

COX SEEMS TO HAVE WON INSTRUCTIONS

Democrats Meet In State Convention At Louisville Tuesday To Settle Matter

Gov. Cox, of Ohio, seems to have won a big majority of the delegates to the Democratic state convention, which convenes in Louisville Tuesday. Most of Madison county's 33 delegates named at the county convention here Saturday, have gone down to Falls City to be on hand for the convention. Others will go on late trains today.

This convention promises to be one of the most interesting that the Democratic party has held in Kentucky in many years, not only because of the fact that the women are participating actively in politics for the first time but because of the fact that a nice little scrimmage promises to be on the program over the question of whether or not Kentucky shall instruct her delegates to the national convention at Chicago. If friends of Gov. Cox are in the majority in the convention, Kentucky's delegates will be instructed for him. Those who favor in uninstructed delegation to San Francisco are said to favor the nomination of former Secretary of Treasury McAdoo. All counties have not reported as yet through the papers but it seems that Cox has a substantial majority and that his friends will organize the convention.

The convention which will meet at noon at Phoenix Hill, and the District Conventions will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. There is a splendid feeling manifested among the delegates and from every section comes the report that the party is in excellent shape for the fight this fall.

DEMOCRATS GATHER FOR CONVENTION

(By Associated Press) Louisville, May 3—The vanguard of the Democratic State Convention delegates began to arrive today. All Cox supporters, according to The Times, today seem confident of organizing the meeting. It is reported at Cox headquarters that the delegation at large would consist of eight members with a half vote each.

Those mentioned include Senator Stanley, Senator Beckham, and Congressman Ben Johnson, of the Fourth district, Desha Breckinridge, of Lexington, T. A. Combs, of Lexington, former Governor Black, and Leigh Harris, of Henderson.

Major Scott Bullitt is likely to be temporary chairman of the convention.

The names of four women are also mentioned, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Frankfort, Mrs. J. Campbell Cantrill, of Georgetown, Mrs. S. P. Fetter, of Paintsville, and Mrs. Edmond Post of Paducah. Apparently there will be no opposition to former Senator Camden to succeed General Haldeman as National Committeeman. According to The Post's forecast, Congressman Fields will probably be the permanent convention chairman. It indicates also that W. O. Davis, of Versailles, is slated for chairman of the State Central and Executive Committee.

BURNAM INSURANCE OFFICER FOR LEGION

Robert R. Burnam, Jr., has been appointed Insurance Officer for Jesse N. Dykes Post, of the American Legion. Officers of the Legion are very anxious that all ex-servicemen continue their war risk insurance. They say that the government bureau has been greatly strengthened and they are urging the boys not to let their insurance lapse or fail to renew it. All ex-soldiers, sailors and marines should see Mr. Burnam at once about the matter which is a most important one to them.

FORMER PAINT LICK GIRL DEAD

News comes that Mrs. Leslie Sloan, who for some time had been at Saranac Lake, N. Y., with the hope of recovering her health, died there and was buried at Lancaster. She was a daughter of Mr. Ernest Woods, of Paint Lick. Mrs. Sloan was an excellent young woman and her untimely death causes much sorrow among the many who knew and loved her. She is survived by her husband, who has the sympathy of many friends.

SOME OPENING, WE SAY

At the Richmond Welch Co., the first throngs of the May court followers have been making the Richmond Welch Co. headquarters for the entire day and with a broad smile and a beautiful flower have gone home with a feather in their cap—all praising the wonderful display and entertainment of the good firm whose opening began this morning.

As this opening continues tomorrow there will be a full account in the next issue.

MORROW ENDORSES S. A. CAMPAIGN

In his appeal directly to every resident of Kentucky to "give"

during the Second Salvation Home Service Appeal, May 10 to May 20, Gov. Edwin P. Morrow, honorary chairman of the campaign of Kentucky states, "Wherever the Salvation Army 'Carries On,' there we find a need supplied; a foot-sore unfortunate comforted; a hungry one fed; an aching heart given surcease of sorrow."

SALVATION ARMY ASSURED AID HERE

At a meeting Sunday evening at the First Christian church, of the various Sunday school societies and organizations of the city the plans for the drive in the interest of the Salvation Army from May 10 to 20 were discussed.

Miss Sylvan Swartsell, who has charge of the work in this district has canvassed the city in the interest of the movement and has been promised the aid of the various societies, looking toward the organization of the city, which will co-operate with the county. There will be a meeting next Thursday night at Lexington and will be decided upon as well as other districts. It is expected that a most creditable showing will be made by both the city of Richmond and the county of Madison.

Kentucky is ahead of many other states in this line of work, according to reports issued from Salvation Army headquarters and the local district is one of the foremost in this state. Miss Swartsell is an indefatigable worker and will visit Richmond within a short time and assist in the work looking towards the drive to be made here. She has been at work in the Louisville district for some time. She is also well known here where she has been working previously in the same cause.

ADAMS LAND SALE A BIG ONE

Col. G. B. Swinebroad Holds One of the Most Successful Sales Ever Held in Danville

One of the most successful sales ever held in this county, or in any other county for that matter, was the sale of the J. B. Adams land just outside this city by Col. G. B. Swinebroad and Company today.

Mr. George White, of Versailles, bought the 33.34 acres on which is located the concrete residence and other improvements, for $16,000.

Mr. George A. McRoberts bought the 16.44 acres at $407.50 the acre, 20.51 acres at $400 the acre 35.53 acres at $350 the acre.

Mr. J. D. Whitehouse bought 7.80 acres at $470 the acre, and 8.40 acres at $590 per acre.

Mr. Tilford Alexander bought 19.03 acres at $530 the acre. The sale aggregated $62,046.70, average per acre for the 141 acres being $439.88.

Col. Swinebroad never fails to sell. With him, Mr. Moss and Bob Dever, as he familiarly known, at the helm, they can not fail to succeed. Col. Bolivar Bond conducted the sale. He was never in better trim than today. It was really a great sale.

Don't forget the big Collins' land sale tomorrow, Tuesday May 4th.

JACKSON COUNTY BOOTLEGGER NABBED

Police Claim To Have Real Goods On Man Arrested Friday Night

Frank Collins of Jackson who came to Richmond Friday afternoon, and is still here having been arrested Friday night on a charge of bootlegging, after his suspicious actions had been carefully noted by patrolmen William Maupin and officer Turner. They followed Collins to the railway depot, where they claim to have had witness to the sale of a pint of whisky to one Thomas Coyle, of Richmond. The men were taken to police station, where Coyle admitted having bought the whisky, stating that he purchased it for another man. This was proven true. However, Coyle was placed under bond by City Judge G. Murray Smith. Collins was placed under bond in the sum of $200, which he could not furnish and was sent to jail.

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, Coyle failed to put in an appearance for the trial, and a capias was issued for him and the case was continued until 7 o'clock Saturday evening. In the meantime, Collins languishes in the county jail.

A peculiar incident took place during the trip to police headquarters. With Collins was a man named Baker, not connected with the case. Along the sidewalk in front of police station, the city firemen had placed a number of lines of fire hose to dry. Following the officers and prisoners to the station, was Chief Police Devore. He saw something bright lying upon the hose, and he picked up a revolver of large calibre. It is not known to whom it belonged but one of the three men, either Collins, Coyle or Baker, fearful that he would be arrested for carrying a deadly weapon, took the opportunity of ridding himself of it, since the arresting officers did not search the men upon apprehending them. The fire hose made an excellent place, since the gun was dropped upon it without making a noise and the police were none the wiser.

MRS. H. C. RICE GOES TO HER REWARD

Mrs. H. C. Rice passed away at noon at Patic Clay Infirmary after a painful illness of many weeks of a complication of diseases. For many days she has been hovering between life and death, and just a week ago, submitted to an operation which it was hoped would benefit her and although she rallied for a brief period, which gave loved ones a ray of hope uramic poisoning which involved her kidneys, set in, resulting in her death this morning, surrounded by a host of near relatives and friends. She was the wife of Judge H. C. Rice, who has represented Madison county two terms in the Legislature. She was truly a noble christian character, and was a pillar in the Second Christian church; beloved by everyone in the community for her many kindly ministrations to those about her. Surviving her are one son, Mr. Lackey Rice, three sisters, Mrs. Lisle and Mrs. J. W. Moores of the county and Mrs. J. D. Dykes of Irvine, one brother, Mr. J. Lackey of this city.

Funeral services will be held at the Second Christian church Tuesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, conducted by Dr. D. H. Matherly, followed by interment in the Richmond cemetery.

FORMER MADISON MAN DIES IN LINCOLN

Friends in Madison have received news of the death in Lincoln county of Clay Brown, who was manager for several years of Col. Jack Twigg's farm near Berea. About a year ago he returned to his old home near Hustonville. He was a son of Sid Brown, of Hustonville, and succumbed to typhoid fever and was buried by the side of his wife in Buffalo Spring cemetery Saturday afternoon, after funeral services at the late home by Rev. N. F. Jones, of the Baptist church of Hustonville. Only a little over a year ago his wife was laid to rest in Stanford's city of the dead. A son and daughter, 11 and 12 years of age, survive. Mr. Brown was a straightforward, honorable, industrious young man and a good citizen. His death is a loss to the community in which he lived.

A TRIBUTE TO REAR ADMIRAL BRITTAIN

A distinguished company of friends and relatives assembled on Friday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Baldwin on West Main Street to pay the last tribute of honor to Rear Admiral Carlo B. Brittain, U. S. N., who some twenty-two years ago had been united in marriage to the eldest daughter of the house, Miss Mary E. Baldwin. It was fitting that he should be brought back to sleep among his own people who have so delighted in his notable career, rather than occupy the place reserved for him in our national cemetery, "Arlington" near Washington, City.

The passing years have brought to Admiral Brittain every honor which the service of his country could bestow in return for splendid service which he has rendered to his country and his flag. He came of heroic ancestry which valued all that our country has stood for through the generations. Love and pride of country had been taught him in earlier youth. His father been stricken in the halls of Congress while closing a speech in behalf of the interests of his constituents and in fulfilling his duties as a public servant. It was natural that the son following his father's footsteps should give of his strength to the limit in the great Worldwar. Throughout the summer of 1917 as the officer in command of the fleet which guarded our Atlantic seaboard, he rendered a signal service not only to the United States but to civilization.

Perhaps there have never been so many beautiful floral offerings at a funeral in Richmond testimonials to the admiration of the courage and devotion to duty shown by Admiral Brittain throughout his long service. They came from Admiral Wilson and staff of the Pennsylvania. Commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet of which Admiral Brittain was chief of staff; from the U. S. Destroyers Force; from Admiral and Mrs. Bullard, Admiral and Mrs. Cornie; Admiral and Mrs. Clark; Capt. and Mrs. Preston; Capt. and Mrs. Laws; Capt. and Mrs. Pollock; Mr. and Mrs. Hillman, and many of Mrs. Brittain's friends in Washington; from his home boys, Richmond, on the Michigan during the war; from the pastor and official board of the Christian church; from the citizens of Pineville, Ky.; and many others at home and abroad.

Admiral Brittain was an elegant Christian gentleman. He delighted in dispensing hospitality and during his service on land or while his flag ship was in port, he and his charming wife through the years have entertained in a most elegant and generous manner, friends from Kentucky and other states. Many friends from Richmond will ever recall with great pleasure the cordial hospitality and delightful courtesy of Admiral and Mrs. Brittain white guests in their handsome home at Annapolis or aboard his ship.

When in foreign ports Admiral Brittain was regarded as an able and accomplished representative of his government, one who was familiar with the rules of diplomatic courtesy and who delighted in every detail in upholding the high standard of diplomatic relations among the nations. He was a hard student and able teacher. Many years ago a tablet in his honor was placed at Annapolis. His name will be enrolled among those who gave all for their country.

The following lines from the great poet Browning, are deemed appropriate:

"One who never turned his back but marched breast forward. Never doubted clouds would break; Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph. Held we fall to rise, Are baffled to fight better. Sleep to wake."

LIVESTOCK SALES REPORTED SLOW

No Demand For Hogs, While Horses Are Selling Slow With Little Demand

Monday being court day and stock day, the city is full of horses, mules, ponies, cows and other livestock, together with many buyers and a number of auctioneers.

Horses are selling slow, reports show, while hogs are in the minority. At the East End stockyards, 300 head of cattle sold for from 10 cents to 11-3-4 cents while heifers brought $10 per hundred. No sales was reported for hogs, while one hundred head of mules sold at a fairly good price. Horses were slow and bidding was reluctant, apparently from the start.

A similar condition is reported from the West End stockyards. On the public square there were a number of sales of horses and mules on Monday that brought low prices. There was a slight demand for mules later in the day. A few cows were also sold.

CIRCUIT COURT OPENS

The May term of Madison county circuit court was opened Monday morning by Judge Shackelford who stated that this being court day, he would not empanel the grand nor petit jurors at this time. He stated that he would have to be out of the city until Wednesday morning and that he would empanel both juries, beginning on Thursday morning. There is not a big list of cases on docket to be heard, and it is not believed that there will be many for investigation upon the part of the grand jurors for this term.

County Court Short Session

Judge W. K. Price held a short session of county court Monday morning, this being for the purpose of taking up routine business matters for the quarterly session, but there being no business of importance, he adjourned within a short time. "Things are dull in this court this quarter," he said.

MADISON HIGH WINS FIRST GAME WITH WINCHESTER

The Madison High School baseball team went to Winchester Friday where they won from the Model High school team by a score of 12 to 11. The Winchester team is expected here one week from Friday for a return game. It is expected that the Lexington Model team will also be here for a game the last of this week.

The first game by the local team, was well attended and was a brilliant contest throughout. Mollow starting in, first up with a home run. The opposite rallied however and the contests was close until the end. But three errors were credited to the Madison team. The aggregation is looked upon as one of the strongest, in point of age, to be found among the Model High schools of the state.
