MAY DIE OF HURTS IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Local Negro Still Unconscious From Injuries Sustained While Coming From Lexington

Ed Fife, a well known Richmond negro, is at the point of death at a local hospital as a result of being thrown violently against a tree, when an auto truck in which he was riding from Lexington late Saturday night, went over an embankment about five miles from Richmond. That Fife and four other men with him were not instantly killed is said by L. R. Blanton, local coal dealer, to have been almost a miracle. Mr. Blanton had just passed the truck the negroes were driving a short distance. He said they were driving at a terrific rate evidently trying to overtake him, when of a sudden, the truck swerved to the side of the road crashed through a fence and went down an embankment. He says that men flew out of the truck in every direction.

By the time he could stop his car and back to the scene, flames had burst out. Four quarts of whiskey which the negroes had were on fire and parts of the car became ignited, but Blanton and the men who escaped injury, soon extinguished them. Mr. Blanton found Fife lying unconscious and brought him to town in his car and took him to a hospital. There were but few bruises on the injured man, but his head is said to have struck a tree with tremendous force and he has not yet regained consciousness.

John Estill was driving the truck, which is owned by M. Wides, of this city, it is said.

Dr. E. C. McDougle, of Eastern Normal, went to Frankfort Monday morning to attend another meeting of the famous School-Book-Commission, of which he is a member. There was a rumor here that the celebrated Grinstead Speller and Heizer Physiology might be re-adopted by Commission in spite of the newspaper criticism of them.

EDUCATIONAL BODIES TO FULLY REORGANIZE

(By Associated Press)

Milwaukee, Wis., June 30—Complete reorganization of the National Education Association and affiliation with all other educational bodies within a year was predicted by President George D. Strayer in his address before the annual convention here today. He said that such affiliation would bring the Association's membership to 500,000.

"The time is at hand when we must act," he continued. "The profession must be one hundred per cent efficient in determining educational policies. The teachers must help to rewrite state constitutions, draft educational codes and encourage all laws providing for public welfare.

"All of America's children must be insured the kind of teachers that the most intelligent parents want for their boys and girls."

Leading educators will discuss lessons of the war and educational needs of the future before the convention, which will continue for one week and which will have as its keynote, "development of the new democracy as it applies to the public schools."

Dr. Strayer told the delegates that a great association of teachers, an association willing to accept responsibility, is necessary in order to develop a system of education that will make good the promise of democracy. He said that through the justice of the association's cause legislation would be obtained for placing a department of Education in the national government, with a secretary in the President's cabinet.

He said appropriations would be obtained which will stimulate states to provide "a properly trained and adequately paid teacher for every American boy and girl" and thus eliminate illiteracy and Americanize the foreigners in this country.

When the convention was called to order it was estimated more than 10,000 persons would be in attendance by tomorrow. England, France, Porto Rico, Canada and the Philippine Islands are officially represented by early arrivals.

The value of proper physical training will be given close attention by this year's convention. A huge physical training demonstration, participated in by two thousand pupils was staged by Dr. Wittich, Supervisor of Physical Training in the Milwaukee Public Schools. It was intended to show the superiority of physical training over military drill in the matter of promoting health of pupils.

Representatives of organized labor manufacturers, commercial men and agriculturalists will take tomorrow in a general discussion of "The New World, and the demand it will make upon Public Education."

A LETTER FROM COL. R. C. OLDHAM

June 30th, 1919.
The Richmond Daily Register
Richmond, Kentucky.
Gentlemen:—

I note a paid advertisement in your paper last week under the heading "Shanks A Winner" and was amused at a quotation from the Kentucky Irish American, a paper published in Louisville in which some mention was made favorable to him.

Just for the information to my home people I will explain how he happened to get it. The Kentucky Irish American is a small paper published in Louisville and a representative of the paper advised me early in the campaign that the paper would support me and they gave me several articles. When my opponent announced a representative of the paper advised me that when they supported a man they "had to have theirs" and that they would continue to support me if I would give them two hundred dollars worth of advertising, that unless I did—

Of course you know what I told him and after that I was not surprised to see the favorable mention for my opponent.

My race is progressing nicely and since Mr. Shanks' announcement I have had ONE MAN out of two thousand to withdraw a written pledge made to me and that one man was a doctor who lives in his home town.

Very respectfully yours,
R. C. OLDHAM. 180-1

SWOPE MAKES PLEA ON STATE ISSUES

Republican Candidate For Congress Is Heard By Good Sized Crowd Here and At Berea

Although the race for congressman in the 8th district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Harvey Helm has nothing to do with state questions, Hon. King Swope, the brilliant young republican candidate from Danville, pitched his campaign principally along state issues, in his speech to the voters at Richmond Saturday afternoon and at Berea that night. There was a large audience to hear the candidate speak here. He was introduced by Hon. C. C. Wallace.

Mr. Swope rapped the attitude of the Democratic governor and other leaders on the textbook question and discussed at length what he called the wasteful extravagance and other mistakes of the national Democratic administration. Some Democratic legislation was characterized as "idiotic," and a strong defense was made of the rights of the soldiers who fought in the world war.

Mr. Swope was heard by a good crowd at Berea. He was accompanied here by his father and met many of the voters while here.

May Locate in Oklahoma

Dr. H. G. Sandlin, received a telegram from his son, Claude, Saturday, stating that he was enroute to Oklahoma City, Okla., where he will take the State Dental Board examination, and in all probability will locate there. Young Dr. Sandlin, has been enjoying a good dental practice at Flemingsburg, for the past few months, and while he loves his native state, he always had a desire to seek his fortune in the west. The news comes as a surprise to his many friends in Richmond, who wish him all the prosperity and happiness that the Golden West offers.

Swinebroad Booking Sales

W. E. Moss, advertising manager for G. B. Swinebroad, the land sale king of Garrard county, was in Richmond today, looking over a number of farms in this section, which he will probably handle. Swinebroad has had remarkable, in fact, wonderful success with farms he sells. He now has sales engaged for the following dates: 160 acres of fine land in Garrard county in the Camp Dick Robinson section, near Bryantsville, on July 15th; 230 acres, five miles from Lancaster in the Hubble section on July 16th; 200 acres in Pulaski county, near Somerset, on July 21. All of these farms are attractive sub-division propositions and Swinebroad will sub-divide and sell them in separate tracts. Watch the papers for description of these different tracts of land. You know Swinebroad never takes anything unless it is a proposition that appeals to the buyer. Also on July 23rd, he will hold a sale of the Abredeen Angus herd of cattle for Mr. R. H. Crow near Shelby City, and also a lot of other personal property, stock, farming implements, etc., at the same time; Swinebroad having just recently sold at private sale Mr. Crow's farm of 276 acres to Tom Metcalf at $200 per acre, hence the sale of this personal property.

LONG DRY SPELL BEGINS TUESDAY

Nearly all roads lead to Lexington today—the last chance to lay in a supply of alcoholic beverages before the long dry spell begins July 1st. It is useless to deny that scores of cars have gone over from this section, and have returned well laden. Most everyone seems to want to "lay a little bit" against the possibilities of snake bite and any other emergencies which may arise and require the application of stimulants of unusual and powerful "kick." An Estill county man who has come through Lexington twice after a case of whisky, is said to have had it stolen each time here, but of course, he may have been mistaken.

A dispatch from Lexington to the Cincinnati Enquirer, Saturday told of the demand there for booze before the closing down order goes into effect at midnight tonight. It said:

John Barleycorn went out in bottles, jugs and barrels today, traveling miles and miles into the dry lands radiating from Lexington. He went by train, by motor and by mule teams. He went into the stomachs and pockets of men who by thousands flocked to Lexington from early morning, constituting probably the greatest number of visitors the city has known in a single day.

It was the day of the biggest trade known to the liquor dealers. They have shelves tonight, but their tills are full to overflowing and Monday's bank clearings will be a record breaker for June 30.

John Johnson, who has the reputation of having sold more bottled goods than any other man today, discarded his cash register early and substituted a basket for bills and a basket for coins. Both were filled and emptied into a barrel before the night passed. Frank Hudson and Louis Kay, two of the large liquor dealers, sold out their stocks completely. The firm of Minihan and King sold out yesterday. An airplane alighted near the city this morning and took its departure this afternoon. After it had gone a taxicab driver claimed that he had delivered to the machine five cases of whisky. A man from the mountains said as he paid $40 for a dozen bottles of eight year old whisky at Coley Lancaster's, "Well, good bye, boys; I expect the next time I see you fellows you'll be up our way trying to buy some of our liquor, and you'll have to pay for this red liquor."

Uncle Sam To Enforce It

(By Associated Press)
Washington, June 30—Wartime prohibition, effective at midnight, will be strictly enforced by the Department of Justice, as far as existing machinery can function, it was said today. Open violations of the law, threatened in New York and other cities, will be promptly dealt with by federal agents.

Dispatches from a number of important cities indicated that the celebrations of the passing of liquor will be many.

Louisville To Celebrate

Louisville, June 30—The wettest night in its history is planned for Louisville tonight when wartime prohibition goes into effect. Saloon keepers began early today to reap the harvest which is expected to be maintained until midnight.

New Orleans, June 30—It is predicted that 90 per cent of the 960 saloons here will close and the remainder attempt tomorrow to sell only beer of low alcoholic content. Crowds flocked to liquor stores today but found no bargains.

St. Louis, June 30—The Liquor Dealers Association announced it intended to keep a number of saloons open tomorrow for federal test of war time prohibition. Plans are made for many celebrations at cafes and hotels tonight.

Kansas City, June 30—Saloon proprietors here today employed extra attendants and lengthened bars to care for brisk business. Celebrations resembling New

TICKETS GO ON SALE MONDAY

Big Tent and Seats Arrive For Chautauqua Which Opens In Richmond July 7th.

John S. Tome, in advance of the Redpath Chautauqua is here and doing a lot of advertising and planning of arrangements for Richmond's chautauqua which opens July 7th. The big tent and seats arrived Saturday and are being put up on the beautiful Normal campus. Tickets will go on sale today. Mr. Elmer Deatherage is in charge of the local arrangements. He has secured a committee of ladies, who will handle the tickets in town.

Perhaps the big feature of the coming entertainment will be a complete production of "It Pays to Advertise" which will be given by a company of eight on the sixth night. "It Pays to Advertise" is a sparkling American comedy full of good, clean wholesome laughs.

The central character is soaked in the gospel of advertising. He claims that the reason we eat hen's eggs instead of duck's eggs is because the hen advertises her product.

The central idea of "It Pays to Advertise" is an old one. It is the familiar story of the rich father and the idle son. The father makes a wager with his stenographer that she cannot induce the son to go to work. She succeeds in getting him interested in a business proposition. He forms a partnership with a fellow who believes with all of his heart and soul and amazing nerve that it pays to advertise.

The father is a soap manufacturer and the young fellows enter the same field, flooding the territory with ads of their soap. The ad campaign was a tremendous success but the young enthusiasts forget to make soap. The public demands the new soap and the youngsters force the soap trust to buy them out at an enormous price.

The refreshingly clean tone and genial humanity of "It Pays to Advertise" will mark it as one of the big features of the entire program.

White Capping In Bath County

Tom Jackson, of Little State neighborhood in Bath county got into an altercation with a neighbor who knocked him down, when two pistols fell out of his pockets. Jackson was then arrested on a charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons, and while he was in jail awaiting trial a party of men went to his home and ordered his family to leave, and when they had done so, burned his house and part of his furniture. Jackson was acquitted of the charges against him. His wife says she knows some of the men who burned her house.

16 ADDITIONS IN REVIVAL

The revival services which closed at the Second Christian church on Big Hill avenue last week, were most successful in every way and resulted in a spiritual awakening of the congregation and members that will have splendid effect. Rev. J. H. Stambaugh, of Charleston, W. Va., who conducted the services, proved himself a strong exponent of the Word, and made a host of friends during his stay here. There were 16 additions to the church during the meeting, and Rev. D. H. Matherly, the pastor, and the members are pleased with the fine work done.
