MUNICIPAL COAL YARD PROPOSED

At City Council Meeting and Question Will Be Pushed—Ready For White Way

The adjourned session of the Richmond City Council covered a lot of business in its deliberations Friday night, after passage of an ordinance and resolution with respect to work on the new sewers and streets. An important innovation, which was given its initial consideration, was the suggestion that the city open a municipal coal yard. It is understood that the proposition is to buy coal at the mines, in car loads and bring it here and sell it to consumers at actual cost. The statement was made that run of mine coal can be laid down here in Richmond at about $3.85 a ton. Councilman Terrill's motion that the Mayor appoint a committee to consider the matter and report back was unanimously adopted, and the committee was named composed of Councilmen Terrill and Golden.

Councilman Golden and O'Neil brought up the question of reduction of the street carnival licenses again. The latter's ordinance to reduce the license fee on carnivals from $100 to $25 per day was defeated by a vote of 3 to 2. Those voting against it were Councilmen Terrill, Allman, and Mershon, while Councilmen Golden and O'Neil supported it.

Councilman O'Neil told of suggestions that the Red Cross and the city combine in payment of the salary of a community nurse for Richmond. He told of the valuable work which one could do in co-ordinating the charitable enterprises of the city, especially during the coming winter. He suggested the salary would be about $90. Councilman Golden opposed the suggestion on the ground that sufficiently satisfactory results could not be obtained to justify the expense. Mayor Evans spoke strongly in favor of the proposition, and told of the good work that Miss Eva Roberts, acting in a similar capacity, had done last winter. It was decided to take the matter up again at the regular meeting in September.

Representing the Kentucky Utilities Company, Judge J. J. Greenleaf discussed with the Council the proposed White Way, which it is planned to install just before the new streets are laid. The Council agreed to enter into an arrangement as proposed and accepted by the business men of the town and the Kentucky Utilities Company, just before the war broke out, and which was deferred by hostilities. This arrangement is in effect that the business men provide the standards or iron posts for the lights, that the Kentucky Utilities Co. provide the wiring and do the work, and the city pay any increased cost for electricity occasioned by the new system of street lighting in the business portion of town. Councilmen Mershon and Allman were named as a special committee to take up the matter with the business men at once. It was suggested that a light be placed on each street corner and one in the middle of each block on Main street from Collins to Lancaster avenue.

Col. S. F. Creelius, who has the street and sewer work in charge, says that plans for making this greatly desired improvement must be pushed for the city will soon be in shape to do something tangible on the street work. Several business men have offered to contribute standards or posts for a light, while it is not believed that there will be the slightest trouble in making up all the funds required to purchase all that may be needed.

PRESENT COUNCILMEN ARE RENOMINATED

In the confusion moving its office right at primary election time, the Daily Register inadvertently overlooked mentioning the fact that the six present members of the Richmond City Council received Democratic nomination for re-election. No other candidates announced for nomination, and so certificates of nomination were issued, as required by law, to Councilmen Charles B. Terrill, John Mershon, Wm. O'Neil, John Allman, O. B. Powell and Robt. Golden. No nominations were offered for the councilmanic places by any members of the republican party, as Richmond usually votes Democratic and nomination in the Democratic primary is equivalent to election. As a matter of form the names of the six councilmanic candidates go on the ballot used in the city of Richmond at the regular November election.

It is not believed that they will have any opposition, however from any source, as it is generally recognized that the members of this council and city administration are giving the taxpayers and citizens generally the best service possible. They have charge of the big sewer and streets improvements, and it seems fitting that having carried on their part of the work so well and far, that they be continued in charge of this important work for the city during the next two years.

BOB HARRIS GETS BIG WELL IN TEXAS

Friends are greatly pleased to learn that Col. Bob Harris and his associates have struck a 2,000 barrel a day well on their Texas oil holdings. Associated with Mr. Harris are Charles Maples, and Coleman Benton, of Irvine, and J. Mott McDaniels, of Frankfort. Their holdings are located in Eastland county, Texas. Mr. Harris has been spending considerable time there. This well is their No. 2 and they now have drills at work on Nos. 3 and 4 which are between producing wells. Derricks are also being erected over wells 5 and 6. No. 2 hit at 2,700 feet according to information obtained here. These gentlemen, are said to have invested $70,000 in the Texas fields, but this 2,000 barrel well alone makes their investment gilt-edged right from the start and assures them of enormous profits.

Train Narrowly Escapes Wreck

A south-bound L. & N. train near Hopkinsville, Christian county, full of passengers, had a narrow escape from wreck the other day from an unusual cause. Immediately behind the engine tender was a car filled with race horses. The door in the end of the car next to the tender came open from some unknown cause and one of the horses fell out backward. The horse was dragged about a mile and was ground literally to pieces. For about a quarter of a mile the front trucks of the horse car left the rails and ran along on the end of the wooden cross ties. In this distance the train crossed a trestle and the prints left in the wood by the derailed wheels showed they lacked only a few inches of going off the ends of the ties.

Mrs. Pat McCown and daughter, Susie, have returned to Washington, D. C., after a pleasant visit to friends here.

CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS Again Reported Sold By Mrs. Willis For $75,000

Another report comes from Crab Orchard that the famous old Springs hotel has been sold by Mrs. J. B. Willis, formerly of this city. There have been a number of such reports within the past year or so, but they have up to this proved unreliable. A dispatch from Stanford said of the sale as follows: Crab Orchard Springs Hotel, one of the oldest hostleries in the South, changed hands Thursday. A corporation composed of Joe S. Haselden, Lancaster; G. B. Reynolds, Stanford; Lee Dekle and J. G. Mackey, of Tampa, Fla.; F. M. Fickeson, of Pittsburgh, and H. G. Skiles, Crab Orchard, purchased the controlling interest from Mrs. J. B. Willis and T. C. Willis, of Nicholasville. The purchase price was $75,000. The company will be incorporated at once with a capital stock of $150,000. Possession will be given October 1. Fifty to seventy rooms will be added. The lake will be enlarged, rowboats and canoes will be obtained and the road leading from the hotel to the lake will be concreted. The purchase includes eighty-five acres of land with the Crab Orchard Springs, the Chalybeate and Magnesia Springs and the Grove and Field Springs.

JONES STARTS TO HUNT MAGGIE STONE

Heavy Fines and Jail Terms To Be Suspended If He Has Her In Court Monday

If Gardner Jones finds and brings to the courthouse by Monday little 14-year-old Maggie Stone, whom he is accused of taking away from the Black schoolhouse last court day, he will save himself a long lot of hot days in the county jail which were assessed against him on trial of the several charges against him in county court Friday afternoon.

The jury which heard the charge of taking the girl away from the school and control of her parents, gave him a fine of $100 and 30 days in jail. And after that Jones caught a fine of $20 for using abusive and threatening language toward Mrs. Wm. Stone, mother of the girl who is missing.

The delinquency case was heard fought nearly all day and the four attorneys in the case spoke before the jury. The defense attorneys made a particular hard fight for their client, and although he swore outright that he did not take the girl and knew nothing of her whereabouts, the jury evidently believed the story told by the school children who said that they saw her get in the buggy with him and drive off.

After the trials were all over, and everything said and done, the prosecution seemed no nearer obtaining possession of the girl for her parents than before. A proposition was then made and accepted that the fines and imprisonment in the two latter cases be suspended until Monday, and after that in the event that Jones go out and find the girl and bring her into court. Jones' attorney took an appeal on the pistol carrying conviction, which operated to suspend infliction of the $100 fine and 20 days' jail sentence. Otherwise, he could not have been released from jail to hunt the girl until jail sentence had been served.

Jones immediately left with his father and brother to hunt the girl. He claims that he knows nothing of her whereabouts, but that he will make every effort to locate her and see that she is returned to the court and her parents.
