DEMOCRATS GAIN BIG OVER STATE

White Women Come Out By Thousands and Register As Democrats—Figures

Louisville, Oct. 7.—Registration in 58 Kentucky cities, not including Louisville, showed great gains in democratic majorities in normally democratic cities, while in normally republican towns the republican majorities showed no increase.

Typical examples of the latter are the mining towns of Central City, where the majority was at a standstill, and Pineville, Barbourville, Earlington, Pikeville and Harlan, where the majority of the republicans was increased only slightly. Providence, another mining town, went democratic. It is normally republican. The republican majority in Hazard fell off 35. These figures tend to show that the miners favor Cox.

On the other hand, the democratic cities showed big gains in the normal majority, indicating greatly increased majorities by counties. It seemed to indicate that the democratic women are aroused and that the state is normally democratic still.

Early figures showed a democratic gain of 600 majority in Lexington, with twelve precincts missing.

Shelbyville registered a democratic majority for the first time in a Presidential election. In 1916 the republican majority on registration was 55 and in 1919 65. This year the democratic majority is 32, and it is confidentially expected that with supplemental registration and purging the lists of negroes who have moved their residence or recently come to the city the democratic majority will be 150. Last year Shelby county went 800 democratic. This year it should be from 1,500 to 1,700.

A significant thing is that of the 595 white women who registered in Shelbyville 519 registered democratic, 69 republican and 7 independent. There were 398 negro women, who registered supposedly republican. There were 526 democratic men and 519 democratic women registered.

In Dayton the registration was republican men, 604; republican women, 512; total 1,166. Democratic men, 657; democratic women, 438; total 1,095. At Fort Thomas the registration was: republican men, 491; women, 515; total 1,006. Democratic men, 183; women, 216; total, 399. In Bellevue the registration was: Republican men 1,046; women, 758; total, 1,804. Democratic men, 687; women, 515; total 1,202.

One big democratic gain was in Mayfield. The majority in 1919 was 467. This year's democratic majority was 1,301. Graves county last year returned a democratic majority of 3,500. The great gain in the democratic majority in the county seat would indicate a majority in Graves county this year of 6,000, political dopesters say.

The democratic majority in Lebanon, as indicated by the registration, was increased more than twice. It was 63 in 1919, and this year a majority of 144 registered democratic.

Murray showed a gain in democratic majority of from 251 to 348.

Cynthiana registered five times its democratic majority of last year, there being 112 more democrats than republicans this year, while last year the majority was 28.

Russellville more than doubled its democratic registration majority, the figures being 507 as against 263 majority last year.

One of the outstanding indications of democratic sentiment in the state was said to be the registration in Irvine, the county seat of Estill county, in the oil fields. Irvine last year gave Gov. Morrow 175 majority. This is the first time its residents registered for an election. Incomplete returns show a democratic registration majority of between 50 and 75, the women being drawn to the polling places in large numbers in their eagerness to support the League of Nations, according to reports from that city.

The democrats practically doubled their majority in Elizabethtown.

In Hazard the republican majority was decreased by 35 votes, dropping from 333 to 298.

Of the registering women, Lexington showed 2,876 white women registered democratic, and 993 republican, but there were 2,014 negro women who registered republican and brought the total woman republican vote to 3,007.

Lexington shows a democratic majority of between 1,500 and 2,000.

In Frankfort the white women worked hard and got out a vote of 1,242 for the democrats. The republicans registered 279 white women and 565 negro women. Frankfort registered 1,000 democratic majority.

In Middlesboro, a republican town, 344 white women registered republican and 2,012 democratic. The republican majority is usually between 400 and 500 in Middlesboro. The ratio of democratic men is about 2 to 3.

While in Harlan the total registration was 628 republicans to 273 democrats, there were only 256 republican women and 105 democratic women registered.

That Covington will roll up an old time democratic majority in November is indicated by the registration. In 34 precincts out of 62, according to the returns so far received, the democrats registered 5,935 and the republicans 3,799. Of the men, 3,524 were democrats and 2,122 republican. The women registered 2,411 democratic and 1,677 republican.

The democrats led by about 500 votes in the total registration of 1,800, returns not having been officially tabulated.

The tremendous negro vote in Louisville seems to make that city's registration about 10,000 republican.

PAINT LICK MEET DEMOCRATIC HUMMER

Prof. Allen and O. P. Jackson Espouse Democratic Principles Strongly

There were more than 200 men and women crowded into the school house Wednesday night at Paint Lick to hear some Democratic speaking, and they heard it, for the speaking, which was upon the part of Prof. Allen, of Central University, and County Attorney O. P. Jackson, of Richmond, started early and continued until late.

The chief speaker of the evening was to have been Rogers Clay and it was a late hour when the discovery was made that there was a misunderstanding as to dates, and a call for speakers from Richmond was issued forthwith. The call was made upon Chairman Chenuault, of the Madison County Democratic Campaign Committee, and he got busy. He found that Judge W. R. Shackelford, of the Madison circuit court, had closed a strenuous day and he went after O. P. Jackson. The latter responded and together with the ever-working chairman was soon en route to Paint Lick. There they found an appreciative audience awaiting them, and the evening program began. Prof. Allen's eulogy on President Wilson is said to have been one of the most eloquent pieces of oratory ever heard in that vicinity and the manner in which he advocated and explained the League of Nations and espoused the Democratic cause generally was productive of much appreciation and great applause. The women of the audience cheered the result of the Richmond campaign, and congratulated those from here upon their effective work, and stated their appreciation of the work of the women of Richmond.

Governor Cox's principles and the manner in which he was proceeding with his campaign were complimented. Prof. Allen spoke of the League of Nations as a wonderful organization, a movement for the elimination of wars, and since America was the originator, he felt the reactionary Republicans as being next to criminals for fighting the measure. He stated they recognized its importance, but fought it because it was favored by the Democratic party.

County Attorney Jackson, who likes to talk politics, had his inning. He followed Prof. Allen and continued along the lines mentioned by the earlier speakers and explained the chief features characterizing the Democratic campaign. Governor Cox, he stated, was a leader and a constructionist; he was progressive and a general hustler, besides being practical and was a man for men. The speaker was interrupted repeatedly both by the applause of men and women, and when the speaking closed it was nearly 11 o'clock.

The reception of the impromptu speakers was surprising to all and the enthusiasm of the hearers indicated unusual interest in the principles being upheld by the Democrats of the city, county, state and nation.

10,000 GREET COX AT FIRST KY. SPEECH

Present Tour Starts Work to be Continued Virtually Till Election Day

Elizabethtown, Ky., Oct. 7.—Governor Cox, beginning his Kentucky campaign, addressed a crowd estimated at 10,000, packed in a warehouse here today. He was enthusiastically received and his address was frequently interrupted by applause.

The governor's speech marked resumption of his personal speaking campaign, which will continue virtually until election day, November 2. The League of Nations was brought to Kentucky by the Democratic presidential candidate as a pre-eminent issue of the campaign. Its moral and material aspects are uppermost in all his speeches.

This afternoon the governor will make an extended speech at Bowling Green. From there he goes to Nashville, Tenn., for an evening address, and tomorrow he will visit Paducah, ending his tour of the blue grass state tomorrow night at Louisville. A number of rear platform speeches will be made.

Accompanying him are Governor Brough, of Alabama; Johnson N. Camden, national committeeman, and other prominent Kentucky Democrats.

HARDING WANTS THE DIRECT ISSUE

(By Associated Press)

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 7.—The direct issue of ratifying or rejecting the League of Nations was accepted here today by Senator Harding. Brushing aside the problem of clarifying the reservation by declaring he was in "favor of staying out of the covenant written at Paris," the Republican presidential candidate said he wanted to accept the league with reservations to clarify the American obligations, adding, "I want to turn my back on them. It is not interpretation, but rejection I am seeking."

Governor Cox's definition of the league was accepted by the Republican nominee, who said the Democratic subbornness prevented the senate from perfecting the covenant for American entrance. The senator restated a program, if elected, for world association, based on principles of harmony with the constitution.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE MADISON COURT

Judge Shackelford Making Rapid Progress First Week of the October Term

Things are doing in the Madison circuit court and since the beginning of the October session on Tuesday a goodly number of cases have been disposed of and Judge W. R. Shackelford is losing no time between acts in issuing a call for witnesses in the ones to follow. The members of the jury have been hearing testimony in cases of various character, and there are indications that the first of the week will record unusual progress.

The first case to be tried resulted in a verdict of not guilty, it being that of John Van Winkle, charged with pointing deadly firearms.

When the second case was called, that of the commonwealth vs. one John W. Bates, colored, it was officially reported that the aforesaid John W. Bates was not to be found. He, therefore, forfeited a bond of $100; was fined in the sum of $100, given a jail sentence of 40 days and disfranchised for a period of two years. Bates, it was charged, was guilty of carrying concealed weapons.

Another acquittal came with the hearing of the next case, that of Elmer Bowman, against whom there was a charge of unlawful taking of property. A plea of not guilty was entered and the defendant proved to the satisfaction of the jurors that there was no unlawful intent.

Sid Diggs, charged with having administered poison to another, was not tried, owing to the absence of some of the witnesses in the case, and this was advanced for a hearing on the seventh day of the court, attachments issued for witnesses being ordered.

The verdict in one of three cases against Roy Williams, charged with the unlawful sale of whiskey, resulted in a verdict of not guilty, the two remaining charges being filed away.

The intention of the jurors in dealing harshly in cases wherein there is a charge of carrying concealed weapons was apparent again in the case of Grover Williams, who was fined $100 and given a jail sentence of 40 days, together with disfranchisement orders for a period of two years. In another similar charge, a fine of $75 and a jail sentence were meted out. Williams will languish behind the bars of the county jail as a result for a period of at least 80 days.

The charge of grand larceny confronting W. G. Yancy was receiving the attention of the court Wednesday forenoon.

City Council Meeting

The regular meeting of the Richmond city council will be held at the City Hall Thursday night when considerable routine business will be up for consideration. The regular monthly allowance of bills, street work, and other things will receive attention of the councilmen. The matter of placing tarvia on the city streets will be one of the probable subjects before the body.

Hogging Down Crops

At this season of the year many farmers of Kentucky will hog down corn and soy beans. In some cases it will be corn alone; in others beans alone, while in still others it will be corn and soy beans together. The Animal Husbandry department of the Experiment Station, Lexington, has found that it pays to give hogs tankage in a self-feeder when hogging down corn alone, the gain being as much as 90 per cent greater taking into consideration the cost of the tankage.

3 ARE INDICTED ON MURDER CHARGES

Andy Poff, John Keeton and Thomas Gentry Have Trials Set Late In Month

Indictments Thursday morning were returned by the Madison county grand jury against Andy Poff, John Keeton and Thomas Gentry, three out of the four murderers in custody at the county jail who will have a trial during the present term of the Madison circuit court.

The trial of Andy Poff, constable, charged with the murder of Jasper Kirby at the Berea fair, will be the first one to be called, it is expected, since it has been set for trial on October 26. This case has been attracting wide attention.

Later developments show that the trial of Thomas Gentry, colored, who shot and killed Dave Campbell, colored, on Tuesday night. This action was quickly taken and in accordance with the desires of the local police department, since they desire to have the case tried as soon as possible. This case was set for trial on October 25.

The trial of John Keeton, charged with shooting Robert Powell to death at local carnival grounds recently, was also set for trial on this date. It is presumed that one or more of these cases will be continued, although they have been set in a manner that will not admit interference with progress in the court.

This leaves but one murder case that of Emil Lohrlich, who shot and killed Mrs. Lucy Estes at her home recently. If there has been any action taken in this case, nothing is known outside the confines of the grand jury room, and it is hinted that the investigator was taken up a few days ago. The condition of Lohrlich is such as to expect his death at any time from self-inflicted wounds. This is the probable cause for delay in the report on the case.

The rapidity with which the jurors are calling and interviewing witnesses indicates they are following the instructions of Judge Shackelford, and that the report for the week will show a great amount of work done.

Next Legion Meeting

The first of the meetings of the American Legion since the changing of dates for the regular sessions will be held Wednesday night at the court house. There will be official business and it is desired that all members be present. There will be features that will make the meeting of interest to all. Plans for future events will doubtless come in for an inning, and a new executive committee will be selected to take up work for the future club rooms to be provided.

Fire Prevention Day To Be Observed Friday

Friday is Fire Prevention Day and it is expected that every resident of the city will look to it that conditions about property may be improved in a manner that will lessen danger from fire. The state will have its attention called to the important fact that this work, ever so small, has been the means of decreasing the loss by fire. In some of the schools it is being taught and reports will be made at various schools by students regarding conditions at their homes, and it is said that in some instances, parents have been surprised at the interest taken by their children in this matter, they having acquired the idea through widespread publication of statements treating upon fire prevention.

GALLANT KNIGHTS PLANNING BIG EVENT

K. P. Reception At New Home Home During Holidays To Be An Elaborate Affair

Thursday night will be a big night in the ranks of the Richmond Knights of Pythias, and there will be a number of visitors, perhaps one big delegation coming from Ravenna, to witness the work of starting a class in the degree work here, which will be concluded before the first of the year, when the members of the Normal City Lodge will be prepared to go to their elegant new home at Second and Irvine streets.

There will be eight members of the class, and the members of the local degree team are said to have been attracting considerable attention among the state lodge officials by the manner in which they exemplify the work in the various degrees. The first degree will be conferred at the Thursday night meeting. The second degree, one week hence, the third in a fortnight etc., until the first of the class, which will make several for the year.

The officials and members of the lodge contemplate the completion of the new clubrooms and headquarters generally within a few weeks, but it is not the intention to take possession until shortly before the first of the year. This event will vie in point of splendor with anything of the kind in the ranks of fraternal orders that has been given in Richmond for many years. There will be an elaborate reception and open house to members of the lodge in neighboring cities and invitations will sent out as soon as the date for the opening of the new home is decided upon. It is very probable that some of the highest officers of the state will be in attendance and participate in the festivities accompanying the occasion. There will be a banquet of which the members of the lodge will feel proud and gain for them a reputation for entertainment. There will be reception committees and every appointment attendant upon entertainment from start to finish will be carefully looked after. There will be a small army of new members from Richmond and Madison county who will assist with the entertaining. The details of the event have not been arranged, but they will be both extensive and elaborate.

CLEVERLY FORGED CHECK DISCOVERED

Local Firm Loses After Two Banks Pass On New Method of Fraud

One of the cleverest of check forgeries brought to the attention of local bankers in some time has just come to light through the combined efforts of bank officials at Richmond, Chicago and Philadelphia. The check, which was presented at a local business establishment and which was for the sum of $50, is said to have beaten the check protection game, since it was properly perforated, properly printed and drawn, signed and endorsed. The man presenting it received most of the amount represented by its face value, the local firm being the loser. The genuineness of the check, with perforations and proper signature, was not detected by the Chicago officials and it was when it had been sent back to the Pennsylvania bank, Philadelphia, upon which institution it had been drawn, that the forgery was discovered. It was returned to Chicago, thence to Richmond, where the officials were informed the check was a fraud and the concern it was supposed to represent was not in existence.

The name of concern was "The Pennsylvania Bank, Philadelphia," and however the check is said to have been the cleverest forgery ever found perpetrated since the establishment of the check protection system. This is said to be one of the most intricate and difficult things yet found to duplicate, each perforation being different for every firm. Nothing is known of the man who presented the check, other than that he represented himself as a salesman for the Ackerman Coffee Co., of Philadelphia. This added to the theory that the check was genuine, it having been drawn upon a bank in that city. The banking officials there returned the check, adding it was a fraud, one of the best ever turned up as yet, and sent information to the effect that such a company was not in existence to their knowledge. The man presenting the check was in the city but for a short time.

New York, Oct. 7.—With both Cleveland and Brooklyn having won a game each in the world's series contest, today will probably will be a left-handed pitchers' battle between Sherrod Smith, of the Superbas, and Walter Mills, of the Indians. The latter came to Cleveland late in August from the Pacific Coast League and won six games in six states for the Indians behind the masterly pitching of Grimes. Yesterday Brooklyn showed much pep and won the game 3 to 0. Cleveland got two on bases in the seventh and three in the ninth, but could not deliver the needed hit. Managers Speaker, of Cleveland, and Robinson, of Brooklyn, each are anxious to win today's game. The weather is fair and sunshiny and prospects are good for a large attendance.
