

STARTS FIGHT ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Senator Knox Offers Resolution To Separate It From Treaty of Peace.

(By Associated Press) Washington, June 10—Bulletin—A resolution to have the Senate declare it could not concur in the League of Nations provisions of the peace treaty as now drawn, was introduced today by Senator Knox, republican, of Pennsylvania, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

The resolution which is expected to bring a more definite stage to the fight being made against the League covenant, asks that the covenant be separated from the peace treaty before being submitted to the Senate for ratification.

At Knox's request, the resolution was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

Knox offered his resolution after a conference with Chairman Lodge. Apparently it will have the support of most of those who have conducted the fight against the League and is regarded as notice to the Paris peace conference that ratification of the treaty with the League covenant interwoven with the terms of settlement is opposed.

The resolution also proposed that the League of Nations question can be reserved for consideration by the people of any nation, without affecting Germany's obligations in the actual settlement of the peace terms. It is proposed to have the Senate declare it the policy of the United States that should the peace of Europe again be threatened, the states will regard such a situation as a menace to itself and would pledge the nation, if necessary, to go to the defense of civilization again.

BAD CONVICT SHOT

Intoxicated on an alcohol made of water and shoe paste, Stamford Scott, a convict, attacked Deputy Warden Gus Rogers in the penitentiary at Frankfort and was shot three times. Scott is from Winchester. He learned that a shoe paste used in the shoe factory contained alcoholic properties. Experimentation taught him to make a more or less palatable and highly loaded beverage of which he partook generously. When ordered into his cell by Deputy Warden Rogers he refused, then struck the warden a heavy blow over the eye. Rogers, unable to cope with the huge man, fired. The bullet took effect in the thigh. Still showing fight, he was shot two more times by another deputy. These bullet took effect in his shoulder, but he is not seriously injured.

ANOTHER BIG SNAKE STORY

Mercer county is taking the blue these days for big snake stories. A dispatch from Harrodsburg today said E. T. Perkins, a stock trader of that city, was on his way home from Marion county, clipping along in his car at a pretty fair rate when a black snake of the racer family, about eight feet long ran out of a patch of weeds in a fence corner to the middle of the road and started ahead of the machine. A race began, Perkins trying to overtake the snake and run over it. After three-quarters of a mile, another car approached from the opposite direction. The snake on seeing it, left the road and again took to the bushes. Perkins said it seemed to him that only about half the snake's body was running on the ground, the remainder being elevated, the head some two or three feet above the surface of the road. He said he never rode so fast before in his life, but in the distance traveled the snake gained several yards on him.

"OLD BOYS" STAGE REAL "COME BACK"

This dope about a fellow not being able to "come back" is all tommy-rot. Jess Willard might not be able to come back on the 4th of July when he steps into the ring with Jack Dempsey but that has nothing to do with this story. There is such a thing as a "come back." It was proven yesterday afternoon when the faculty of the Normal School, with bones popping and muscles creaking, placed a base ball team on the field that walloped the boys of the Normal school. From Saturday at noon, when the game was announced in the dining room, until the game reached the third inning the entire student body did not let an opportunity pass to take a "crack" at a "prof." They could not sympathize with any but their own.

Promptly at 3 o'clock Gentry, of the Faculty team, faced Earl McDougle, who was chosen to occupy the mound for the Boys. The first three men up were easy outs. Gentry hit a slow second, Ramsey struck out, Compton struck out. The Boys went out the same way, only different. It would be a shame to go into detail and explain how the Men got all their 16 runs in just seven innings. In the fourth inning Miller got just two hits and the Men scored eight runs. Not bad for old-timers?

The final score was 16 to 3, and the three that the Boys scored were on errors. A. C. Bruner, who did the pitching for the old-fellows, hal the kids "eating out of his hand," so as to speak. It was great sport, watching them pop out or strike out. Just three measly hits were all that Bruner allowed. He was the batting star of the game, gathering five hits and one walk out of six times at bat. Following was the line up:

- Faculty Normal School
Crutcher c Fox
Bruner, A. C. McDougle
Keith 1st b Hensley
Gentry 2nd b Mayse
Compton 3rd b Reynolds
Bruner, J. D. S S
Ramsey L F (A. Ringer)
Miller C F Taylor
Brook R F Murray

Notes Of The Game

Taylor in center field played in Memorial Hall dorr. It was well he did. Compton's long drive in the fourth had started for Lancaster pike. Taylor froze on to it. His only catch.

Keith at first base dug them out of the dirt or speared them high in the air. There's no way to get them around the big boy.

Gentry at second used his feet as well as his hands to stop them. He was busy all afternoon keeping his white sailor uniform clean.

I. B. Shearer on the side lines was the only fellow who had nerve enough to root hard against the pros. He evidently is assured of his grades this term.

Mayse at second has a hard time keeping quiet but there was nothing he could say.

Dr. Bruner at short was prancing around like a big leaguer. He set a pace that was hard for his son, who was pitching, to keep up with.

Brook is wearing a sun-kissed brow today. His face is the color of his hair.

Fox and McDougle traded chewing gum three or four times each inning but that old "luck trick" would not work for them.

Compton reached Crutcher behind the bat in the fourth. His peg to second caught Murray 30 feet off the base. Some peg Lieuty has.

Hensley at first base ran down to second and stabbed a pop fly. The catcher could have gotten it without exertion.

Coleman Covington, who kept the score had to go to the business office and use the adding machine before he could give the final count.

Robinson, our own Prof. J. R., had the most unpleasant job of all. He tried to umpire. 1908 rules predominated.

Ramsey played a great game in left field. Not one ball was hit to his pasture.

Here's looking forward to the big day next year!

"TIGER" AGAINST MODIFYING TERMS

(By Associated Press) Paris, June 10—The Council of Four met today amid an atmosphere of considerable pessimism over the larger question of peace-making with Germany, which is still unsolved. It is understood that Clemenceau is still against any modification of the peace terms. The Silesian question and the Polish frontiers are still unsettled.

BLACK DENOUNCES AUTHORS OF ATTACK

Governor James D. Black addressing a good audience Saturday at Central City, hotly denounced the widespread distribution of a circular mentioning the fact that he wrote a letter several years ago to the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company asking that a neighbor and friend be permitted to retain his annual pass for the remainder of that year. "That circular contains more or less casual reflections against me, but it does not say that when I became lieutenant governor of Kentucky I surrendered my pass and resigned as attorney for the railroad company," said the governor. "It does not say that I was instrumental as lieutenant governor in causing the passage of a law requiring the railroad to pay their employes twice a month, or that I assisted in securing passage of the law forbidding the granting of passes to any persons, citizens, or public officials, except employes of the railroad company."

"I noticed several days ago that Col. Denhardt, one of my opponents for the nomination, stated that he knew nothing of such methods. I assumed that Col. Denhardt meant what he said and that therefore he had nothing to do with the circular printed and distributed over the State of Kentucky, and I call upon Judge Carroll to say, without equivocation or reserve, whether or not he has had that circular printed or disseminated, or whether or not he has consented that someone else may do so. I reserve the right to speak further in this proposition after Judge Carroll has answered this question," said the governor.

Governor Black also commented upon the demand made, seventy-two hours after he had taken over the affairs of the state at Frankfort that he remove certain appointive officers. "In that connection the name of Thomas B. Pannell, fire marshal, has been mentioned. The truth is that Pannell receives his appointment not from the governor but from the auditor of public accounts, and is in no way under the executive department," said the governor. He called into any agreement with former governor Stanley to retain his appointees.

The good roads question, his position on the manufacture and sale of liquor, taxation and the Bingham tax case were discussed. Speaking of the latter he said: "I have heard it said that I should, with one stroke of the pen undertake to cancel the contract entered into between Governor Stanley and certain attorneys employed to assist the attorney general in the collection of the inheritance tax due the state from the Bingham estate. I have been looking into the matter as rapidly as I could under all the circumstances. I did not endorse the position of the imperial chancellor of Germany when he said a treaty was a scrap of paper, I realized that there is some thing more than that in a contract. The contract in this particular matter was, as I am informed, entered into under authorization of the Legislature by the attorney general and Governor Stanley, and the said counsel entered upon the discharge of their duties and have rendered more or less valuable services. But if I find that I can do it under the laws of this state and conscience and fairness dictates that the contract can and should be canceled without doing the state injustice I will cancel it."

THIS PREACHER A BIRD

(By Associated Press) Sandersville, Ga., June 9—W. A. Wray, pastor of the Baptist church here created a mild sensation at his morning services yesterday when he stopped in the midst of his sermon, got a shot gun and killed a jay bird that had been flying and singing around the auditorium while the services were in progress. Mr. Wray announced just before the congregation sang a hymn that he would kill the bird if it sang again. The jay bird began again. The preacher stopped the services, went to his home, got his gun, returned to the church and fired once. Services were then resumed.
