

COX GRABS 'EM OUT ON COAST

Even Old Line Republicans Praise Him and Irish Pledge Him Their Support

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Sept. 20—Evidence is coming to light daily that the shouts and applause which have greeted Gov. James M. Cox's utterances in the state of California are expressive not only of admiration for the qualities of the man, but politicians say, that they mean votes for next November.

After the meeting in Oakland Saturday night, Benjamin Ike Wheeler, former president of the University of California, and a life long republican, approached him on his speech and subsequently made the statement that the nominee's argument on the League of Nations was unanswerable, it was learned today.

At the same meeting an Irish leader of Oakland attempted to heckle the speaker about the Irish question. Cox replied that without the League of Nations Ireland had not the right to appeal "even to a squire's court," and added that if Ireland should achieve her independence "she would have more reasons than any one else to bless Article X for the services which it would render to her."

The Irish leader ended by assuring Cox he intended to vote for him and the same sentiment was voiced by at least 20 Irishmen who were in the audience.

Similarly an Irishman who has been active in promoting sentiment for the freedom of Ireland visited Cox at his San Francisco hotel to say that there were numerous natives of the Emerald Isle who had been satisfied with his promise to present the Irish cause to the League of Nations soon after March 4, 1921.

Sings of changing sentiment among the Irish voters are said to be disturbing to republican leaders of this state, who, it is asserted, have been active in stirring up racial hatred among not only the Irish, but Italians and Germans as well.

The nomination of Senator Warren G. Harding, it is declared here, was not pleasing to them. Then the democrats nominated a man who, politicians say, thinks and talks along the same lines as California republicans have been thinking for years.

The democratic nominee slowly is filling his cabinet on his Western trip. To the "dirt farmer" who is to be Secretary of Agriculture, and to the Western man who is to be Secretary of Interior he now has added the promise that if elected he will appoint as a member of his cabinet an eminent engineer, if he can find one who will serve. In this connection he has had words of praise for Herbert C. Hoover.

The Governor passed all of Sunday en route from Oakland to San Diego. He will open his Southern California campaign today with speeches in San Diego.

(By Associated Press) San Diego, Cal., Sept. 20—Gov. Cox opened the Southern California campaign here today. The League of Nations was his theme.

POST CARD WARNS OF SECOND EXPLOSION

(By Associated Press) New York, Sept. 20—A post card warning that an attempt would be made tomorrow to blow up the Customs House after the Wall Street explosion of last Thursday, was received in the mail today by Collector of Internal Revenue William Edwards. The post card was signed "Citizen." It said the custom house would be blown up, too. Edwards said a preliminary investigation had shown on evidence of a plot and he was inclined to regard the warning as a hoax.

Officials of the Department of Justice believe it to be the work of a crank.

HARDING'S $1 WHEAT SPEECH PLAGUES HIM

On Board Gov. Cox's Special Train, Sept. 20—The democratic leaders of Washington State are using the "dollar wheat" slogan against Senator Harding to the limit.

Washington is a wheat growing state of first importance and politically it is one of the most independent states in the Union. Consequently the democratic campaign managers regard the opportunity to array the farmers against Senator Harding as being especially inviting.

Copies of the speech made by Senator Harding in the United States Senate when the wheat guarantee legislation was up for consideration in 1918 are being circulated among the farmers and the democratic speechwriters have instructions to make a strong point of this speech when campaigning in the wheat belt.

That is the speech in which Senator Harding declared that raising dollar wheat was a profitable occupation in peace time and he said he knew farmers who were coming into Ohio and buying land at $150 an acre for the purpose of raising wheat for the market at a dollar a bushel.

A. R. Titlow, of Tacoma, democratic national committeeman for Washington State, was one of the most optimistic prognosticators of the Cox party met up with in traversing that commonwealth.

"The electoral vote of Washington State is as certain to be cast for Cox and Roosevelt as is the electoral vote of Florida," said Mr. Titlow. "I am speaking of a personal knowledge of conditions all over the state. Why, we are even going to carry Gray's Harbor county this year, and it is the strongest republican county in the state."

"To what do you attribute the bright democratic prospect which you describe?" he was asked.

"To the League of Nations. The people of this state are overwhelmingly for the League. The women of the state are for it with great unanimity but no more ardently than the men. Everybody wants the League and nearly all of the republicans are completely disgusted with Senator Harding's vacillating attitude in regard to it. They don't know one minute what position to expect him to take the next. There is also a lot of opposition to Senator Harding in the farming districts because of his reported attitude in favor of dollar wheat."

CITY WELCOMES NEW METHODIST PASTOR

Union Service of Churches Held Sunday Eve To Extend Cordial Greetings to Dr. Sadler

In accordance with a beautiful and time-honored custom here, churches of Richmond united in their Sunday evening service at the Methodist church to welcome the new pastor, Rev. W. O. Sadler. The spirit of cooperation and feeling of unity between the four denominations were manifested in the splendid body of people who taxed the capacity of the church to its utmost.

Dr. R. L. Telford, of the First Presbyterian church, presided, and after the reading of the 133rd Psalm, Dr. O. O. Green, of the First Baptist church, gave the invocation.

In behalf of the community, Dr. H. W. Carpenter, of the First Christian church, in his characteristic way welcomed the new minister to Richmond. He spoke of his coming to open his pastorate here at a most significant time in the world's history, indeed in a prophetic hour, when our nation was beginning to find herself after the terrific world war, a time when the churches themselves were taking on a new life, because the teachings of Jesus Christ were bearing fruit as never before. He touched briefly on the new civic improvements here which meant progress and new life, and as he pictured the years to come in which Dr. Sadler would be in the city, he prophesied great things, and the hope that the bonds which bind the churches together in the spirit of brotherhood would be strengthened as the years pass. Dr. Carpenter said he was doubly glad to welcome the new pastor, as they had been college mates, and at one time each had served his own church in the same city.

In response, Dr. Sadler said his heart had already been strangely warmed even before the house warming had been given him, and he spoke felingly of the beautiful spirit of unity that existed between the pastors of the city. He spoke of Martin Luther, who received the inspiration for his great denunciations and the reformation from an obscure and humble man who, hundreds of years before, had translated the New Testament into German; how John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, had derived his inspiration from Luther, and that John Knox and Alexander Campbell both had been benefited by other great men, each contributing to the other, until as other men who moved down the ages, doing a monumental work, belonged not to one sect, but to the whole world, and today thousands of people are uniting in brotherly love, regardless of creed.

After the offering was taken, which was to be given to the work of the Associated Charities, Dr. Sadler preached the evening sermon. He read the 17th chapter of Matthew, saying that Raphael had given to the world of art the most beautiful of all his pictures when he put upon canvas the whole scene as depicted in the 17th chapter of Matthew. The scene of the transfiguration on the top of the mountain, showing the Master in conversation with the two prophets and Peter, then in striking contrast, the great artist painted the scene at the foot of the mountain, the broken hearted parents, the afflicted child in their midst, the helpless disciples standing by who, because of their lack of faith, were unable to heal the child; in the background were the weeping relatives, the whole picture showing the ravages of sin; then in bold relief was seen the figure of the Christ who restored the boy to his parents and healed him of his sin. The speaker said it was conceded by many to be the masterpiece of the great artist, as in one picture he was able to portray the human misery of the world caused by sin and disobedience and the power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to save from sin and misery.

The pastor dwelt at length on the faith that is necessary to accomplish things in the material world as well as in the spiritual, and concluded by saying that day by day we are meeting sin and misery and sorrow on every side, and we oftentimes receive no help from human sources because of unbelief, but that Jesus Christ alone is the One who can save us from our sins, and His gospel is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.

SAM HURST WINS

Beattyville, Ky., Sept. 20—Sam Hurst, Beattyville, retains the certificate as republican nominee for Circuit Judge, according to a decision by Circuit Judge Cisco, before whom the contest suit of W. L. Kash, Jackson, has been heard here for the last two weeks, although Hurst's majority has been cut from thirteen to three votes. Mr. Kash immediately served notice of appeal and transcripts have been forwarded to Frankfort.

The court threw out, consistent with the pleadings, every illegal vote, but took no cognizance of some such votes omitted from the pleadings, explaining that under the law he could not do otherwise than disregard them. Counsel for Kash contends that the evidence showed conclusively some 18 or more votes not mentioned in the pleadings, which would give Wash the nomination is thrown out.

READY FOR FIRE BUG

A fusillade of shots rang out in the stillness of the night at a late hour Sunday, in the neighborhood of West Main and North streets. It seemed that there was volley of firing, followed by another in response. It developed that seeing a couple of men prowling about his rear premises, Attorney A. R. Burnam had brought out the old shot gun and fired into the air, to scare them off. But the "suspicious characters" were two policemen who were patrolling the residential section, on the lookout for the "fire bug" who is suspected of having caused several disastrous blazes in the city within him know that they were armed and ready for him, and weren't to be scared off with a little shooting. Explanations were soon made, however, things quieted down, and night-capped heads were withdrawn from scores of windows.

READY FOR TARVIA WITHIN THREE WEEKS

Machine Now At Berea and Plans Are Being Made To Have It Brought Here Soon

Work on the street extension in the city of Richmond and that of the roads of the county is expected to be started within a period of three weeks. The machinery, which has been in this part of the state for some time, is at Berea. It will be employed there for a week perhaps, after which it will be taken to Clark county. There two weeks' work awaits it and the crew of men placing the tarvia. This will bring the work up to Madison county, and it is believed both the city and county will be ready for the beginning of the work by this time.

The machine and men will be brought to this county, and after the material here is ready for the start the city streets will be the first given attention. Otherwise, the county roads will be the first treated. There are many calls for the tarvia in the county and the machine, as well as the crew, is expected to be engaged there for some time. There are also several places in the city where tarvia will be placed and this will be given attention at the earliest possible moment in order to complete the improvement work by the arrival of cold weather.

Councilman Charles Terrill has arranged for the tarvia, and has assured residents of the city that they will be given all they desire for streets. It is expected the extension method will be applied to about three miles of streets in and adjoining that of the county highways and will form a number of very attractive entrances to the city. This connection with the country from the asphalt streets of the city will render the roadways in and about the city for several miles in very good order, it is believed. There has been a sufficient quantity of tarvia purchased by the city for use on the streets where it is desired this fall, and it will be distributed and applied in due time.

EXAMINING SPOTS ON CONVICT'S CLOTHES

(Louisville Times) Examination of what appears to be bloodstains on two coats a shirt and several articles of underclothing said to belong to James Robinson, negro cook and water carrier at the convict camp near Harlan, close to the scene of the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain Settlement School teacher, is being conducted by Dr. Lillian H. South, chief bacteriologist of the State Board of Health laboratory, in order to ascertain whether the stains, if blood, are of human blood. The tests will consume several days. Dr. South said that tests will be made each day to ascertain whether the stains are those of the blood of some domestic animal or a human being. The tests are being made by animal inoculation. A horse was inoculated and an effort made to ascertain whether the stains are horse blood. The clothing was brought here by Senator Hiram Brock, of Harlan.

SOLDIERS COMING TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Rooms Assured and Ex-service Men Will Be Assigned Some Time This Week

An order has just been sent out to Washington from Richmond to the effect that accommodations have been procured here for at least 40 ex-service men, veterans of the late war, who are anxious to take advantage of the vocational training offered by Uncle Sam, and they will begin to arrive within a few days. There will perhaps be 50 and possibly more, in all.

The reservations were procured under the part of Secretary Stone Norman, of the local Red Cross bureau, and appeals made through the press.

The manner in which the men are assigned to this schooling is in squads of not less than 40. As many will be sent over that number as can be provided for. This is the first time Richmond has been called upon to secure reservations, and the columns of the Daily Register from time to time have contained detailed information relative to the requirement. The men will be summoned from this the Seventh District, comprising Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky. They will be assigned by the government, from the Washington office and report here accordingly. Since some of the men are married, he will, in some instances, be accompanied by his wife.

During the campaign for rooms there were a number who were desirous of having married men in their homes. This will admit of a married man bringing his wife with him. All men are special compensation men and have been more or less injured while in service. This is the first assurance that Richmond will accommodate a squad, since repeated attempts to gain accommodations owing to the crowded conditions of the city, were necessary. The men will report to Secretary Norman who will assign them to their headquarters during their stay in Richmond, and he will accept all rooms offered. Fair prices are paid for the accommodations, the veterans receiving their compensation regularly and in sufficient amounts not to render them dependent.

Harding Is Very Busy On His Own Front Porch

(By Associated Press) Marion, O., Sept. 20—Speaking today to a delegation of members of the Grand Army of the Republic and a delegation of Kentucky and Tennessee citizens, Senator Harding declared the North and South was drawn into civil war mainly because of the ambiguity in the Constitution, and asked "How can we consent to enter into a covenant with a dozen known ambiguities?" Commenting on President Wilson's association, he said it would break the heart of the world for America not to enter the League of Nations. Harding said he would break the heart of the world that destroy the soul of the United States through a misunderstanding. The Kentucky delegation came a day ahead of the time.
