

TOM REED DROWNS IN DIX RIVER

Well Known Young Man Former of Foxtown Section Meets Untimely End In Mercer County

Thomas Reed, a well known farmer of the Foxtown section, was drowned in Dix river Saturday while seining near the home of his father-in-law, Mr. Dave Motley, in Mercer county. With a number of his friends he had eaten dinner at Mr. Motley's and they went fishing after wards. Those who were with him and witnessed the unfortunate affair were Robert Dougherty, Wm. Hubert, Leonard Stanifer, and Ben Dalls and a Mr. Richardson of Ohio. Mr. Reed was not a swimmer. Together with his companions he was wading about in what was thought to be shallow water, but he stepped off a ledge into water over six feet deep and drowned though his friends made every possible effort to save him.

Mr. Reed is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pattie Reed, and three little children, who have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement. The oldest is only six years of age. He is also survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Reed, who live on the Lexington pike near Foxtown, four brothers, John Reed, of Covington, Wm. Reed, in Lincoln county, Claud Reed, of Irvine and two sisters, Miss Eva Reed, who lives with her parents and a married sister. The deceased was a member of the Christian church at Antioch near Valley View. The body was recovered and the funeral services were held at Shawnee Run church near Burgin Monday afternoon, Rev. Moore conducting the services. Burial was in the cemetery there.

A number of his friends and relatives from Madison attended the funeral. Among those who went were: Mr. H. G. Smith and wife, Mr. D. M. Smith, Mr. Tom Corns and wife, and Mr. Bill Hubbard and wife, all from Hayden House, Mr. and Mrs. Jake C. Long and little son of Newby, Mr. Reed was the very popular with all who knew him and many are mourning over his untimely end.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Bob Maupin went to Cincinnati last week after a fleet of Fords, but returned almost empty-handed, the little things are so hard to get. He brought back two touring cars and two truck chassis, and that's all he could beg, borrow or steal from the Ford distributing plant there.

Phil Willging went down to Cincinnati Sunday and saw the Reds walloping the Philadelphia team for the third straight time. As New York lost Sunday, to Chicago, Sunday put the Reds five and a half games ahead of the Giants in the National League pennant chase. If it had been possible, Phil would have engaged his world-series seats right there and then.

Hon. William H. Shanks, of Stanford, was here Sunday with Mrs. Shanks, the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Baldwin. Mr. Shanks says that there seem to be no sore spots after the recent state primary, and there is utmost enthusiasm among the candidates and democratic leaders over prospects for certain victory over the republicans in November. Not until the official count at Fankfort on the 16th will Mr. Shanks know what his exact margin for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, though it is estimated by those who have kept close tabs on the result that it will be several thousand.

RICHMOND NEGRO TELLS OF BRUTALITY IN ARMY PRISON CAMP

Claude Ballou, a former Richmond colored boy, who lived on East Irvine street, and has been serving in the army for some time, told a newspaper correspondent a harrowing story of the treatment he was subjected to in a soldiers' prison camp in France. A dispatch from Camp Devens, Mass., where he is now located, said that Ballou told a story of the brutalities and cruelties which he and fellow prisoners sustained at the hands of "Hardboiled" Smith and his numerous underlings at the famous Prison Farm No. 2, near Paris, where Smith was in complete charge.

Ballou declared that when he arrived at Farm No. 2, Sergeant Ball immediately beat him unmercifully, simply because "he didn't like my looks." Later said Ballou, he received another beating because his name didn't suit his guards.

He said, "I went to the medical officer at the farm for treatment. Without any word of explanation I received a terrible beating and was thrown out into the night. Several men who scarcely able to walk were obliged to work or to be beaten into insensibility. The Major knew all about it for his desk was right in the window and he could look out and see the flogging and abuse going on all the time."

Ballou declared he didn't know the major's name, but named a Lieut. Mason as being "Hardboiled" Smith's understudy.

"Later I was nearly crazed by starvation that I tried to leap over the stockade and injured myself so that I could not get up. "Hardboiled" was sent for and he ordered the guards to build a fire under my head until the unbearable pain made me get up. Following this I was shackled, gagged with soap and with a tanned blackjacket until insensible. Two days later I was obliged to load two freight cars with coal each day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. If I failed to get the first car loaded in time for dinner, I received no noon meal, and the same penalty at night was for the second car. It was Sergeants Hamton, and Penell who were the guards who repeatedly beat me while on these cars and it was the latter who gave me this crippled arm. On my last day, here—day my arm was broken, I received four bayonet wounds inflicted by the guards under the direction of Smith and from this time on I remember but little of what happened.

"Later Sergt. Ball offered me my freedom if I would accept guard's position and carry on this brutal work.

"On my refusal, I was again beaten and thrown into a cell six feet by four and forced to sleep on cinders until they cut my naked body."

HAVE MADE HIT IN RICHMOND

The Venetian Serenaders, who began an engagement at the local theatres Monday, at the de luxe performances in the afternoon and evenings, have made a big "hit" with Richmond music lovers.

The Venetian Serenaders, as a playing and singing orchestra, consisting of five people—one lady and four gentlemen—is an excellent company and an unusual one. As a novelty—it is unique. The instrumentation is as follows—guitar, accordion, mandolin, banjo and violin. Aside from these instruments they double on several others, which they play equally as well. They play and sing from the classical to the popular, in the English, Italian and Spanish languages, and they have a large repertoire of the late and popular ragtime selections.

TRIBBLE FAMILY'S DELIGHTFUL REUNION

The fourth annual reunion of the Tribble family of Central Kentucky was held at Union City, Saturday, when about 200 descendants of Austin Tribble, founder of the family, from Madison, Clark, Estill, Montgomery and Fayette counties, with a number of invited guests were present and enjoyed a bountiful feast and indulged in family reminiscences for a whole day. The formal exercises were held in the Baptist church at Union City, of which Rev. Andrew Tribble, one of the most noted of the family, was at one time pastor. Charles Tribble, of Waco, presided at the meeting and addresses were made by him, by George Tribble and other members of the family. A basket dinner was spread under the trees surrounding the church and the occasion was a most delightful one and will not soon be forgotten by the participants.

The idea of an annual reunion of this large and influential Kentucky family originated with Judge M. L. Tribble, of Fayette county, now deceased, and his daughter, Miss Julia Tribble, and has become a fixed institution, looked forward to with pleasurable anticipation by the numerous scions of the family scattered over Central Kentucky. It was announced at the conclusion of Saturday's gathering that next year's reunion will be held at Flatwoods church, near Waco.
