G. O. P. IN LEAGUE WITH THE SALOONS

Deal With Illegal Sellers of Booze Evident From Development In Raids In Louisville

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 7.—That the Republican Machine in Louisville is in league with illegal sellers of liquor is evident from the developments in the trial of those accused of selling whiskey before a U. S. Commissioner.

Louisville policemen "have no instructions" to arrest violators of the liquor laws, even when they see with their own eyes liquor sold to soldiers in uniforms, was the statement made by Patrolman J. B. Probst in the trial of Fred Ziegler, on the charge of selling liquor to a soldier in uniform, October 2nd.

Cross-examined by Jack Richardson, attorney for Ziegler after he had testified for the government, Probst was asked: "And you say you saw the defendant sell the liquor to this soldier in uniform?"

Probst answered in the affirmative: "Then why didn't you arrest him yourself?" Mr. Richardson asked. "Because I have no instructions on that matter," was asked.

Nat Cureton, Assistant County Attorney, under J. Mat Chilton, appeared for Ziegler and arranged bond for him.

Chilton and Cureton are members of the Hart-Morrow-Ballard Republican Machine and prominent in it. That the Republicans have made a deal for the support of the former saloon keepers is evident from their laxity in handling these cases, and they have been assessed for campaign purposes from one to three hundred dollars each, this collection being based upon the amount of whiskey sold.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Disagreement over the rules proposed for governing the industrial conference called by President Wilson resulted in the conference adjourning suddenly today after Secretary of the Interior Lane was chosen permanent chairman.

Dr. Violette continues to preach splendid sermons at the Christian church. His audiences are greatly benefited and inspired by the message that he brings. The singing of the old-time hymns of the church, is one of the happy features of the meeting. Monday evening four answered the invitation to unite with the church. At the close of the service nine were baptized upon the confession of their faith.

Dealers in bluegrass seed are profiteering against farmers and discriminating against producers in Central Kentucky, according to J. D. Gay of Pine Grove. Farmers are now being paid $1.60 a bushel for their seed, which is being sold after cleaning by dealers for $3.75 says the Lexington Herald. It is reported that seed cleaners of Kentucky have bought an inferior crop of seed in Missouri for $1.85 and paid the freight to Lexington, and that they bought 4,000 bushels of Ohio seed at $1.55, also paying the freight. Farmers in this section are paid only $1.60 and must themselves pay the freight.

ROUSING SPEECH BY YOUNG DEMOCRAT

J. J. McBrayer, of Anderson County, Takes Judge Daugherty's Place Here Monday

Although Judge Frank Daugherty, democratic nominee for Attorney General was ill and unable to come to Richmond and speak at the court house Monday afternoon, his place was taken by a very able substitute. J. J. McBrayer, of Anderson county, a young democrat who is known to most politicians, came over and gave the big crowd of voters in the county court room, a rousing democratic speech that held every man until he had finished.

Judge W. R. Shackelford also made a rousing democratic address. Former Representative H. C. Rice and Tom Collins, candidate for representative, also spoke and all were listened to with interest and enthusiasm by the crowd. County Campaign Chairman J. P. Chenault, presided and introduced the speakers.

Democrats of Madison county seemed to be well pleased with the way Gov. Black is handling Ed Morrow, and the latter's many pleas and promises. In his speech at Lebanon the other day, Governor Black said if Morrow will have the courage to name some of the useless offices created by the democrats, or even if he will name only one of these useless offices, his charge will carry more weight with the people.

He said insofar as any corruption was concerned, he would like for the republican nominee to name one official who should be ousted from office. "If he will do so," Gov. Black said, "I will assure him and the people that that official's affairs will be promptly investigated and if Mr. Morrow's charges are proven true steps will be taken to relieve him of the office."

We're Still On Outside

Paris, Oct. 7.—A Milan dispatch says the King of Italy yesterday signed a decree ratifying the German and Austrian treaties. TO INVESTIGATE ANY PROFITEERING

Is Their Duty, Judge Shackelford Tells Members of Grand Jury When Court Opens

Judge Shackelford emphasized investigation of profiteering in his charge of the grand jury at the opening of the October term of the Madison circuit court here Tuesday morning. Another feature of the Judge's charge was mention of the crime of illicit manufacture of liquor. Reports have been current for some little time that there has been "moonshining" in certain sections of the county. The Judge told of these reports and urged the grand jury to investigate them carefully. He said that the practice of bootlegging whiskey has been practically abolished in Madison, and moonshining will not be tolerated either. A strong charge was given to the grand jury on the crime of carrying concealed deadly weapons, which Judge Shackelford believes is one of the most fruitful sources of crime in the county. He always gives the grand jury at each court a thorough instruction on this evil.

The members of the grand jury are Elvada Tudor, foreman, D. Willis Kennedy, D. C. Anderson, Jephtha Jett, B. K. Duncan, James A. Moores, J. N. Wells, J. B. Ellison, Jr., Alex Turner, R. R. Wells, J. S. Sewell and Enos Lanter. Not a man asked to be excused from service, after the Judge had given prospective jurors a strong hint about jury slackers.

The court room was crowded when court convened. Former Judge J. M. Benton, of Winchester, was among the visiting attorneys.

"DADDY LONG LEGS"

Quaint Humor Injected into Screen Version of Famous Story and Play by Director Marshall Neilan

One of the funniest of all the humorous things with which Mary Pickford's new and best feature, "Daddy Long Legs" which will be seen at the local theatres, is loaded in a series of scenes in which Mary, as Judy Abbott, takes too much hard cider.

The funny little "drunk" is not indulged in by Judy Abbott, the orphan child Miss Pickford plays, with malice aforethought. It happens that she and a funny little orphan with a very freckled face have just lead a "prune strike" in which they have sought to obtain better food for the children of the asylum, who are fed on thin soup and prunes.

The tyrannical head matron has on the battle, being a large woman able to dominate the cowering little waifs who are charges of the institution, and to punish Judy, and the little boy who aided her in encouraging the children to strike, the matron put them out in the yard with nothing to eat. A thief who has been stealing hides over the fence a jug of hard cider, and some sandwiches.

Judy and the boy have praying for food. They think this dropped from Heaven, and proceed to eat and drink without inquiring into the nature of the donation. So it happens that in the most innocent way both children become "happy". Miss Pickford's portrayal of the surprised Judy, who punishes her enemies, gives jam to all the children and defies the ogre of a matron is wonderfully done.

It is only one of the masterful "bits" she does in this picture which carries Judy, the orphan from her birth to her marriage to a rich man who sends her to college. Coming Thursday and Friday, Oct. 9th-10th.

THERE will be a pie supper at the Deatherage school house on Lexington pike, Friday evening at 7:30. Everybody come and bring some one. 263-2
