

COMMENCEMENT AT EASTERN NORMAL

Unusual Number Of Brilliant Events are Booked For The Final Work

While the official program has not been completed, commencement week at the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, beginning on Sunday, June 6, will be a busy and brilliant one, since it is believed that never before has there been so many important events crowded together for presentation within this period of time at school.

The opening of the weeks' festivities will occur upon the above date when Dr. M. B. Adams, of Georgetown, will deliver the baccalaureate address, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. This will be followed on Monday by class and field day, which in itself will prove a busy one and participated in by many. Tuesday will be elementary day and in the evening the commencement play will be presented. The rehearsals for this are now going on, and this feature promises to be one of the best yet presented. The cast will be greater than usual and it is said that the talent could scarcely be improved upon.

On Wednesday, the intermediates will come in for their inning, the certificate class meeting being held during the day and the graduation being the night feature. The commencement exercises, it is understood, will elaborate to say the least.

On Thursday, the Seniors will participate in the final chapel exercises. On Thursday night, the President's reception is another feature not lacking in point of interest.

On Friday will occur the Normal School commencement, this to be followed by the alumni banquet in the evening. This will be a repetition of brilliant affairs, and the program indicates that it will prove a very fitting finale to the season's work at the school.

It is already known that there will be a large number of visitors in Richmond during this week of festivities among the students, the parents of many coming, some from quite a distance to witness the closing of the school work upon the part of their relatives. Preparations are now being made for provisions for many who are seeking reservations here and there.

It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. This is the first time the officers from the state health department have been here for this length of time and they are pleased with the reception upon the part of the faculty and students at the Normal.

"DESERTER" GETS D. S. CROSS

Newport, Ky., May 21—Although the charge of being a deserter was preferred against him in the navy, John Sullivan, who lives in Newport, has been awarded, posthumously, the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism.

When the United States entered the war Sullivan entered the navy. Fearing that he would not be able to get into the fighting, he deserted his ship and enlisted in Company A, Ninth Machine Gun Battalion, under the name of John Shannon. In his first battle he met death defending his gun from a German attack. He was blown to pieces by a high explosive shell. His father is J. T. Sullivan, who will receive the medal. Congressman Rouse has tried to have the Navy department eliminate charge of desertion.

DISCIPLES DRIVE CONTINUES

MUSIC LOVERS GIVEN RARE TREAT

Celebrated Artists Together With Local Participants in Music Festival Appreciated

The opening concert of the May Music Festival Thursday evening was greeted by a large and appreciative audience, and from the first number to the last note of the chorus, the interest was centered on the stage. The solo artist of the evening, Mr. John Hoffman, of Cincinnati, met with an enthusiastic reception, coming to this city as he does, a product of the great musical centers of the world, with the sanction of many famous instructors. The string quartet, which is here again, must always live up to its reputation and one would be disappointed if it did not give the best of which it is capable.

Richmond is known as a musical town and is always responsive to any finished production. The chorus of young people and children, which has been in training through many months, is always well received by their many friends who anticipate great pleasure in their performance.

The concert by the primary grades this afternoon was the second of the series and showed considerable talent among the little people and much careful training. The front row of bright faced little singers was not the least of last night's attractions and little Miss Lynn Evans had the honor in a sweet, childish voice, of addressing the Piper in a sentence solo.

Tonight, if you wish to hear the great oratorio, you must go early. The auditorium will be adequate. Many visitors are already here and many are expected from adjacent towns. Last year a number were turned away. But the chapel has been re-seated among many noticeable repairs, and the capacity is about 600. One can not afford to miss this great Handel product, brought to our very door and in addition to our artist of last evening, the other solo work will be ably taken by Miss Brown, Miss Metcalf and Mr. Haberstro, all of whom are artists in their own particular sphere. It goes without saying that with Dr. Myers as director Miss Brown E. Telford, the gifted accompanist, with the orchestra, chorus and oratorio artists with Mandel's Messiah as the great objective, and last, perhaps, not least, the great audience in full dress, it will be a gala occasion.

Smoot and Hume performed the operation.

SERVICE MEN FROM KIRKSVILLE COMING

The American Legion meeting Saturday afternoon in Richmond will be attended by a good sized delegation from Kirksville, where there was a rousing meeting held Thursday night, presided over by Harold Oldham, of this city, chairman of the "push" committee here. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm evinced at the meeting and many signified their intention of coming to Richmond on the morrow and hear Col. Dan Morgan Smith.

The final meeting Saturday afternoon will bring to Richmond to their interest, and some of them, is said, have been so busily engaged they have not paid but casual attention to the movement looking towards the organization of the immense body of men who have done such creditable work for their country.

BISHOP WORKS WAY ACROSS ATLANTIC

Des Moines, Iowa, May 21—Bishop Frank W. Warne, of India, had to work his way across the Atlantic ocean as a common laborer in order to get to Des Moines for the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. He arrived about a week late, but he is here.

Telling of his experiences, Bishop Warne said it was a case of "putting on a pair of overalls and doing a little work, or not coming to the conference at all." From Mesopotamia to Port Said he rode on an oil boat. On the way to Port Said the captain sent a wireless message asking for passage to America. The only answer came from a tramp steamer and that was conditioned on the "passenger" working his way. "Bishop accepts job," was the answer. At Port Said Bishop Warne boarded the freighter was given an oil can, sent to the engine room and kept busy oiling from morning until night all the way across the Atlantic.

STILL MORE ROOM NEEDED FOR BOYS

While Memorial hall at the Eastern Normal school will be enlarged sufficiently to accommodate 50 more boys, this will not be adequate to supply the demand since there are many petitions being sent in by boys to attend the school. This was one of the matters taken up by the Board of Regents recently, and the enlargement is the result. It is expected that within one or two years, this department will be able to accommodate all students. However, at present, members of the faculty will again appeal to the residents of the city of Richmond to continue their graciousness in the way of accommodating the scholars. For some time rooms have been provided for students, owing to the fact that this accommodation could not be furnished at the school, but from the manner in which the enrollment of students is continuing more rooms will be necessary. There is a decided increase in the demand at present upon the part of boys.

TWO FIND THAT DAILY REGISTER ADS. PAY

Two prominent local firms have learned to their advantage this week that advertising in the Richmond Daily Register brings returns away from home as well as in the territory immediately adjacent to Richmond and Madison county. A lady wrote the Richmond Welch Company from Florida, that she saw its advertisement of refrigerators in the Daily Register, and gave her order for one, and other goods.

Stockton & Son, local agents for Tanlac—perhaps the greatest selling medicine of the decade, received a letter from aman in Ohio stating that he noticed in the Daily Register that they sell Tanlac, and he wanted a supply sent by mail. He could undoubtedly have secured it at any drug store where he lived, but he saw in his old home town paper the Daily Register that Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son, and he wrote for it to be sent him hundreds of miles away.

It pays to advertise and it pays to advertise in the Daily Register of Richmond, Ky.

EXAMINATION FOR COUNTY TEACHERS

More Than 100 Busily Engaged At Eastern Kentucky Normal School Today

Considerably more than 100 teachers and students are whetting their memory at the Eastern Kentucky Normal school today, taking the examination for a teacher's license and the meeting, which will conclude on Saturday points to the passing of a large number to the rank of instructor.

Owing to the large list from the Normal school, the examinations are being held at that institution, four large rooms having been given over for the work. The registration of teachers and students began Thursday night, and there was a large array on hand early Friday morning, the examinations beginning at 8:30 o'clock. There are several from Berea, and other schools, five students from one Berea department arriving early Friday morning. They asked to be allowed to take the examinations, and sought out County Superintendent Edwards. He readily informed them they were eligible in every way one of the chief requisites being that they were 18 years of age, and soon afterward there were five happy students at the examination rooms. They were Misses Ollie Taylor, Evelyn Morgan and Virginia Prince, and Yearkees Warren and Cato Smith. County Superintendent Edwards stated that the list was growing, as a result of many coming in as did the Berea delegation, and that the list to take the examination would doubtless be the largest in years. Previous to this unexpected influx at a late hour, the number compared favorably with that of last year.

The papers will be turned over to Prof. Clark, of Frankfort, who was sent to take charge of the missives, and assist with the work. He will take the records to the State Capitol, where they will be graded and returned. It is thought this work will be completed within a week or ten days.

The Western District examination is being conducted also at Bowling Green and it is reported that there is a large list there. This work is being expedited through the efforts of Prof. L. N. Taylor, also of Frankfort. The examinations of both districts will be very similar, continuing through the two days allotted, the subjects being divided as follows:

Friday—Spelling, reading writing, arithmetic, grammar and composition.

Saturday—Geography, civil government, history, theory and practice and agriculture.
