Promises To Tell About G. O. P. Plan To Raise $15,000,000 To Buy Presidency

(By Associated Press) En Route With Gov. Cox, Aug. 26—Gov. Cox, traveling toward Pittsburg today to deliver the address tonight in which he promises to disclose ample evidence proving his charges of a Republican corruption fund exceeding $15,000,000, at Richmond, Ind., shook hands with many persons who gathered around his private car, and at Dayton met his wife, who came from the Governor's farm with peaches, pies and other edibles. At Columbus he was joined by a number of friends.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 26—Evidence of a "deliberate conspiracy to buy the Presidency," was promised by Gov. James M. Cox in addresses rallying Southern Indiana Democracy. Amplifying his charges that an enormous republican campaign fund was being raised, the Democratic Presidential nominee declared that in his address Thursday night in Pittsburg he would produce evidence "regarding the republican leaders that convicts every mother's son of them."

"When the size of the campaign fund is understood," he said, "the sensibilities of the people will be staggered. You know what my charges have been. You know what reply Chairman Hays of the Republican National Committee and his associates have given. I ask you only to wait until Thursday night and I will produce evidence that convicts every mother's son of them—evidence of a deliberate plot that has been carried into every county in America in a plot and conspiracy to buy the Presidency of the United States.

"We are confident the signature of Secretary Colby completes the suffrage struggle in this country," said Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the Woman's National Party, but she asserted the party "will not relax its vigilance until it is satisfied no further attempts will be made to wrest from the women of the United States the political equality they have won."

TO CHANGE FIRE TRUCK QUARTERS

The excavation on First street will near Irvine street crossing the first of the week at which time the fire truck headquarters will be shifted to the rear of the police station, facing on First street. This will admit of the response to a fire being made without interruption, at least as far as the start is made. The firemen are required to keep a watch on the progress of the street, since they have to "figure" on a way out as it is. When the excavation on Irvine street is commenced, there will be but one outlet for the fire apparatus, this being on Irvine street, and then perhaps south to Main street. It is being arranged to keep an outlet especially for the fire department when the progress of the work is furthered. Fireman Stone Maupin was seen Thursday morning mapping out the route to be taken in case of fire.

BOOZE BANDITS HAD EVERYTHING PLANNED

The bandits who stole 10 barrels of booze from the Vanarsdell distillery on the Southern railroad in Mercer county, seemed to have everything planned carefully.

The bandits came in two automobiles and used a large motor truck to remove the liquor. The amount stolen will not be known until an inventory is made at the warehouse, where 1,400 barrels of whisky belonging to persons in various parts of the county, was stored.

The bandits had ample time to take all the truck could possibly hold, as they were at the warehouse for two hours and kept Allen Lawrence, one warehouse guard, covered with their guns and threatened him with death if he attempted to arouse R. L. Young, another guard, who had just retired.

Mr. Lawrence was in the office when the masked men entered suddenly and cried: "We have come to do this thing right." The bandit told Lawrence that he would not harm him if he did not rouse the other guard. Two other masked men came into the office.

Lawrence protested repeatedly. One of the trio told Lawrence that he was there to do the thing and constantly smoked a cigarette.

Owing to a peculiar trend on the truck tires, the bandits were traced to Harrodsburg, where the trail was lost. D. L. Moore, Jr., of Lawrenceburg, is the owner of the warehouse.

BEES FROM SOUTH BEING IMPORTED

Madison County Man Goes South To Prepare Second Shipment—Industry Thrives

Clifton Weaver, has departed for Coehran, Ala., where he will purchase honey bees to be shipped here next spring, where they will have several months in which to become acclimated and officially take up their residence in Madison county and add to the already increasing honey product, which, as stated in the Daily Register several months ago, was thriving.

There are many raisers of bees in this and other sections of the state; however, the industry is becoming such as to cause many to branch out in the business, with the result that bees are being imported from the south with remarkable success and this climate is said to be very well adapted to both honey production and the bee industry generally. This is not the first of the southern bees to be sent northward, Mr. Weaver having bought a number of colonies last year while in the south as an experiment. The bees thrived and proved their worth in honey making. He will purchase a shipment comprising more than 100 colonies, and they will be sent for early spring work.

J. C. Weaver, formerly of Richmond, a brother of the Richmond man who is in the south, is rapidly becoming known as one of the most extensive honey bee owners in the state and is shipping many colonies to the north each year. Kentucky is taking many of them, but this will be the largest shipment to this county ever made.

"Honey is bringing top prices, owing to the sugar price," said Mr. Weaver before his departure. "The scarcity of sugar has caused the honey bee to be appreciated as never before and many would not conceive the importance attached to the product."

"It is expected that there will be several hundred colonies established by Mr. Weaver, who expects to locate some of the bee-bought later in Pendleton county, also, where he has a big business started. Many others who have realized handsomely on the production of their bees this year are planning to extend their operations and increase the industry. Madison county is expected to rank among the foremost in the way of honey producing counties of the state within a short time—if it does not occupy that enviable position at present.

FEATURES AT EXPO ARE APPRECIATED

Another big attendance was recorded at the exposition grounds Wednesday night, and the various entertainments proved equally as interesting as usual, and the music and athletic feature is growing in popularity, and the wrestling exhibition proved the feature of the evening in this regard. Mat Baxter, a Richmond mechanic, demonstrated that he is some wrestler and he succeeded in holding the great Turner for a period of five minutes. Thursday night it is said, there will be a repetition of this exhibition, and Baxter will try for a win at ten minutes. His work was witnessed and appreciated by a large number.

Burnam, chairman, Paul Burnam, McCreary Simmons, Edwin Powell, Nevel Todd, Logan Burnam, Aaron Coates, Thompson Burnam, Charles Stanifer, Fife White, Price Bush, Foster Clark, Chas. FROM WHEAT TO BISCUIT IN JUST 55 MINUTES' TIME

(By Associated Press) Chapman, Kan., August 26.—Transformation of wheat from standing grain to hot biscuits in 55 minutes is a record established here recently by Harry Ruff, head of a local milling company. He drove into a field where a farmer was harvesting wheat with a harvester-thresher, which cuts and threshes the grain in one operation, and took two bushels of wheat. This he rushed to the mill, where it was ground immediately, then took the flour home to Mrs. Ruff and made biscuits.

From the time the grain was cut to the first bite of biscuit was five minutes less than an hour, including 32 minutes spent on the road.

LAWYERS MAKE MORE RECOMMENDATIONS

(By Associated Press) St. Louis, Aug. 26—Eactment of federal legislation guaranteeing more adequate protection to aliens in their treaty rights was recommended at today's session of the convention of the American Bar Association by its Committee on Jurisprudence and Law Reform.

This subject is "entitled to very serious consideration in the pending Congress," in the opinion of the committee. Its recommendation, according to the report, results from "various complaints that have been made to the United States by other nations that the rights of the citizens of those nations, under existing treaties, were not sufficiently protected by laws of this country."

The committee also suggested amplification of the judicial code to clarify laws governing the removal of causes and advised changes in the rules of the Supreme Court so that lawyers would not have to journey to Washington to file motions.

SCHOOL BOOK CHANGE ORDERED IN SOME GRADES

There will be a change in the book of the eighth grade of the county schools the first of the month in some parts of the state, according to notices sent out by State Superintendent George Colvin. There has been no official notice sent to Madison county; as yet; however, the order may come at any time. There has been much discussion as to the time for changing the books, owing to other publishers being unable to get out some of the new series in time for the change when first planned.

FEW COUNTY COURT CASES

There have been few cases booked for the next term of county court thus far, although by the first of the month there may be many added to the small list at present indicated on record. The present year has been a busy one in this particular court since there has been a greater number of cases passed upon than for the corresponding period last year.

Early Spring Onions

The first week in September is the time potato onion sets should be put out. Remember that onions are easily choked out by weeds and if a little time and attention is given to the late onions in the fall it is possible to have green onions very early in the spring.

"I'M GOING TO LIVE," SAYS GEORGE ESTES

Wonderful Vitality Shown By Young Man, Who Also Accuses Joe Spivy

George Estes, one of the two survivors of the Irvine tragedy, although shot through vital parts and suffering intense pain as a result of his wounds and subsequent operations, has refused to make a "dying statement," as it is termed by a local attorney, sent to the Pattie A. Clay hospital to obtain evidence of the shooting which has already terminated in the death of two men. Young Estes said there was nothing doing in a deathbed statement, but he would give any information desired regarding the shooting and murder of Marshal Philpot.

"I am not here to die; that doctor has dug the lead out of me and I am going to get well," said the suffering prisoner, displaying wonderful vitality. "I expect to get out of this and tell the court how it all happened." Estes maintain that he will recover, and his condition indicates this more clearly every day, according to the estimation of Dr. O. F. Hume, who is keeping careful watch on the interesting patient. Estes openly maintains that he is not sufficiently injured to die, and that he will soon be able to be "up and around." He is showing remarkable nerve, for while talking the muscles of his face will twitch, and he will give a slight groan, then resume his recitation of the manner in which Deputy Sheriff Reed was killed and he himself seriously hurt. The bullet plowed thru Estes' liver and other vital organs, and his death was momentarily expected for two days after his arrival at the hospital, where he was finally taken after having suffered from the loss of blood for several hours without attendance.

It was with the intention of securing some evidence against the other remaining participant in the affair that the statements were sought. The patient—erstwhile prisoner—refused, saying he would tell all when the proper time came. Dr. Hume believes now that Estes really has a chance of recovery. Estes repeats the same story, implicating Detective Joseph Spivy, declaring he fired the shots, and was in Irvine instead of along the railway where he was employed. Estes also maintains that he had no revolver at an time, not even a pen-knife. He is a very intelligent youngster and says he will be able to prove by the position in which he was and the position of Spivy at the time of the shooting that the bullet which killed Reed, as well as the one fired into his own body, came from the revolver of Spivy.

MANY WITNESSES IN MURDER CASE

Barbourville, Ky., August 26.—Over 100 witnesses have been called in the case of the commonwealth against Chester Phillips, Red Lawson and Robert Smallwood, charged with the murder of Fred Fields at Corbin last January. Trial of Phillips was entered into Wednesday by the Knox circuit court, Lawson and Smallwood electing to be tried separately. Fields, a returned soldier, was found murdered in the outskirts of Corbin, a motive other than robbery being ascribed. The three accused were arrested on circumstantial evidence and indictments returned later. Phillips, Lawson and Smallwood have been in the Richmond jail for safe keeping.

CUT TOBACCO NEXT WEEK

Some of the tobacco growers of Madison county say they will begin cutting tobacco next week. They are not particularly afraid of frost, nor is it on account of the rust or blight, they assert, but they desire to get the product out of the field at the earliest period, thus securing safety, they claim. Much of the tobacco has matured to a remarkable degree within the past month.

EARLY FALL PREDICTED

Old prognosticators are beginning to present their predictions for the fall and winters, and declare there will an early period of genuine fall weather, although there has been but limited prediction regarding the winter months. The manner in which the leaves are falling at present indicates, they claim, the approach of a season of the year when an overcoat and straw hat will be liable to be seen in close relationship.

DEGARMO MEETING

The attendance continues large at the DeGarmo-Elsey meetings at the Calvary Baptist church. Wednesday evening the evangelist preached an illustrated sermon on "What it means to believe in Jesus," using as his text with many proof texts the following: "Then said they unto Him, 'What shall we do that we might work the works of God?' Jesus answered and said unto them, 'This is the work of God that ye believe on Him whom He hath sent.'"—John 6:28-29.

The evangelist said in part: "What to do to be saved, as stated here, hinges on the difference between a singular and plural word. They ask Jesus what work (plural, meaning many things) they might do to be saved. Jesus said this is the work (singular, meaning one thing of God, that you believe on Jesus, whom God hath sent. In the light of this passage the many things men have taught to be saved, such as good life, keeping the law and baptism, crumble away, and the one thing remains, and that one thing is, 'Believe on Jesus.'" He used a box to illustrate the difference between believing "about" Jesus and believing "on" Jesus.

Singer Elsey sang "What are they doing in Heaven?" "The Unpardonable Sin" is the subject for Thursday night. This subject has been called "where the lights go out on the road to hell." Friday night he will preach on "Moses' Choice;" Friday morning, "They will be done." There will be a mass meeting Sunday afternoon for men, women and children.

MAIN STREET IS BEING TEMPORARILY GRADED

That little steam roller of Lampson & Burks is doing some good work on Main street, and this thoroughfare will be leveled and temporarily graded as the excavation work is completed, and will be put in good condition for traffic by Saturday. This will admit of a more liberal patronage, it is believed, for the business men say they have felt the effect of the conditions of the streets in more ways than one. The present grading will be followed by the laying of the concrete later, which, in turn, will be covered with asphalt, and the finish of this street will be recorded. The excavator on Main street having finished its work for the present, will admit of the street being graded from Lancaster avenue to First street, thus putting it in shape for traffic until such a time as the concrete is laid.

DEPUTY REED MADE STATEMENT AT IRVINE

Also At Local Hospital, Which May Be Used At Court Hearing Later On

Deputy Sheriff Henry Reed before he was brought to Richmond and a short time after he was shot during the fatal altercation at Irvine, is said to have made a number of statements to several well known citizens of Irvine, and which, it is claimed, will be used when an investigation is made by legal authorities, which will be taken up after George Estes recovers or dies of his injuries.

Reed stated both at Irvine and at the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary, this city, where he was taken upon his arrival here several hours later, that he killed Marshal Philpot, of Irvine. He is also to have declared that it was after the police officer had been killed by him, that railway detective Joe Spivy, turned loose his gun and shot him (Reed) as well as Estes, Reed's prisoner. Whether the statements were made in a manner to admit them being taken as evidence in court, is not known, however, it is known they were made, and reports have it that they co-incide with those made by George Estes, who is still battling for life at the local hospital.

Reed's friends adhere to the opinion the statements of Reed will be admissible and authentic reports from Irvine are to the effect that they will be introduced. They add another allegation against the railway detective who is now in the Madison county jail charged with shooting Spivy says he was given no preliminary examination at Irvine.

Dr. Paderford said that second payments would be made before the end of the vacation period, furnishing the beneficiary institutions with funds for immediate employment.

(By Associated Press) Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 26.—An electric power plant to develop 350,000 horsepower, is planned on Saint Gotthard mountain. The cost is estimated at about $100,000,000. Two little villages where live 1,200 people must be moved out of the Urseren Valley which will be dammed and will become a great lake. The power is to be utilized chiefly for the Swiss electric railway.
