he'd put on that hose for a rubber collar!

"But instead of laughing at him no more the people looked and began to roar."

FOR BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, COUGHS AND COLDS

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 cents.

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as the below named druggists are selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say—"Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just the same as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of its manufacturer or on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, because 50c worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at home with simply one pint of sugar and one-half pint of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schiffmann's famous Asthmador of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schiffmann, Proprietor, Saint Paul, Minn. Short History of Governor

Augustus Owsley Stanley was born in Shelbyville, Shelby county, May 21, 1807, and consequently is in his forty-ninth year. His father, Rev. Wm. Stanley, 83 years old, is a retired Christian minister. His mother, who is Miss Amanda Owsley, is 70.

He married Miss Sue Soaper, of Henderson, in April, 1903, and they are the parents of three boys, A. O. Stanley, Jr., 11; William Soaper Stanley, 7, and Marion Shelby Stanley, 4.

Because Mr. Stanley's father was a minister, subject to removal from place to place, he, the newly-elected and Governor obtained his early education by piece meal. In his teens, he entered State University, at Lexington, and later entered Centre College, Danville, being graduated from that institution in 1830.

Educated for the law, Mr. Stanley began the practice of his profession in 1834, receiving his license in that year. He first hung out his shingle at Flemingsburg, Fleming county, and later went to Henderson, beginning the practice of law there March 10, 1838. He later formed a law partnership with Judge John L. Dorsey, of Henderson.

Mr. Stanley was a presidential elector in 1900, and two years later was elected to Congress for the first time from the Second Kentucky district, composed of the counties of Christian, Daviess, Hancock, Hopkins, McLean, Union and Webster. He served that district in Congress for six consecutive terms, declining to stand for re-election in 1914, making the race for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in August of that year. He was defeated by J. C. W. Beckham, and a short while later began his race for the Democratic nomination for Governor, defeating H. V. McClesney, his nearest opponent, by 37,863 vote. He defeated Edwin P. Morrow, 417 votes for Governor, and will be sworn in at high noon, December 7.

GIVE PEOPLE GREATER POWER

The people of Kentucky are interested, deeply interested, in education, as is shown by the advance made in the last ten years. The people want this development and advancement to be of a strong and lasting type, but this can not be accomplished either rapidly or consistently so long as the school system remains in politics. Every good citizen and parent in the state wants the management of their child's educational advantages divorced from politics.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction is a constitutional officer and must be elected at a regular election of state officers, and he can not succeed himself. To make this a little plainer, it might be well to state that the name Superintendent of Public Instruction is one of the many names on the ballot, and interest in the election is centered, not on him, but upon the head of the ticket. Frequently a state ticket is elected on a big public issue, absolutely foreign to school matters, and the result is the Superintendent of Public Instruction is in office, not as a school man, but as part of a successful party ticket.

No business could be carried on with thorough success if the general manager knew that at the end of four years he must give up his position, to a new and untried man, no matter what progress he was making. This is exactly what the state is now doing with its important business, the business of manufacturing strong citizens out of the raw material of child-life.

It is proposed to amend the Constitution of this state by striking from Sections 91, 93 and 95 of the Constitution the words "Superintendent of the Public Instruction."

The objects to be accomplished by this amendment are to enable the people of this state to take the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction out of politics and to continue in office for a longer period than four years any Superintendent whose conduct of the office is highly efficient.

Under the operation of the Constitution, which compels the election of Superintendent of Public Instruction for a term of four years, and which makes this officer ineligible to succeed himself, the people are prevented from eliminating the office from politics and prohibited from retaining in office an efficient officer.

The public, in urging this change, should bear in mind the fact that even with the quickest action possible under the law this amendment would not be effective until the candidate elected next August will have served his full term, so that no comparisons or ill feeling need be developed.

Prominent Minister Dead

Rev. Thomas J. Stevenson, for many years prominent in the Baptist church and educational activities in Kentucky and the South, died at his home in Georgetown last week suddenly of acute indigestion at the age of 77 years. Besides his wife, who was Miss Anna Macklin, of Franklin county, to whom he was married in 1872, he is survived by a son, Judge John Macklin Stevenson, of Winchester, and a daughter, Miss Mary Emma Stevenson, of Georgetown. Mr. Stevenson was born in Fayette county. At the age of eighteen he was graduated from Georgetown College and was Professor of Greek and Hebrew in the college. Later he taught in the female seminary under the direction of Dr. J. J. Rucker and still later at the female college at Shelbyville of which Dr. J. W. Goodman, father of his first wife, Miss Hattie Goodman, was president.

In 1830 he became pastor of the First Baptist church of Georgetown, and remained in that charge for six years. He later held pastorates at Stanford, Covington, Winchester and Frankfort, and for the past twenty-one years has been pastor of the Great Crossings church in Scott county.

He was the father of Judge J. M. Stevenson, of Winchester, who is well and favorably known in this city.

NOTICE

We wish to call the attention of the public to the following ordinance of this city:

(a) "The Board of Council shall meet on the first Monday in December after their election and, after having qualified as required by law, shall thereupon, or as soon thereafter as practicable, but before the first Monday in January succeeding, appoint the following officers whose term of office shall begin on the first Monday in January and continue for two years and until their successors are appointed or elected and qualified to-wit: City Clerk, City Treasurer, City Assessor, City Collector, City Policeman (except Chief of Police), City Engineer and such other officers as the Board of Council may deem it necessary all of whom shall have the qualifications required by law for their respective offices."

We call the attention of the public to this ordinance in order that they may be on their guard.

We have been elected to serve the people as councilmen for next two years and it is our determination to do our duty as we see this duty in the best of circumstances. We earnestly desire an expression of the will of the people made to us either by petition, letter or in person as to their desires in the matters referred to above.

We further call the attention of the people to the fact that it is the duty of the council to fix the salaries of the officers elected by them and this will be attended to by the council at the meeting named. Also to fix the number of policemen for the city for regular service, leaving it to the Mayor and Chief of Police to provide such extra police as may be required on special occasions.

We desire information as to the number of police for the regular service and as to the salaries to be fixed for all the above named officers.

We invite your hearty co-operation in this matter in order that the best interests of the city may be served. And if you fail to do so you are the benefactor of our peace if our actions should not meet the approval of the citizens.

This request is joined in by Joe Arnold, who is now absent from the city, and therefore can not sign the same. We have not formed a combination but intend to act as our judgment, aided by the advice of the people, dictates to us is the proper course. Respt.,

Robt. Golden, W. L. Leeds.

STOMACH MISERY QUICKLY VANISHES

Your money back if you want it is the way in which B. L. Middleton, the popular druggist, is selling Mi-on-a, the great dyspepsia remedy.

This is an unusual plan, but Mi-on-a has so much merit and is almost invariably successful in relieving all forms of indigestion that he runs but little risk in selling under a guarantee of this kind.

Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-on-a will help you. If it doesn't, tell B. L. Middleton that you want your money back and he will cheerfully refund it.

A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-on-a and its continued use will soon start you on the road to perfect digestion and enjoyment of food.

Mi-on-a has been so uniformly successful that every box is sold under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve. What fairer proposition could be made?

B. L. Middleton gives his personal guarantee of "money back if you want it" with every box of Mi-on-a that he sells. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy. 48-2f

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Richmond Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pains in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are frequently symptoms of kidney trouble, and a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys should be taken in time.

Doan's Kidney Pills is a good remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has acted effectively in many cases in Richmond. Follow the advice of a Richmond citizen.

Mr. Edwards, 308 Edwards street, Richmond, says: "I think that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney medicine and one that should be in every home. I suffered intensely from weak kidneys and backaches. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Middleton drug store, and they made me feel fine."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Edwards had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Proper Gifts For Little Girls.

Some mothers have no idea how much a child lives in an imaginary doll land and how much effect her life among her dolls has upon her character. The mother instinct alone is worth cultivating in a girl. But how can it ever be developed with an impossible fancy dressed like a grownup in clothes that won't come off, won't wash and have no duplicates? Why, the mere desire to give a child something which will absorb and amuse her should teach the average mother that the little girl should be given five domestic interests of her own.

War Upon Pain.

Pain is a visitor to every home and usually it comes quite unexpectedly. But you're prepared for every emergency if you keep a small bottle of Sloan's Liniment handy. It is the greatest pain killer ever discovered. Simply laid on the skin—no rubbing required—it drives the pain away. It is really wonderful.

Maxim H. Schuler, Berkeley, Cal., writes: "Last Saturday, after tramping around the Panama Exposition with my feet, I came home with my neck so stiff that I could not turn my head. Sloan's Liniment freely and went to bed. To my surprise, next morning the stiffness had almost disappeared, four hours after the second application I was as good as new." At Druggists. 25c. 47-1m just how pretty and practical it could be, and with this auspicious introduction it has been assured success. Now that cold weather is here it is no longer used as a pretty bit of decoration, but as a serviceable part of a lady's wardrobe. Scarfs are of all kinds and colors. We have the silk scarf in vivid green, the snowy white one in Angora, a few in black satin and still others in velvet. But the most popular and the prettiest variety is the one made of Angora, either in pure white or in some vivid coloring. The scarf is economical because it cleans well; also it is warm, and because of these two characteristics it is destined to be immensely popular.

In the fashions of the present the alliance of the practical and the picturesque is quite a salient feature. A proof of this is shown in the number of pockets with which the latest modes are furnished. Both coats and frocks have a good supply of quite capacious pockets, and as often as not these are not only visible, but ornamental, adjuncts of the designer's scheme. Most skirts have a pocket at either side, now. Sometimes these are outlined with silk braid, fastened with a button and finished with a tassel, which droops from the lower end of it. The tendency is to indicate and not to conceal the presence of the pocket and make it do double duty in being ornamental as well as useful.

There is a decided contrast presented between the shoulders in the evening and those in the street. We are trying to make them negligible, even though they are not pronouncedly decorated. In evening frocks, and when we go in the streets we are covering them out of shape, with huge capes and collars that are growing in size.

The old time dropped shoulder seam with its baggy gathered leg-of-mutton portion eased into a long and well shaped cuff top just below the elbow line is the gallant among new sleeve styles.

Short evening gowns, without trains, will be worn quite as much at evening performances of the opera and the theater as those with trains. A train gives no dignity to a debutante. To be sure, the slender, sashlike ends may be flung over one arm if she dances or walks through the theater. For such creations are better left to the stout woman, to whom fashion seems to have granted but this one little boon.

ANNA MAY.

THE pointed front of this surplice closing bodice gives excellent lines to the stout figure. The gown is made of finest quality faille silk. The upper part of the bodice and vestee are of self color georgette crepe. The waist is beautifully embroidered back and front with very fine silk rat tail braid. The back of the waist is trimmed to match the front. The skirt is specially full through the hips. The flare tulle is finished at the bottom with two rows of cording. If this gown is made up in all black it is an excellent style for mourning wear. It is also shown in navy and blackberry. The entire waist is lined with heavy china silk.

The outdoor girl first brought the light of fashion's favor to the scarf. She introduced it in her outdoor costumes, showed the fashionable world
